Clark's Female Pills.

The Great English Remedy.

Prepared from a prescription of Sir Jas. Clarke, M.D., Physician Extraordinary to the Queen.

THIS invaluable Medicine is unfailing in the cure of all those painful and dangerous disorders to which the female constitution is subject. It moderates all excess, removes all obstructions, and a speedy cure may be relied on.

TO MARRIED LADIES it is peculiarly suited. It will, in a short time, bring on the monthly period with regularity.

Each bottle, Price One Dollar, bears the Government Stamp of Great Britain, to prevent counterfeits.

CAUTION.

These Pills should not be taken by females during the first THREE MONTHS of Pregnancy, as they are sure to bring on Miscarriage, but at every other time and in every other case they are perfectly safe.

ELSIE.

BY HARRIET M'EWEN KIMBALL.

Shadows of the morning-glories
Round the cottage window climbing—
Swaying, bell-like, as if chiming
For the marriage of the day;
Saying softly, "Come away!"—
Danced o'er Elsie's features fair,
Flickering on her golden hair.
I had told her many stories
Of my strange and wandering life
Ere I found her—ere I knew her—
Ere I came to love and woo her—
Woo her for my own sweet wife!

Elsie thought not of my stories,
Though she meekly sat and listened:
Elsie heard not half my stories,
Though her eyes with pity glistened;—
Yet she heard not half my words!
With her look upon the valley,
Gazing at its quiet herds;
She was thinking of the morrow—
Thinking of our common sorrow;
How for months we must be parted;—
We, alas! were heavy-hearted!

Tenderly did Elsie dally
With my hair—
Half in love and half in blessing—
When I whispered, "Not a word
Of my stories have you heard,
Elsie, love!—my sweet—my fair!"
With a flitting blush confessing,
And a smile of sweet excuse,
Did she answer, archly, "Dear,
Following a wayward boy
Hath for me but little joy
When my best-beloved is here!"
So with flatteries profuse
Did she win a full excuse!

Yet I told her no more stories—
Happy that her eyes could be Filled with tears of tenderness,
At the thought of losing me!
And I said, with fond caress,
"Elsie, love—my bride—my wife!
Like these beauteous morning-glories,
Your affection twines and smiles
Round my dark, unworthy life;—
All its care and grief beguiles!
As these flowers are twining, nodding,
Looking inward cheerfully,
So thy dear eyes beam on me;
Lighting all the spirit-gloom
Of an else unlovely room!
Life no longer is mere plodding!—
Looking through love's rose-light still,
Good is seen in every ill!"

Elsie answered me with kisses—
Elsie blessed me with caresses:
All this happened years ago!
Years ago!
In the silence that did follow,
Broken only by the swallow
Flitting round the cottage-eaves;
Twittering in amongst the leaves;
How the vine kept swaying—swaying—
Swaying, to and fro;
And the beauteous blossoms saying,
"Come away!" Dear Elsie heard it—
And we knew the breezes stirred it—
Woke that whisper, strange and low:
Yet with white arms folding me,
Elsie spake mysteriously:—
"Haunted are the morning-glories!
Dearest, hush!—the spirits say,
Come away!"

This she murmured years ago!
Still the morning-glories clinging,
Whisper, in their gentle swinging,
"Come away!"—within voices low.
Elsie is not here to hearken!
Elsie is not here to love me!
But it is her voice, I know,
Singing in the blue above me,
"Come away!"
And I hold my breath to hear it,
Upward yearning toward her spirit!
When the haunted vine-leaves darken
In the light of dropping day,
I shall go!

ST. LOUIS, Oct. 9.—Kansas Affairs.—A letter to the Democrat says that at a meeting at Lawrence on the 1st inst., the following was unanimously adopted:—

Whereas, Expediency and principle alike enjoining the people to ignore the coming election of members of the Assembly, and—

Whereas, Congress rejected our delegate on the ground of the invalidity of the election law; another application, identical in fact and principle with the one just determined, will doubtless be refused; therefore—

Resolved, That the people of Kansas, regarding the so-called election laws as invalid, refuse to participate in any election held by virtue of its enactments.

A correspondent of the Chicago Tribune, who was at Lecompton on the 27h of September, says:

"A call has been issued by the Pro-Slavery men for all their friends to attend the election and vote for men who are 'sound on the goose.' This call has been extensively circulated in Missouri. Coming down, I met it in various places; and more than that, I met many of the Missourians and others responding to it. At Atchison I saw a party of Georgians join in, who were swearing that they had come 'to beat or bleed.' Of course they will be manufactured into legal voters. At Shelbyville we saw a party mustering for service in the Territory. They were drawn up before the rope walk, and Col. Shelby was addressing them on the horrors of Aboliionism and the enormities of the free State men. In other places along the route, I was told that the same musterings were taking place and for the same purpose. They are all decidedly laboring under the delusion that the free State men were paying obedience to the bogus laws by which the election is ordered. Mistaken souls!

Outrages in the Territory continue to be of frequent occurrence.

MONDAY, OCTOBER 13, 1856.

STATE TEMPERANCE CONVENTION.

This body met in the Town Hall in Keene, on Thursday forenoon,—when Rev. Mr. Culver was chosen Chairman, and Mr. N. P. Cooke Secretary. Opened with prayer by Rev. Mr. Claflin of Westmoreland. The permanent officers were—

T. M. Edwards Esq. President; Rev. N. Culver Vice Pres.; N. R. Cooke, Esq. Secretary. J. Foster, S. W. Buffum, Oren Woods, S. Woodward, Finance Committee.

A business committee was appointed, of which Rev. Dr. Barstow of Keene was chairman, to propose resolutions and other business for the afternoon.

In the afternoon, a large assembly convened at 2 o clock, when it was Voted, that the following persons be added to the State Committee: Rev. S. C. Bartlett, H. K. Hartwell, N. Herrick, Esq., J. Folsom, Geo. A. Barnes, Manchester; Geo. H. Richards, Keene; Hon. E. Blaisdell, Lebanon; Rev. E. D. Cummings, Concord; D. P. Leavitt, Nashua; Rev. T. H. Miller, Portsmouth; Prof. J. G. Hoyt, Exeter; Amos Paul, South New Market.

The 3d and 4th resolutions, relating to the late temperance agent, Mr. Jackson, were taken up; and an anonymous attack on him and the Committee, in the Congregational Journal, was read by Rev. Dr. Barstow. The Resolutions were fully discussed by Messrs. Preston, Miller, Goodwin and others, and then they were passed unanimously.

Hon. Neal Dow was here introduced, and spoke on the First resolution and the general subject of Temperance.

Other gentlemen followed, speaking of the working of the law in various towns and Counties; Strafford being one of the most favorable, where the jail for several weeks was empty;—and where the same room is now occupied by convicts who violated the law against selling strong drinks.

After a full discussion, the 1st and 2nd resolutions were passed; and at half past 2 the meeting adjourned till 7,—when Mr. Dow addressed a full house.

The resolutions passed were as follows:

1.—Resolved, That we approve the New Hampshire Act for the Suppression of Intemperance—believing its principles to be correct, and its main provisions salutary,—and that we recommend its faithful enforcement.

2.—Resolved, that no pains should be spared by christians, ministers, and all good citizens, in the use of social means for the promotion of temperance, and for the creation of a healthy public sentiment, without which the best laws must be comparatively useless.

3.—Resolved, that our thanks are due to Rev. E. W. Jackson, for his faithful, zealous and successful labors in promoting the cause of Temperance, during the time he has labored in this State.

4.—Resolved, that as Mr. Jackson is about to leave us for another field of labor, we hereby express our deep regret at the separation, our pleasure in view of our agreeable and harmonious intercourse with him, our full confidence in his integrity, and our best wishes for his success and usefulness in his new field of labor.

On motion of Rev. Dr. Barstow,

5.—Resolved, that a copy of the above be presented to Mr. Jackson, and published in the Keene Sentinel, Independent Democrat, Congregational Journal, Morning Star, Zion's Herald, and other papers friendly to the cause.

The Chronicle & Phenix was warmly recommended by members of the committee and others.

SONS OF TEMPERANCE.

The Grand Division of New-Hampshire met at Keene, on Thursday morning, Oct. 9th, and elected the following officers:

S. W. Buffum, G. W. P.
Asa Griffin, G. Scribe.
E. P. Tenney, G. Treas.
A. Childs, G. Commander.
E. H. Cheney, G. Sentinel.

The following gentlemen were elected Representatives to the National Division, to be held at Providence, R. I., next June:

S. W. Buffum, G. W. P.
Rev. James Doldt, G. W. A.
E. W. Jackson, P. G. W. P.
Charles H. Hill, P. G. W. A.
J. E. Goodwin, do do
E. P. Blaisdell, do do
Thomas B. Jones, do do

The late G. W. P., E. W. Jackson, recently visited the Grand Division, S. of T., in Canada West, and delivered several addresses. The following action was taken:

Moved by Rev. John M'Killigan, seconded by W. P. Dickenson—

Resolved, That this Grand Division of C. W., with the Ladies and Gentlemen of Prescott and vicinity, composing this large assembly, express warm thanks to our noble friend, the Rev. Mr. Jackson, G. W. P. of New-Hampshire, for his visit to Prescott on this interesting and very important occasion. We thank him for his powerful lucid and effectual addresses; for the encouragement he has given to cheer us, and for the solemn obligations he has pressed upon our consciences.—As you leave us, sir, we pray God to bless you—and in his providence may he prepare for Canada West more clergymen, who, seeing their duty in the temperance cause, as clergy, will as faithfully declare it as you have done on this occasion.

Carried unanimously.

H. D. Jessup, Chairman.

NO CONTROVERSY.

We copy the following letter from the Congregational Journal:

Temperance Convention.—Rev. Dr. Stone: My Dear Sir:—A friend has forwarded me your last number, in which I find an article warning "true temperance men," and signed "A Member of the State Committee." So far as the article refers to the call and holding of a State temperance convention, I leave it to the State Temperance Committee, as the call of that meeting is signed and published by them. They are all of them good and honorable men, and I doubt not will be willing to take the responsibility of all they have done. So far as the article refers to myself, I have just this one remark to make. With the writer of that article I have no acquaintance; nor have I had, nor will I have, any controversy. When I came to the State two years ago, my friend Dr. Charles Jewett, as well as others, made me acquainted with the course Dudley S. Palmer had pursued in the temperance reform. I then decided to take the course suggested above, and have steadily followed it to this day. The people of New Hampshire who are acquainted with the history of the temperance cause will judge whether I have acted wisely.

Respectfully, E. W. Jackson.

Oct. 4, 1856.

The editor of the Congregational Journal appends this note:

We hope no demand will be made upon us by either party for further remarks.—We wish well to the cause of temperance, but we think a controversy in our columns between Mr. Jackson and his opponents would not be agreeable to our readers generally.—Cong. Journal.

We thought as much when the anonymous attack appeared;—and wondered that a paper so cautious and judicious in its general course, should admit such a document without the voucher of some responsible and weighty name.

New Hampshire State Fair.—The Fair at Concord was a very creditable one. The show of live stock was very fine indeed.—The working oxen were excellent, and the show of cows and young stock extensive. The Devon breed was very fully represented. The show of horses—such as would be classed as for "general utility," was very good, and there were a good many promising colts on the ground. The big tent was well filled with articles of all sorts which usually go to make up these matters, though fruit was rather scarce.—The attendance was large.

☞ A bad accident occurred on the race course at Concord N. H., on Friday, during the State Fair. A heavy wagon driven rapidly along the track, struck one of the marshals, Perkin Gale, Esq., of Concord, completely overthrowing both him and his horse, with a tremendous shock. Assistance was instantly rendered, and Mr. Gale raised from the ground, when it was found that his right leg was broken below the knee, both bones being shattered. He was at once conveyed home, and five physicians called in, who rendered every assistance. Col. G. is much prostrated, but will probably recover.

What does "Smile" mean?—The Newburyport Herald notices "the card of a fire company that recently visited that city, returning many thanks to individuals and associations, for 'smiles' and invitations to 'smile.' It reads strangely—perhaps it means something."

Yes, it probably means to be offered the opportunity of putting an enemy into the mouths of the company; which, having stole away their brains, leaves them to smile with the meaningless mirth of the idiot. There is altogether too much of such smiling. A gentleman of experience in "campaigning," says it seems the aim of everybody who "receives" a company of men, to get them drunk—which result too often accrues.

☞ The Maine State Agricultural Fair is to be held in Portland Oct. 21st to 24th. Among the premiums offered are five for best lady riders on horseback—two of the articles valued at $50, one each $35, $28 and $15. On Friday, 24th, the last day, premiums will be awarded for best trotting horse raised in Maine, $200; wherever raised, $200. The Address by Hon. Geo. P. Marsh of Vermont.

Connecticut Town Elections.—The New Haven Palladium says, the changes in that State to the cause of Freedom have been immense.

The artificial for the real.—As English's Dramatic Company were performing recently the play of the Portland Fireman, in Portland, the cry of fire that was sounded from the stage was echoed by the boys in the streets; but the many firemen present, supposing it a false alarm, kept their seats. By and by the triangles and bells of some of "the tubs" sounded the alarm, and the "boys" couldn't stand that. The doorkeepers tried to keep them in, but they put out at a two-forty pace, leaving the play for the real game at Neal Dow's tan yard.

Unitarian Cementary.—The Christian Watchman states that the Rev. John H. Morrison of Milton, Mass., and the Rev. Dr. Peabody, of Portsmouth, N. H., are engaged upon the first book of a series to be published by the means of the book fund of the Unitarians, to be called the "Biblical Library." The volume will be a commentary on the New Testament, and the most laborious and conscientious care will be bestowed upon its composition. The Rev. S. G. Bulfinch, of Dorchester, is engaged upon the preparation of a volume of selections of religious poetry, which will be published in the series issued by the American Unituran Association, called "The Devotional Library."

☞ The fiftieth anniversary of the settlement of Rev. Daniel T. Kimball of Ipswich Mass., was celebrated with appropriate services, last week.

All the pastors of the council at the ordination of Mr. Kimball, but one, have long since finished their earthly course. All the members of the church, at that me, over which he was ordained as pastor, except perhaps one not a resident there, are numbered with the congregation of the dead. All the present members, save one, if there be one, have entered into covenant with it since the commencement of his ministry as their pastor.

☞ TO YOUNG MEN.—Pleasant and Profitable Employment.—Young Men in every neighborhood may obtain healthful, pleasant and profitable employment, by engaging in the sale of our useful and popular Books, and canvassing for our valuable Journals. For terms and particulars, address, post paid, FOWLER & WELLS, No. 308 Broadway, New York.

FREMONT,
THE MUSTANG CANDIDATE.

If Col. Fremont had as many friends as the Mustang Liniment, the opposition could not draw a corporal's guard. Mr. Fremont remarked in his dispatches to President Fillmore, while transporting horses and cattle over the plains of Mexico, "That if the Government would send him on a liberal supply of Mustang Liniment, it would save 25 per cent. of his losses." This is very important for all Farmers and Liverymen to know. The Mustang Liniment is a wonderful article for man or beast. It should always be used for Sores, Swellings, Stiff Joints, Burns, Bruises, Rheumatic Pains, &c., and for Galds, Sprains, Spavins, Ringbone, &c., upon horses.—Beware of Imitations. The Mustang is sold by all respectable dealers everywhere.

WOOD'S HAIR DYE.—This admirable article is rapidly improving the hair. No article of a similar kind, now before the public, enjoys a better reputation as a restorative and invigorating hair tonic. Its peculiar chemical qualities have a beneficial effect upon the growth and character of the hair, giving a silky and glossy texture to that which was formerly of a coarse and dry nature. It has, also, we understand, a tendency to preserve the youthful color of the hair, and destroying or counteracting the effects of age. With such recommendations in its favor, we hardly perceive how any lady or gentleman should be without so valuable an adjunct to their toilet. The article may be had of the Druggists throughout the country.—[Missouri Democrat.

THE GREAT DISCOVERY.

Many years ago, Doctor Burleigh Smart, of Kennebunk, Me., discovered that a simple article never before used as a medicine, was a never failing cure for coughs of every description, and an excellent blood purifier. By its use in his private practice, he acquired the reputation of being the best physician in New England, for all diseases of the lungs. After his death, Messrs. Shaw & Clark of Biddeford, Me., obtained a Copy Right from Government, for its exclusive manufacture, and now have it carefully prepared strictly according to the original recipe. There is no cough that it will not cure, unless the patient is past all human aid before commencing its use! It is called "Doctor Burleigh Smart's Cough Medicine," and is for sale by all apothecaries. au27 TuThs 6m.

PREMIUMS from Twenty Five to One Thousand Dollars, amounting, in the aggregate, to Eight Thousand Dollars, have been offered, open for competition to horses from all parts of the Union, as well as the Canadas

A Committee composed of citizens of Boston and vicinity, has been appointed, to co-operate with the officers of the Society in perfecting the arrangements for the Exhibition. A large fund has been guarranteed, to meet expenses. This material aid, taken in connexion with the excellence of the location, (being the same grounds occupied last year by the U. S. Agricultural Society,) and the large amount of premiums offered in prices the expectation that this Exhibition will be of a superior character.

Seats for six thousand persons have been prepared, also a saloon, with female attendants, for the accommodation of ladies

Stalls for the accommodation of four hundred horses have been prepared upon the grounds.

Favorable arrangements with the various railroads, for the transportation of stock, are in progress, the terms of which will be given on application at the Office.

The following horses will be upon the ground, and have signified their intention to enter and contend for premiums offered for speed, viz: Hiram Drew, Edwin Allen, Flora Temple, Lancet, Factory, Grey Eddy, Pocahontas, and others of well known reputation.

The Premium List, with the Regulations and Programme of the Exhibition, will be furnished on application to the, Secretary at Boston.

SUPREME JUDICIAL COURT.

ROCKINGHAM COUNTY.

PORTSMOUTH, Saturday, Oct. 11.

The Grand Jury rose—having found bills on about sixty indictments, including several infringements of the New Hampshire liquor law, in Salem.

In the case of the boy charged with theft from Allen Freeman's oyster-shop, the jury returned a verdict of guilty,

The man charged with horse-stealing in North Hampton, was declared not guilty.

U. S. CIRCUIT COURT—ROCK'M CO.

EXETER, Saturday, Oct. 11.

In the case Central Bridge vs. Norcross, the Jury on Friday evening returned a verdict for plff. for $351,43.

On Saturday morning the case of Tirrell vs. Haines was taken up. This is a case of malpractice, brought against Dr. Haines of Concord. It will probably be given to the Jury on Monday forenoon.

THE MERCHANTS OF PORTSMOUTH.—At the Printing Centennial Dinner, last week, Albert R. Hatch, Esq., in closing his remarks, gave as a sentiment:

"The Merchants of Portsmouth."

Hon. Ichabod Goodwin, Vice President of the occasion, was called on to respond; and gave a history of the old merchants of the city, and their course through the Revolution. Having alluded in a complimentary manner to the "Veterans,"—at the close of his remarks they stood up and gave three tremendous cheers for the "Merchants of Portsmouth," past and present, present as represented by Capt. Goodwin.

We lost this pleasant little incident, in making up our report—but the editor of the Manchester American did not.

To Capt. Goodwin's influence and his interest in the Celebration, was due considerable of its success—and the hearty manner in which this was acknowledged by this act of the Veterans, afforded another proof of his popularity.

☞ The Weekly Chronicle & Phenix for Saturday, Oct. 11th, contains, among other good things, a full report of the Printing Centennial Celebration. Copies may be obtained at our office this morning. $1 per year—single copies 3 cents.

LAUNCH.—A magnificent medium clipper ship of 1100 tons, called the 'Eagle Speed,' will be launched from the ship yard of John Yeaton, at Badger's Island, to-day (Tuesday) at 12 o'clock. She is owned by Messrs. William Jones & Son and Richard Jenness, and is a noble specimen of naval architecture.

☞ The North American Review for October, No. 173, was laid on our table by the editor, three or four days ago,—but we have been unable to notice it until now. It contains a pleasant notice of Franklin's Character; and other valuable articles, which are duly honored in the following extract from a New York correspondent of the Boston Transcript:

Rev. Dr. Peabody, the indefatigable editor of the North American Review, has won golden opinions here by the variety and solid interest of its pages. The October number has a clever analysis of Heine's genius; an excellent statement of the defects and the essential requisites of a good English Biographical Dictionary; a considerate essay on some of the latest fictions; and a programme of the present intellectual condition of the Jews, which is crowded with important facts. Then comes a discussion of logic, as illustrated by the treatises of Wilson and Tappan; a just welcome to Leslie's Hand Book for Young Painters; a searching criticism on Edgar A. Poe, as a man and a writer; reviews of recent French literature; a miniature history of Portugal, in the form of a rapid and masterly sketch of her glory and decay; a discussion of recent works on England, etc., etc.; altogether something adapted to every taste, and the whole exhibiting a scholarly, genial and comprehensive tone, worthy of the oldest American quarterlie.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 10—Florida.—A despatch received here from Florida, via Savannah, says that the Democrats in that state have probably elected their Governor, Congressmen and a majority of the Legislature. Santa Posa county has gone for the Americans, but by what vote is not yet known.

CHICAGO, Oct. 10.—Gov. Robinson of Kansas arrived here last evening, and speaks at Indianapolis to-day and to-morrow. General Lane passed through this morning for Indianapolis. Judge Smith proceeded to Pennsylvania via St. Louis.—Messrs Deitzler and Perkins are expected on Monday.

NEW YORK, Oct. 10.—Insurance Suspensions.—The Astor, and Globe Mutual Marine Insurance Company, and the International Stock Insurance Company, suspended business to-day on account of alleged heavy losses. There is litle prospect of the resumption of business by either.

☞ A great Mass Meeting of the friends of Fremont was held at Keene, Oct. 8th, in the Town Hall. Levi Chamberlin presided. Speeches were made by R. H. Dana, of Boston, Judge Conway, of Kansas, and Hon. A. H. Cragin, M. C. A meeting was also organized in the Park, presided over by Hon. G. W. Hammond, and attended by a great crowd. Speeches were made by Mr. Parker, of Fitzwilliam, Rev. E. W. Jackson, and others. The Fitzwilliam Artillery, five bands of music, and an immense torch-light procession, in the evening, formed a most imposing show,—and the whole proceedings were spirited and enthusiastic.

There were 400 torches in the procession, and the turn out altogether, was such as Keene never saw before.

A WRINKLE ABOUT THE AGE OF HORSES.—A gentleman, from Alabama, states that after the Horse is nine years old, a wrinkle comes on the eye-lid at the upper corner of the lower lid, and every year thereafter he has one well defined wrinkle for every year over nine. If, for instance, a horse has three wrinkles, he is twelve; if four, he is thirteen. Add the number of wrinkles, to nine, and you will always get it. So says the gentleman, and he is confident it will never fail. As a good many people have horses over nine, it is easily tried. If true, the horse dentist must give up his trade.

☞ The New York Herald says:—We have received intimations from respectable sources that during the last eight or ten days, a number of letters have been received by Col. Fremont, of a very abusive and threatening character, warning him, if elected, he will be assassinated or poisoned. Others that he may not live to be elected, for his enemies are determined he never shall be inaugurated.

☞ By the latest accounts from Kansas, it appears that the new Governor, Geary, is showing himself unfit and incompetent for his arduous duties. The Free State men generally do not intend to vote at the coming election, as they do not wish to approve or to recognize any law of the bogus legislature.

☞ Rev. E. W. Jackson, having removed from South Newmarket to Gorham, Me., requests that letters and papers for him may be directed to the latter place.

THANKSGIVING DAY.—The Governors of Missouri, Maryland, Maine, have appointed Thursday, the twentieth day of November, as a day of public Thanksgiving in those States.

Heavy Forgeries.—There are rumors in Wall street that forgeries amounting to nearly half a million dollars have been discovered in connection with the Huntington case. The principal names forged are those of Bowen & McNamee, and Claflin & Mellan, extensive dry-goods merchant dealers. The forger is Huntington, the broker.

Three clerks hitherto prominent Democrats, were discharged to-day from the Naval Office in this city, in consequence of being Fremonters.

Alexander Kayser announces himself in the St. Louis Evening News as an independent Fremont Elector.

PHILADELPHIA, 11th.—Geo. S. Coffee, recently editor of the Democratic Evening Argus, has repudiated Buchanan, and last evening joined the Fremont Democratic Club, when he made a speech, fully identifying himself with the Republican cause.

Mr. Coffee has just returned from stumping the State in behalf of Buchanan. He was corresponding secretary of the Keystone club, and accompanied it to Cincinnati, and was chosen by the club to announce to Buchanan his nomination. He was also the Democratic orator at the Fourth of July Democratic meeting in Independence square.

ZANESVILLE, Ohio, Oct. 10.—A Republican Meeting in this place to-day was the largest ever held in southeastern Ohio, the attendance being variously estimated at from 30,000 to 50,000.

MADISON, Indiana, Oct. 10.—There was an immense Republican Meeting here today, it being computed that 20,000 persons were present. The procession was over five miles long.

COLUMBIA, 9th.—There was a large and enthusiastic meeting here last night, at which Col. Boyce, our Representative in Congress, spoke amid great enthusiasm and applause. He advocated resistance to Fremont's administration.

J. W. MOSES would call the attention of his friends, customers, and the Public in general to the fact, that he has in his store, at No. 8 Market street, a good assortment of Broadcloths, Pilot and Beaver Cloths, plain and fancy Doeskins and Cassimeres, Black and fancy Velvets, plain and figured Satins and Grenadin Vestings, &c., which he will make to order or sell either with or without cutting or making, at fair prices.

He has a large assortment of furnishing Goods, consisting of Shirts, Collars, Cravats, Suspenders, Handkerchiefs, Under-Shirts and Drawers, &c., &c.

All Garments made by him warranted to be as good as can be had in this city. The above are new Goods, having been selected with care from large Stocks in Boston, and just received. September 26. is3w

CONTINUOUS ARTIFICIAL GUMS.—The great improvements which are every day being made in the dental art, are calculated to falsify the remark continually made by people from abroad, that the Americans have bad teeth universally; and it should be a matter of congratulation that American science and skill have done more to remedy the defects of nature in this particular, than the combined efforts of all other countries. The result of these CONTINUOUS gums, when successfully managed, is a durable and unchangeable set of teeth and gums, without a single crevice in which a particle of food or saliva may lodge, and become offensive. By this improvement the form of the face may be restored to degree of rotundity desired, so as to produce distinct enunciation and restore the natural features to a degree impossible to attain in any other way. The invention, in our estimation, deserves to be universally adopted on one of its merits alone, and that is their construction in such a manner as to render secretions of food and all foreign matter impossible to collect about the teeth and gums, thereby obviating the objections urged against artificial teeth, viz., offensive breath.—This invaluable discovery is the result of the long study and patient experiments of Dr. John Allen, of Cincinnati. The process requires more skill than is possessed by ordinary dentists, and persons should be careful to select as operators, scientific practitioners. We have seen some beautiful specimens at the rooms of Drs. Cummings & Flagg, to whom we can confidently recommend the public, and we take pleasure in referring to them all that would know more of this important triumph of science and skill.—[Boston Herald.

A SHORT ROAD TO RICHES—It is a providential maxim that those things which often seem bad in themselves, sometimes result in the greatest good. Is not this true of lotteries? All over our country they have often been the passive instruments by which religious and educational institutions have been reared and perpetuated to bless all future generations. Such is still their mission in the Southern States, where they are under the patronage and general control of the State government. It is true that nobody should be foolish enough to be seriously disappointed if he fails once or twice or thrice, in winning a prize, by the purchase of a ticket; but then, the money spent in this way is generally that which would otherwise be spent in a more trifling or injurious way; and it has often happened that five or ten dollars thus spent has placed an anxious father or friend in independent circumstances, and saved wives, children and relatives from long years of blighting want. Having said thus much, we must conclude by calling attention to two remarkable Maryland Lotteries, R. France & Co., Managers, as set forth in the circulars forwarded to us by T. H. Hubbard & Co., Agents. The first is the Grand Consolidated Lottery, to be drawn October 25th, in Baltimore. In this Lottery there are 30,316 prizes, amounting to more than one million dollars, and ranging from $20 all along up to the capital prize of $70,000. We notice that whole tickets are $20; halves, quarters and eighths, in proportion. The other scheme is that of the "Grand Consolidated Lottery of Maryland, Extra Class 5," to be drawn in Baltimore, October 31, 1856, on the favorite old Havana plan. In this scheme there are 1000 prizes, ranging from $150 to $50,000; and we observe that whole tickets are only $10; halves and quarters at the same rate. All orders addressed to T. H. Hubbard & Co., 39 Fayette st., Baltimore, Maryland, will be promptly attended to.

From the Boston Saturday Evening Gazette.

A PERFUMED BREATH.—What lady or gentleman would remain under the curse of a disagreeable breath, when using the "Balm of a Thousand Flowers" as a dentifrice would not only render it sweet, but leave the teeth white as alabaster? Many persons do not know their breath is bad, and the subject is so delicate, their friends will never mention it. Pour a single drop of the "Balm" on your tooth-brush and wash the teeth night and morning. A fifty cent bottle will last a year.

A BEAUTIFUL COMPLEXION may easily be acquired by using the "Balm of a Thousand Flowers." It will remove tan, pimples and freckles from the skin, leaving it of a soft and roseate hue. Wet a towel, pour on two or three drops, and wash the face night and morning

SHAVING MADE EASY.—Wet your shaving brush in either warm or cold water, pour on two or three drops of "Balm of a Thousand Flowers," rub the beard well and it will make a beautiful soft lather, much facilitating the operation of shaving. Price only 50 cents.

"HOE OUT YOUR ROW."

One lazy day, a farmer's boy
Was hoeing out the corn;
And moodily he listened long,
To hear the dinner horn.
The welcome blast was heard at last,
And down he dropped his hoe;
But the good man shouted in his ear,
"My boy, hoe out your row!"

Although a "hard one" was the row,
To use a ploughman's phrase,
And the lad, as sailors have it,
Beginning well to "haze"—
"I can!" said he, and manfully
He seized again his hoe,
And the good man soon smiled to see
The boy hoe out his row.

The lad the text remembered,
And proved the moral well,
That perseverance to the end,
At last will nobly tell.
Take courage, man! resolve you can,
And strike a vigorous blow;
In Life's great field of various toil,
Always hoe out your row.

A MONSTER SHARK.—Mr. Adams, of the Plum Island Hotel, informs the Newburyport Herald that a live shark, weighing some 800 pounds, was thrown upon the beach near the hotel, on Monday.

AYER'S Cathartic Pills,

(SUGAR COATED,)

ARE MADE TO

CLEANSE THE BLOOD AND CURE THE SICK

Invalids, Fathers, Mothers, Physicians, Philanthropists, read their Effects, and judge of their Virtues.

FOR THE CURE OF

Headache, Sick Headache, Foul Stomach.

PITTSBURG, PA., May 1, 1855.

DR. J. C. AYER. Sir: I have been repeatedly cured of the worst headache any body can have by a dose or two of your Pills. It seems to arise from a foul stomach, which they cleanse at once. If they will cure others as they do me, the fact is worth knowing.

Yours with great respect, ED. W. PREBLE,
Clerk of Steamer Clarion.

Bilious Disorders and Liver Complaints.

DEPARTMENT OF THE INTERIOR, WASHINGTON, D. C., 7 Feb., 1856.

SIR: I have used your Pills in my general and hospital practice ever since you made them, and cannot hesitate to say they are the best cathartic we employ. Their regulating action on the liver is quick and decided, consequently they are an admirable remedy for derangements of that organ. Indeed, I have seldom found a case of bilious disease so obstinate that it did not readily yield to them.

Fraternally yours, ALONZO BALL, M. D.,
Physician of the Marine Hospital.

Dysentery, Relax, and Worms.

POST OFFICE, HARTLAND, LIV. CO., MICH., Nov. 16, 1855.

DR. AYER: Your Pills are the perfection of medicine. They have done my wife more good than I can tell you. She had been sick, and pining away for months. Went off to be doctored at great expense, but got no better. She then commenced taking your Pills, which soon cured her, by expelling large quantities of worms (dead) from her body. They afterwards cured her and our two children of bloody dysentery. One of our neighbors had it bad, and my wife cured him with two doses of your Pills, while others around us paid from five to twenty dollars doctors' bills, and lost much time, without being cured entirely even then. Such a medicine as yours, which is actually good and honest, will be prized here.

GEO. J. GRIFFIN, Postmaster.

Indigestion and Impurity of the Blood.

From Rev. J. V. Himes, Pastor of Advent Church, Boston.

DR. AYER: I have used your Pills with extraordinary success in my family and among those I am called to visit in distress. To regulate the organs of digestion and purify the blood they are the very best remedy I have ever known, and I can confidently recommend them to my friends. Yours, J. V. HIMES.

WARSAW, WYOMING CO., N. Y., Oct. 24, 1855.

DEAR SIR: I am using your Cathartic Pills in my practice, and find them an excellent purgative to cleanse the system and purify the fountains of the blood.

JOHN G. MEACHAM, M. D.

Erysipelas, Scrofula, King's Evil, Tetter, Tumors, and Salt Rheum.

From a Forwarding Merchant of St. Louis, Feb. 4, 1856.

DR. AYER: Your Pills are the paragon of all that is great in medicine. They have cured my little daughter of ulcerous sores upon her hands and feet that had proved incurable for years. Her mother has been long grievously afflicted with blotches and pimples on her skin and in her hair. After our child was cured, she also tried your Pills, and they have cured her. ASA MORGRIDGE

Rheumatism, Neuralgia, and Gout.

From the Rev. Dr. Bascom, of the Methodist Episc. Church.

PULASKI HOUSE, SAVANNAH, GA., Jan. 5, 1856.

HONORED SIR: I should be ungrateful for the relief your skill has brought me if I did not report my case to you. A cold settled in my limbs and brought on a wandering neuralgic pains, which ended in chronic rheumatism. Notwithstanding I had the best of physicians, the disease grew worse and worse, until, by the advice of your excellent agent in Baltimore, Dr. Mackenzie, I tried your Pills. Their effects were slow, but sure. By persevering in the use of them I am now entirely well.

SENATE CHAMBER, BATON ROUGE, LA., 5 Dec., 1855.

DR. AYER: I have been entirely cured by your Pills of Rheumatic Gout—a painful disease that had afflicted me for years. VINCENT SLIDELL.

For Dropsy, Plethora, or kindred Complaints, requiring an active purge, they are an excellent remedy.

For Costiveness or Constipation, and as a Dinner Pill, they are agreeable and effectual.

Fits, Suppression, Paralysis, Inflammation, and even Deafness, and Partial Blindness, have been cured by the alterative action of these Pills.

Most of the pills in market contain Mercury, which, although a valuable remedy in skilful hands, is dangerous in a public pill, from the dreadful consequences that frequently follow its incautious use. These contain no mercury or mineral substance whatever.

AYER'S CHERRY PECTORAL

FOR THE RAPID CURE OF

and for the relief of consumptive patients in advanced stages of the disease.

We need not speak to the public of its virtues. Throughout every town, and almost every hamlet of the American States, its wonderful cures of pulmonary complaints have made it already known. Nay, few are the families in any civilized country on this continent without some personal experience of its effects; and fewer yet the communities say where which have not among them some living trophy of its victory over the subtle and dangerous diseases of the throat and lungs. While it is the most powerful antidote yet known to man for the formidable and dangerous diseases of the pulmonary organs, it is also the pleasantest and safest remedy that can be employed for infants and young persons. Parents should have it in store against the insidious enemy that steals upon them unprepared. We have abundant grounds to believe the CHERRY PECTORAL saves more lives by the consumptions it prevents than those it cures. Keep it by you, and cure your colds while they are curable, nor neglect them until no human skill can master the incurable canker that, fastened on the vitals, eats your life away. All know the dreadful fatality of lung disorders, and as they know too the virtues of this remedy, we need not do more than to assure them it is still made the best it can be. We spare no cost, no care, no skill to produce it the most perfect possible, and thus afford those who rely on it the best agent which our skill can furnish for their cure.

Great American and Foreign Office

For Securing Patents for Inventions.

Agency for business with US Patent Office, Washington

R. H. EDDY,

No. 76 State st, oppo. Kilby st, Boston.

IMPORTANT INFORMATION TO INVENTORS. The Subscriber (late Agent of the U. S. Patent Office, under the Act of 1837) determined to present advantages in applying for Patents superior to those offered inventors by others, has made arrangements whereby on applications prepared and conducted by him, THIRTY DOLLARS (instead of twenty, as paid back by others,) will be remitted by him in case of failure to obtain a patent, and the withdrawal through him within thirty days after the rejection.

This Agency is not only the largest in New England, but through it inventors have advantages for securing patents, or ascertaining the patentability of inventions, unsurpassed by, if not immeasurably superior to, any which can be offered them elsewhere. The testimonials below given prove that none is MORE SUCCESSFUL AT THE PATENT OFFICE than the subscriber, and as SUCCESS IS THE BEST PROOF OF ADVANTAGES AND ABILITY, he would add that he has abundant reason to believe, and can prove, that at no other office of the kind are the charges for professional services so moderate. The immense practice of the subscriber during twenty years past, has enabled him to accumulate a vast collection of specifications and official decisions relative to patents. These, besides his extensive library of legal and mechanical works, and full accounts of patents granted in the United States and Europe, render him able, beyond question, to offer superior facilities for obtaining patents.

Caveats, Specifications, Assignments, and all Papers and Drawings necessary to the procural of patents in this and foreign countries prepared and advice rendered on legal and scientific matters respecting inventions, or infringement of patents. All necessity of a journey to Washington to procure a patent, and the usual great delay there, are here saved inventors.

Copies or claims of any patent furnished for one dollar. Assignments recorded at Washington. Patents secured in Great Britian, France, and other foreign countries, through Agents of the highest respectability. R. H. EDDY,
Solicitor of Patents.

Testimonials.

"During the time I occupied the office of Commissioner of Patents, R. H. Eddy, Esq., of Boston, did business at the Patent Office, as Solicitor of Patents. There were few, if any persons acting in that capacity, who had so much business before the Patent office; and there were none who conducted it with more skill, fidelity, and success. I regard Mr Eddy as one of the best informed and most skillful Patent Solicitors in the United States, and have no hesitation in assuring inventors that they cannot employ a person more competent and trustworthy, and more capable of putting their application in a form to secure for them an early and favorable consideration at the Patent Office.

EDMUND BURKE,
Late Commissioner of Patents."

From the present Commissioner.

ATTOTEY 17, 1855.—During the time I have held the Office of Commissioner of Patents, R. H. Eddy, Esq., of Boston, has been extensively engaged in the transaction of business with the office, as a Solicitor. He is thoroughly acquainted with the law, and the rules of practice of the Office. I regard him as one of the most capable and successful practitioners with whom I have had official intercourse. CHAS. MASON,
Commissioner of Patents.

TREMONT MILLS.

Teas, Coffees, Chocolates, Cocoas, Spices, &c.

WHOLESALE,—AND ALSO IN SMALL PACKAGES.

E. E. DYER & CO.

(Sign of the Chinaman grinding coffee,)

141 Washington St., Boston,

SUPPLY the best, finest and purest articles, at lowest Cash prices. Their Stock consists of Teas, Coffees, Chocolates, Allspice, Pepper, Mustard, Ginger, Cayenne Pepper, Nutmegs, Cinnamon, Cloves, Cream Tartar; Taraxacum, or Prepared Dandelion Root, &c., &c.

Having every facility for manufacturing and preparing the several articles named, the public may rely upon having them pure and genuine, as they are put up carefully, and bear our name and label, "TREMONT MILLS, E. E. DYER & CO."

To give consumers some idea of our sales, we annex the following scale of prices, viz:

5 lb. Souchong Tea,	1.50	5 lb. Mocha Coffee,	1.00
5 lb Oolong "	1.75	5 lb Java "	[illegible]
5 lb Y. Hyson "	2.25	5 lb. good "	1.00

☞ The Spices are put up in ¼ and ½ lb. tin cases, expressly for family use, and are warranted to be strictly a pure article, and only need a trial to establish them in public favor.

SPANISH COFFEE.—We would call the attention of customers and dealers to our Spanish Coffee, as an article which is highly esteemed, and gives the greatest satisfaction. It is prepared with particular care, and by a peculiar process in roasting, one pound of this coffee, it is believed, is equal to 1½ lb. of any other.

DANDELION COFFEE.—This article is carefully prepared at our Mills, and put up in packages having our trade mark, and may be relied upon as the best and most approved mixture of dandelion and coffee.

TARAXACUM, or Prepared Dandelion Root.—This article is prepared and roasted at our Mills, is retailed by Family Grocers generally in city and country, and bearing our trade mark, "Chinaman grinding coffee," may be relied upon as the GENUINE ARTICLE. The proportion used is about one half the quantity of coffee. The price is 20 cents per pound, and it is warranted to be the same as that which has been sold for fifty cents a pound by Druggists.

The medical properties of Dandelion are well known, and held in high estimation by all who use it. This being a preparation of the root, with all its medicinal virtues retained, can be mixed with coffee or not, as best suits the taste, and will be found cheap and economical as a family beverage, one pound of which being nearly equal to two pounds of coffee. It is prescribed by many eminent physicians to invalids, children and aged persons, as a nutritious beverage, and as a remedy for Dyspepsia, Bilious affections &c.

☞ Be careful to observe that all our Coffees have our trade mark, "Chinaman grinding coffee."

☞ To Grocers and Dealers a liberal discount is made, enabling them to supply their customers at the same low rate.

☞ TO CASH PURCHASERS.—Our object being to secure large sales at small profits, we offer inducements which cannot be afforded by those who do business on the credit system; and we confidently invite an examination of the quality of our stock and our prices, as compared with those of any other house.

ORION, THE GOLD BEATER;

OR, TRUE HEARTS AND FALSE.

A TALE OF CITY LIFE.

BY SYLVANUS COBB, JR.,

Author of the "The Gunmaker of Moscow," "The Storm Secret," &c. &c.

[The following story will give the reader a better idea of Life in New-York than could possibly be derived from any other source.—Even a personal visit to that city would not be so advantageous in this respect, as a stranger has not the facilities and opportunities for informing himself which are possessed by New Yorkers themselves. Mr. COBB, the author of it, has for some time resided in New-York, and has, in company with several of the city missionaries and other benevolent gentlemen of that city, visited nearly all the noted abodes of wretchedness and misery in that metropolis, and in this tale he weaves them into a brilliant and powerfully-written narrative, as only a master mind could do. The beauty of Mr. Cobb's writings consists chiefly in his power to engage the attention of the reader, while a high moral tone characterizes everything that emanates from his pen.]

CHAPTER I.

ORION—A CURIOUS ADVENTURE.

New-York! The Metropolis of the Union! Nestled away in its land-locked bay—crowded with its gathering hosts of humanity—a vast battle-ground of life, in the midst of which stands mammon, flushed with conquest and victory!

What a field for the study of man! Who can count its riches, or who shall dare to guess at its poverty? The eye is dazzled by its princely palaces, and the heart bleeds in view of its squalid wretchedness.

Here its thousands roll in luxurious plenty; and there its thousands more fall crushed and dying beneath want and famine! Here the favored ones see green trees, and breathe fresh air; while there the poor children of dire necessity look only upon festering corruption and breathe the foul miasma of pestilence and death.

Pass this way, and we find intelligence, morality and virtue; but turn thither, and we stand in the midst of ignorance, of vice, and of moral death! But mark! All its poverty is not vicious—and all its wealth is not virtue! No, no! In some of the palaces you may find hearts black with sin; and in some of the hovels you shall find souls as true and pure as earth can beget.

And now, if any of the scenes of my story cause a shudder, remember that I only give them because they are true. God forbid that I should draw one single theme of horror from imagination, when I have seen in this great city, scenes so terrible that I could not write them if I would—scenes which would so shock the senses that even simple belief would be staggered. I will not pander to morbid curiosity—I will only picture humanity as I find it. If I show you vice, it is that you may shun it; but be sure we shall find much, very much of noble virtue that is worth copying—virtue that warms the heart, beautifies life, and lifts the soul heavenward!

It was towards the close of a wet, cold day in Spring—in the first week of May. It had not been raining, but a sort of sleety mist had hung over the great city since early morning, and the pavements were sloppy and wet.—The dampness fell insensibly, but it clung to the stones and bricks with such tenacity, never drying up nor running off, the deposit of the early hours still remaining where it first found rest, that there was more mud and slop in the streets and upon the sidewalks than could have resulted from rain. Upon the avenues the cars and the stages were full—even to that fabulous fullness in view of which the drivers refuse to stop for even 'one more'—and yet the sidewalks were crowded with men, women and children, hurrying home from the toils of the day—jostling and pushing—each one for self—looking only ahead—caring for nothing about them—all citizens of the same town, and yet all strangers. Down town the larger stores were all closed, and in some of the more retired localities the gas was already lighted.

Upon Broadway, in the midst of the great business portion of the City, stood a large brick building, which, running back over several lots, rested its rear upon a court-yard that opened from the main thoroughfare by a narrow passage. Upon this court were several shops and offices, and, unlike most places of the kind, the yard was neat and clean. In one of the basements, which was well lighted from both sides, was a manufactory of gold-leaf. The apartment was quite spacious, with a small office assaying room in one corner, and with anvils, or beating-tables, for some dozen workmen. At the present time there was only one person in the goldsmith's shop—a young man, twenty-two years of age, named Orion Lindell. He had been in the employ of Mr. Garvey, the owner, only about five years, and yet he was the foreman of the shop. All outside of the office was under his charge, and those who know the peculiar value of the material which passed in large quantities through his hands, will at once realize the responsibility of his station. He had proved himself competent and faithful, and untold wealth was left to his individual care with as much assurance of its safety as its owners could have felt in all the vaults and proof-locks in the City.

Orion Lindell was of medium size, not large in frame, but firmly and compactly built; with a form of admirable proportions; his limbs full and finely rounded; his breast broad and nobly developed, and his carriage free and light. His face was one of peculiar manly beauty. His brow was high, open and full, above and about which clustered the glossy hair in light brown curls; his eyes sparkling and bright, and of a deep bluish grey color; his nose slightly aquiline, with those finely curved nostrils which mark the firm, energetic soul; his lips thin—though not too thin—betraying no sensualism, but showing the stout will and quickness of feeling which characterize the man of dauntless moral courage.

Such was Orion Lindell—true, pure, and noble; beloved and honored by all who knew him; respected by those below him, and always obeyed cheerfully and quickly. None could do more work, and few could do as much as he. His arms were like the shaft of a trip-hammer, and a constant swinging of the ponderous beating-maul had so developed the muscular power that even he himself was often surprised at the result of his own physical strength. He had just finished putting things in order, and was about putting on his coat—the door was opened, and a young man entered. He was a clerk in a store overhead, being some three years older than Orion, and taller, as well as a little heavier.

'Ah, Orion—off, eh?' the new comer remarked, as he closed the door behind him.

'Yes, Charley—it's late enough, isn't it?'

'I s'pose 'tis. It's dark early to-night.—But say—I've come down to take a bout with the gloves. Won't you try 'em?'

'Pooh,' laughingly replied Orion, 'you dont want to try the gloves to-night.'

'Yes—just a minute. I'm going to see Bill Emmerton to-morrow, and I want to astonish him. Come—just give us a turn.'

'Well—if you are earnest about it.' And thus speaking Orion turned to a small desk from which he took two pairs of boxing gloves. He was not a boxer by profession, but having been brought up in company with a man who taught the art for a living, he had learned much of the science. He found it a healthy, athletic exercise, and he had followed it up, and now, as a source of amusement, he taught the art to some of those friends who object to mingling with professed pugilists.—Having handed one pair of gloves to his friend he put on the other, and then bade the former to 'prepare.'

Chales Adams was very handy at the play, and for some time he had been in the habit of practicing with Orion: but in point of prowress or skill he was a mere child compared with his friendly tutor.

'It's no use,' said Adams, at the end of some five minutes, during which time he had been trying to hit his antagonist somewhere, 'I can't do it.'

'Do it in this way,' returned Orion, laughing, at the same time placing the back of his glove very carefully and gracefully upon Charley's face, but without any force.

'Tell me how to do that,' the clerk cried, earnestly.

'Now strike my face with all your might,' said Orion.

Adams made the attempt, but his hand passed harmlessly over Orion's shoulder, and as he plunged forward with the impetus of the blow, the latter caught him, and, with a ringing, merry laugh, laid him on the floor. Yet he gave his friend such instruction on a particular point as the time would permit, and the gloves were put away.

'I'd give all I'm worth if I could only possess your power and skill, Orion,' said the clerk, as he ran his eyes admiringly over the handsome, compact frame of the gold-beater.

'Practice—practice,' returned Orion.

'Ah—but practice won't give me your muscle.'

Never mind—'twill give you a good substitute—science."

'Well—you shall teach me. Only teach me so that I can hit you once, and that's all I'll ask.'

'O—you may easily do that.'

'We'll try it, at all events,' said Adams, as he turned away, 'I shall hold you to your promise.'

With these words the clerk left the place to return to his store, while Orion proceeded to put away the gloves. After this the young gold-beater put on his coat, and having assured himself that all was right otherwise, he closed and secured the heavy iron shutters, and then left the shop. There were two doors—one of wood and glass, and one of iron. These he closed and locked, and then putting the key in his pocket he moved away. The other shops that opened into the court were all closed, and Orion was the last one out.

He had walked half the distance from the shop to the street, when he was suddenly stopped by a small girl rushing in through the narrow passage. She saw him, and at once ran towards him, with her little hands both stretched out most imploringly.

'Save me! Oh! good sir, save me!' she cried, as she reached the place where he stood, and clasped one of his hands. She trembled violently, and as soon as she thus stopped she burst into tears.

She was very small; not over eight years of age, with a face of striking beauty: her eyes large and black; her hair floating in raven ringlets wildly over her shoulders; her dress very spare, and though soiled by the present muddy state of the streets, yet neat and tidy. Her bare feet—her little hood, and the thin insufficient frock, bespoke her to be the child of poverty and want. All this Orion saw in a moment, and during that moment, too, his heart went out in love and pity for the little one.

'What is it?' he asked. 'What do you fear?'

'Oh! those bad men, Sir!' she gasped, gazing prayerfully up through her tears. 'Oh! don't let them get me!—they'll hurt my good mamma, if you do!'

Ere Orion could speak further, two men rushed into the passage, and were soon in the court.

'Aha! Here you be, eh?' uttered the foremost of them. 'Here you be, my chick. Now I'll just trouble you to come along.'

Orion knew he had seen that face somewhere, and upon a closer survey he remembered the speaker as one whom he had seen at the Police Court, charged with some petty theft, at one time when he had been summoned as a witness in another case.

The fellow's name was Duffy Glicker—a stout, heavy, burly brute, in the prime of physical life, and known to the police as a low gambler, thief and bully. His companion was of the same kidney, and full as stout and heavy.

'No, no, no!' shrieked the poor little one. 'I don't want to go!'

Y'e don't, eh! Well—I'm sorry—I am.—But come along.'

'Stop a minute,' said Orion, at the same time drawing the girl quickly away from Glicker's grasp. 'What do you want with this child?'

Mr. Duffy Glicker straightened up and gazed upon the youth with a sort of condescending wonder. He measured the light frame with his eye—for he measured everything of that kind by its bulk—and then said

'What's that to you?'

'It's this much to me,' returned Orion, calmly: 'I would know how much right you have to the girl. She has claimed my protection, and—'

'Your protection! Ha, ha, ha! Your protection. Well, we'll just take her off'm yer hands. Come along, you little——'

But Duffy was interrupted in turn, for Orion again pulled the little one from him.

'Tell me, my child, who these men are?' he inquired, turning to the little girl, as he drew her close to his side.

'They're wicked men, sir; and they want to find my mamma. She has got away from them once, and now they say they will kill me if I don't tell them where she is. Oh!—don't let them! don't, don't!'

'Look'e my fine cove,' cried Glicker, beginning to show his temper, 'just mind yer own business, and don't trouble yourself with mine. Ye may get yer head broke, if yer don't look out. D'ye mind that?' And then turning to his companion, he added:

'Say, Bill—nab the brat, and I'll just pop this cove if he meddles. Come—quick.'

'The little girl uttered a low, quick cry of terror, as she saw the second wretch start towards her, but he did not reach her: Orion caught her by the arms, and having darted back a few paces, he placed her behind him, and then turned towards the two scamps.

'Stop!' he cried, as they started to advance. 'If you have any right to this girl you can prove it. I shall keep her now, and if she belongs to you, you can easily claim her. But mark me, you can't have her now; so clear out. Come—away you go.'

'Well!' burst from Mr. Glicker's lips in astonishment. 'Here's a rum go, an' no mistake. Bill Slumpkey, what'll we do with him?—put him in our boots, or land him in the gutter?'

'Dump him!' returned the individual who bore the euphonious name of Slumpkey, with a heavy oath. 'Dump him!'

'That's the go,' added Glicker, and then turning to Orion, he resumed,—

'Now look'e: I don't want to kick up a muss here, but give me that little 'un. Give her to me, I say, or I'll give ye a poke that'll make ye think yer head's got lightnin' dancing through it!'

'Stand back!' ordered Orion. 'This girl you cannot have to-night!'

'Can't, eh? By the holy poker, we'll see. Ah—take that!'

But Mr. Duffy Glicker found himself slightly at fault. As he spoke he had aimed a crushing blow at the youth's head, but instead of striking as he had planned, he felt something fall on his own face, and immediately afterwards something else fell upon the wet pavement. This something else was nothing less than the doughty Mr. Glicker himself.

Bill Slumpkey gazed just long enough to assure himself that his companion had really fallen, and then he sprang upon the gold-beater like a tiger. Orion saw in an instant that the fellow had more strength than wit, and with a simple movement he passed the huge fist over his left shoulder, and at the same time by a blow such as few men could strike, he landed Mr. Slumpkey by the side of his companion.

By this time Glicker had partially recovered, and when he realized that his mate was down, he sprang to his feet and dashed at the youth again.

'Beware!' cried Orion. 'I don't want to hurt you.'

'I see yer play,' the villain gasped, puffing the blood from his lips; and as he spoke he came on again, and again he was knocked senseless to the pavement.

Slumpkey staggered to his feet, and having gazed for a moment on his fallen companion, he uttered a fearful oath, and rushed a second time upon our hero. The youth was desirous of terminating the scene. He felt that in no way was he to blame, and he simply determined to conquer the wretches at once.

'Hark ye!' he cried to Slumpkey, as the latter came rushing on. 'Now leave me, and you shall go in peace; but raise your hand against me again and you shall suffer. Do you mind?'

'Get out?' the bully returned. 'I'll give you a taste of another game!'

His intention evidently was to grasp the youth in his arms, and then crush him; but he missed his object. Orion knocked him down again, and immediately afterwards dropped Glicker for the third time. Then he turned to the little one, and taking her quickly by the hand, passed out into Broadway, and having gained a safe distance, he stopped beneath a gas-light, and drew the girl up before him.

'What is your name?' he asked.

'Lizzie Milner, sir, she replied, in a pretty tone.

'Have you got a father and mother?'

'Yes, sir; but my papa is very sick.'

'Where do they live?'

'Down on the Five Points—on Little Water street, sir.'

'Well, now, will you go along with me tonight, and get some good supper and a pair of shoes, and sleep in a good warm bed, or will you go home?'

The poor child bowed her little head, and after a while she looked up through gathering tears, and said,—

'I'll go home with you, sir, if you'll—you'll—'

'Well—speak on. Don't be afraid.'

'O, sir—if you would only give me something for my poor, good mamma—and for my papa. Oh, sir—they're not bad people—indeed they are not. They never drink rum, nor talk wicked talk. Oh! sir—'

'Generous child!' cried Orion, pressing the little one warmly to him, 'they shall be helped. They will not be frightened if you do not come home to-night, will they?'

'Not much, sir. They'll think I have got belated somewhere, as I have done before.'

'Then come along with me, and in the morning I'll go down aad see your parents.—Come, you have nothing more to fear.'

Thus speaking, the gold-beater turned on his way, and the child clung to him, closely and fondly. Her simple understanding comprehended that she was with one in whose honor and truth she could confide, and as she patted along the cold pavement till they could find a stage in which there was room for them, she forgot all sorrows in the new gratitude that had sprung to life within her soul; for her thoughts were turned heavenward, as, from her childish heart, she called down blessings upon the head of her friend.

CHAPTER II.

A CATASTROPHE.

The narrow, road-like continuation of Broadway "Up Town," is a very different affair from Broadway "Down Town." Not far above Twenty-ninth street, on this same Broadway, stood a small frame house, neatly and tastefully arranged, situated some distance from the street, with a long garden in front.

It was a cottage-built dwelling, and bore to the beholder at once some idea of comfort and of home. Within one of the lower rooms, and close by the small centre-table above which burned a gas light, was seated a middle aged woman engaged in sewing. She was not over forty years of age; small and delicate in frame; with her hair still glossy and brown, and her dark blue eyes full and lustrous, and possessing yet a wondrous beauty.

No man could have gazed into that pale, melancholy face without being moved by the strange beauty that rested upon the delicate features. It was hopeful, prayerful, subdued expression, full of gentleness and love, and beaming with soul and thought. There was no trace of sorrow upon the fair brow, nor yet was there any of that blithe, merry joy which we often find upon the faces of those who are contented and happy; but the look was one of perfect peace and good-will induced by prayer and resignation. There were shades upon the features—a single line upon the brow, a peculiar melancholy light of the eye, and a cast of the cheek and lip, which plainly revealed to the close student of humanity that a great sorrow had at some time fallen upon her; and though she could never forget it, nor separate it from her life, yet she so far overcame it as to be happy and peaceful. Such was Catharine Lindell—and surely she was one whom no acquaintance could help loving truly and well. She was the angel of the sick bed to those who lay in physical pain: the harbinger of peace to those who suffered wrong: and the bright spirit of relief to those who were bowed down beneath poverty and want. From her own scanty store she could not afford much, and often did she share her neighbors' want that they might be blessed from her narrow means.

The night had set in, and without it was pitchy dark. Ever and anon Mrs. Lindell would stop her needle as some noise from the street fell upon her ear, and several times she went to the window and looked out. At length, just as the little clock upon the mantel struck eight, she heard the gate opened, and in a moment more came the well-known footfall upon the flagging. She hurried to the door, and opened it just in time to admit her son. A warm kiss was exchanged, and then the latter said,—

'I trust you have not worried for me, mother?'

'No, no, Orion—I have not worried; but yet you are later than usual.'

'Aye, for I have had business. See—here is a poor child for whom I have been purchasing stockings and shoes. She is a good little girl, I'm sure, and we must love her.'

Without speaking, Mrs. Lindell hastened back into the sitting-room, and Orin followed her, leading little Lizzie Wilmer by the hand. As soon as he sat down he related all the circumstances attending the finding of the child, only omitting the little passage-at-arms between himself and the two gentlemen from whom Lizzie fled. As he ceased speaking, his mother called the child to her side and drew her upon her knee. Then she brushed back the raven hair from the open brow, and gazed into those large dark eyes—strange eyes, they were, so dark and brilliant, when contrasted with the pale cheek and delicate features. Mrs Lindell at once read a noble character in the little one, and her own face wore a look of affectionate sympathy.

'Tell me about your papa and mamma,' she said, drawing the child to her bosom, and imprinting a kiss upon her fair brow.

'Suppose we have some supper first,' interrupted Orion with a smile.

'Well—I had entirely forgotten supper,' returned the mother, with a light laugh. 'On the whole, I think a little food would be better than story-telling for our pretty child. The meal is all ready.'

Thus speaking she arose, still holding Lizzie in her arms, and led the way to the rear apartment, where a coal fire was burning in the small range, and where the supper table was all set. The eyes of the poor child filled with tears many times as her friends spoke so kindly to her, and gratitude was apparent in her every look. As she took a small cake, towards the close of the meal, she struggled hard with her feelings, but was finally obliged to lay the cake down, for the flood could be no longer stayed. She burst into tears, and covered her face with her hands.

'Dear Lizzie,' uttered Mrs. Lindell, laying her hand upon the poor girl's head, 'what is it? What's the matter?'

But the child could not speak.

'Tell me, Lizzie,' urged Orion. What makes you cry?'

For a while this renewed earnestness of love only made her weep the more, but at length she so far overcame her emotions as to be able to speak, and in a choking tone she said:

'Oh! I was wishing that my papa and mamma could be loved like you love me. Oh! they are very unhappy, and nobody loves them!'

'Nobody?' inquired the woman. 'Do you think no one loves them?'

'Perhaps God loves them. Do you think he does?'

'Of course, my child. God loves all His children. But cheer up. We will love your papa and mamma.'

At length Mrs. Lindell succeeded in calming the child's emotions, and when the meal was ended they returned to the front room where Lizzie told her simple story.

She could only tell that her father was a book-binder by trade; that he had been sick for some time, and had consequently become poor. Once they had a good home, and were comfortable and happy, but now they could no longer enjoy any of the comforts of life.—They only strove to keep life in their bodies.

'But what did those two men want of your mamma?' asked Mrs. Lindell, who had now gained the entire confidence of the child.

'It isn't both of them,' said Lizzie very earnestly. 'It's only Duffy Glicker that wants her. I don't know exactly what it is—only I know mamma is afraid of him. He wants her to do something when my papa is dead. Oh! he is a very wicked man!'

The hostess drew the fair unfortunate upon her bosom and kissed her, and then asked her if she wouldn't like to go to bed. She said yes, and Mrs. Lindell soon prepared a little bed in her own room, into which the child was put. Then she sat down by her side and taught her a simple prayer, and sang sweetly to her until she fell asleep.

For a long time after Mrs. Lindell returned to her sitting-room she and her son talked the matter over, and they select d some few things which he was to take to the suffering ones in the morning. After this they related to each other, as was their wont, the affairs of the day, and then retired for the night.

On the following morning, Orion and his mother were early astir. The fog of the preceding day had all gone, and the sun arose bright and clear, with the prospect of warm and pleasant weather. Breakfast was soon prepared, and then Lizzie was aroused from her deep slumbers. She smiled when she started up, and her first utterance was, that she had had a very good dream. When she was all washed clean, and her fine silken hair combed, and her dried and clean garments put on, she looked very pretty and sweet.—She threw her arms about Mrs. Lindell's neck and kissed her, and then, while the warm tears gushed from her eyes, she murmured,—

'Oh! how good you are to me!'

The woman returned the kiss, and then led the way to the breakfast table. The meal was eaten and Orion had just arisen from the table, when a loud noise in the street attracted his attention.—

He heard the sound of loud voices, and saw men running down the street. Seizing his hat he rushed out, and as he reached the sidewalk he saw a span of horses coming up Broadway at a furious gallop, with a coach behind them on three wheels. He could see that there were people in the coach, and that they had not only lost all control of their horses, but of themselves as well. Many men ran out in front of the furious animals, and swung their hats and cried out, but they darted back as the infuriated animals came rushing on, and all their efforts seemed only to frighten them more. In the forward part of the coach was a female, whose hands were clasped upon the silver rod of the dasher, and who cried aloud for help—for mercy—for God to save them. Soon a cry of horror went up from the multitude. The horses were dashing towards a post upon the roadside. On they flew—the coach, with its shattered axletree, struck the immovable obstacle—the shock came, and the female by the dasher was hurled forward and caught upon the pole, the reins and straps strangely catching and holding her. The carriage was crushed by the concussion, and away went the horses without it.

The people stood transfixed with horror! The ill-fated female could no longer cry out, or if she did, it was in a tone so weak that no one could hear her. That she must be instantly killed, seemed apparent to all. She was fast to the tangled harness, directly between the horses, and her garments were quickly torn to shreds. Orion saw the whole at a single glance, and under the influence of a will which no fear of earth could have swerved, he darted into the middle of the street, and faced the coming horses. He measured the distance instantly, and with his body firmly braced, he extended both his arms, and called out boldly and authoritatively for the animals to stop. A hundred voices called out for him to come back, but he heeded them not.

A horse knows very well when a man is afraid of him, and he is not; and he can distinguish too, the tone of command from the yell of fear. As the two animals saw Orion, and heard his voice, they seemed to hesitate, but yet they dashed on. They appeared to believe that he would flee from before them, as all others had done; but he did not, and when they came full upon him, and met the calm, determined fire of his expressive eyes, and heard his tone of command, they would have stopped if they could, but their fearful impetus was not so easily to be overcome.—With a quick movement, Orion grasped both the check-reins at the same time, being careful to keep between the horses, so that their feet should not strike him, and then, with an effort as wondrous in its execution as it was remarkable in its conception, he raised himself from the ground, thus bearing his whole weight upon their checked heads. They made a few spasmodic bounds after this, and then stopped. Their sides and flanks were bathed with white foam, and they trembled as though their limbs would almost fall asunder.

TUESDAY, OCTOBER 14, 1856.

NEW HAMPSHIRE STATE FAIR.

A correspondent calls the Fair held at Concord last week, the best Agricultural Exhibition ever given under the auspices of the New Hampshire Agricultural Society. It is the seventh one under a State organization.

The Working Cattle in point of numbers and character, are said to be markedly superior to anything ever seen in this State at any aggregate show. They include county, town and single teams. Among the town teams, one from Chichester musters 20 yoke of fine animals, all of a color and mostly of like age. Merrimac county has ten yoke of noble cattle, and the town teams are so numerous as to preclude mention.

The Dairy Cattle are very miscellaneous in their origin, but the Devons seem to furnish the prevailing blood. The pure animals of this stock are very fine; the young stock show most prominently the points designating merit. A very few Ayreshires and Durhams are on the ground. The Alderneys have only two or three representatives, and the rest of the bulk is made up of mixed breeds—indiscriminately mixed in many instances, and in a few very judiciously.

There was a better show of pigs than I have seen out of Norfolk county, Massachusetts, where 'pig-craft' is truly cultivated as a science. The Suffolk breed predominates. The Asylum for the Insane, in Concord, furnishes some fine specimens of porcinity. The pigs are a primary feature of interest to thousands who crowd around to view them.

The Horses—principally young ones—were almost universally of the "Morgan breed," or (what is considered, apparently, by some owners, equally as good,) deserving of the name. Everything equine upon four legs is now called a Morgan, even in the face of an inability to establish the slightest consanguinity with this noted pedigree.

The Sheep did not furnish such a fine display as I have seen at New Hampshire fairs. The few pens of crossed Leicesters and of Merinos, and also a new description from Canada, contained some fine animals—in particular the former of those mentioned.

The Horticultural department excelled in quality most shows in New England this year. Nathan White of Newport, showed 18 potatoes, of what was labelled the "Buckeye" variety, the yield of one half tuber, which made half a peck, and weighed 15 pounds. Also, the produce of four potatoes, which represented seven pounds, over four and a half bushels—allowing 60 pounds to the bushel—or 277 pounds. A peck of the Jenny Lind variety of potatoes were also exhibited, being the produce of a pound and a half of seed. Some large and fine looking seedling potatoes were shown by Moody A. Pillsbury, and named after him by the judges.

There was but a meagre display of fruit, but what was on the tables was good.

Quite a large number of specimens of native wine were on the tables. This wine manufacture has become a very common feature of domestic economy. One gentleman manufactured over fifty gallons from grapes, and eighteen from currants; and in his neighborhood, which is the southeastern part of the State, numbers had made quantities, more or less.

The contributions of Butter, Cheese, and Bread, were numerous and excellent.

The display of manufactured goods, mechanical, garden and field products, and fruit and fancy articles, were rather meagre, falling below that of preceding Fairs; indeed not up to that of some County Exhibitions.

Ezra J. Glidden, Esq., of Unity, was on Thursday evening chosen President of the Society, in place of Ex. Gov. Baker.

CONNECTICUT ELECTION.—The Hartford Courant says:—"One hundred and twenty-six towns heard from—Fremont 73;—Buchanan 48; divided 5. Fremont gains 23 towns, and Buchanan 14. The gains on the popular vote ensures this State for Fremont by a large plurality." The Courant is one of the most reliable papers in the State. Later returns from 140 towns give the following result: for the Fremonters 81, for Buchanan 53, divided 6.—Fremont majority 28 or about 20 per cent.

GREAT REVENUE SEIZURE.—On Thursday night Messrs. George Fessenden and Joshua M. Waterhouse, Night Custom House Inspectors, of Portland Me., discovered and seized, on board a vessel recently from Cuba, about 50,400 Cigars and eight cases of gin.

MURDER.—In Portland, Me., on the night of Oct. 7th, Mrs. George Knight was murdered in her sleep, her throat being cut,—it is supposed by her husband. Knight and his wife separated some time ago, she going home to live with her parents. On the previous evening, her husband left the house, saying he was going off with a load of shingles, and as he might return in the night, the doors were not to be fastened. It is supposed he entered through a window while she was sleeping—deliberately cut her throat, and retreated through the window as he came, leaving the marks of his bloody fingers on the panes; threw the knife into the bushes, and fled to Gray, Me., where he was taken in custody. The family hearing a noise in the room, went there, and found the wife just expiring and the murderer flown.—There were indications of a struggle between the parties, before the terrible act was consummated. He was taken to Portland for examination. He is said to be wealthy.

A BRILLIANT SMASH.—A case of splendid French mirrors, valued at $300, consigned to a house in Boston was received on Friday from New York. On opening it, says the Journal, the contents were found broken and confused, reflecting their own image of destruction. The case contained five mirrors, in carved gilt frames, which from some unknown cause have during the transit, been broken.

KANSAS AFFAIRS.—William Thomas, of Michigan, who left Lecompton for home on the 27th ult., writes to the Chicago Tribune that outrages in the Territory continue to be of frequent occurrence. They come, for the most part, from the predatory Georgians, who are roving around for the purpose of plunder. The one hundred Free State men confined at Lecompton on the sham charge of murder, are kept in a house twenty by thirty feet, containing only two floors, and of course their quarters are narrow and uncomfortable. They are strictly guarded by United States troops, and a loaded field-piece planted near the door, serves as a reminder that they must not rise against their masters.

From a letter in the N. Y. Evening Post, dated St. Joseph, Mo., Oct. 1st, we make a few extracts:

I have made the trip through Kansas but at the peril of my life. I have seen for myself and I know the things of which I speak. You will probably hear now, that matters in that distracted country are quiet; that the new Governor Geary is a determined man, and will preserve order. It is so, but it is the quiet maintained only with the bayonets of a military despotism, and the cannon of an oppressive government! a government which dispenses peace and liberty to the North, but gives wars and slavery to the plains of Kansas.

At Waverly, fifteen miles below Lexington, as the boat put off her freight and letters, we noticed two rough looking men on horseback, one of whom held a rifle. As we were pushing off, the latter said to the captain—'Hallo, there, heave to! you've got Black Republicans on board.' 'No we haven't.' 'You have, for this letter you just gave me says so, and God d—n you, if you don't set 'em ashore, I'll blow you up at Lexington.' But we were fifteen hours reaching Lexington, thanks to the heavy fog, and thus escaped his evil intentions (if he had any.)

Every respectable looking man is suspected immediately and measures taken to get rid of him. We reached Leavenworth Sunday morning, and one of our party had no sooner seated himself down at the store than one of these ruffians said, 'Are you determined to locate here?' Don't know, sir: I haven't made up my mind?' 'What business shall you follow if you do stop?' Don't know: think I shan't stop.' 'Well, if you stay and bid on these abolition claims, you needn't value your head high.'

And this is not an exceptional but a frequent occurrence. From Kansas City to Fort Leavenworth, Atchison, and Doniphan, no freeman can speak his mind and keep his life. We hoped the reports which we heard and read before we left New York were exaggerated, and they were in some particulars; but the truth, that freedom, is temporarily, at least, 'crushed out,' in Kansas, must come out, and stain the hitherto bright pages of our country's history. And all this by the power, co-operation and sympathy of the government on the side of the oppressor."

☞ Elections occur to-day, in Ohio, Indiana and Pennsylvania. The hardest struggle is in Pennsylvania, which is generally allowed to be, to-day, the decisive battle-ground of the Presidential election. We shall give, to-morrow, such telegraphic returns as are received in Boston to-night.

PHILADELPHIA, Oct. 13.

THE ELECTION TO-MORROW.—Much excitement exists here, in consequence of the arrest of the Shiffler Hose Company, and writs of habeas corpus are issued to procure their release before election day.

Letters from Baltimore say that large numbers of the "Rip Rap" and "Empire" clubs had left that city for this, to operate in the election.

LATER FROM CALIFORNIA.

NEW YORK, Oct. 13.—Steamship George Law arrived last night, with the California mails to the 20th ult., nearly two million gold, and advices from New Grenada, the South Pacific, Jamaica and Australia.

The general intelligence from California is unimportant. Politics occupied the public mind to the exclusion of other subjects. In San Francisco there was a movement on foot to unite the various elements in opposition to the Democrats; who are the bitter enemies of the Vigilance Committee. It was somewhat doubtful, however, whether the project would succeed.

The Republicans it is said are making a a ticket, the Americans are to make one,—and an Independent, or Citizens ticket is is made, all friendly to the Vigilance Committee—and all sure to be beaten if they don't unite.

The trial of Messrs. John L. Durpee and Charles E. Rand before the U. S. Circuit Court, Judge M'Allister presiding, came off on the 11th inst., and resulted in their acquittal, after an absence of three or four minutes by the jury. After their discharge, they were received by their friends and members of the Vigilance Committee, and escorted in triumph through the principal streets, preceded by a band of music. During their confinement in prison, as bail was refused them after their indictment, Mr. Rand was nominated by the Republican Convention for the office of Dock Master, a responsible and lucrative position.

Herbert, a member of Congress, arrived by the last steamer, and is treated as though he were a suspicious stranger. The heavy petitions requesting him to resign and abandon affection for this State, have been presented to him.

The harvests in Oregon, though late, owing to the advanced season of sowing, caused by the cold weather, are completed. The crops are generally good, much better than was anticipated early in the season.

The crops in Washington Territory, especially oats, had suffered much from the grasshoppers. The weather, however, had been very favorable for the harvest, and the remaining crops had been gathered in fine condition.

FREMONT,
THE MUSTANG CANDIDATE.

If Col. Fremont had as many friends as the Mustang Liniment, the opposition could not draw a corporal's guard. Mr. Fremont remarked in his dispatches to President Fillmore, while transporting horses and cattle over the plains of Mexico, "That if the Government would send him on a liberal supply of Mustang Liniment, it would save 25 per cent. of his losses." This is very important for all Farmers and Liverymen to know. The Mustang Liniment is a wonderful article for man or beast. It should always be used for Sores, Swellings, Stiff Joints, Burns, Bruises, Rheumatic Pains, &c., and for Galds, Sprains, Spavins, Ringbone, &c., upon horses.—BEWARE OF IMITATIONS. The Mustang is sold by all respectable dealers everywhere.

WOOD'S HAIR DYE.—This admirable article is rapidly improving the hair. No article of a similar kind, now before the public, enjoys a better reputation as a restorative and invigorating hair tonic. Its peculiar chemical qualities have a beneficial effect upon the growth and character of the hair, giving a silky and glossy texture to that which was formerly of a coarse and dry nature. It has, also, we understand, a tendency to preserve the youthful color of the hair, and destroying or counteracting the effects of age. With such recommendations in its favor, we hardly perceive how any lady or gentleman should be without so valuable an adjunct to their toilet. The article may be had of the Druggists throughout the country.—[Missouri Democrat.

HAYDEN'S IMPROVED VEGETABLE PURGATIVE PILLS.

NOTICES FROM THE PRESS.

From the Boston Times, Aug. 31, 1848.

Dr. Hayden's Improved Vegetable Purgative Pills are creating a most extraordinay excitement in the community. We have heard of some remarkable cures performed simply by the use of these pills alone. They are worthy of a trial.

HEALTH AND STRENGTH.

☞ DR. S. O. RICHARDSON'S SHERRY WINE BITTERS is the best Medicine ever used for Summer Complaints. It has been more liberally patronized than any other ever established in this country. It is the same Richardson's Bitters which has restored so many invalids to health throughout New England during the past thirty years.

N. B.—Beware of imitations called Sherry Wine Bitters. The genuine have a fac simile of my signature upon the outer envelope. For sale by Druggists everywhere, and at my office, No. 51 Hanover St., Boston. aug8 6m

THE GREAT DISCOVERY.

Many years ago, Doctor Burleigh Smart, of Kennebunk, Me., discovered that a simple article never before used as a medicine, was a never failing cure for coughs of every description, and an excellent blood purifier. By its use in his private practice, he acquired the reputation of being the best physician in New England, for all diseases of the lungs. After his death, Messrs. Shaw & Clark of Biddeford, Me., obtained a Copy Right from Government, for its exclusive manufacture, and now have it carefully prepared strictly according to the original recipe. There is no cough that it will not cure, unless the patient is past all human aid before commencing its use! It is called "Doctor Burleigh Smart's Cough Medicine," and is for sale by all apothecaries. au27 TuThs&S 6m.

LOCAL.

THE NEW POST-OFFICE BUILDING:

WHERE SHALL WE HAVE IT?

A couple of months ago, or so, the Secretary of the U. S. Treasury advertised for offers of sites on which to locate the building to be erected by the general government, for the accommodation of the Post Office, Custom House, and U. S. District Court. These offers of sites were to be sent in to Messrs. Clement and Rundlett, the Collector and Postmaster of the city; and the bids were to close on the 20th of September. About thirty lots, we hear, were offered—many of which were out of all question, from their location; and for some of which, prices were asked that would buy similar estates in the centre of Boston or New York.

We supposed the two gentlemen named above, would immediately make their selection from the list of offers, and forward to Washington for the ratification of the Secretary. But they evidently wish to act in this matter, so as best to satisfy and accommodate our whole people. And to further this important object, a public meeting was held at the Court House, on Saturday evening Oct. 4th, for consultation on the matter. After considerable discussion, a Committee (whose advertisement is in another column) was elected by the meeting, to ascertain as far as possible, the wishes of the people in the matter. That Committee, accordingly, placed in several public places for signatures, a sort of petition or expression of opinion—liks this:

"We the undersigners, choose for the location of the new Custom House and Post Office, the place named over their signatures—admitting said place can be obtained on reasonable terms."

The followed, (each at the head of a blank column, for signatures,) the list we give below,—which we presume are considered the fourteen most eligible lots offered or to be had:

Corner Congress and Chesnut streets, to Express Office.
Site of Franklin House.
Site of old Belle Tavern.
Site of City Hotel.
Site of Peduzzi House, Corner High and Congress streets.
Site of Rockingham Bank and Piscataqua House.
Site of Jefferson Hall and No. 1 Exchange Buildings.
McIntire Estate, Market street.
Samuel Sheafe estate, Market street.
Corner of School and Vaughan streets.
Site Benj. Cheever's store, Market st.
Sherburne's, and Mariners' House, Daniel streets.
Hart house, Corner Daniel and Penhallow streets.
Site Gazette Office and Thos. Fernald's estate.

The fine lot on Market Square, too long cumbered by the disgraceful old brick Market, meets with a hundred fold more favor than any other; and the signatures are about in that ratio.

We have already given the size and plan of this lot, and stated our preference for it. And appearances indicate that this will be the location decided upon.

The communication of "Public Good," on this subject, we are unable to give till to-morrow.

SUPREME JUDICIAL COURT.

ROCKINGHAM COUNTY.

PORTSMOUTH, Monday, Oct. 13.

The Grand Jury found 12 bills of indictment for violations of the liquor law.

Moody Foster was arraigned on three indictments—plea not guilty; Alfred Page plead not guilty to three indictments; and Charles Noyes to one indictment—all for violations of the liquor law, in Salem, N. H.

No. 2, State v. Foster was committed to the jury on Monday afternoon.

In the action of State v. Edward A. Green and John H. Green, for breaking and entering the dwelling-house of John Durgin in Exeter, and stealing therefrom—the jury brought in a verdict of guilty.

Richard B. Marsh was arraigned for a false and fraudulent mortgage of personal property, to prevent the attachment of the same,—plea not guilty.

State v. Samuel Brewster, for stealing a promissory note of the value of twenty dollars, the property of one Solomon Gray. Respondent arraigned—plea not guilty.

State v. Simeon Allen is now on trial.—The Respondent is indicted for burning a barn in Epping. Bell for State, Wood and Collins for Respondent.

☞ WARD THREE.—The Democratic Nominating and Prudential Committee of Ward Three are requested to meet at the Piscataqua House this (Tuesday) Evening, at 7 1-2 o'clock. CHAS. F. ADAMS, Sec.

☞ See the advertisement of Price's Ethiopian Minstrels—who give entertainments at the Temple, this and to-morrow evenings. They have a great programme, and it is said can go through with it in style.

ADMIRALTY CASES.

PORTSMOUTH, Oct. 13.

Before U. S. Commissioner Webster.—Chas. Malone, seamen, was charged, (on documentary evidence,) with mutiny on board ship Noondaya, Capt. Geary, June 3, on a voyage in the Pacific. Plea, not guilty. The Commissioner ordered him committed for further examination and further testimony.

Edward Wells, Thomas Rice and George Wilson, seamen of ship Humboldt, Capt. Lunt, were charged with revolt, (on similar documentary evidence.)

Wilson has died,—the other two plead not guilty,—and stated that they had been 16 months in confinement, 8 of them in jail at Manilla—the remainder on board U. S. ship Vandalia, which brought them home.

They were committed to await further evidence.

☞ The crew of the U. S. ship Vandalia, at this Naval Station, were paid off on Monday. They have been on a three-years' cruise, and we are told their pay-roll amounted to about $65,000. A considerable portion of this was distributed among our citizens—one firm of clothing dealers receiving about $2000. If the sailors had spent none of their hard earnings to less advantage than this, we should rejoice, and so probably would some of them.

The keeper of an eating-house, we learn, was induced to lend one of these sailors about $80, which is more than his due from the ship, and he is not to be found. A very large number of pimps and brothel keepers, from Boston and elsewhere, have infested our city for the past week—watching poor Jack as the buzzards wait for their wished for prey, and ready to pounce on their victims as soon as the game is up.—Bad 'cess to 'em say we—hang on to the gold, Jack, and don't hang on to the glass.

OUTRAGEOUS.—On Monday evening about nine o'clock, some miscreant threw a stone weighing upwards of a pound, through a front window of the residence of Mr. Geo. N. Carleton, on State street, with such force as to sink deep into the folding doors between the front room and that in which the family were sitting. No cause can be imagined for this dastardly attack, and no clue to the offender has been gained. The street was entirely quiet during the evening, as at that time. The extreme force with which the missile was hurled, would seem to indicate something a little different from mere boyish rowdyism.

CHARLESTON, Oct. 12.

FLORIDA ELECTION.—Further returns from the Florida election in 16 counties shows that the Democrats have carried 8, and the Americans 8. The Democrats thus far have gained 350 votes. Thirteen counties remain to be heard from.

☞ A powder horn was discovered a few days since on one of the "Hunting Islands," near the mouth of Morgan River, South Carolina, marked "2 Rudolph." It is the only trace ever discovered of the revenue-cutter Hamilton, Captain Rudolph, which was lost off Charleston Bar, in 1853, and never heard of.

☞ Somebody, describing the appearance of a man dancing a polka, says: "He looks as though he had a hole in his pocket, and was trying to shake a shilling down the leg of his trousers."

Smith, a fast Indian, had a race at Chicago, Ill., with the trotting horses Selim and Reindeer—for a purse of $500.—the horses were to trot six miles while the Indian ran one-half the distance—and Smith beat them, doing the three miles in 15:39.

J. W. MOSES would call the attention of his friends, customers, and the Public in general to the fact, that he has in his store, at No. 8 Market street, a good assortment of Broadcloths, Pilot and Beaver Cloths, plain and fancy Doeskins and Cassimeres, Black and fancy Velvets, plain and figured Satins and Grenadin Vestings, &c., which he will make to order or sell either with or without cutting or making, at fair prices.

He has a large assortment of furnishing Goods, consisting of Shirts, Collars, Cravats, Suspenders, Handkerchiefs, Under-Shirts and Drawers, &c., &c.

All Garments made by him warranted to be as good as can be had in this city. The above are new Goods, having been selected with care from large Stocks in Boston, and just received. September 26. is3w

A PERFUMED BREATH.—What lady or gentleman would remain under the curse of a disagreeable breath, when using the "Balm of a Thousand Flowers" as a dentifrice would not only render it sweet, but leave the teeth white as alabaster? Many persons do not know their breath is bad, and the subject is so delicate, their friends will never mention it. Pour a single drop of the "Balm" on your tooth-brush and wash the teeth night and morning. A fifty cent bottle will last a year.

A BEAUTIFUL COMPLEXION may easily be acquired by using the "Balm of a Thousand Flowers." It will remove tan, pimples and freckles from the skin, leaving it of a soft and roseate hue. Wet a towel, pour on two or three drops, and wash the face night and morning.

SHAVING MADE EASY.—Wet your shaving brush in either warm or cold water, pour on two or three drops of "Balm of a Thousand Flowers," rub the beard well and it will make a beautiful soft lather, much facilitating the operation of shaving. Price only 50 cents.

Grand Exhibition of HORSES,
BY THE Boston Agricultural Association.

The First Exhibition of the Boston Agricultural Association
will be held at BOSTON, on
TUESDAY, WEDNESDAY, THURSDAY, FRIDAY and SATURDAY,
October 21, 22, 23, 24 and 25.

PREMIUMS from Twenty-five to One Thousand Dollars, amounting, in the aggregate, to Eight Thousand Dollars, have been offered, open for competition to horses from all parts of the Union, as well as the Canadas.

A Committee composed of citizens of Boston and vicinity, has been appointed, to co-operate with the officers of the Society in perfecting the arrangements for the Exhibition. A large fund has been guaranteed, to meet expenses. This material aid, taken in connexion with the excellence of the location, (being the same grounds occupied last year by the U. S. Agricultural Society,) and the large amount of premiums offered, induces the expectation that this Exhibition will be of a superior character.

Seats for six thousand persons have been prepared, also a saloon, with female attendants, for the accommodation of Ladies.

Stalls for the accommodation of four hundred horses have been prepared upon the grounds.

Favorable arrangements with the various railroads, for the transportation of stock, are in progress, the terms of which will be given on application at the Office.

The following horses will be upon the ground, and have signified their intention to enter and contend for premiums offered for speed, viz: Hiram Drew, Ethan Allen, Flora Temple, Lancet, Tacony, Grey Eddy, Pocahontas, and others of well known reputation.

The Premium List, with the Regulations and Programme of the Exhibition, will be furnished on application to the Secretary at Boston.

AYER'S CHERRY PECTORAL,

FOR THE RAPID CURE OF

Colds, Coughs, and Hoarseness.

BRIMFIELD, Mass., 20th Dec., 1855.
Dr. J. C. AYER: I do not hesitate to say the best remedy I have ever found for Coughs, Hoarseness, Influenza, and the concomitant symptoms of a Cold, is your CHERRY PECTORAL. Its constant use in my practice and my family for the last ten years has shown it to possess superior virtues for the treatment of these complaints. EBEN KNIGHT, M. D.

A. B. MORTLEY, Esq., of Utica, N. Y., writes: "I have used your PECTORAL myself and in my family ever since you invented it, and believe it the best medicine for its purpose ever put out. With a bad cold I should sooner pay twenty-five dollars for a bottle than do without it, if I could not obtain other remedy."

Croup, Whooping Cough, Influenza.

SPRINGFIELD, MASS., Feb. 7, 1856.
DOCTOR AYER: I will cheerfully certify your PECTORAL is the best remedy we possess for the cure of Whooping Cough, Croup, and the chest diseases of children. We of your fraternity in the South appreciate your skill, and commend your medicine to our people.
HIRAM CONKLIN, M. D.

AMOS LEE, Esq., MONTPELIER, Va., writes, 3d Jan., 1856: "I had a tedious Influenza, which confined me to doors six weeks; took many medicines without relief; finally tried your PECTORAL by the advice of our clergyman. The first dose relieved the soreness in my throat and lungs; less than one half the bottle made me completely well. Your medicines are the cheapest as well as the best we can buy, and we esteem you, Doctor, and your remedies, as the poor man's friend."

Asthma or Phthisic, and Bronchitis.

WEST MANCHESTER, PA., Feb. 4, 1856.
SIR: Your CHERRY PECTORAL is performing marvellous cures in this section. It has relieved several from alarming symptoms of consumption, and is now curing a man who has labored under an affection of the lungs for the last forty years. HENRY L. PARKS, Merchant.

A. A. RAMSEY, M. D., ALBION, MONROE Co., Iowa, writes, Sept. 5, 1855: "During my practice of many years I have found nothing equal to your CHERRY PECTORAL for giving ease and relief to consumptive patients, or curing such as are curable."

We might add volumes of evidence, but the most convincing proof of the virtues of this remedy is found in its effects upon trial.

Consumption.

Probably no one remedy has ever been known which cured so many and such dangerous cases as this. Some no human aid can reach; but even to those the CHERRY PECTORAL affords relief and comfort.

ASTOR HOUSE, NEW YORK CITY, March 5, 1856.
DOCTOR AYER, LOWELL: I feel it a duty and a pleasure to inform you what your CHERRY PECTORAL has done for my wife. She had been five months laboring under the dangerous symptoms of Consumption, from which no aid "we could procure gave her much relief. She was steadily failing, until Dr. Strong, of this city, advised us to have come for advice, recommended a trial of your medicine. We bless his kindness, as we do your skill, for she has recovered from that day. She is not yet as strong as she used to be, but is free from her cough, and calls herself well.
Yours with gratitude and regard,
ORLANDO SHELBY, of SHELBYVILLE.

Consumptives, do not despair till you have tried AYER'S CHERRY PECTORAL. It is made by one of the best medical chemists in the world, and its cures all around us bespeak the high merits of its virtues.—Philadelphia Ledger.

Ayer's Cathartic Pills.

THE sciences of Chemistry and Medicine have been taxed their utmost to produce this best, most perfect purgative which is known to man. Innumerable proofs are shown that these PILLS have virtues which surpass in excellence the ordinary medicines, and that they win unprecedentedly upon the esteem of all men. They are safe and pleasant to take, but powerful to cure. Their penetrating properties stimulate the vital activities of the body, remove the obstructions of its organs, purify the blood, and expel disease. They purge out the foul humors which breed and grow distemper, stimulate sluggish or disordered organs into their natural action, and impart healthy tone with strength to the whole system. Not only do they cure the every-day complaints of every body, but also formidable and dangerous diseases that have baffled the best of human skill. While they produce powerful effects, they are at the same time, in diminished doses, the safest and best physic that can be employed for children. Being sugar-coated, they are pleasant to take; and being purely vegetable, are free from any risk of harm. Cures have been made which surpass belief were they not substantiated by men of such exalted position and character as to forbid the suspicion of untruth. Many eminent clergymen and physicians have lent their names to certify to the public the reliability of my remedies, while others have sent me the assurance of their conviction that my Preparations contribute immensely to the relief of my afflicted, suffering fellow-men.

The Agent below named is pleased to furnish gratis my American Almanac, containing directions for their use and certificates of their cures, of the following complaints:—

Costiveness, Bilious Complaints, Rheumatism, Dropsy, Heartburn, Headache arising from a foul Stomach, Nausea, Indigestion, Morbid Inaction of the Bowels and Pain arising therefrom, Flatulency, Loss of Appetite, all Ulcerous and Cutaneous Diseases which require an evacuant Medicine, Scrofula or King's Evil. They also, by purifying the blood and stimulating the system, cure many complaints which it would not be supposed they could reach, such as Deafness, Partial Blindness, Neuralgia and Nervous Irritability, Derangements of the Liver and Kidneys, Gout, and other kindred complaints arising from a low state of the body or obstruction of its functions.

Do not be put off by unprincipled dealers with something else that they make more profit on. Ask for AYER'S PILLS, and take nothing else. No other they can give you compares with this in its intrinsic value or curative powers. The sick want the best aid there is for them, and they should have it.

Prepared by Dr. J. C. AYER,
Practical and Analytical Chemist, Lowell, Mass

Great American and Foreign Office

For Securing Patents for Inventions.

Agency for business with US Patent Office, Washington

R. H. EDDY,
No. 76 State st, oppo. Kilby st, Boston.

IMPORTANT INFORMATION TO INVENTORS. The Subscriber (late Agent of the U. S. Patent Office, under the Act of 1837) determined to present advantages in applying for Patents superior to those offered inventors by others, has made arrangements whereby on applications prepared and conducted by him, TWENTY DOLLARS (instead of twenty, as paid back by others), will be remitted by him in case of failure to obtain a patent, and the withdrawal through him within thirty days after the rejection.

This Agency is not only the largest in New England, but through it inventors have advantages for securing patents, or ascertaining the patentability of inventions, unsurpassed by, if not immeasurably superior to, any which can be offered them elsewhere. The testimonials below given prove that none is MORE SUCCESSFUL AT THE PATENT OFFICE than the subscriber; and as SUCCESS IS THE BEST PROOF OF ADVANTAGES AND ABILITY, he would add that he has abundant reason to believe, and can prove, that at no other office of the kind are the charges for professional services so moderate.—The immense practice of the subscriber during twenty years past, has enabled him to accumulate a vast collection of specifications and official decisions relative to patents. These, besides his extensive library of legal and mechanical works, and full accounts of patents granted in the United States and Europe, render him able, beyond question, to offer superior facilities for obtaining patents.

Caveats, Specifications, Assignments, and all Papers and Drawings necessary to the procural of patents in this and foreign countries prepared and advice rendered on legal and scientific matters respecting inventions, or infringement of patents. All necessity of a journey to Washington to procure a patent, and the usual great delay there, are here saved inventors.

Copies of claims of any patent furnished for one dollar. Assignments recorded at Washington.—Patents secured in Great Britian, France, and other foreign countries, through Agents of the highest respectability. R. H. EDDY.

Solicitor of Patents.

Testimonials.

"During the time I occupied the office of Commissioner of Patents, R. H. Eddy, Esq., of Boston, did business at the Patent Office, as Solicitor of Patents. There were few, if any persons acting in that capacity, who had so much business before the Patent office; and there were none who conducted it with more skill, fidelity, and success. I regard Mr Eddy as one of the best informed and most skilful Patent Solicitors in the United States, and have no hesitation in assuring inventors that they cannot employ a person more competent and trustworthy, and more capable of putting their application in a form to secure for them an early and favorable consideration at the Patent Office.

EDMUND BURKE,
Late Commissioner of Patents."

From the present Commissioner.

AUGUST 17, 1855.—During the time I have held the Office of Commissioner of Patents, E. H. Eddy, Esq., of Boston, has been extensively engaged in the transaction of business with the office, as a Solicitor. He is thoroughly acquainted with the law, and the rules of practice of the Office. I regard him as one of the most capable and successful practitioners with whom I have had official intercourse.

CHAS. MASON,
Commissioner of Patents.

TREMONT MILLS.

Teas, Coffees, Chocolates, Cocoas, Spices, &c.

WHOLESALE,—AND ALSO IN SMALL PACKAGES.

E. E. DYER & CO.

(Sign of the Chinaman grinding coffee,)

141 Washington St., Boston,

SUPPLY the best, finest and purest articles, at lowest Cash prices. Their Stock consists of Teas, Coffees, Chocolates, Allspice, Pepper, Mustard, Cayenne Pepper, Nutmegs, Cinnamon, Cloves, Cream Tartar, Taraxacum, or Prepared Dandelion Root, &c., &c.

Having every facility for manufacturing and preparing the several articles named, the public may rely upon having them pure and genuine, as they are put up carefully, and bear our name and label, "TREMONT MILLS, E. E. DYER & CO."

To give consumers some idea of our sales, we annex the following scale of prices, viz:

5 lb. Souchong Tea,	1.50	5 lb. Mocha Coffee,	1.00
5 lb. Oolong "	1.75	5 lb. Java "	90
5 lb. Hyson "	2.25	8 lb. good "	1.00

☞ The Spices are put up in ¼ and ½ lb. tin cases, expressly for family use, and are warranted to be strictly a pure article, and only need a trial to establish them in public favor.

SPANISH COFFEE.—We would call the attention of customers and dealers to our Spanish Coffee, as an article which is highly esteemed, and gives the greatest satisfaction. It is prepared with particular care, and by a peculiar process in roasting, one pound of this coffee, it is believed, is equal to 1½ lb. of any other.

DANDELION COFFEE.—This article is carefully prepared at our Mills, and put up in packages having our trade mark, and may be relied upon as the best and most approved mixture of dandelion and coffee.

TARAXACUM, or Prepared Dandelion Root.—This article is prepared and roasted at our Mills, is retailed by Family Grocers generally in city and country, and bearing our trade mark, "Chinaman grinding coffee," may be relied upon as the GENUINE ARTICLE. The proportion used is about one-half the quantity of coffee. The price is 20 cents per pound, and it is warranted to be the same as that which has been sold for fifty cents a pound by Druggists.

The medical properties of Dandelion are well-known, and held in high estimation by all who use it. This being a preparation of the root, with all its medicinal virtues retained, can be mixed with coffee or not, as best suits the taste, and will be found cheap and economical as a family beverage, one pound of which being nearly equal to two pounds of coffee. It is prescribed by many eminent physicians to invalids, children and aged persons, as a nutritious beverage, and as a remedy for Dyspepsia, Bilious affections, &c.

☞ Be careful to observe that all our Coffees have our trade mark, "Chinaman grinding coffee."

☞ To Grocers and Dealers a liberal discount is made, enabling them to supply their customers at the same low rate.

☞ TO CASH PURCHASERS.—Our object being to secure large sales at small profits, we offer inducements which cannot be afforded by those who do business on the credit system; and we confidently invite an examination of the quality of our stock and our prices, as compared with those of any other house.

ORION, THE GOLD BEATER;

OR, TRUE HEARTS AND FALSE.

A TALE OF CITY LIFE.

BY SYLVANUS COBB, JR.,
Author of the "The Gunmaker of Moscow," "The Storm Secret," &c. &c.

An instant of silence followed this astounding feat, and then the shout went up. But Orion stopped not to listen to the encomiums that were showered upon him. He called a couple of stout men to come and hold the horses, and then he hastened around to the unfortunate one whom he feared he should find dead. When he commenced to clear her from the harness, he found that her arm had plunged through the breeching, while one of the tugs, or traces, had got a turn around the elbow. Thus had she been dragged by that one arm, and of course it was broken. It required but a few moments for our hero to cast off the fell lashings, and then taking up the girl in his stout arms, he bore her at once into his own dwelling, almost directly in front of which the horses had stopped. A physician—one in whom Orion had full confidence—was at hand, having been attracted by the noise, and he immediately attended upon the sufferer. There was a disposition on the part of some of the members of the crowd to rush into the house, but the youth soon managed to calm them, and having assured them that everything should be done for the female's benefit which human care could accomplish, he persuaded them to disperse, or go and see if any one was hurt at the shattered coach. Some of the more earnest would not leave until they were assured that the girl would live; and finally, to satisfy them, the physician came out and gave them the assurance they wanted, but at the same time informed them that her safety depended on the quietness they could preserve about her.

After this the crowd went away, and though there was still some noise in the quarter where the coach lay, yet it did not penetrate with any power into the gold-beater's cottage.

When Orion returned to the room where he had left the girl, he found her insensible, though she had seemed to be perfectly conscious when he carried her in.

'It's better as it is,' said the physician.—'Her left arm is broken in three places, and perhaps we can set it without any conciousness of pain on her part.'

The physician required Orion's help in setting the bone, and he found it very effective, for in addition to an excellent judgment he found the youth to possess an amount of physical power which set aside all need of straps and pulleys, in bringing bones to their places. The arm was broken once above the elbow, and twice below it, but it was set without much difficulty, and as soon as such rough splints as were at hand had been applied, the doctor turned his attention to the other injuries. There was a bruise upon the head, just over the left ear, but the skull was not at all fractured. Then there was a deep wound upon the left shoulder, and some other bruises about the body. To help to fix these Orion left his mother, and having received a further assurance from the physician that the patient was out of inevitable danger, he left the apartment.

When he reached the front room, he found quite a crowd in the yard, and soon saw a gentleman and lady coming up the walk.—The former limped considerably, and walked with evident pain. Orion hastened to the door to admit them, for he supposed at once that they had been inmates of the coach, and that they might be the parents of the injured girl. The man was a tall, well-built person, with a proud, noble bearing, and some five and forty years of age. His hair, which was of a nut-brown hue, curled handsomely above his high brow, and his large, dark, hazel eyes had a fire of more than ordinary intelligence and meaning. His dress and general appearance betrayed the wealthy man.

The female was full as old as her companion, if not older, and though she possessed some traits of beauty, yet the intelligent beholder would see at a glance that she was one of those who had worn themselves down by rich food, strong wines and unseasonable hours. She was tall and rather slim, with a proud, overbearing look; a face very pale and wan, and wearing an expression of haughty disdain of all below her. Her garb was such as only a child of wealth could wear.

'Miss Durand was brought in here, was she not, sir?' asked the gentleman after he had taken a seat.

'The young lady who was injured by being dragged away by the horses is here, sir,' answered Orion.

'That is the one. Is she much injured?'

'Well—yes, sir; but not dangerously so.—Her left arm is broken in three places, and she has received a few bruises beside.'

'Poor Ellen! May I see her, dear sir?'

'Perhaps you had better not go in quite yet, sir,' returned Orion. 'The physician is dressing her wounds, and——'

'Ah—I understand. Yes, yes. But my wife may go in?'

'Certainly—certainly, sir.'

'Me?' uttered the lady, starting up from a reverie into which she had fallen while gazing on little Lizzie, who sat in one corner of the room. 'Me go into a place where they are dressing wounds? Would you kill me outright?'

'No, No, Julia—I only thought you might be of some help to our poor Ellen.'

'Isn't there blood running, young sir?' the woman asked of Orion.

'There is Madam,' he said.

'Oh, how dreadful! Me go in and see blood. You should know my delicate constitution better, Mr. Tiverton.'

'Never mind, my dear. I wouldn't have you go in by any means, if you think it would hurt you.'

'Hurt me?' echoed the lady, shuddering.—It hurts me to be so near her as I am now.—She may groan. Have they set her arm yet, sir?'

'Yes, Ma'am,' answered our hero.

'And didn'tshe groan?'

'She was insensible then, and probably did not realize any pain.'

'And they're dressing bloody wounds now, you say?'

'Yes.'

'Then she may wake up and groan.—Little girl—here—go in and tell Ellen not to groan if she comes to. Tell her she mustn't. Tell her I am here—Mrs. T. Oh! if she should groan, it would shake my poor frame so terribly! Hurry little girl.'

Lizzie cast an inquisitive glance at Orion, and he motioned her to come to him. She did so, and he whispered in her ear that she should run up into her chamber where she slept and stay there until he called her. She had started to go when Mrs. Tiverton—for so Orion knew her name must be—called to her, and she moved tremblingly to the lady's side.

'Who are you?' she asked, gazing fixedly into the child's face.

The woman looked so sharply and so strangely upon her that Lizzie was at first afaid, but she gradually overcame the difficulty, and would have replied properly, had not the former spoken again.

'Who are you?' she asked, eagerly, gazing more earnestly than before into the thin, pale face.

At this point Orion spoke, and in a few words told the child's story.

'Oh! O! O!' uttered Mrs. T., in a quick scream, at the same time pushing the child from her. 'From the Five Points? Mercy! You'll give me the plague! Don't come near me again! O!'

At this juncture a carriage stopped at the gate, and the nervous woman started to her feet.

'There is our other coach,' she said, 'Oh, I'm so glad. Come Mr. T., let's get away from here. We will let these people take care of Ellen, and then we can pay them.'

'We do not keep a hospital here, madam,' said Orion quickly and proudly.

'But you will allow the poor girl to remain here until she can be moved with safety, Sir?' urged the gentleman earnestly and beseechingly.

'Of course we will, Sir,' returned the youth, kindly, for he liked the speaker's tone. 'I only meant that we did not perform our holy duties for pay!'

'Ah—I understand,' said Mr. Tiverton; and then approaching near enough to speak without being heard by his wife, he added.—'I will be here this afternoon, if I can walk. Or I will be here at all events. Be careful of Ellen. She is a precious being.'

Orion gave a whispered assurance; and then having grasped the youth's hand warmly, Mr. Tiverton turned away and limped from the house with his wife in company, the latter giving utterance to anexclamation of satisfaction as she got clear of the humble roof.

CHAPTER III.

THE HOME OF THE DYING.

Orion stood by the window and watched the departing couple until they had been helped into the coach and driven off. When he turned he found little Lizzie, who had come down from the chamber, standing by his side and gazing wistfully up into his face.

'What is it?' he said, thinking from her look that she wished to say something, and at the same time taking her hand and smiling kindly upon her.

'That woman, Sir,' she uttered, with a tremulous emot on, 'Who is she?'

'Her name is Tiverton, my child.'

'But she is very rich, isn't she?'

'I think she is.'

The child bent her head and gazed down upon the floor for some moments, and at length she looked up again, and in a strange, wandering tone she said:—

'She is a very strange woman. How she looked at me. I was afraid of her. I think I have dreamed about that woman. Don't you think I have?'

Orion smiled at the curious question, but tha smile quickly passed away, for there was something remarkable about the circumstance. He remembered how the woman had gazed upon the little one; and how she had called her to her side; and then how strangeld she had regarded her. And now for the child o hold an impression of having seen the lady before—it was curious to say the very least.—However, it might be only some peculiar coincidence of likeness or something of the kind, and the youth was about to dismiss the subject from his mind, when Lizzie spoke again.

'Do you think she will ever come to see me?' she asked, with simple earnestness.

'Who? Mrs. Tiverton?'

'Yes, sir.'

'Of course not. Didn't you see that she was afraid of you?'

Lizzie was for a moment hurt by this remark, but she saw a smile upon Orion's face, and she knew by that that he only spoke pleasantly, and then she said quite earnestly,—

'But she needn't have been afraid, for I aint dirty, nor am I—a—'

'Pooh—don't think of that, Lizzie. She is a very foolish woman.'

As he thus spoke the thought struck him that there might be some relationship between the pale child of poverty and the pampered votary of wealth; but ere he had time to enlarge upon the idea the inner door opened, and his mother entered, the physician following shortly afterwards.

'How long before you are going, my son?' Mrs. Lindell asked.

'Well—I must go soon, if you can spare me.'

'I shall get along very well alone. I only wished to see you before you left. You will take the things we put up last night, and see if there is anything else you think of. Do all you can for the poor people.'

'Be sure of that, my mother. And now how is our guest?'

'The doctor must tell you that, for I dare not be away long. Go as soon as you are ready, and may God bless your efforts for the poor sufferers.'

Orion pressed his mother's hand, and having received and returned her kiss, she went back to the bed-room where her patient lay.—That was a pledge of affection they never failed to renew whenever they parted for the day. It was a simple token of the great love they bore for each other, and they would have both been unhappy to separate without it.—Orion had a good mother—one of the best of earth; and few parents were blessed with so noble, and affectionate, and faithful a son.

'There is no danger from the wounds,' the doctor said, in answer to Orion's question.—'No immediate, or direct danger, I mean. I found several severe contusions, and it must be some time ere she can be removed. If there is any danger it must be from the fever which I fear will ensue. However, with care and with plenty of fresh air, I think she may come safely out from it. She has one of the finest organizations I ever saw, and possesses a constitution perfectly free from any kind of disease. She is a fine specimen of the true female development, both mentally and physically. She has one of the most nobly balanced brains, and then her frame is firmly and compactly knit, without the least heaviness or masculinity.

'How old is she?'

'About nineteen.'

'Do you know Mr. Tiverton?'

'Tiverton?' repeated the doctor. 'Do you mean the merchant?'

'I don't know. He is wealthy, I should think. He was in the coach with his wife, and they have both been here. They came and waited until another carriage, for which they had sent came for them.'

'Ah—and they were with the girl who is hurt?'

'Yes. She must be their daughter. Mr. Tiverton would have gone in, only I told him you were engaged in dressing her wounds, and he said he would wait. He will come this afternoon.'

'Was he a tall, handsome man, with a proud, noble look?'

'Yes—exactly.'

'Then it must have been Paul Tiverton.—He is one of the wealthiest merchants in the City. I visited his wife once. She is a—a—'

'An unfortunate idiot, suffering torture in her own inordinate pride,' suggested the youth, with a smile.

'Exactly. Then she displayed herself, did she?'

'Fully. She cannot have a very strong affection for her child. Or—I wont say that.—She allows her whims to crush her love sometimes.'

'Very likely. She is a curious woman.'

'But the father has a generous heart,' resumed Orion, feelingly.

'Yes—he is a good man. But you must excuse me now. I must hasten away and get some additional fixtures for that arm.'

'That's right, Sir. Do all you can, and when it is done I will be responsible for the payment.'

'You just look out for your share, my dear friend,' said the doctor, with a smile. 'If you will find room and watchers, I'll look out for my end of the beam.'

Orion thanked the generous physician, and then the latter left the place. In a few moments more Mrs. Lindell came out. She had come to see Lizzie before she went away.

The kind woman spoke some words of comfort, and having kissed the little girl once more, she turned to her son.

'I don't think I shall work to-day,' he said.

'I will go down with Lizzie, and then come home so as to be here should anything be wanted.'

'His mother liked this arrangement, and, having renewed the assurance of his early return, he helped Lizzie on with her hood, and then, taking the bundle which had been prepared, he turned from the house. In a few momemts a stage came along, and into it the youth lifted his charge, and then followed himself.

During the ride several well-dressed ladies took particular notice of Lizzie, and whispered together of her remarkable beauty.

'What a strange beauty,' said one. 'I never saw in one so young so much of subdued, calm, dignified beauty. She possesses the loveliness of maidenly development.'

'Ah,' thought Orion—and he came very near thinking it aloud, for he had overheard the remarks, 'if you knew the great experience that little heart has lived, you would not wonder at the maidenly development of which you thus speak.' And then he turned and gazed into the face of his little companion.

Finally the stage reached the narrow passage which led to the gold-beater's court, and Orion paid his fare and alighted. He went into the shop, where he found the men all at work, Mr. Garvey having given out the metal for boating. Our hero explained all that had transpired since he left the shop on the previous night, and his employer not only readily excused him from his duty for the day, but put his hand into his pocket and took out a five-dollar bill, which he bade his foreman expend for the poor people as his own judgment should dictate. Then he took up the little one and kissed her, and after this Orion led her away. They moved on to Anthony street, down which they turned, and ere long they reached the low, filthy, pestilential locality known as the 'Five Points.'*

Yet Orion found it much improved in some respects from what it had been when he was there last before this. Where the 'Old Brewery' had stood, propped up by rum-holes, and loaded with moral death, now stood the capacious structure, known as 'The Five Points Mission,' within which a spirit was at work saving such poor lost ones as could be reached. Yet he saw misery and degradation enough to make him shudder. There were vice and crime enough apparent without much search, and not feeling in the mood for witnessing more scences of this kind than he could possibly avoid, he bade Lizzie lead the way at once to her home.

'It is right here,' she said with a perceptible shudder.

'Where?' asked Orion, who had hoped that she was not obliged to live in this very sink.

She pointed to a place where a few rickety wooden steps, protected by broken balusters, led up to an open doorway, and said, 'There.' She spoke the word in a fainting tone, and seemed to have been hurt, or pained in the pronunciation.

The building was upon the corner of Anthony and Little Water streets. The basement was occupied as a low groggery of the worst kind; and something of its character may be known from the characteristic name it bore—it being generally known, even by its frequenters, as 'The Gate of Hell!' And God knows the name was no lie. It was true—true as the Death that reigned within. Orion just looked in as he passed the door—he saw the crowd of poor lost ones that hovered about the sulphuric flames, blinded by the fell glare, and so seared and scorched that nearly all semblance of humanity was gone. He groaned within himself. He said half aloud, 'God have mercy on them!'—and then passed on. He ascended the dirty steps, following close behind the girl. A number of poor wretches, both male and female, stood around, and he saw them glare vacantly upon him, though he could not but notice that a feeble light would spring to life in their eyes as they saw the bundle he carried. As he entered the building he came directly in front of an open doorway which looked into a small, filthy apartment, upon the floor of which, among rags, dirt, and a few green, wilted corn husks, lay three female forms, while some half dozen nearly nude children sat near them, greedily eating the tips of the green ears which had been thrown away among the husks—eating them raw and gritty, and seeming thankful for the meal!

While the youth had been noticing this—from the three women he would have turned quickly away, but the poor little ones attracted his attention—while noticing this, his guide had disappeared. He called to her, and heard an answer from the left.—He turned his eyes in that direction, but he could only see some three or four feet from him.

'Where are you?' he asked.

'Here,' he heard the tiny voice reply.—'Come—the floor is whole and strong.'

So Orion stretched out his hands on either side, and thus groped his way along slowly and cautiously. He trod upon dirt and mud so firmly packed down that it felt like a cemented bottom, while the foul stench that prevaded the place was almost overpowering.—On he went, ever and anon speaking to Lizzie in order that he might be sure he was right, and when she answered he would follow on.—At length the child opened a door upon the right hand, and the dim, ghostly light which was thus admitted seemed only to have the effect of revealing the full horror of the gloom. He moved with a quicker step now, and when he reached the door he entered. He stood within the the apartment where the child and her parents lived. It was a small, narrow place, in the back, inner corner of the building—not over seven feet long by about six wide, for a small bedstead took up the whole width, and a good part of the length; and in addition to this the ceiling was so low that Orion could scarcely stand upright with his hat on. In this apa tment was the bed, a small table, an old chest, one chair, a stool, and within a small niche in the chimney stood a common portable furnace, such as women use to heat their flat irons by in Summer time, in which burned a few sticks of pine kindling wood. This was the only cooking apparatus in the place. The floor was worn through to the bottom boards in several places, but yet it was neat and clean, though the walls and ceiling which could not be cleaned without money were black and foul.

Upon the bed lay a young man, some thirty years of age, whose jet-black hair and large black eyes contrasted strangely, with the marble-like look of the sunked face.—A single glance at those features was sufficient to assure the beholder that the poor man had not long to stay in this vale of tears. That dread fiend, consumption, had set its seal upon him, and the dark angel was near at hand.

Near the head of the bed, when Orion entered, stood a woman. She was small in frame; not over seven-and-twenty years of age, and very pale and wan. Yet she was beautiful. Her features were singularly regular and symmetrical in their outline; her eyes of deep, liquid blue, and her hair of a light, golden brown—almost, if not quite, a pure auburn. Her dress was clean, but scant and patched, and the visitor quickly saw that she was trying to hide her bare feet.

There was but one window in the room—a little square concern, close by the head of the bed, which overlooked a small yard in the rear. This place was home. Oh, God! and what a home! If that dying man wanted fresh air, where was he to get it? Did they open the door, there came in through the dark passage, arising from the dirt there, and from the pest-holes beneath, a stench almost overpowering; and if they opened the window they received the miasma coming up from such putrescence in that yard as we will not describe. Yet it was there, dear reader—it was there,—and about it lived a hundred human being, into whose homes the fresh air of earth never found its entrance.

And these two people were the parents of little Lizzie. It would have required no further assurance than a mere look at his face to prove that the man upon the bed was her father; and even of the light-haired mother's beauty, the child bore some traces. As Lizzie entered she flew to her mother's embrace, and having received a flood of warm kisses, turned to the bed. Her father reached forth his wasted hands, and drew her towards him. He could not speak aloud, but he impressed a kiss upon her fair brow, and then whispered a blessing.

In her simple language the child quickly explained where she had been, how she had fared, and why the gentleman had come.—Constance Milner heard her through, and then clasped her small thin hands together, and in a quick, spasmodic tone she uttered,—

'Oh, good Sir, may the best blessings of Heaven rest upon you! Indeed, Sir, you have not thrown your kindness away—upon my child, I mean.'

'I am sure of that, my good woman,' returned Orion, still shuddering, for he had not yet become used to the terrible wretchedness of the place. Ah! tongue and pen are inadequate to convey a living idea of the utter, squalid poverty, and ghastly horrors of one of those places! 'I am sure of that,' our hero repeated. 'I felt sure your child was worthy, and from her manner I knew she must have received some good lessons from her parents. I supposed you would not refuse to accept help from the hand of one who would be your friend.'

The poor woman was upon the point of answering, when heavy footsteps were heard in the dark passage. They were not only heavy, but loud and clumping, with a brutal, ugly clang. Constance Milner started back, and stood with her hands clasped, and her frame trembling at eqery joint.

'It is his step! she gasped.'

'Whose?' asked her husband, raising his head with difficulty from the pillow.

'Duffy Glicker's!' she whipered fearfully.

'Ha!—Tell me what that man wants. Why does he seek you? quickly uttered Orion.'

'Oh! I cannot tell. He has a paper—one he got in my native town—but I do not know what is in it. He—he—oh, God! I dare not tell you!'

The youth could ask no more, for at that moment the door was opened. Little Lizzie uttered a low, wild cry, and shrank away behind her new-found friend; the mother crouched close by the bed, as though instinct still led her to the man in whom she once found protection; the dying man himself uttered a faint 'God help us!' while Orion turned just in season to see Glicker and Slumpkey enter, the former with a huge bowie knife in his great hard hand.

The above is, we regret to state, all of this story that will be published in our columns. The continuation of it can be found only in the New York LEDGER, the great family weekly paper, which can be obtained at all the stores throughout the city and country, where papers are sold, at 4 cents a copy. Remember to ask for the New York LEDGER of Oct. 18, and you will get the continuation of the story from where it leaves off here. FANNY FERN writes only for the New York LEDGER; SYLVANUS COBB writes only for it; EMERSON BENNETT writes only for it; and many of the eminent writers of the country, such as MRS. SIGOURNEY and ALICE CAREY, contribute regularly to its columns. It is mailed to subscribers at $2 a year; or two copies for $3. It is one of the handsomest and best family papers in the country, and is characterised by a high moral tone.

* As this name of Five Points is world-wide in its import of wretchedness and poverty, we will merely say, for the benefit of those unacquanted with the locality, that here three streets—Cross, Orange and Anthony—come together so as to form five points. Upon this spot was once a large pond, connected with the East River by a small stream or creek. In some places this pond was 40 or 50 feet deep, and it was here that the first trial was ever made with a steamboat in this country. Upon the corner of Orange and Cross streets still stands a mass of low, sunken, wooden buildings, that were originally built upon the edge of the pond. The place has since been filled up, but it is still low and unhealthy, though we suppose some sanitary measures might be adopted for making it better. The centre of the deep pond must have been somewhere about the site now occupied by the little park, where, in the summer time, a close observer may detect something like grass attempting to raise its sickly blades above the earth.

MESSRS. DURKEE AND RAND.

THE CALIFORNIA PIRACY CASES. — We have already mentioned in our California news that Messrs. Durkee and Charles E. Rand (the latter formeily of Portsmouth) had been discharged, on the verdict of a jury in the U. S. Court at San Francisco. We now give, from the San Francisco papers, some details of the public rejoicings on the occasion of their release.

After the decision of Judge McAllister, announcing that the jury acquitted Mr. Durkee on the charge of piracy, the court-room resounded for several minutes with the plaudits and shouts of the assembled multitude, despite the efforts of the officers to keep silence. The burst of joy at the acquittal could not be restrained, and the friends of the accused, for the moment, could not restrain their loud expression of pleasure. After the defendants were discharged, their friends carried them down the stairs leading from the court-room, and marched them in triumph to the Vigilance Committee rooms, where they were received with rounds of vociferous cheers, after which Gen. Doane made a spirited and able speech. At this time a band had been summoned, and the members present filed out into the street and formed a line.

The order of "Forward, March," was given, and the band struck up the "Pirate's Chorus," the procession, numbering thousands, falling into line, passed through various streets to the Monumental Engine House, where they halted, and gave round upon round of applause, the bell of the Monumentals pealing forth its tones at the same time. At this moment there could not have been less than 3,500 men in the line, and, forming four abreast, they countermarched and passed through other parts of the city.

When passing the city prison, the procession halted for these gentlemen to visit their late quarters for some little matters, and after giving tremendous cheers for the late prisoners, the procession moved on.

About half past one o'clock in the morning, the procession halted on the Plaza in front of the Monumental engine house, when the "Pirate's Chorus" was again performed by the band, three cheers were given for the Monumentals, and cheer after cheer for Rand and Durkee. Their intimate friends then had an opportunity to shake them by the hand, and all separated in the best of humor and feeling.

THE VIGILANCE COMMITTEE ROOMS.—San Francisco papers state that the Rooms of the Vigilance Committee have been closed up and the guards entirely disposed of.—Most of the muskets have been removed by the different companies by loan or purchase, so there is no further use of a protective guard.

MASS MEETINGS. — A great Buchanan mass meeting will come off at Exeter next Tuesday, when a number of the best speakers of the party are expected.

On the same day there is to be a Fremont mass meeting at Dover. The exercises will be held under Wright's mammoth tent, which is capable of containing ten thousand persons, and addresses will be made by Henry Wilson, Anson Burlingame, F. O. J. Smith, Lot M. Morrill, John P. Hale, John C. Park, Moses Kimball.

☞ The slander so persistently urged by the opponents of Col. Fremont, that on the last night of the Thirty first Congress, he struck Mr. Foote a blow, which drew blood, and afterwardt sent him a challenge, is pretty effectually disposed of by the testimony, the most reliable that could be offered unper the circumstances, viz: that of Senator Foote himself, a political opponent of Col. Fremont, and who is now actively engaged in stumping the State of California in behalf of Mr. Fillmore. Mr. Foote, in a card published in the California papers, unequivocally denies that Col. Fremont struck him: but states that the only blow that passed between them was given by himself.

☞ The Mirror of the Times, a new paper, which is to be the organ of the colored people of California, is announced to make its appearance in San Francisco. It will be conducted by a gentleman of color.

LOST AT SEA.—A seaman by the name of J. E. Davis, who was engaged on the the clipper ship Sea Serpent, just arrived at San Francisco, fell overboard and was drowned on the 21st of July last.

Rev. Oliver Stearns of Hingham, Mass. has been appointed President of the Meadville, (Pa.) Theological School.

FROM EUROPE.

SEVEN DAYS LATER.

NEW YORK, 14th.

The Royal Mail steamship Persia, Capt. Judkins, brings Liverpool dates to Oct. 4. The Persia brings upwards of 200 passengers.

The principal subjects of interest are three, namely: The demonstration against Naples; the Belgrade boundary, and the right of possession of the Isle of Serpents.

Respecting Naples, the only information comes from the Brussels Nord, which says the Austrian Ministers at Paris and London have urgent orders from their Government to entreat France and England to abstain from any demonstration, at least until the return of Gen. Martini's mediatorial mission to N ples.

There is considerable letter-writing, but no facts respecting the Belgrade boundary.

German papers assert that Britain has addressed a second note to Russia, on the subject of the Isle of Serpents, more peremptory than the first.

A Royal decree removes the confiscation from Queen Christina's property in Spain.

Napoleon has returned to Paris.

There are rumors of the increase of Austrian and French troops in Italy.

KANSAS.

CHICAGO, Oct. 10.—A party of Kansas emigrants chiefly from Ohio, Wisconsin and Illinois, numbering 300 men, women and children, while at Tabor, in Iowa, received intelligence on the 1st inst., that Gov. Geary was approaching with a party of dragoons, to oppose their entrance into the territory. The party, however, determined to proceed till fired on. They expected to meet the troops at Little Nebraska river about the fourth.

MILWAUKIE, Oct. 11.—We have advices from Kansas to the 1st inst., stating that Gov. Geary had caused to be arrested and confined at Lecompton on the charge of murder in the first degree, 107 Free State men who are mostly under the charge of Col. Titus. Miles Moore, of Leavenworth, was arrested while at Kansas city, en route East, by Surveyor General Calhoun, and carried to Wyandotte City and imprisoned.

CHICAGO, 13th.—The Rev. Mr. Higginson, and Miles Moore who was recently reported a prisoner at Wyandot city, arrived in this city from Kansas to-day. Mr. Moore takes the field immediately for the Republican cause.

Accounts from Kansas, by way of St. Louis, state that Whitfield has been elected to Congress, almost without opposition.

FATAL ACCIDENT.—Tilton C. Hall, son of Dr. Hall of Lowell, and a member of the High School, was accidentally killed in Concord, N. H., Saturday morning, by the discharge of his gun, upon which he was leaning. Young Hall was 17 years of age, and was much beloved by all who knew him.

THE STATE AND FEDERAL AUTHORITIES.—General Wool has published a reply to the charge made by Governor Johnson of California, that he has failed to comply with his promise to furnish arms and ammunition, to aid in putting down the Vigilance Committee of San Francisco. The General states that he has no recollection of having given any such a promise, and that if he had he could not have complied with it without violating the laws of the United States.

DR. KANE.—Several eminent citizens of Philadelphia invited Surgeon Kane to a public dinner, before his departure for Europe; the invitation was courteously declined. Dr. Kane sailed from New-York on Saturday. Lady Franklin, the widow of Sir John, has fitted up a house to receive and entertain the Doctor, who so nobly perilled his own life in the Arctic search for her departed husband.

☞ Frank Leslie's Gazette of Fashions and the Beau Monde, for October, contains two colored quarto plates, and numerous engravings besides, of dresses for Ladies, gentlemen and children; bonnets, patterns, &c.—Frank Leslie, publisher, New York.

☞ Peterson's Magazine for November 1856 is received, containing choice original tales and beautiful engravings. It also contains a prospectus for 1857, with tempting offers for clubs. Published by Charles J. Peterson, Philadelphia, monthly. $2 per annum—but clubs of 16 are supplied for $20.

☞ Jeremiah Sullivan, of Upton, Mass. convicted of rape upon a little girl, has been sentenced in the Supreme Court, to three days solitary confinement, and the remainder of his natural life in the State Prison.

A United States steam frigate, supposed the Wabash, from Portsmouth for Washington, D. C., was passed Oct. 11, latitude 38 06, longitude 73 43.

MILL DIVIDENDS.—The Ocean Mill in Newburyport has declared a semi-annual dividend of 4 per cent. The corporation has earned even more than that during the last six months.

HERBERT'S RECEPTION. — Herbert, the murderer of the Irish waiter at Washington, has returned to California. The Alta California of Sept. 20 gives the following account of his reception;

Yesterday, at 3 o'clock P. M., a committee of citizens, who had been delegated for that purpose, waited upon P. T. Herbert at the St. Nicholas Hotel, with the view of presenting to him the petition which had been signed to forward to Washington. The committee, through their chairman, Mr. J. H. Brown, addressed Herbert substantially as follows:

"Sir,—we have been delegated by your fellow citizens to wait upon you, and tender you this package, which encloses a petition of about two thousand persons, residents in this State, asking you to select some other locality for a residence. The duty which has been imposed upon us is a painful one, and we deeply regret the necessity that has made our present mission to you; but, having been delegated with power to call upon you and make known to you the wishes of our fellow citizens, we place this document in your possession, as we have been instructed."

The petition was in the following words:

To the Hon. P. T. Herbert:—We, the citizens of California, believing that you have forfeited your claims and rights as our Representative, and that by your course at the national capital, you have deeply injured the fair fame of the State of California, both at home and abroad, would therefore take this course to make known our wishes, and to respectfully request of you that you would not make California your residence.

California, August 25, 1856.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 13.—Florida Elections.—Full returns from Columbia, Nassau, St. Johns, Putnam, Duvall, and Jackson counties, give Walker, (American) for Governor 1179 votes, Perry (Dem.) 993. Alachua and Marion counties have gone Democratic; and Cambria, Hamilton, Holmes, Madison, Santa Rosa and Welton have gone American.

PITTSBURG, Oct. 13.—Fire.—The coach and wagon factory of Phelps, Carr, & Co., was burned yesterday, together with an adjoining block, several dwelling houses, and Speer's Plough factory. Total loss $75,000. 150 hands are thrown out of employment.

BUFFALO, Oct. 14.—Railroad Collision—The mail train from Suspension Bridge to Windsor, over the Great Western Railroad, came in collision with a cattle train, Thursday last. Several cars of the cattle train were thrown down an embankment, and many cattle killed. The mail and baggage cars of the other train were driven through the forward passenger cars, but fortunately no lives were lost. During the confusion, the mail and baggage cars took fire, and were entirely burned, together with the mails and all the baggage and express goods.

ST. LOUIS, Oct. 11.—Advices from Weston state that Messrs. Berry & Walker of Weston, having sold some flour to citizens of Kansas, a party of ruffians, under Stringfellow, proceeded from Platte City to Weston, and arrested Mr. Berry, denouncing him as an abolitionist, and threatening to hang him. The citizens of Weston assembled in force, and after denouncing Stringfellow, and ordering him to leave the country in five days, drove him and his party from the town.

WOOD'S HAIR DYE.—This admirable article is rapidly improving the hair. No article of a similar kind, now before the public, enjoys a better reputation as a restorative and invigorating hair tonic. Its peculiar chemical qualities have a beneficial effect upon the growth and character of the hair, giving a silky and glossy texture to that which was formerly of a coarse and dry nature. It has, also, we understand, a tendency to preserve the youthful color of the hair, and destroying or counteracting the effects of age. With such recommendations in its favor, we hardly perceive how any lady or gentleman should be without so valuable an adjunct to their toilet. The article may be had of the Druggists throughout the country.—[Missouri Democrat.

DONT NEGLECT

to use Dyer's Healing Embrocation, whenever troubled with rheumatic complaints, wounds, cuts, burns, bruises, lumbago, sore throat, diarrhoea, dysentery, cholera morbus, and bowel complaints. For in such cases, no medicine can compare with it in its prompt, unfailing and efficacious effects.

HAYDEN'S IMPROVED VEGETABLE PURGATIVE PILLS.

NOTICES FROM THE PRESS.

From the Boston Times, Aug. 31, 1848.

Dr. Hayden's Improved Vegetable Purgative Pills are creating a most extraordinay excitement in the community. We have heard of some remarkable cures performed simply by the use of these pills alone. They are worthy of a trial.

HEALTH AND STRENGTH.

☞ DR. S. O. RICHARDSON'S SHERRY WINE BITTERS is the best Medicine ever used, for Summer Complaints. It has been more liberally patronized than any other ever established in this country. It is the same Richardson's Bitters which has restored so many invalids to health throughout New England during the past thirty years.

N. B.—Beware of imitations called Sherry Wine Bitters. The genuine have a fac simile of my signature upon the outer envelope. For sale by Druggists everywhere, and at my office, No. 51 Hanover St., Boston. aug8 6m

THE GREAT DISCOVERY.

Many years ago, Doctor Burleigh Smart of Kennebunk, Me., discovered that a simple article never before used as a medicine, was a never failing cure for coughs of every description, and an excellent blood purifier. By its use in his private practice, he acquired the reputation of being the best physician in New England, for all diseases of the lungs. After his death, Messrs. Shaw & Clark of Biddeford, Me., obtained a Copy Right from Government, for its exclusive manufacture, and now have it carefully prepared strictly according to the original recipe. There is no cough that it will not cure, unless the patient is past all human aid before commencing its use! It is called "Doctor Burleigh Smart's Cough Medicine," and is for sale by all apothecaries. au27 TuThs&6m

THE NEW POST-OFFICE BUILDING:

WHERE SHALL WE HAVE IT?

Number Two.

It is of the utmost present and prospective importance to Portsmouth, that the new fire-proof building about to be erected in our city, to accommodate the Post Office, Custom House and U. S. Court,—and to stand for centuries,—should be located in the best place.

We have already expressed our preference, as agreeing with that of "the people," for the site of the old Brick Market on the Square—and the more we examine and consider the matter, the stronger does that preference become. There is no place we know of, that compares with it. It is central to all—the North and South Ends of the city would be accommodated by it, and neither the West End nor Christian Shore could complain.

There is no place where a handsome public edifice would improve the appearance of our city, so much as here. The removal of the deformed old Market, and setting back the new building further from the street, would increase the size of the Square, and thus improve it still more.

Then on the score of City economy, this is the most desirable place. Portsmouth urgently needs a City Building, with a Hall to accommodate a couple of thousand or more people. The old Market lot would sell for a sum sufficient to buy a suitable site elsewhere, and leave something to aid in the erection of the new building, we suppose.

We, of course, can't say how our City Government would entertain the idea of the trade—but we think we can answer for the citizens in the matter. We have heard no lot named which meets with half the favor of this.

But let us thoroughly examine, and then decide on the merits of the case. To this end, we give below, a communication from a public spirited gentleman, of experience in such matters—whose opinion is worthy attention.

After stating the general facts in the case, as we published yesterday, he asks:

Now the questions are, will the Department decide to take either of the lots that have been thus offered? Has the most suitable site for that purpose been offered? Some dozen or fifteen lots in various portions of the City have been offered, but no one of them can, in my judgment, be considered the proper one.

A building of this description ought not only to be central, so as to accommodate all parts of the City, but ought to be placed where it will be considered ornamental, and where it will be seen by all passers by. It should be placed by itself, and the sight thereof not incumbered in any way by adjacent buildings.

There are two or three places, either of which, it appears to me, can be obtained, (if the proper course is pursued,) at reasable rates. I will name them:

1. At the corner of Market Square and Daniel street,—the lot owned by Stephen Pearse and others.

2. The square or plat from the North Church to and including the City Hotel.

3. The square or plat from Chesnut street to Fleet street,—from the Melcher corner to Jackson & Co.'s Express office.

I understand that neither of these lots entire have been offered. They are not in the market, and the owners perhaps do not feel like offering them—but cannot some plan be adopted so as to procure one of these lots? I propose that commissioners be appointed, who shall have power to select and purchase a lot, without regard to cost, wherever they think it most for the public good; or, if there be objections to this course, let us have a meeting of the citizens and choose a committee to act in concert with a corresponding committee to be appointed by the Hon. Secretary of the Treasury. It seems to me that some plan of this kind ought to be adopted, and I hope it will be forthwith.

PUBLIC GOOD.

☞ In our mention of the Fire Department, last week, we intended to have spoken of the old Niagara Engine, No. 3.—When it was first designed to get out the Department, we did not think it probable that old Three would appear—but all were gratified that the Company did bring her out, labelled 1791. This Company is enterprising and public-spirited—and well deserve a new Tub. Their turning out with the rest of the engines, in this the first general parade ever made by the Fire Department of Portsmouth—in spite of the mean appearance of their machine—is proof enough of the efficiency of the Company and their officers. Wm. Cornelius is Foreman.

NOT SO.—Our statement, yesterday, that one of the Vandalia's crew had "stepped out" on a keeper of an eating house here, for $80 borrowed money, has been found incorrect—that is, the sailor has returned to the city since, and paid the money. We make the correction cheerfully, for poor Jack has to answer to full enough charges, without trumping up false ones.

☞ Rice's Ethiopean Minstrels give their last Concert at the Temple to-night. Their entertainment last evening was capital, we are told. See advertisements.

SUPREME JUDICIAL COURT.

ROCKINGHAM COUNTY.

PORTSMOUTH, Oct. 14.

State vs. Moody Foster—for selling liquor to Silas Hall of Salem. Bell for State—Wood for respondent. Verdict Guilty.

The Case State vs. Allen for burning a barn in Epping was argued in the forenoon. In the afternoon the jury returned a verdict of Not Guilty.

State vs. George W. Kendall of Epping, assault upon Dudley Norris Jr. Respondent arraigned—Plea "nolo contendere."

Moody Foster of Salem was found guilty on two indictments (besides the one above named) for selling liquor.

Immediately after these verdicts were rendered, Alfred Page of Salem retracted his plea of not guilty, and plead nolo con. to three indictments for selling liquor.

State vs. John M. Stevens, for adultery.—Respondent retracted his plea of not guilty, and plead nol. con.

State vs. Charles Clarke of Rye, for stealing money, is to be tried on Wednesday.

U. S. CIRCUIT COURT.

EXETER, Tuesday, Oct. 14.

In the case of Tirrell vs. Dr. Haines for malpractice, the jury came in on Tuesday morning, unable to agree—standing ten for the plaintiff and two for defendant.

The Court then rose.

☞ There is to be a Levee in the Town Hall of Epping, Thursday evening, Oct. 16, given by the Ladies of that town, in aid of Kansas. Tickets 25 cents. Fare from Portsmouth and back, half the usual price, on an extra train to leave here at 6.15, Newmarket Junction 6.49,—and return at 10 P. M.

Several able speakers will be on hand and ready with addresses.

ANOTHER "RIDE."—A couple of young men entered a shaky old phaeton, in front of the Chronicle office, on Saturday evening, and drove off down Pleasant street.—They had hardly started, when the bolt holding the whiffle-tree gave way, and the horse went nearly out of the shafts,—and the whiffle-tree striking her gambrels, she started into a gallop, kicking through and above the dasher, as she went. The driver told his companion he had better jump out—which he did, without being thrown down or in any way injured, or even losing his cigar or hat. Thinking it best not to attempt holding the horse, and thus bring her heels yet nearer the carriage and his head, he let her run till State street was crossed, when he turned her square round and steered, head on, against the buildings on the west side of Pleasant street. The horse was badly cut and bruised, and was with some difficulty cleared from the carriage, as one hind foot was jammed into and held by one of the springs, and one shaft driven up into the bridle by the sudden fetch-up. The carriage was an old rattle-trap, purchased that day without much examination—the horse a very spirited and valuable one. We take it these young men will in future be a little cautious how they "go ahead," till they are "sure they are right"—and not needlessly risk their own lives and others. The time made probably was not "kept"—but a couple of young ladies who were travelling the same course, beat it, and escaped into the door of a house just as the team brought up behind them.

NEW YORK, Oct. 12th.—The Cracker Factory of Isaac McGay, in Forsyth street, was totally destroyed last evening by fire, together with three tenant houses adjoining. 40 families were rendered houseless, losing all their effects, and many of them barely escaping with their lives by jumping from the windows. Loss $30,000, of which $20,000 falls on Mr. McGay.

Messrs. Persee & Brooks's Extensive Paper Mills, at Windsor Locks, Connecticut, were burnt last night. Loss probably $75,000; insured $50,000.

SHOOTING AT PHILADELPHIA. — William McIntire was shot and instantly killed, on the corner of Ninth and South streets, Philadelphia, last evening, by, as is supposed, some member of the Shiffler Hose Company. The police arrested the whole company, numbering thirty-three, on the spot.

NEW YORK, Oct. 14.—Rev. Constantine Pise of St. Charles Roman Catholic Church published a card this morning, denying in the most positive terms, the statement in the Express of Saturday, that he had, while Chaplain to Congress, administered the Sacrament to Col. Fremont.

FLORIDA.—A Columbia (South Carolina) telegraphic despatch states that "returns from Middle Florida show large American gains, and it is believed that the Americans have carried the state."

CONNECTICUT.—The Hartford Courant says that the late election, compared with the gubernatorial vote of last spring, shows a popular gain for Fremont of seven thousand.

PENNSYLVANIA ELECTION.

BY TELEGRAPH TO THE DAILY CHRONICLE.

Below we give all the returns received in Boston up to 2 o'clock this morning. They indicate a considerable Democratic gain in the aggregate, as far as heard from; though not enough is known to predicate the total result with any certainty.

The strong opposition back section of the State is not heard from.

We give the figures as they came over the wires, without attempting to arrange them in any regular form.

INDIANA ELECTION.

No returns from Indiana.

The house of Gen. S. M. Richardson, in Pelham, N. H., was broken into on Monday night—for the second time this season. The burglar entered through a window in the lower story. A servant girl aroused the General, who seized his gun, rushed down, and discharged it, probably somewhat at random. A neighbor who heard the report of the gun, looked out and saw a man running at full speed towards Lowell.

A CLERICAL MARTYR—Rev. Charles Howland Malcomb has been dismissed from his pastoral charge in Wheeling, Va. for unsoundness on the slavery question.

Gov. Grimes of Iowa, has written a letter to the President, asking aid for the citizens of Iowa who have settled in Kansas.

The Newfoundland papers speak of the fishing season as good on that coast; but the potato disease is very general.

From the New York Mirror.

A RISING MAN.

When anyobdy begins to grow rapidly, and people are constantly meeting with his name, they naturally wish to know what manner of a man he is. A correspondent of the Buffalo Republic, recognszing this trait of human nature, gives the following pen-picture of a man, who is just now making considerable noise in the world, and about whom the public are beginning to feel much curiosity:—

I have intimated that there is nothing now stirring in this region; but there is one thing which is alive all over, and as active as a young anaconda after a prolonged fast, and that is the New York Ledger, a weekly family paper, which is filled with stories, illustrations and light reading of an interesting character. The Ledger publishes no advertisements at all, although its proprietor, ROBERT BONNER, seems to believe in the efficacy of advertising his paper in other publications. In fact, he is the most rampant and audacious of advertisers, covering whole pages of newspapers at a dash: and his advertisements are got up with a skill and spirit altogether inimitable. BONNER, himself, is a short, well-made, active man, with a stout body, full of energy, and a big head, full of originality, and has the snap and tenacity of steel, and the toughness of an oak. He was an apprentice boy in the office of the Hartford Courant some fifteen years ago, then a journeyman printer, and next the proprietor and editor of the New York Ledger, which he has run up from almost nothing to a circulation of over a hundred and sixty thousand. Like all others who have made a great success, BONNER has mixed the sweat of his own brow in the cauldron wherein his fortune has been brewed. He has worked hard to attain his present position—earned every cent he has; and never wronged a human being of a penny, or did aught that crossed the track of his conscience. Such a man is certain to succeed, sooner or later, especially when he has the tenacity of will, and concentration of purpose which distinguishes the editor of the Ledger; who notwithstanding the fact that his paper has reached an enormous circulation, and now yields him a profit of over twelve hundred dollars a week, is as hard working, and as ardent in his vocation as the day on which he began—a poor boy, at the bottom of the hill of Fortune. His object, however, is not to amass a collossal fortune, but to build up the greatest and best family newspaper that genius, art, energy and money combined can compass.

J. W. MOSES would call the attention of his friends, customers, and the Public in general to the fact, that he has in his store, at No. 8 Market street, a good assortment of Broadcloths, Pilot and Beaver Cloths, plain and fancy Doeskins and Cassimeres, Black and fancy Velvets, plain and figured Satins and Grenadin Vestings, &c., which he will make to order or sell either with or without cutting or making, at fair prices.

He has a large assortment of furnishing Goods, consisting of Shirts, Collars, Cravats, Suspenders, Handkerchiefs, Under-Shirts and Drawers, &c., &c.

All Garments made by him warranted to be as good as can be had in this city. The above are new Goods, having been selected with care from large Stocks in Boston, and just received. September 26. is3w

A PERFUMED BREATH.—What lady or gentleman would remain under the curse of a disagreeable breath, when using the "Balm of a Thousand Flowers" as a dentifrice would not only render it sweet, but leave the teeth white as alabaster? Many persons do not know their breath is bad, and the subject is so delicate, their friends will never mention it. Pour a single drop of the "Balm" on your tooth-brush and wash the teeth night and morning. A fifty cent bottle will last a year.

A BEAUTIFUL COMPLEXION may easily be acquired by using the "Balm of a Thousand Flowers." It will remove tan, pimples and freckles from the skin, leaving it of a soft and delicate hue. Wet a towel, pour on two or three drops, and wash the face night and morning.

SHAVING MADE EASY.—Wet your shaving brush in either warm or cold water, pour on two or three drops of "Balm of a Thousand Flowers," run the beard well and it will make a beautiful soft lather, much facilitating the operation of shaving. Price only 50 cents.

FREMONT,

THE MUSTANG CANDIDATE.

If Col. Fremont had as many friends as the Mustang Liniment, the opposition could not draw a corporal's guard. Mr. Fremont remarked in his dispatches to President Fillmore, while transporting horses and cattle over the plains of Mexico, "That if the Government would send him on a liberal supply of Mustang Liniment, it would save 25 per cent. of his losses." This is very important for all Farmers and Liverymen to know. The Mustang Liniment is a wonderful article for man or beast. It should always be used for Sores, Swellings, Stiff Joints, Burns, Bruises, Rheumatic Pains, &c., and for Galds, Sprains, Spavins, Ringbone, &c., upon horses.—BEWARE OF IMITATIONS. The Mustang is sold by all respectable dealers everywhere.

AYER'S CHERRY PECTORAL,

FOR THE RAPID CURE OF

Colds, Coughs, and Hoarseness.

BRIDGFIELD, MASS., 20th Dec., 1855.

DR. J. C. AYER: I do not hesitate to say the best remedy I have ever found for Coughs, Hoarseness, Influenza, and the concomitant symptoms of a Cold, is your CHERRY PECTORAL. Its constant use in my practice and my family for the last ten years has shown it to possess superior virtues for the treatment of these complaints. EBEN KNIGHT, M. D.

A. B. MORTLEY, Esq., of UTICA, N. Y., writes: "I have tried your PECTORAL myself and in my family ever since you invented it, and believe it the best medicine for its purpose ever put out. With a bad cold I should sooner pay twenty-five dollars for a bottle than do without it, or take any other remedy."

Croup, Whooping Cough, Influenza.

SPRINGFIELD, MISS., Feb. 7, 1856.

BROTHER AYER: I will cheerfully certify your PECTORAL is the best remedy we possess for the cure of Whooping Cough, Croup, and the chronic diseases of children. We of your fraternity in the South appreciate your skill, and commend your medicine to our people.

HIRAM CONKLIN, M. D.

AMOS LEE, Esq., MONTERRY, Ia., writes, 24 Jan., 1856: "I had a tedious Influenza, which confined me in doors six weeks; took many medicines without relief; finally tried your PECTORAL by the advice of our clergyman. The first dose relieved the soreness in my throat and lungs; less than one-half the bottle made me completely well. Your medicines are the cheapest as well as the best we can buy, and we esteem you, Doctor, and your remedies, as the poor man's friend."

Asthma or Phthisic, and Bronchitis.

WEST MANCHESTER, PA., Feb. 4, 1856.

SIR: Your CHERRY PECTORAL is performing marvellous cures in this section. It has relieved several from alarming symptoms of consumption, and is now curing a man who has labored under an affection of the lungs for the last forty years. HENRY L. PARKS, Merchant.

A. A. RAMSEY, M.D., ALBION, MONROE CO., IOWA, writes, Sept. 6, 1855: "During my practice of many years I have found nothing equal to your CHERRY PECTORAL for giving ease and relief to consumptive patients, or curing such as are curable."

We might add volumes of evidence, but the most convincing proof of the virtues of this remedy is found in its effects upon trial.

Consumption.

Probably no one remedy has ever been known which cured so many and such dangerous cases as this. Scarce no human aid can reach; but even to those the CHERRY PECTORAL affords relief and comfort.

ASTOR HOUSE, NEW YORK CITY, March 5, 1856.

DOCTOR AYER, LOWELL: I feel it a duty and a pleasure to inform you what your CHERRY PECTORAL has done for my wife. She had been five months laboring under the dangerous symptoms of Consumption, from which no aid he could procure gave her much relief. She was steadily failing, until Dr. Strong, of this city, where we have come for advice, recommended a trial of your medicine. We bless his kindness, as we do your skill, for she has recovered from that day. She is not yet as strong as she used to be, but is free from her cough, and calls herself well.

Yours with gratitude and regard,
ORLANDO SHELBY, OF SHELBYVILLE.

Consumptives, do not despair till you have tried AYER'S CHERRY PECTORAL. It is made by one of the best medical chemists in the world, and its cures all around us bespeak the high merits of its virtues.—Philadelphia Ledger.

Ayer's Cathartic Pills.

THE sciences of Chemistry and Medicine have been taxed their utmost to produce this best, most perfect purgative which is known to man. Innumerable proofs are shown that these PILLS have virtues which surpass in excellence the ordinary medicines, and that they win unprecedentedly upon the esteem of all men. They are safe and pleasant to take, but powerful to cure. Their penetrating properties stimulate the vital activities of the body, remove the obstructions of its organs, purify the blood, and expel disease. They purge out the foul humors which breed and grow distemper, stimulate sluggish or disordered organs into their natural action, and impart healthy tone with strength to the whole system. Not only do they cure the every-day complaints of every body, but also formidable and dangerous diseases that have baffled the best of human skill. While they produce powerful effects, they are at the same time, in diminished doses, the safest and best physic that can be employed for children. Being sugar-coated, they are pleasant to take; and being purely vegetable, are free from any risk of harm. Cures have been made which surpass belief were they not substantiated by men of such exalted position and character as to forbid the suspicion of untruth. Many eminent clergymen and physicians have lent their names to certify to the public the reliability of my remedies, while others have sent me the assurance of their conviction that my Preparations contribute immensely to the relief of my afflicted, suffering fellow-men.

The Agent below named is pleased to furnish gratis my American Almanac, containing directions for their use and certificates of their cures, of the following complaints:—Costiveness, Bilious Complaints, Rheumatism, Dropsy, Heartburn, Headache arising from a foul Stomach, Nausea, Indigestion, Morbid Inaction of the Bowels and Pain arising therefrom, Flatulency, Loss of Appetite, all Ulcerous and Cutaneous Diseases which require an evacuant Medicine, Scrofula or King's Evil. They also, by purifying the blood and stimulating the system, cure many complaints which it would not be supposed they could reach, such as Deafness, Partial Blindness, Neuralgia and Nervous Irritability, Derangements of the Liver and Kidneys, Gout, and other kindred complaints arising from a low state of the body or obstruction of its functions.

Do not be put off by unprincipled dealers with some other pill they make more profit on. Ask for AYER'S PILLS, and take nothing else. No other they can give you compares with this in its intrinsic value or curative powers. The sick want the best aid there is for them, and they should have it.

Great American and Foreign Office

For Securing Patents for Inventions.

Agency for business with US Patent Office, Washington

R. H. EDDY,

No. 76 State st, oppo. Kilby st, Boston.

IMPORTANT INFORMATION TO INVENTORS. The Subscriber (late Agent of the U. S. Patent Office, under the Act of 1837) determined to present advantages in applying for Patents, superior to those offered inventors by others, has made arrangements whereby on applications prepared and conducted by him, THIRTY DOLLARS (instead of twenty, as paid back by others,) will be remitted by him in case of failure to obtain a patent, and the withdrawal throu h him within thirty days after the rejection.

This Agency is not only the largest in New England, but through it inventors have advantages for securing patents, or ascertaining the patentability of inventions, unsurpassed by, if not immeasurably superior to, any which can be offered them elsewhere. The testimonials below given prove that none is MORE SUCCESSFUL AT THE PATENT OFFICE than the subscriber; and as SUCCESS IS THE BEST PROOF OF ADVANTAGES AND ABILITY, he would add that he has abundant reason to believe, and can prove, that at no other office of the kind are the charges for professional services so moderate.—The immense practice of the subscriber during twenty years past, has enabled him to accumulate a vast collection of specifications and official decisions relative to patents. These, besides his extensive library of legal and mechanical works, and full accounts of patents granted in the United States and Europe, render him able, beyond question, to offer superior facilities for obtaining patents.

Caveats, Specifications, Assignments, and all Papers and Drawings necessary to the procural of patents in this and foreign countries, prepared and advice rendered on legal and scientific matters respecting inventions, or infringement of patents. All necessity of a journey to Washington to procure a patent, and the usual great delay there, are here saved inventors.

Copies of claims of any patent furnished for one dollar. Assignments recorded at Washington. Patents secured in Great Britian, France, and other foreign countries, through Agents of the highest respectability.

R. H. EDDY.
Solicitor of Patents.

Testimonials.

"During the time I occupied the office of Commissioner of Patents, R. H. Eddy, Esq., of Boston, did business at the Patent Office, as Solicitor of Patents. There were few, if any persons acting in that capacity, who had so much business before the Patent office, and there were none who conducted it with more skill, fidelity, and success. I regard Mr Eddy as one of the best informed and most skilful Patent Solicitors in the United States, and have no hesitation in caring inventors that they cannot employ a person more competent and trustworthy, and more capable of putting their application in a form to secure for them an early and favorable consideration at the Patent office.

EDMUND BURKE,
Late Commissioner of Patents."

From the present Commissioner.

AUGUST 17, 1855.—During the time I have held the Office of Commissioner of Patents, R. H. Eddy, Esq., of Boston, has been extensively engaged in the transaction of business with the office, as a Solicitor. He is thoroughly acquainted with the law, and the rules of practice of the Office. I regard him as one of the most capable and successful practitioners with whom I have had official intercourse. CHAS. MASON,
Commissioner of Patents.

TREMONT MILLS.

Teas, Coffees, Chocolates, Cocoas, Spices, &c.

WHOLESALE,—AND ALSO IN SMALL PACKAGES.

E. E. DYER & CO.

(Sign of the Chinaman grinding coffee.)

141 Washington St., Boston,

SUPPLY the best, finest and purest articles, at lowest Cash prices. Their Stock consists of Teas, Coffees, Chocolates, Allspice, Pepper, Mustard, Ginger, Cayenne Pepper, Nutmegs, Cinnamon, Cloves, Cream Tartar; Taraxacum, or Prepared Dandelion Root, &c., &c.

Having every facility for manufacturing and preparing the several articles named, the public may rely upon having them pure and genuine, as they are put up carefully, and bear our name and label, "TREMONT MILLS, E. E. DYER & CO."

To give consumers some idea of our sales, we annex the following scale of prices, viz:

5 lb. Souchong Tea	1.50	5 lb. Mocha Coffee	1.00
5 lb. Oolong "	1.75	5 lb Java "	90
5 lb. Y. Hyson "	2.25	8 lb. good "	1.00

☞ The Spices are put up in ¼ and ½ lb. tin cases, expressly for family use, and are warranted to be strictly a pure article, and only need a trial to establish them in public favor.

SPANISH COFFEE.—We would call the attention of customers and dealers to our Spanish Coffee, as an article which is highly esteemed, and gives the greatest satisfaction. It is prepared with particular care, and by a peculiar process in roasting, one pound of this coffee, it is believed, is equal to 1½ lb. of any other.

DANDELION COFFEE.—This article is carefully prepared at our Mills, and put up in packages having our trade mark, and may be relied upon as the best and most approved mixture of dandelion and coffee.

TARAXACUM, or Prepared Dandelion Root.—This article is prepared and roasted at our Mills, is retailed by Family Grocers generally in city and country, and bearing our trade mark, "Chinaman grinding coffee," may be relied upon as the GENUINE ARTICLE. The proportion used is about one-half the quantity of coffee. The price is 20 cents per pound, and it is warrented to be the same as that which has been sold for fifty cents a pound by Druggists.

The medical properties of Dandelion are well-known and have been in high estimation by all who use it. This being a preparation of the root, with all its medicinal virtues retained, can be mixed with coffee or not, as best suits the taste, and will be found cheap and economical as a family beverage, one pound of which being nearly equal to two pounds of coffee. It is prescribed by many eminent physicians to invalids, children and aged persons, as a nutritious beverage, and as a remedy for Dyspepsia, Bilious affections, &c.

☞ Be careful to observe that all our Coffees have our trade mark, "Chinaman grinding coffee."

☞ To Grocers and Dealers a liberal discount is made, enabling them to supply their customers at the same low rate.

☞ TO CASH PURCHASERS.—Our object being to secure large sales at small profits, we offer inducements which cannot be afforded by those who do business on the credit system; and we confidently invite an examination of the quality of our stock and our prices, as compared with those of any other house.

A FILLMORE SONG.

Let us see: the other day, if we remember rightly, somebody hinted that we published things one day in favor of Fremont, and another day in favor of Buchanan, &c. Now we give the following race song for Fillmore, which we copy from the Boston Ledger. Perhaps Mr. Fillmore, when he gets into the Presidential Chair again, may send us to England or elsewhere as minister, make us keeper of the great guns, or chaplain to something, by way of reward.

THE PRESIDENTIAL RACE ON THE WASHINGTON COURSE.

BY A SOUTHERNER.

In the swift race do rivals oft contest
The brow on which the laurel wreath should rest;
The anxious crowd look on each panting steed,
As fierce he struggles for the victor's meed;
They make the air with loud huzzas resound.
So when FILLMORE shall beat each rival nag,
And wave once more the Presidential Flag,
A grateful people will loud Pæans sing,
And shouts and plaudits make the welkin ring.
ANONYMOUS.

SONG.
MOTTO—"Fillmore, and fidelity to the Constitution."
TUNE—"Old Dan Tucker."

Three horses, for the great Sweep-Stakes,
From Florida unto the Lakes,
Are all well groom'd—each mettled steed
Will strive to show his utmost speed.
Huzza! huzza! the South is rising,
Fremont and Free Soil despising.

Old Buck, from age, he carries weight,
The Empire Steed has pride of State:
The Pathfinder is young and gay,
And each will try to win the day.
Huzza! huzza! the North is rising,
Fremont and Free Soil despising.

Old Buck leads off, at killing pace,
The Pathfinder's next in the race,
And, tho' the Emp'ror lags behind,
The goal, ere long, he'll surely find.
Huzza! huzza! the Union 's rising,
Fremont and Free Soil despising.

The heat is o'er, and old Buck wins,
The Pathfinder's close on his shins;
The Empire Steed with nought to boast,
Just drops within the distance post.
Huzza! huzza! the Country's rising,
Fremont and Free Soil despising.

Again they're off, the people cheer,
Old Buck's ahead, Pathfinder's near,
The Empire Steed, with steady pace,
His bottom shows—'t will win the race.
Huzza! huzza! the Nation's rising,
Fremont and Free Soil despising.

Behold! they now are lock and lock,
The people feel th' electric shock;
Neck and neck, they course it o'er
Buchanan, Fremont, and Fillmore.
Huzza! huzza! Columbia's rising,
Fremont and Free Soil despising.

Look, look! see how the Keystone Nag
Is breath'd, and fast begins to flag;
The Woolly Horse, no longer fleet,
Will surely lose the second heat.
Huzza! huzza! the States are rising,
Fremont and Free Soil despising.

The Empire Steed now proudly feels
His bottom far outdoes their heels;
With noble stride he treads the course,
And beats both Stag and Woolly Horse.
Huzza! huzza! the People's rising,
Fremont and Free Soil despising.

The last heat now attracts the eye,
'Tis to resolve the victory;
The Empire Steed, yet fresh and strong,
Leads off—huzza! exclaim the throng.
Huzza! huzza! WE ALL are rising,
Fremont and Free Soil despising.

The Race is o'er, the Field is won,
And say'd is our great Union;
Buchanan and Fremont give o'er,
The CUP is yielded to Fillmore!
Huzza! huzza! the victory 's won,
And say'd is our lov'd UNION

MRS. PARTINGTON ON POLITICS.—"Well, well," said Mrs. Partington as the noise of the procession passed her door, and Ike, half frantic, crowded three of Mrs. Partington's Bartlett pears, that were laying on the table, into his pocket, and made for the door, hurraing for Fremont at the top of his lungs:

"Well, well; let the people invent their enthusiasm, the question will be tested next November, and then we shall know who is to be President. For my part I'm sick of distention and strife. I don't believe no good'll come of it, and if the Union isn't preserved, then things'll be in a pretty pickle. I don't know about the extension of Cancers, but if it's as bad as the extension of Friend street, Heaven keep us from it. And here all of 'em are coming themselves with Fremont clubs, and Buchanan clubs, and Fillmore, and ever so many more clubs, and they'll all perhaps get their heads broke with them before 'tis all over." She stopped, as a Roman candle blazed before her window, lighting up the room, throwing a momentary glory around the profile of republican Paul, and a loud hurrah seemed to shake the house to its foundation. Ike came in a moment afterwards, and the old lady gave him a pear to induce him to go to bed.—Boston Gazette.

The New York Herald, referring to the threatening letters which have been sent to Fremont, traces them to the ruffian spirit which corrupt party associations has fostered. It says:—

"The goblets of gold and silver, the canes, the banquets Brooks has received, and the various honors that have been showered upon his head, in approval of his brutal assault upon Sumner, have doubtless turned the weak heads of many envious and blood-thirsty ———, and male desire of similar marks of distinction for similar party services. What a lion, in this view, would the assasin or the poisoner of Fremont become with the chiefs and the chivalry of the ——— party! Doubtless some poor infatuated fool, here and there, with such aspirations for gold and silver goblets, and banquets and public lionizing, may aspire to the infamous distinction of the assassin of Fremont. With Fremont's election, however, this sort of glory and this class of wretches will soon be silenced into repentance, submission and shame. That shocking leprosy of ruffianism, beginning in Washington and Kansas, seems to have diffused its poison through every vein and fibre of the diseased party, and the people must remove it. Nothing less will do.

Morning Chronicle.

THURSDAY, OCTOBER 16, 1856.

LETTER FROM SOUTH CAROLINA.

ENGEFIELD DISTRICT, S. C., September, 1856.

The weather is perfectly charming now, since the excessive and long continued heat has resolved itself into tolerable weather. This is truly the "Sunny South," almost always fair weather, with light and balmy zephyrs playing through the surrounding and almost endless woods, of greatest variety of foliage.

My retiring room is so situated that the golden and glorious orb of day smiles in my window through the beautiful trees;—and if I chance to linger in bed, admonishes me to rise. The beautiful Queen of Night, too, seems almost to know that I worship her from my lattice, evening after evening, as she greets me with her silvery beams; and there is also one bright and particular star I gaze upon, and think of loved ones in a far off land—those who have promised to think of the Minstrel who tunes his harp to plaintive lays every time he beholds the stellar rays of this favorite gem of the shining sisterhood.

Thus may we commune with friends, though far away; thus through those effulgent orbs may our minds soar and commune with the Divine Architect, the Maker of them all. Even those who have passed away from earth, whose memories are ever dear to our hearts, are more particularly remembered by a pensive soul, at the evening hour, when moon and stars attract our gaze and claim our meditation.

But there are things terrestrial as well as celestial to call forth our morning and evening meditations. Among the terrestrial considerations in this vicinity, are corn and cotton crops, and weddings; the latter being the chief, topic just at this time.

On Wednesday evening last at 8 o'cl'k, the beautiful and accomplished Miss Mary A———(of only seventeen summers) eldest daughter of Dr. A———, united her fate with another, and in the presence of a host of witnesses, voluntarily and legally became the very attractive Mrs. G———. The wedding was at the residence of the bride's father, (a wealthy planter,) and was on a most magnificent scale—surpassing any similar occasion which has ever fallen under my observation.

The, bride in elegant attire, took her place with queen-like step; by her side six beautiful maidens in rich costume, and six stately swains, all as chosen "waiters;" and last, but not least, the tall young groom, eager for the hymeneal knot.

Long tables were set, under protection of tents fitted up for the occasion in the garden, to accommodate two hundred invited guests, who partook of a substantial and palatable supper. The extra table of dessert, beautiful to the eye and delectable to the taste, was attended by ladies, who disseminated the good things with much good grace and with very fascinating smiles. The cake, done up in pyramids and other shapes, did greatest credit to the lady makers and bakers—who manifested fine taste in the ornamental "frost-work," besides excellent judgment in the manufacture. It equalled, if not surpassed any cake of the kind I had ever seen or tasted. The great bridal loaf was cut about 11 o'clock, soon after which the highly delighted company began to retire.

Music and promenading of course were indulged in on the occasion. The evening zephyrs bore off the tones of the Piano, flute and singing. The bride was recently one of the amiable pupils of the "Oak Grove Female Seminary," Miss W——— of your city being Principal, and the writer, Professor of Music.

In a few weeks another pupil, of 18, from this Institution, is to unite her own brilliance with that of her chosen, forming two stars of no ordinary beauty and attraction,—the Dr's chivalric young son, and the "Rose bud" of the District, Fanny.

It is customary here to keep these matrimonial affairs a profound secret, until the nearest approximation—when the effulgence of such hidden virtues will burn out. It may be laughable to them that a Yankee teacher is here who is enabled to dream and guess about right on these interesting subjects.

But times of still greater excitement are at hand, the great National election. Talk of "Secession;" Slavery and its consequences; Abolition and its effects, &c.—The South is resolved to maintain its position. It may be that the North is also resolved.

I do not wish to see the gloomy day,
When Greek" shall meet in stern array;
Great God, avert the storm of civil strife,
And save us from the torch and reeking knife.

But you may think me growing rather serious, so soon after the Wedding; I will therefore hang up my doleful harp, and give you a more cheerful tune, perhaps, another time. ALPHONSO.

A GODLY CONGREGATION. — The Portsmouth, Virginia, Transcript says:

The members of the Unitarian Church in Washington City, by a vote of nearly two to one, have resolved to dispense with the services of the Rev. Mr. Conway, who, a short time since, introduced the subject of abolition and abolitionists in his pulpit. This is just the manner in which godly congregations should serve these aid de camps of satan, who profess to preach "peace and good will," and yet direct their efforts towards arousing hate and anarchy.

Mr. Conway dared to preach against Brooks, Bludgeon & Co.; and against Herbert, Atchison & Co.,—not by name but by description. But his 'godly congregation,' approving these deeds, could not bear to have their pious sensibilities wounded by any condemnation of murder or assault, sounded from the pulpit. So they dismiss their minister and retain their peculiar godliness, undisturbed by the voice of reproof. The ostrich, when closely pursued, hides her head in the sand.

☞ The Newburyport Herald says drunken men and rum bottles never should be allowed in or near railway cars. Both are nuisances to decent travellers; and not to say that they are dangerous, we will affirm that respectable people should not be troubled to pick up the pieces of worthless fools who put themselves under steam engines. We are called to these remarks by an event of last Saturday. When the 12 o'clock Boston train reached Salem, two rum bottles were found in the cars, and when the train started for Boston, one drunken man was on the platform holding another by the collar, who was so far gone as to be perfectly limber and helpless, and who in one minute must have fallen under the wheels and have been cut in two. It fortunately happened that Mr. Conductor Marden was in the depot, and by prompt action and at considerable risk, threw the fellow upon the car when it was in motion. Probably the drunken man would have been just as good in two parts as in one, but for the benefit of others, all such fools should be taken in charge by the police upon their first approach to a railroad.

POLITICS — CHURCHES — LADIES. — The Newburyport Herald states that the Fremonters of that city made quite a demonstration in one of the Methodist churches in that city, on Friday evening, "where C. W. Slack of Boston addressed them for two hours. Half of the audience were ladies, whose cheering of the speaker at every allusion to Jessie and her lover, indicated that their opinions were made up.—If the women could vote, Fremont would have 200,000 majority in Massachusetts."

FATAL AFFRAY.— We learn that an Irishman named Daniel O'Brien, was shot dead at Kendell's Mills, on Sunday evening, and an organ grinder in company with him was seriously injured at the same time. The two men had been in the shanty of a man named Sullivan, having, as is supposed, a "good time" with some others there. They had come out of the shanty and gone a few steps when three shots were fired, killing O'Brien and wounding the organ grinder. No cause can be assigned for the transaction. No one has yet been arrested. —Portland Advertiser.

In the good time, all had doubtless been drinking—and in most cases, where rum and gunpowder get together, mischief is the consequence.

SOUTHERN RIGHTS CONVENTION.—A despatch from Columbia, S. C. Oct. 13, says:

Reports are current here that the Governors of the fifteen Southern States will meet at Raleigh, to-morrow, to consider what steps it will be necessary to take for the protection of rights of the Southern States should Mr. Fremont be elected to the Presidency.

SINGULAR AND FATAL ACCIDENT. — At Errol, N. H., a fine child of John L. Van Buskirk, a boy of fourteen months, was drowned in a firkin of swill, which sat near the back door, on the 29th ult. The firkin had about six quarts of water in it.

☞ The oldest "meeting house" on the continent is in Hingham, Mass. It is a huge, square structure, with the belfrey rising out of the centre of the roof. Inside, are the old square pews, which bear a look of similar antiquity. It is nearly 200 years old. In the adjoining burying ground, stones may be seen, dated as far back as 1619.

CHICAGO, Oct. 13.—Rev. Mr. Higginson, and Miles Moore, who was recently reported as a prisoner at Wyandot city, arrived in this city from Kansas to-day. Mr. Moore takes the field immediately for the republican cause.

KANSAS NEWS.

The Boston Traveller has a letter from Kansas dated Sept, 30th, from which we take the following:

"Editor of the Traveller:—We are having a short period of peace, but the Missouri Militia will probably be on hand on Monday next, the day for the bogus election. Any number of rumors arg flying about, but I do not rely on them. Hard times, however, are here in earnest. Imagine paying $5 for board, having no milk or butter, and only semi-occasionally meat. Our boys have lived days together on green corn, cabbages and squash. I have a piece of the bread, eaten during the last two weeks, black as a coal, and almost as hard as a brick. Nobody doubts or despairs, but every one holds on to the cause, and feels confident in the result. A great many are leaving the Southern part of the Territory, seeing nothing but starvation before them. We trust that our friends are alive to the necessity of keeping all in that are in the Territory.

The prisoners confined at Lecompton are receiving their preliminary examination, on a charge of murder at Hickory Point, before Judge Cato, of the U. S. Court. Messrs. M. Parrot and H. Miles More of Leavenworth City, are acting as counsel for them, and the vigorous and impressive manner in which they resist the farcical and unjust ruling of the Judge, who is a small counterpart of Jeffries Lecompte, entitles them to the gratitude of our citizens. This trial is a perfect farce, and cannot but end in smoke. To the prisoners themselves, most of whom have families depending upon them, and crops that want housing, this detention from their ordinary avocations is no joke, and the treatment they have received has made many of them sick. I subjoin their names, and their original residences in the States.

TYPO."

Here follows a list of prisoners confined at Lecompton, K, T., Sept' 27, 1856, and bound over on the charge of murder in the first degree:

Among those from Maine—C. H. Calkins, Bangor; Thomas Bickerton, Portland; F, B. Swift Brunswick; New Hampshire—Wm, Butler, Coos Co.; Vermont—J. F. Tabor, Howland; J. L. King, Brattleboro'; O. M. Marsh, Woodstock.

We omit the rest of the list.—It is not supposable that these men, or any of them will be executed or even convicted.—But their arrest and confinement shows the animus of the new Gov. Geary.

☞ On Tuesday evening last, the Fremonters of Exeter were addressed by Hon. James Pike, and by Geo. W. Benson, Esq. of Lawrence. The meeting, which was well attended, was augmented by the addition of a large number of voters from New Market and vicinity, who came over with torch-lights and a band of music.

In Chili, the most stable and prosperous of the South American republics, great attentfon is being paid by the government to education. They have established 42 new schools during the past year, making a total of 758, in which are 20,000 pupils, one-fourth of whom are girls. Chili is also expending large sums of money for steamships, railroads, and other public works.

WOOD'S HAIR DYE.—This admirable article is rapidly improving the hair. No article of a similar kind, new before the public, enjoys a better reputation as a restorative and invigorating hair tonic. Its peculiar chemical qualities have a beneficial effect upon the growth and character of the hair, giving a silky and glossy texture to that which was formerly of a coarse and dry nature. It has, also, we understand, a tendency to preserve the youthful color of the hair, and destroying or counteracting the effects of age. With such recommendations in its favor, we hardly perceive how any lady or gentleman should be without so valuable an adjunct to their toilet. The article may be had of the Druggists throughout the country.—[Missouri Democrat.

HEALTH AND STRENGTH.

☞ DR. S. O. RICHARDSON'S SHERRY WINE BITTERS is the best Medicine ever used, for Summer Complaints. It has been more liberally patronized this year than any other ever established in this country. It is the same Richardson's Bitters which has restored so many invalids to health throughout New England during the past thirty years.

THE GREAT DISCOVERY.

Many years ago, Doctor Burleigh Smart, of Kennebunk, Me., discovered that a simple article never before used as a medicine, was a never failing cure for coughs of every description, and an excellent blood purifier. By its use in his private practice, he acquired the reputation of being the best physician in New England, for all diseases of the lungs. After his death, Messrs. Shaw & Clark of Biddeford, Me., obtained a Copy Right from Government, for its exclusive manufacture, and now have it carefully compounded, strictly according to the original recipe. There is no cough that it will not cure, unless the patient is past all human aid before commencing its use! It is called "Doctor Burleigh Smart's Cough Medicine," and is for sale by all apothecaries. au27 TuThsS 6m.

"The Greatest Book of the Age!"

History United States,

From the earliest Period to the Present Time.

BY J. A. SPENCER, D. D.,

Member of the New York Historical Society, Membre de la Societe Orientale de France, author of "Egypt and the Holy Land," etc., etc

THIS National History, written by an accomplished American author, and copiously and beautifully embellished by American artists, (among whom are Leutze, Weir, Vanderlyn, Powell, Chapman, Chappell and Oertel,) commends itself by its sterling merit to the favorable consideration of the American public.

No pains or expense have been spared to render this work worthy of being in every respect hailed as a Book for the American People.

Every Public Institution of our country, every Family—every citizen should possess such a National Work, that he may con over its instructive records, and kindle hispatriotism at its spirit stirring narrative; and point to its exhibition of genius and skill, with those feelings of flenerous enthusiasm, which such a production of native talent cannot fail to awaken in the heart of every true American.

The work is now in course of publication in semi-monthly parts, price Twenty-five cents each, delivered at the Subscriber's residence or sent by mail postage free. Subscribers' names respectfully solicited, and all letters and inquiries promptly replied to by the Publishers.

THE NEW POST OFFICE BUILDING.—Messrs Editors:—The location of the new Custom House, Post Office, &c., is of more importance to the citizens of Portsmouth, than we are now aware of,—for two reasons, if no more. First, as an ornament; and second, for taxation. It must be remembered that this new building pays no tax. My preference is decidedly in favor of the Lot opposite the Franklin House, now occupied by the Express men and others.

This Lot in my estimation, answers both the above reasons; and in addition, is more central than most any other. It is of sufficient size to set the building directly in front of the Franklin House, and have an iron fence all round it; and allow a strip to be taken off of the westerly end, on Chesnut street, corresponding with Vaughan street, back to Warren street. All the buildings on this lot are of wood, except one, and could be removed to other lots —and when completed would pay as much if not more tax than they now do. If People would examine the lots offered, I think nearly all would agree with me that this is the Lot. J.

SUPREME JUDICIAL COURT.

WEDNESDAY, Oct. 14.

State vs. Edward Wade of Hampton.—Respondent was indicted for selling liquor. Plea "Not Guilty." Verdict, "Guilty." Bell for State—Marston for respondent.

The case State vs. Charles Clark of Rye was next put on trial. Respondent was indicted for stealing $80 in bank bills from one John E. Cook. Plea not guilty. The case was argued by Bell for State and Emery for Respondent. Verdict not guilty.

SENTENCES.—Daniel Cotton, setting fire to bridewell, five days solitary confinement and two years hard labor in State Prison.

Geo. W. Kendall, for assault on Dudley Morris, jr., of Epping: $25 fine and 90 days imprisonment in common jail.

Henry Huntress, an insane man, was sent to the Insane Asylum.

E. A. Green and James Brogan, for breaking into and entering a house with intent to steal: 6 months in State Prison.

John H. Green, for stealing a horse: one year in State Prison

The jurors were discharged and the session closed.

MORE FLAGS.—Another banner, for Buchanan and Breckinridge, has been thrown across Daniel street, at the store of Mr. Stephen Walker.

Also Fremont flags, across Pleasant street, in front of Mr. Robert Rand's residence; and across Islington street, at the Academy.

It is well the election comes off soon, or there would not be room to hang out all the bunting desired to be spread.

☞ Mr. Edwin A. Rowe, son of Mr. Frederick Rowe of this city, has for several years been engaged in the express business in California. The Sacramento Union, by the last steamer, states that E. J. Joslin, an expressman, who has been buying dust for, and carrying an express from Ridgeville to Weaverville, in connection with Rowe & Co., was killed on the morning of the 1st inst., it is supposed by being thrown from his mule. He was found the next day about three miles from Weaverville, with his neck broken; the mule was found on the same day, near where the body of Joslin lay. About $600 belonging to Rowe & Co., is missing.

☞ PRICE'S NEW YORK MINSTRELS, who have been entertaining our citizens at the Temple for a couple of evenings, were greeted with good audiences, whom they well pleased; but being previously advertised to appear at Dover, they were unable to stay longer. We understand that on their return from the East, they will appear before our citizens again, and they will doubtless "have a full hearing." *

LAST CALL.—All persons having bills against the Printing Centennial Celebration will please present them at the Gazette office this day.

PHILADELPHIA, Oct. 14.—The House of Bishops concurred in fixing Richmond, Va., as the place of meeting for the next Episcopal Convention. The House of Deputies concurred in the 5th article of the Constitution, passed by the House of Bishops, providing for a division of the Dioceses, making them smaller.

FLORIDA.—Returns, reported and unofficial, from 16 counties in this State, give a majority of 146 for the Democratic ticket, a gain of 945 for the Americans, but probably not enough to give them the State.—Atlas.

The receipts of the late U. S. Agricultural Fair at Philadelphia were $33,555. The expenses, the Philadelphia Gazette says, will amount to $35,000 or $40,000.

THE ELECTIONS.

PHILADELPHIA, Oct. 15, Telegraphic Correspondence of the Boston Telegraph.—Lancaster county 5000 opposition majority. Beaver township 53 opp. maj.; Rochester borough 50 opp. maj.; Bracken 53 opp. maj.; Rochester township 8 Dem. Alleghany county—Pittsburg 553 Dem. gain; Alleghany city 97 opp. gain. Returns from 24 out of the 48 Rural Districts show a small Dem. gain over Pollock's majority in 1854.

Philadelphia City—14th Ward, 142 opp.; 15th Ward, 146 Dem.: 23d Ward, 44 Dem.; 24th Ward, 270 Dem.

The reported gains in 19 counties, exclusive of Philadelphia county, foot up 3306 Dem. and 6688 opp.

In Philadelphia city the majority for the Democratic Canal Commissioner is 2236, with seven precincts to hear from. Cassidy (Dem.) has 445 majority for District Attorney.

Congressmen Elected.—First District—Florence, Dem., re-elected by 228 maj.

Second District—Morris, opp. 173 maj.

Third District — Landy, Democrat, a Democratic gain.

Fourth District—Phillips, Democrat, a Democratic gain.

Fifth District—Owen Jones, Dem.

Sixth District—Hickman, Dem. re-elected.

The returns come very incomplete and confused, but enough is known to show that the Democrats have probably carried the State by 5000 majority.

PENNSYLVANIA ELECTION.—A special dispatch from B. F. Hallett, Esq. at Philadelphia, Oct. 15, to a gentleman in this city, sets down the majority of the Democratic party in Pennsylvania at 15,000,—and in the city of Philadelphia at 6,000.

OHIO.—Cleveland, Oct.—In the 3d Congressional District the contest is very close between L. D. Campbell, Rep., and Vallandingham, Dem. In the 12th District, the contest is also close between Galloway, Rep. and Cox, Dem. The Democrats claim the former, and the Republicans the latter District. Both Districts gave Democratic majorities last fall. — [Campbell and Galloway were elected two years ago, when the Republican majority was 70,000.]—Ed. Tel.

Ashtabula county, Conneaut, 300 opp. maj.

The returns are very scattering, but indicate a victory to the Republicans by a large majority.

Campbell is re-elected in the 3d Congressional District.

Pendleton and Groesbeck are elected in the 1st and 2d.

There is a Democratic gain of two members occasioned by running a third ticket.

Hamilton county shows a Republican gain of 4000 over Chase's vote.

There are Democratic gains reported in two counties elsewhere.

The Republicans have gained, as far as heard from.

INDIANA.—Cincinnati, Oct. 15.—Indianapolis, 100 opp. maj. Decatur township, Marion county, 114 opposition maj. Two townships in Shelby county, 118 dem. maj. Partial returns indicate that the Democrats held their own in the south part of the State.

A GREAT NATIONAL WORK.

SPENCER'S HISTORY OF THE UNITED STATES.—In another column may be found the advertisement of a book with the above title, to which we take pleasure in renewedly calling the attention of our readers.—This truly national work is published in semi-monthly parts, at 25 cents each. The current parts, Nos. 13 and 14, are before us, containing a view of the Battle of Lexington and a portrait of Henry Clay. The execution of these plates is an honor to our native artists, and quite creditable to the enterprising publishers of the work.—The author, the Rev. Dr. J. A. Spencer, of New York, is a gentleman highly esteemed as an eminent and classical scholar, a profound thinker, and an able historical writer. He is well qualified to do justice to his theme. The book only needs to be examined to be appreciated. Its popular character should insure its author and publishers an extensive sale. — Boston Transcript, Sept. 4th.

SPENCER'S UNITED STATES.—We have received Nos. 14 and 15 of this great national work.—They contain an excellent treatise on the "wisdom and necessity of the Declaration of Independence." In the appendix to Chapter 19, are copies of several Revolutionary Documents, an original draft of the Declaration, and Judge Drayton's celebrated Address to Admiral Lord Howe and General Howe. Also, an extract from John Quincy Adams's Oration on the 4th of July, 1831. These numbers bring the history down to the entrance of the British fleet into the Chesapeake, to attack Philadelphia, August, 1777. The Illustrations of these numbers are a portrait of Henry Clay, and the Battle of New Orleans—two of the finest engravings we have ever seen. This work is an honor to the age.—Buffalo Republic, Sept. 29.

There is a wonderful combination of native talent of the first order in this truly National Work.—New York Times.

After a brief examination of the above work, we have no hesitation in expressing our agreement with the foregoing high encomiums from excellent authority. The execution of the book is splendid—the engravings are original, and done in the very highest style of art.

W. S. Weightman, 22 Bromfield street, Boston, is the general agent for New England States.

Mr. Thomas Weston, the travelling agent, is now in Portsmouth—stopping at Chas. W. Walker, Esq's, Market Street House,—where copies may be obtained by any citizens who may be omitted to be called upon.

See their advertisement in another column.

J. W. MOSES would call the attention of his friends, customers, and the Public in general to the fact, that he has in his store, at No. 8 Market street, a good assortment of Broadcloths, Pilot and Beaver Cloths, plain and fancy Doeskins and Cassimeres, Black and fancy Velvets, plain and figured Satins and Grenadin Vestings, &c., which he will make to order or sell either with or without cutting or making, at fair prices.

He has a large assortment of furnishing Goods, consisting of Shirts, Collars, Cravats, Suspenders, Handkerchiefs, Under-Shirts and Drawers, &c., &c.

All Garments made by him warranted to be as good as can be had in this city. The above are new Goods, having been selected with care from large Stocks in Boston, and just received. September 26. is3w

From the Boston Saturday Evening Gazette.

A PERFUMED BREATH.—What lady or gentleman would remain under the curse of a disagreeable breath, when using the "Balm of a Thousand Flowers" as a dentifrice would not only render it sweet, but leave the teeth white as alabaster? Many persons do not know their breath is bad, and the subject is so delicate, their friends will never mention it. Pour a single drop of the "Balm" on your tooth-brush and wash the teeth night and morning. A fifty cent bottle will last a year.

A BEAUTIFUL COMPLEXION may easily be acquired by using the "Balm of a Thousand Flowers." It will remove tan, pimples and freckles from the skin, leaving it of a soft and roseate hue. Wet a towel, pour on two or three drops, and wash the face night and morning

SHAVING MADE EASY.—Wet your shaving brush in either warm or cold water, pour on two or three drops of "Balm of a Thousand Flowers," run the beard well and it will make a beautiful soft lather, much facilitating the operation of shaving. Price only 50 cents.

FREMONT,
THE MUSTANG CANDIDATE.

If Col. Fremont had as many friends as the Mustang Liniment, the opposition could not draw a corporal's guard. Mr. Fremont remarked in his dispatches to President Fillmore, while transporting horses and cattle over the plains of Mexico, "That if the Government would send him on a liberal supply of Mustang Liniment, it would save 25 per cent. of his losses." This is very important for all Farmers and Liverymen to know. The Mustang Liniment is a wonderful article for man or beast. It should always be used for Sores, Swellings, Stiff Joints, Burns, Bruises, Rheumatic Pains, &c., and for Galds, Sprains, Spavins, Ringbone, &c., upon horses.—BEWARE OF IMITATIONS. The Mustang is sold by all respectable dealers everywhere.

PREMIUMS from Twenty five to One Thousand Dollars, amounting, in the aggregate, to Eight Thousand Dollars, have been offered, open for competition to horses from all parts of the Union, as well as the Canadas.

A Committee composed of citizens of Boston and vicinity, has been appointed, to co-operate with the officers of the Society in perfecting the arrangements for the Exhibition. A large fund has been guaranteed, to meet expenses. The material aid, taken in connexion with the excellence of the location, (being the same grounds occupied last year by the U. S. Agricultural Society,) and the large amount of premiums offered, induces the expectation that this Exhibition will be of a superior character.

Seats for six thousand persons have been prepared, also a saloon, with female attendants, for the accommodation of Ladies

Stalls for the accommodation of four hundred horses have been prepared upon the grounds.

Favorable arrangements with the various railroads, for the transportation of stock, are in progress, the terms of which will be given on application at the Office.

The following horses will be upon the ground, and have signified their intention to enter and contend for premiums offered for speed, viz: Hiram Drew, Ethan Allen, Flora Temple, Lancet, Tacony, Grey Eddy, Pocahontas, and others of well known reputation.

The Premium List, with the Regulations and Programme of the Exhibition, will be furnished on application to the, Secretary at oston.

Great American and Foreign Office

For Securing Patents for Inventions.

Agency for business with US Patent Office, Washington

R. H. EDDY,

No. 76 State st, oppo. Kilby st, Boston.

IMPORTANT INFORMATION TO INVENTORS. The Subscriber (late Agent of the U. S. Patent Office, under the Act of 1837) determined to present advantages in applying for Patents superior to those offered inventors by others, has made arrangements whereby on applications prepared and conducted by him, THIRTY DOLLARS (instead of twenty, as paid back by others,) will be remitted by him in case of failure to obtain a patent, and the withdrawal thereof within thirty days after the rejection.

This Agency is not only the largest in New England, but through it inventors have advantages for securing patents, or ascertaining the patentability of inventions, unsurpassed by, if not immeasurably superior to, any which can be offered them elsewhere. The testimonials below given prove that none is MORE SUCCESSFUL AT THE PATENT OFFICE than the subscriber; and as SUCCESS IS THE BEST PROOF OF ADVANTAGES AND ABILITY, he would show that he has abundant reason to believe, and can prove, that at no other office of the kind are the charges for professional services so moderate.—The immense practice of the subscriber during twenty years past, has enabled him to accumulate a vast collection of specifications and official decisions relative to patents. These, besides his extensive library of legal and mechanical works, and full accounts of patents granted in the United States and Europe, render him able, beyond question, to offer superior facilities for obtaining patents.

Caveats, Specifications, Assignments, and all Papers and Drawings necessary to the procural of patents in this and foreign countries prepared and advice rendered on legal and scientific matters respecting inventions, or infringement of patents. All necessity of a journey to Washington to procure a patent, and the usual great delay there, are here saved inventors.

Copies of claims of any patent furnished for one dollar. Assignments recorded at Washington. Patents secured in Great Britian, France, and other foreign countries, through Agents of the highest respectability.

R. H. EDDY,
Solicitor of Patents.

Testimonials.

"During the time I occupied the office of Commissioner of Patents, R. H. Eddy, Esq., of Boston, did business at the Patent Office, as Solicitor of Patents. There were few, if any persons acting in that capacity, who had so much business before the Patent office; and there were none who conducted it with more skill, fidelity, and success. I regard Mr Eddy as one of the best informed and most skillful Patent Solicitors in the United States, and have no hesitation in advising inventors that they cannot employ a person more competent and trustworthy, and more capable of putting their application in a form to secure for them an early and favorable consideration at the Patent Office.

EDMUND BURKE,
Late Commissioner of Patents."

From the present Commissioner.

AUGUST 17, 1855.—During the time I have held the Office of Commissioner of Patents, R. H. Eddy, Esq., of Boston, has been extensively engaged in the transaction of business with the office, as Solicitor. He is thoroughly acquainted with the law, and the rules of practice of the Office. I regard him as one of the most capable and successful practitioners with whom I have had official intercourse.

CHAS. MASON,
Commissioner of Patents.

TREMONT MILLS.

Teas, Coffees, Chocolates, Cocoas, Spices, &c.

WHOLESALE,—AND ALSO IN SMALL PACKAGES.

E. E. DYER & CO.

(Sign of the Chinaman grinding coffee.)

141 Washington St., Boston,

SUPPLY the best, finest and purest articles at lowest Cash prices. Their Stock consists of Teas, Coffees, Chocolates, Allspice, Pepper, Mustard, Ginger, Cayenne Pepper, Nutmegs, Cinnamon, Cloves, Cream Tartar; Taraxacum, or Prepared Dandelion Root, &c., &c.

Having every facility for manufacturing and preparing the several articles named, the public may rely upon having them pure and genuine, as they are put up carefully, and bear our name and label, "TREMONT MILLS, E. E. DYER & CO."

To give consumers some idea of our sales, we annex the following scale of prices, viz:

5 lb. Souchong Tea,	1.50	5 lb. Mocha Coffee,	1.00
5 lb. Oolong "	1.75	5 lb. Java "	[illegible]
5 lb. Y. Hyson "	2.25	8 lb. good "	1.00

☞ The Spices are put up in ¼ and ½ lb. tin cases, expressly for family use, and are warranted to be strictly a pure article, and only need a trial to establish them in public favor.

SPANISH COFFEE.—We would call the attention of customers and dealers to our Spanish Coffee, as an article which is highly esteemed, and gives the greatest satisfaction. It is prepared with particular care, and by a peculiar process in roasting, one pound of this coffee, it is believed, is equal to 1½ lb. of any other.

DANDELION COFFEE.—This article is carefully prepared at our Mills and put up in packages having our trade mark, and may be relied upon as the best and most approved mixture of dandelion and coffee.

TARAXACUM, or Prepared Dandelion Root.—This article is prepared and roasted at our Mills, is recommended by Family Grocers generally in city and country, and bearing our trade mark, "Chinaman grinding coffee," may be relied upon as the GENUINE ARTICLE. The proportion used is about one-half the quantity of coffee. The price is 20 cents per pound, and it is warrented to be the same as that which has been sold for fifty cents a pound by druggists.

The medical properties of Dandelion are well-known, and held in high estimation by all who use it. This being a preparation of the root, with all its medicinal virtues retained, can be mixed with coffee or not, as best suits the taste, and will be found cheap and economical as a family beverage, one pound of which being nearly equal to two pounds of coffee. It is prescribed by many eminent physicians to invalids, children and aged persons, as a nutritious beverage, and as a remedy for Dyspepsia, Bilious affections, &c.

☞ Be careful to observe that all our Coffees have our trade mark, "Chinaman grinding coffee."

☞ To Grocers and Dealers a liberal discount is made, enabling them to supply their customers at the same low rate.

☞ TO CASH PURCHASERS.—Our object being to secure large sales at small profits, we offer inducements which cannot be afforded by those who do business on the credit system; and we confidently invite an examination of the quality of our stock and our prices, as compared with those of any other house.

PREMIUMS from Twenty five to One Thousand Dollars, amounting, in the aggregate, to Eight Thousand Dollars, have been offered, open for competition to horses from all parts of the Union, as well as the Canadas.

A Committee composed of citizens of Boston and vicinity, has been appointed, to co-operate with the officers of the Society in perfecting the arrangements for the Exhibition. A large fund has been guaranteed, to meet expenses. This material aid, taken in connexion with the excellence of the location, (being the same grounds occupied last year by the U. S. Agricultural Society,) and the large amount of premiums offered, induces the expectation that this Exhibition will be of a superior character.

Seats for six thousand persons have been prepared, also a saloon, with female attendants, for the accommodation of Ladies

Stalls for the accommodation of four hundred horses have been prepared upon the grounds.

Favorable arrangements with the various railroads, for the transportation of stock, are in progress, the terms of which will be given on application at the Office.

The following horses will be upon the ground, and have signified their intention to enter and contend for premiums offered for speed, viz: Hiram Drew, Ethan Allen, Flora Temple, Lancet, Tacony, Grey Eddy, Pocahontas, and others of well known reputation.

The Premium List, with the Regulations and Programme of the Exhibition, will be furnished on application to the, Secretary at oston.

Morning Chronicle.

FRIDAY, OCTOBER 17, 1856.

☞ A Portsmouth man now in Kansas, writes to a friend in this city, Sept. 14, that he has received only one letter, though he has written nine letters to persons here. [Most of these have not come to hand.] He despairs of receiving letters regularly while "the tools that fill the Post Offices in the territory and Missouri open all the letters that we receive here." He adds, "At the Post Office in Franklin, a small place near Lawrence, there was found more than a bushel of letters, about three weeks since, that had been mailed at Lawrence and other places last winter, for the East. And there may be some for you in that lot."

The letter abundantly confirms our other accounts of the Border Ruffians' acts of murder, rape, robbery and burning—and earnestly hopes for the election of Fremont—hopes "that if we can't get a Senate in our favor, we may at least get a President who will fill the offices in this territory with men, in place of the devils that now hold them."

The writer has been out in defence of the territory—and is ready still to resist bogus laws and lawless ruffians to the last.

PERSONAL.—Rev. T. W. Higginson of Worcester, having gone out to Kansas, has laid aside his clerical title, and is now hailed by the military appellation of General, he having been appointed aid to Gen. Lane, commander of the Free State forces of that territory.

Mr. Higginson went out to Kansas, it is true.—All the rest of the item is bogus,—He has not laid aside his title—he has not been appointed general—he has no command—he is on his way home to Massachusetts..

STILL THEY COME.—Mr. Ticknor, Solicitor for Sullivan county, and a prominent officer in the Claremont Fremont Club, has come out for Buchanan.

The above announcement appears in the Portsmouth Chronicle, and has gone the rounds of every Buchanan paper in the State. Perhaps we are cruel to spoil it, but we must. Like the other changes to Hunkerism, this of Mr. Ticknor is entirely "over the left." Mr. Ticknor not only has not "come out for Buchanan," but is zealously in favor of Fremont. Try again, Messrs. Buchaneers.—Independent Dem.

We copied the item from the Concord Democratic Standard, and credited it to that unreliable sheet—but it seems it is bogus, like a large amount of "news."

IMPORTANT ARRESTS.—For a long time, numerous depredations, thefts &c., have been made in and around Epping, Exeter, and adjoining towns. On Wednesday morning, officers from Exeter arrested in Stratham six men and three women, supposed to be the perpetrators of these thefts. A large number of articles of various descriptions were found in the house where they were taken. They were on trial, Wednesday afternoon, at Exeter. It is probable that a gang of expert thieves has thus been broken up.

Sheriff Dearborn, of Exeter, was one of the officers who made the descent on their rendezvous. Over two thousand dollars worth of goods, of various descriptions was found in the house. An ox-cart full was carried into Exeter. Among the arrested ones was Dr. Drew, who, our readers will remember, flourished as a clairvoyant doctor, in this city, last spring; together with his mother and other members of the family. It is believed that some of the goods seized were from Newburyport.

T. B. ALDRICH.—Speaking of his delightful new book, "Daisy's Necklace and what Came of it," a writer in the Boston Transcript says of the author and his works:

The author of this volume is the most promising of America's younger poets. And not only has he given promise of rich and rare fruits in "the Indian summer of manhood," but also he has written, already, many things, which "posterity will not willingly let die."

But two years have passed since he was first known as an author, and the productions of this young man have found their way into the best literary journals of our country, his name has become celebrated, and he himself occupies the high post of an editor of the Home Journal. In our judgment, Thomas Bailey Aldrich is a man of great and original genius. The story before us is only another evidence of it. It is full of genius.

There is a quiet humor and deep pathos in the book. It is chaste and it is natural, and it leaves the mind pure and serene, and deeply impressed with the exceeding beauty of love to God and man. Such are our impressions of "Daisy's Necklace." And we hope that those who read these words will buy the volume and read the story too. And we shall be largely mistaken if pretty nearly all of our readers don't agree with us.

☞ The telegraphic election returns were received at Newburyport, on Wednesday, at midnight. On Thursday morning, from 1 to 3 o'clock, the young Fremonters rejoiced over Pennsylvania, and unable to contain themselves till daylight, started out, and with home made music and many cheers, called upon the most prominent Republicans in town, several of whom were called out for speeches.

☞ "The Key Stone Club, in Newburyport, on Wednesday evening, illuminated their Head Quarters in glorification of the Pennsylvania election; and cheers that followed the announcement of the votes had the old Democratic ring in them. All have their days of rejoicing." So says the Herald.

☞ In Stockton, California, two wagon loads of goods were set on fire and entirely destroyed. They were mostly assorted dry goods, and of large value. The teamsters, two colored men, were attacked by four horsemen, who rode up and ordered them to surrender. One made his escape, while the other was seized, blindfolded, and thereatened with death if he made resistance. After setting fire to the wagon, the incendiaries released the man, mounted their horses and rode off. When they had got off about a hundred yards, the teamster having made an attempt to save some of the goods, he was fired upon and wounded in the leg.

☞ The Ladies' Repository for October, 1856, is just received from the publisher, A. Tompkins, Boston. Contents:—The Emigrant's Easy Chair; I Love God and Little Children; Preaching in the Wilderness; To One Departed; The Angel in the way; Spiritual Progress; Will you carry me back; Letters from Abroad; The Bible; Wisdom; The Tea Party; Looks and Character of Christ; The Editor's Table.

☞ Godey's Lady's Book for November contains a fine steel engraving called A Contrast.—It is a fine picture and quite suggestive.—Fashion plate of splendid Fall Fashions.—A new volume begins with January, 1857. Louis A. Godey, publisher, Philadelphia—one of the most exact and punctual of publishers.

DEAD MAN FOUND IN GOFFSTOWN WOODS.—Yesterday the dead body of a man was found in the edge of the woods of Plumer Hadley's land in Goffstown, within a few rods of the town of Weare, about ten miles from Manchester; the nearest house to the spot where it was found being that of Marden Emerson, of Weare. The flesh had dropped from the face, and gave indications that the man had been dead several weeks. His hair was gray, and he was a man beyond the middle age of life. Following the common law that a dead body found under such circumstances cannot be touched until the Coroner comes, the people in the neighborhood did not examine his pockets or take steps to ascertain his name until this morning, when they came for the Coroner. The Coroner would not go, as the pay the law allows for such services would not pay for a horse to go there. The Selectmen of the town will see to his burial, and report the facts as found. We have heard of no missing man from this section. —Manchester Mirror, 10th.

The Manchester Union says it bore no marks of violence, and nothing by which it could be identified.

ASSOCIATIONS IN N. H.—The Piscataqua Association will meet in Kingston, on Tuesday, October 21st, at 12 o'clock, M.—Derry Association, same day and hour, at Derry.—Harmony Association, same day at 11 o'clock, at North Wolfboro'.—Hollis Association on the last Tuesday in Oct. at 11 o'clock, at Amherst.

AN AUSTRIAN KNOW-NOTHING REBUKED.—A characteristic anecdote of the Austrian Emperor is related in Berlin. At the recent meeting of the Emperor and the King of Prussia at Toplitz, the latter presented to the Austrian monarch, among other eminent personages, Alexander von Humboldt, whereupon Francis Joseph, in a drawling tone, inquired of his "royal cousin," "Who is this Humboldt?" The Prussian King, incensed at this specimen of Hapsburg imbecility, replied, emphasizing the words, "He is the greatest man since the flood."

A NEW DODGE.—The Springfield Republican states that a man has recently called at a number of residences in that city, offering for sale a wash for polishing silver ware. He persists in giving ocular proof of its merits, and will take the key from the hall door and apply the wash to the upper part, holding the other end awkwardly but firmly in his hand. On one occasion the singularity of his manipulations excited suspicion, and on examination the key was found to be covered with a sort of paste or putty, which showed beyond doubt that the offer of the wash and its subsequent application was only a pretext for getting an impression of the door key for future use.

AN ANSWER.

A short time since, we published a letter of enquiry from Mr. J. B. Palmer of Concord, N. H., to Judge Wick, P. M. of Indianapolis, Ind.—The design of that letter was to get some answer unfavorable to Rev. E. W. Jackson, out of which political capital might be made. Below, we give a copy of the answer, which is a complete extinguisher on that "brief candle." The answer comes from one of the principal temperance men in Indiana, who was also one of Mr. Jackson's employers there.

INDIANAPOLIS, Oct. 8, 1856.

Mr. J. B. Palmer: Dear Sir:—Your favor to our Post Master, Judge Wick, was handed to me by Mr. John Ratty to answer. The reasons being, that during Mr. E. W. Jackson's residence here, I was in constant intercourse with him, he being in the employ of the State Temperance Committee, of which I was a member. I will now answer your inquiries.

Rev. E. W. Jackson came to this place early in the spring of 1854, and was employed by the State Committee on Temperance to assist in the political canvass of the year. He remained several months in the employ of the Committee, and left at his own request, having offers which he considered more advantageous to himself.

During Mr. Jackson's stay here, he managed, to a great extent, the financial matters of the Committee, and to their entire satisfaction. He delivered many addresses on Temperance, and preached several sermons in our Churches, to the entire satisfaction of both Temperance men and Church members. Indeed, so far as I am informed, nothing transpired while here to show Mr. Jackson to be anything but a Christian and a gentleman.

Yours, truly, WM. HANNAMAN.

SAUCE FOR THE GOOSE, &c.—The Rock Islander, (Ill.) asserts it as a fact, that among a band of Mormons who recently passed through that place, on their way to Salt Lake, was a woman having no less than four husbands; she contending that she was just as much entitled to a plurality of husbands, provided they were all good saints, as a man was to an extra number of wives. Certainly. "It is a poor rule that won't work both ways."

EXULTATION OF THE DEMOCRACY.—New York, Oct. 15.—A salute of one hundred guns was fired in the Park this evening by the democrats, in honor of the result in Pennsylvania.

Captain Rynders and his friends celebrated the imaginary democratic victory in Pennsylvania, this evening, by firing guns in the Park, and by parading the streets with a large transparency, upon which is printed the words "Have you heard from Pennsylvania?" It may fairly be presumed that the Captain has not yet heard from that State.

The Committee, in arranging the programme for their third Course of Lectures, have determined to invite only lecturers of decided merit; and, believing that in a course of popular lectures instruction should be blended with amusement, they have decided to introduce a NEW FEATURE, by connecting with the usual series upon miscellaneous topics, a short SCIENTIFIC COURSE; and have therefore secured the services of Messrs. Whittaker and Sprague, whose lectures are appropriately illustrated, and of the most entertaining character. It is believed that the course of lectures before this Association the coming season, will surpass in point of interest and variety, as it certainly will in regard to the expense incurred, any ever before given in this city.

"The Greatest Book of the Age!"

History United States,

From the earliest Period to the Present Time.

BY J. A. SPENCER, D. D.,

Member of the New York Historical Society, Membre de la Societe Orientale de France, author of "Egypt and the Holy Land," etc., etc

THIS National History, written by an accomplished American author, and copiously and beautifully embellished by American artists, (among whom are Leutze, Weir, Vanderlyn, Powell, Chapman, Chappell and Oertel,) commends itself by its sterling merit to the favorable consideration of the American public.

No pains or expense have been spared to render this work worthy of being in every respect hailed as a Book for the American People.

Every Public Institution of our country, every Family—every citizen should possess such a National Work, that he may con over its instructive records, and kindle hispatriotism at its spirit stirring narrative; and point to its exhibition of genius and skill, with those feelings of generous enthusiasm, which such a production of native talent cannot fail to awaken in the heart of every true American.

The work is now in course of publication in semi-monthly parts, price Mwenty-five cents each, delivered at the Subscriber's residence or sent by mail postage free. Subscribers' names respectfully solicited, and all letters and inquiries promptly replied to by the Publishers

LOCAL.

House Breaking.—On Wednesday night, the house of Mr. Enos Gray on Pickering street, in this city, was entered by an unknown man. Mr. G. was not at home; and his wife, who slept on the lower floor, was awakened, and astonished to see a man rummaging over her bureau—on which was standing a candle, lighted, which she left at the other end of the room. She first thought it was her son, and asked him what he wanted; but soon discovering her mistake, she called for her son, who slept up stairs. In spite of the advice of the stranger, not to be afraid or make a noise—Mrs. Gray "kept on calling;" but before her son came down, the fellow left. He entered the house by unhasping the back door with a stick, and coolly closed behind him the door of the room he was found in.

Several of the Vandalia's crew had been boarding at this house; and this chap doubtless wished to handle some of their hard-earned gold. But he didn't get a thing, so far as is known—even some silver change lying on the bureau was not touched. Mrs. G. thinks she could identify the fellow—who was rather a thin man with light whiskers.

☞ In Portsmouth and, we presume, elsewhere, on Thursday morning, handbills from Boston, were freely distribited, giving as the "Latest News: "Philadelphhla all right—Democratic Majority 20,000—Good for 50,000 in November—Buchanan sure to be elected President." Fremont stock depreciated considerably—but rose fully to par again, on the receipt of Thursday morning's news.

☞ Hon. John Van Buren arrived in Greenland on Wednesday night, where he is the guest of Chas. W. March, Esq., and to-day addresses the Democracy at Exeter.

☞ By the programme for the Mercantile Library Association lectures the coming season, which we publish to-day, we observe the opening lecture is to be given on Thursday evening Nov. 13.—after the Presidential election, and when people will probably be able to think of something besides politics, which will certainly not be the case for a couple of weeks to come.

☞ The Great Falls Advertiser says, "The Dover Point Ferry is a very safe and convenient route for reaching 'Old Strawberry Bank.' The boat is commanded by Capt. William Card, who is a trustworthy and experienced man."

☞ We had designed to receive by telegraph, Wednesday night, all the election returns received in Boston—but through a misunderstanding of our gentlemanly operator here, his office was closed too early for us.

☞—The Weekly Chronicle & Phenix, for Saturday, Oct. 17th,—may be had at our Office this morning. Besides the news of the week, it contains an account of the Street Decorations on the occasion of the late Printing Centennial Celebration, and the letters, &c. read at the Dinner.—A good number to send to friends abroad. Only $1,00 per year—3 cents per copy.

☞ We shall publish to-morrow, in full, the Oration of Rev. Dr. Peabody, at the late Centennial Celebration in this city. Also the volunteer toasts, &c., made at the Dinner—to complete our report of that glorious festival. Copies of our Daily may be had at the office—2 cts. each.

Robbery of a Boston Man.—Mr. John Murray of Boston, innholder, reports that he was robbed of $475, on Monday night, at the Franklin House, Portsmouth, N. H. His room was entered by false keys, and chloroform administered, as he thinks, from the sensation experienced the following morning. It is a serious loss to Mr. Murray, who is a hard-working, industrious man. The proprietors of the hotel have offered a handsome reward for the detection of the party.—Boston Traveller.

We have seen no such offer of a reward, and have not heard of any such robbery.—It must relate to some Franklin House elsewhere, or it is an imposition.

The Shadow on the Pillow.—The following incident was communicated by Sir John M'Neill: "A Highland soldier had his arm so severely wounded that it was about to be amputated, when Miss Nightingale requested the operation delayed, as she thought that under careful nursing the arm might be preserved. By her unremitting care this was accomplished, and the poor soldier, on being asked what he felt towards his preserver, said that the only mode he had of giving vent to his feelings, was by kissing her shadow when it fell on his pillow, as she passed through the ward on her nightly visit."

The Kansas Aid Committee of New York have received a contribution of $100 from Virginia.

PENNSYLVANIA ELECTION.

A despatch from well-informed parties in Philadelphia, dated at 8 o'clock Oct. 15 states that it is certain the republicans have carried the State by from 2,000 to 5,000 majority.

8 P. M.—The latest returns indicate that the Unionists have carried the State.—Seventeen counties are yet to be heard from, which gave 4,000 fusion majority last year.

10.30 P. M.—Reports are received from all but 12 counties in the State. The vote stands as follows:—

Democrats, 28,406. Union, 33,025.

The counties to come in are, Adams, Blair, Butler, Elk, Fayette, Forest, Greene, Jefferson, Juniata, McKeon, Potter, Venango, and Warren. Last year they gave 3,000 fusion majority.

The Fillmore and Republican head-quarters are thronged. Speeches and processions are the order of the evening. The excitement is immense.

Galusha A. Grow (Fremont Representative, 11th district,) is re-elected by a larger vote than when he ran alone. Grow's majority in Tioga Co. is trom 2,500 to 3,000.

Erie Co. 2,500 Union maj. Indian Co. 2,000 Union maj. Huntington Co. 195 Union maj.

Midnight.—The democrats are still confident, and claim that they have carried the State.

Easton, Pa., Oct. 15.—Bradford Co. gives a Union majority of 4,000. [This report comes via Easton and Philadelphia, and is presumed to be correct.]

Franklin Co. 125 opposition majority; Fulton Co. 250 dem. majority; Somerset Co. about 800 opposition; Cambria Co. about 1,300 dem.

Pittsburg, Oct. 15.—Alleghany Co. (one district to hear from) 4267 Union majority. The district to be heard from is Findlay, which gave Pollock 34 majority.

The Elections—Pennsylvania.—Philadelphia, 16th.—The Pennsylvanian, (Buchanan organ) claims a Democratic majority in the State of 4000, which they make out by large deductions from Republican majorities reported by especial despatches. They claim 1300 Dem. majority in Clarion County, which was yesterday reported to have given 300 majority for the opposition. If these assertions are well founded, the vote will be very close, and can be decided only by the official count. The prospects of the Union ticket are materlally improved by the corrected returns. Susquehannah 1000 opp. majority; Potter county 475; Butler county 450; and Huntington 500, instead of 250, as reported yesterday.

Adams county gives the Democratic ticket 40 maj; Greene county 1100.

New York, 16th.—The Republicans of Maryland have completed their Electoral ticket. The Electors are Francis P. Blair and Wm. Pinckney Ewing.

☞ A despatch received last evening, in this city, from John W. Forney, dated Philadelphia, Oct. 16, 3 o'clock, P. M. is as follows:

The Democrats are confident that they have carried the State by from three to five thousand majority. Prospects each hour increasing.

Ohio Election.—Returns from 45 counties in the State show a republican majority of from 25,000 to 30,000.

Five democratic Congressmen are probably elected, and the democrats are claiming 9.

Indiana.—The returns from Indiana are imperfect, and the victory is disputed by democrats and republicans.

A dispatch from Indianapolis, Oct. 15, says:—The returns from the State come in slowly, but they indicate a majority for Willard of 5000. The democrats claim they have elected a majority of the Congressmen. The Republicans, however, still insist that they have carried the State.

South Carolina Election.—Charleston, Oct. 15.—The contest for Congress between Gadsden, dem., and Niles, American, is quite close, and the result is in doubt. In the other districts the present members have been elected.

Mr. Niles is elected to Congress in the Charleston district over Mr. Gadsden.

Savannah, Oct. 14.—Municipal Election.—The whole Democratic Municipal ticket has been elected. The mayor's majority over the American candidate was 137.

Florida Election.—Additional returns from Florida indicate that the Democrts have carried the State by 500 majority.

Washington, Oct. 15.—The military and a large number of the citizens, with the Marine Band, gathered to-night to receive the President. As the cars approached, a salute was fired, amid premature huzzas of welcome. A Committee of Arrangements was to receive the President, who, however, did not arrive, for the reason, as stated by the Mayor of Washington, that the water off Annapolis was so that he could not land from the steamer Wabash.

J. W. Moses would call the attention of his friends, customers, and the Public in general to the fact, that he has in his store, at No. 8 Market street, a good assortment of Broadcloths, Pilot and Beaver Cloths, plain and fancy Doeskins and Cassimeres, Black and fancy Velvets, plain and figured Satins and Grenadin Vestings, &c., which he will make to order or sell either with or without cutting or making, at fair prices.

He has a large assortment of furnishing Goods, consisting of Shirts, Collars, Cravats, Suspenders, Handkerchiefs, Under-Shirts and Drawers, &c., &c.

All Garments made by him warranted to be as good as can be had in this city. The above are new Goods, having been selected with care from large Stocks in Boston, and just received. September 26, is3w

Bronchitis and Cough, which so often terminate fatally in our northern latitudes, are easily arrested in a majority of cases if recourse is had to the Wild Cherry preparation of Dr. Wistar. Abundant evidence of this fact has been given.

From the Boston Saturday Evening Gazette.

A Perfumed Breath.—What lady or gentleman would remain under the curse of a disagreeable breath, when using the "Balm of a Thousand Flowers" as a dentifrice would not only render it sweet, but leave the teeth white as albaster? Many persons do not know their breath is bad, and the subject is so delicate, their friends will never mention it. Pour a single drop of the "Balm" on your tooth-brush and wash the teeth night and morning. A fifty cent bottle will last a year.

A Beautiful Complexion may easily be acquired by using the "Balm of a Thousand Flowers." It will remove tan, pimples and freckles from the skin, leaving it of a soft and roseate hue. Wet a towel, pour on two or three drops, and wash the face night and morning

Shaving Made Easy.—Wet your shaving brush in either warm or cold water, pour on two or three drops of "Balm of a Thousand Flowers," rub the beard well and it will make a beautiful soft lather, much facilitating the operation of shaving. Price only 50 cents.

FREMONT, THE MUSTANG CANDIDATE.

If Col. Fremont had as many friends as the Mustang Liniment, the opposition could not draw a corporal's guard. Mr. Fremont remarked in his dispatches to President Fillmore, while transporting horses and cattle over the plains of Mexico, "That if the Government would send him on a liberal supply of Mustang Liniment, it would save 25 per cent. of his losses." This is very important for all Farmers and Liverymen to know. The Mustang Liniment is a wonderful article for man or beast. It should always be used for Sores, Swellings, Stiff Joints, Burns, Bruises, Rheumatic Pains, &c., and for Galds, Sprains, Spavins, Ringbone, &c., upon horses.—Beware of Imitations. The Mustang is sold by all respectable dealers everywhere.

HAYDEN'S IMPROVED VEGETABLE PURGATIVE PILLS.

NOTICES FROM THE PRESS.

From the Boston Traveller, Aug. 22, 1848.

Dr. Hayden's Pills.—Mr. Slade, the agent for Dr. Wm R. Hayden's Improved Vegetable Purgative Pills, in Rockingham Co., N. H., informs us that within six weeks past he has sold three thousand boxes of Dr. Hayden's Pills, mostly at retail. Many of them, he says, have been used for the bowel complaint, now so prevalent, with the most complete success, and in no case which has come to his knowledge have they failed to effect a speedy cure.

WOOD'S HAIR DYE.—This admirable article is rapidly improving the hair. No article of a similar kind, new before the public, enjoys a better reputation as a restorative and invigorating hair tonic. Its peculiar chemical qualities have a beneficial effect upon the growth and character of the hair, giving a silky and glossy texture to that which was formerly of a coarse and dry nature. It has, also, we understand, a tendency to preserve the youthful color of the hair, and destroying or counteracting the effects of age. With such recommendations in its favor, we hardly perceive how any lady or gentleman should be without so valuable an adjunct to their toilet. The article may be had of the Druggists throughout the country.—[Missouri Democrat.

HEALTH AND STRENGTH.

☞ Dr. S. O. RICHARDSON'S SHERRY WINE BITTERS is the best Medicine ever used for Summer Complaints. It has been more liberally patronized than any other ever established in this country. It is the same Richardson's Bitters which has restored so many invalids to health throughout New England during the past thirty years.

N. B.—Beware of imitations called Sherry Wine Bitters. The genuine have a fac simile of my signature upon the outer envelope. For sale by Druggists everywhere, and at my office, No. 51 Hanover St., Boston. aus*6m

THE GREAT DISCOVERY.

Many years ago, Doctor Burleigh Smart, of Kennebunk, Me., discovered that a simple article never before used as a medicine, was a never failing cure for coughs of every description, and an excellent blood purifier. By its use in his private practice, he acquired the reputation of being the best physician in New England, for all diseases of the lungs. After his death, Messrs. Shaw & Clark of Biddeford, Me., obtained a Copy Right from Government, for its exclusive manufacture, and now have it carefully prepared strictly according to the original recipe. There is no cough that it will not cure, unless the patient is past all human aid before commencing its use! It is called "Doctor Burleigh Smart's Cough Medicine," and is for sale by all apothecaries. au27 1uTh&S 6m.

WISTAR'S BALSAM OF WILD CHERRY.

Proofs of the great superiority of Dr. Wistar's Balsam pour in from all parts of the country.

Oxford, New Haven Co., Conn., Jan. 4.

Dear Sir:—Having witnessed the effects of Wistar's Balsam of Wild Cherry, in the case of one of my neighbors, who has been for several years seriously afflicted with the phthisic, general pulmonary weakness, bleeding of the lungs, etc., I have been induced to ask you to send me some of the medicine. My neighbor, referred to above, lately had a violent attack of bleeding at the lungs, and distress in breathing. He tried a bottle of the Wild Cherry, which has produced a most salutary and favorable effect. At his instance, and several others laboring under like complaints, I have been induced to make this request. By attending to the above immediately, you will oblige the afflicted, and also

Yours, HENRY DUNHAM.

None genuine unless signed I. BUTTS on the wrapper.

Great American and Foreign Office

For Securing Patents for Inventions.

Agency for business with U.S. Patent Office, Washington.

R. H. EDDY,

No. 70 State st, oppo. Kilby st, Boston.

IMPORTANT INFORMATION TO INVENTORS. The Subscriber (late Agent of the U. S. Patent Office, under the Act of 1837) determined to present advantages in applying for Patents superior to those offered inventors by others, has made arrangements whereby on applications prepared and conducted by him, THIRTY DOLLARS (instead of twenty, as paid back by others, will be remitted by him in case of failure to obtain a patent, and the withdrawal thereof by him within thirty days after the rejection.

This Agency is not only the largest in New England, but through it inventors have advantages for securing patents, or ascertaining the patentability of inventions, unsurpassed by, if not immeasurably superior to, any which can be offered them elsewhere. The testimonials below given prove that none is MORE SUCCESSFUL AT THE PATENT OFFICE than the subscriber; and as SUCCESS IS THE BEST PROOF OF ADVANTAGES AND ABILITY, he would add that he has abundant reason to believe, and can prove, that at no other office of the kind are the charges for professional services so moderate—The immense experience of the subscriber during twenty years past, has enabled him to accumulate a vast collection of specifications and official decisions relative to patents. These, besides his extensive library of legal and mechanical works, and full accounts of patents granted in the United States and Europe, render him able, beyond question, to offer superior facilities for obtaining patents.

Caveats, Specifications, Assignments, and all Papers and Drawings necessary to the procural of patents in this and foreign countries prepared and advice rendered on legal and scientific matters respecting inventions, or infringement of patents. All necessity of a journey to Washington to procure a patent, and the usual great delay there, are here saved inventors.

Copies of claims of any patent furnished for one dollar. Assignments recorded at Washington. Patents secured in Great Britian, France and other foreign countries, through Agents of the highest respectability. R. H. EDDY.

Solicitor of Patents.

Testimonials.

"During the time I occupied the office of Commissioner of Patents, R. H. Eddy, Esq., of Boston, did business at the Patent Office, as Solicitor of Patents. There were few, if any persons acting in that capacity, who had so much business before the Patent office; and there were none who conducted it with more skill, fidelity, and success. I regard Mr Eddy as one of the best informed and most skillful Patent Solicitors in the United States, and have no hesitation in a caring inventors that they cannot employ a person more competent and trustworthy, and more capable of putting their application in a form to secure for them an early and favorable consideration at the Patent Office.

EDMUND BURKE,

Late Commissioner of Patents."

From the present Commissioner.

AUGUST 17, 1855.—During the time I have held the Office of Commissioner of Patents, R. H. Eddy, Esq., of Boston, has been extensively engaged in the transaction of business with the office, as a Solicitor. He is thoroughly acquainted with the law, and the rules of practice of the Office. I regard him as one of the most capable and successful practitioners with whom I have had official intercourse.

CHAS. MASON,

Commissioner of Patents.

TREMONT MILLS.

Teas, Coffees, Chocolates, Cocoas, Spices, &c.

WHOLESALE,—AND ALSO IN SMALL PACKAGES.

E. E. DYER & CO.

(Sign of the Chinaman grinding coffee,)

141 Washington St., Boston,

SUPPLY the best, finest and purest articles, at lowest Cash prices. Their Stock consists of Teas, Coffees, Chocolates, Allspices, Pepper, Mustard, Ginger, Cayenne Pepper, Nutmegs, Cinnamon, Cloves, Cream Tartar; Taraxacum, or Prepared Dandelion Root, &c., &c.

Having every facility for manufacturing and preparing the several articles named, the public may rely upon having them pure and genuine, as they are put up carefully, and bear our name and label, "TREMONT MILLS, E. E. DYER & CO."

To give consumers some idea of our sales, we annex the following scale of prices, viz:

5 lb. Souchong Tea,	1.50	5 lb. Mocha Coffee,	1.00
5 lb. Oolong "	1.75	5 lb. Java "	1.00
5 lb Y. Hyson "	2.25	5 lb. good "	1.00

☞ The Spices are put up in ¼ and ½ lb. tin cases, expressly for family use, and are warranted to be strictly a pure article, and only need a trial to establish them in public favor.

SPANISH COFFEE.—We would call the attention of customers and dealers to our Spanish Coffee, as an article which is highly esteemed, and gives the greatest satisfaction. It is prepared with particular care, and by a peculiar process in roasting, one pound of this coffee, it is believed, is equal to 1¼ lb. of any other.

DANDELION COFFEE.—This article is carefully prepared at our Mills, and put up in packages having our trade mark, and may be relied upon as the best and most approved mixture of dandelion and coffee.

TARAXACUM, or Prepared Dandelion Root.—This article is prepared and roasted at our Mills, is retailed by Family Grocers generally in city and country, and bearing our trade mark, "Chinaman grinding coffee," may be relied upon as the GENUINE ARTICLE. The proportion used is about one-half the quantity of coffee. The price is 20 cents per pound, and it is warranted to be the same as that which has been sold for fifty cents a pound by Druggists.

The medical properties of Dandelion are well known, and held in high estimation by all who use it. This being a preparation of the root, with all its medicinal virtues retained, can be mixed with coffee or not, as best suits the taste, and will be found cheap and economical as a family beverage, one pound of which being nearly equal to two pounds of coffee. It is prescribed by many eminent physicians to invalids, children and aged persons, as a nutritious beverage, and as a remedy for Dyspepsia, Bilious affections, &c.

☞ Be careful to observe that all our Coffees have our trade mark, "Chinaman grinding coffee."

☞ To Grocers and Dealers a liberal discount is made, enabling them to supply their customers at the same low rate.

☞ TO CASH PURCHASERS.—Our object being to secure large sales at small profits, we offer inducements which cannot be afforded by those who do business on the credit system; and we confidently invite an examination of the quality of our stock and our prices, as compared with those of any other house.

MORNING CHRONICLE.

$4 PER YEAR, IN ADV. — INDEPENDENT ALWAYS. — NEUTRAL, NEVER. — SINGLE COPY 2 CENTS.

BY FRANK W. MILLER. — PORTSMOUTH, N. H., SATURDAY, OCT. 18, 1856. — VOLUME 9. NO. 69.

ADDRESS
OF REV. DR. PEABODY,

ON THE OCCASION OF THE Centennial Anniversary of the introduction of the Art of Printing into New Hampshire, Oct. 6, 1856.

AT PORTSMOUTH.

The invention of printing by movable types marks an era, the second in importance in the world's annals. It is the true dividing line between ancient and modern history; for from the earliest times down to that epoch, there presented themselves in the history of the nations phenomena, which have not since recurred and can never recur again. My proposed limits, which are fittingly narrowed by the numerous and varied arrangements for this celebration, will permit me to refer to but two of the historical changes, which our art has inaugurated.

In the first place, it has rendered the lapse of any nation into barbarism impossible. Prior to the fifteenth century such a reverse of condition was a part of the established order of events. Egypt, Persia, Greece, Rome, the Saracen empire, were successively the seats of literature and of science, and with each the loss of power was followed by the decline of civilization, and the posterity of nations that had given light to the world sank into the lowest depths of rudeness and ignorance. Book-making was too costly an art for a conquered and depressed people. Books at the best were in the hands of but a select few. Not one in a hundred had access to them, or even the ability to read them. The possession of a few rolls of papyrus or parchment was a mark of distinguished rank or superior wealth. Only the heads of the state, or men occupying a position of ease and affluence could command in their own right the means of intellectual culture. Now these classes of men were always the first sufferers by invasion or revolution. They perished by the sword, or were the victims of outlawry and confiscation, or were driven to eat the bitter bread of exile. And their knowledge perished with them. The mass of the people had never had any hold upon it, and of course could not perpetuate it. The intelligence of the great body of the civilized nations of antiquity was created and sustained by permanent monuments of art, by public games, festivals and recitations, by the rostrum, the forum and the theatre. But the force that subdued or subverted an empire in most instances destroyed or defaced the cherished monuments of earlier times, and always suppressed those popular gatherings, whence light was diffused, thought put in motion, mind stimulated into activity, youth nurtured by tradition, song and eloquence.

For the last four centuries, the press has done immeasurably more than all other means combined, for the culture of the human race. Books have been so easily and cheaply multiplied, that no force could arrest their circulation, and no depression sink a people below their reach. Within this period nation after nation has declined in all the elements of power and greatness, has been ravaged by conquering armies, torn piecemeal by greedy neighbors, ground beneath the heel of relentless despotism. Poland and Hungary, Italy, Spain and Portugal have for many generations been in a condition, which in earlier ages would have crushed out every vestige of former culture and refinement. Yet in each of these countries there has been a steady progress of education and growth of intellect; and while the nations are, a part of them too abject to strike a blow for freedom, and a part of them writhing in their chains like the giants of ancient fable under the weight of piled up mountains, there is not one of them, in which the standard of popular intelligence has not been greatly elevated,—not one of them, in which there is not growing up that power of enlarged, cultivated and active mind, before which thrones quake and tyrants tremble,—not one of them, in which knowledge embodied in forms of utility is not enhancing domestic comfort and diffusing the elegant arts of social life.

In the early ages, the work of genius and philosophy was like filling up the Slough of Despond, or climbing a mountain of ice, or painting on wet glass, or writing on wind-tossed sand. All that was wrought needed to be wrought over afresh for the dregs thrown to the top in the next ebullition of the political caldron, or for some hardy, stolid horde of successful invaders. But the printed word, which has life in itself, has undying life and penetrating power. It diffuses itself like the seed in the thistle down. It is wafted by every wind, floats on every stream, and alights in every open furrow of receptive soil.

The second general view which I proposed to offer indicates a peculiar appropriateness in our holding a festival like the present on this side of the Atlantic. The art of printing is the only bridge, over which civilization, intelligence and culture have ever been, or can be transferred from a mother country to a distant colony. As I have said, books in manuscript, from the nature of the case, could be directly influential in enlightening only a very small proportion of any people. The civilized nations of antiquity were nurtured, more than by all things else, by the works of art, taste and genius—the slow growth of ages—that covered their soil. Thus the temples and statues, the friezes and colonnades, the markets and groves of Athens, with the traditions that hallowed them, and the crowding reminiscences that clustered around them, were the books of the Athenian populace, the educators of the Athenian mind, and transmitted at once canons of taste, legendary lore, poetical imagery, and such authentic memories of the past as expounded the present and lifted the veil from the future. No people could tread such a soil, and live in daily conversance with such an omnipresent and exuberant wealth of beauty, and not be full of light. But suppose an Athenian colony to have been led to some new seat of empire,—in the second generation there could have remained hardly a vestige of Athenian culture. The transplanted race must have lapsed into almost savage ignorance and boorishness, and have worked its way only by tardy and painful steps back toward the condition of the parent city. Not till forests had been reclaimed and deserts made fertile, the needs of the animal nature provided for, and surrounding enemies subdued and crippled, could art have sprung up and forms of beauty risen; and ages must have elapsed, before the growing colony could have had its streets filled, its hills crowned, its groves made eloquent by such monuments of genius as could mould, refine and elevate the popular mind.

History gives us numerous examples of this process. The ancient Israelites emigrated from Egypt, then the world's centre of civilization. The generation that went out with Moses were skilled in art, and the tabernacle erected in the wilderness can hardly have been surpassed in symmetry, in rich workmanship, in luxurious ornament and gorgeous furniture, by any shrine upon the earth. But the history of the race under Joshua and the Judges, Saul and David, shows that they sank into a condition hardly superior to that of the Aborigines of North America. Not only the elegant, but the useful arts almost perished. The style of manners became revoltingly coarse; domestic life was deformed and imbruted; and we find abundant proof that the nation descended to the very lowest grade, before it had accumulated the requisite materials, and won from the fierce native tribes the needed space and quietness, to construct the new civilization, which gave the earliest tokens of its existence in the reign of Solomon.

The Greek colonies were planted for the most part in regions previously settled and civilized; but, wherever they established themselves, they took the tone of their civilization and culture from the surroundings of their new, rather than from the influences of their native home: that is, their minds and manners were formed, not by the few manuscripts which they might have taken with them from Greece, but by the monuments of art and genius among which they pitched their tents. Where colonies from the most cultivated of the Grecian states were planted on barbarous or unoccupied soil, we find reason to believe that none of their liberal nurture survived the generation which carried it into exile.

Had not the art of printing preceded the discovery of America, I doubt whether there would have been at this moment on our whole continent a people that could take its place among civilized nations. The needs and straitnesses of forest life and of savage warfare, the entire separation from all that could serve for example and instruction, the absence of all means for embodying and circulating the intelligence of individual immigrants, would have so rapidly deteriorated the transplanted races, that it would have taken centuries to retrieve the degradation which would have reached the lowest possible point within fifty years from the landing of any company of colonists.

But in the few choice books in the chest of every household, in the standard classical and Christian authors in the library of every minister, and above all in their Bibles, our fathers brought with them more of intellectual nurture and impulse than there was in what they could not bring,—the seeds, the germs, the patterns of all that they could not bring. The very desolation that surrounded them, the long, dreary winters on these northern shores, the sparse population, the intervening perils from forest, flood and tomahawk that impeded social intercourse, made them pre-eminently a reading and a studious race, and created a loftier standard of general culture than had been reached or dreamed of in the older nations. Thus there was no era of intellectual decline and degradation; and, during the first century of New England, while her people at large were more highly educated than any other people on the face of the earth, her scholars, trained in her infant university, could measure lances on equal terms in classical and theological discussion with the greatest minds in the old world. To the printing press then, more than to all things else, is America indebted for her name and place among the nations. To the printing press, I say, rather than to the Bible; for, while it was the Bible that made her great, it was the press alone that gave her the Bible. Without the press few copies of the sacred Word would ever have crossed the Atlantic, and those few would have been lost or have fallen in pieces, before copyists to replace them could have been spared from the axe, the plough and the musket.

This consideration illustrates the providential fitness and fullness of the times when the great invention made its appearance. It was an age of universal awakening. Art was shaking off her slumber in Italy. Science, in Germany, had begun to question ancestral errors and to probe inveterate falsities. Classical learning was quickening thousands of young minds in the great universities of England and the Continent. The morning stars of the Reformation were growing dim in the brightness of its day-dawn. Maritime enterprise was already saying to the North, "Give up," and to the South, "Keep not back," and if there was a new hemisphere yet to be revealed, the epoch was at hand when it could remain no longer hidden. At this juncture our art had its birth,—at the very time when aroused and pregnant intellect could employ its full capacity and assimilate its entire product, and when a continent not yet trodden by civilized man needed this alone, to make it the procreant cradle, and not the devouring grave, of civilization.

Unlike other arts, that of printing had its birth in a single mind, and the new era to which it gives date should rightfully bear the sole name of Gutenberg. Great inventions have generally had a double parentage. A mind of large scope and daring enterprise has suggested the fertilizing idea, which has been caught up and embodied by some cunning hand wielded by an inferior, yet a practical intellect. And the controversy as to the honor of the invention, often long and bitter, has generally been settled in favor of the producing hand and not of the devising mind, as by our municipal law the child follows the ortunes of the mother, not of the father.

It is also worthy of commemoration that this art, whose noblest achievement is the diffusion of the Divine Word, whose crowning triumph will be the Christian redemption of our fallen humanity, had its origin in religious zeal. The one problem which the youthful Gutenberg set himself to solve was: How can the Bible be so multiplied and cheapened that every man who knows letters may read it? With this problem on his mind and his heart, he started from his native city, on foot and alone, to explore the resources of existing art, if haply there might be some process that could be converted to this noblest of uses. He sojourned for awhile at Haarlem, and there the invention burst upon him, by what fools call chance, and wise men Providence. He formed an acquaintance with the sexton of the cathedral, who was desperately in love, and, lover-like, was wont to beguile his lonely hours by carving his own name and that which he hoped to blend with his own, in relief, on little blocks of willow, stripped of the bark, and still reeking with the sap. One day the poor sexton wrapped his work in a piece of parchment. The next day he found the letters reproduced on the parchment, in reverse, but in perfect contour, and in a rich brown tint. He then engraved other like letters on a wooden trencher, smeared them with ink, and took from them a perfect proof,—the first proof ever pulled. He showed this to his friend, who inked the trencher, placed it under a screw,—the earliest printing press, and took from it a sharply defined and clear impression.

The very next day Gutenberg repaired to Strasburg to meditate on what he had seen and done. There was the press, and he had distinct prescience of its unbounded capacities. But what an endless and hopeless toil to carve by hand on a series of wooden blocks the entire Bible! Yet might not the letters be separated, and each be made to perform repeated and multitudinous service? He constructed his own tools, made single wooden letters, a whole alphabet of them, bored a small aperture in each, and strung them together like beads on a chaplet. He tied his little form tight and strong,—inked it well,—in default of a screw, his own weight this time was the press,—and the impression revealed to him the glorious future, which was to make him the father of a new and unending era.

That night, Gutenberg fell asleep, gently murmuring, "I am immortal." In his dream two unknown voices of different tones seemed to address themselves alternately to his soul. Said the first: "Rejoice, John; for thou art immortal. Thy discovery will give everlasting life to genius, and grateful genius shall make thy fame eternal." Said the other voice: "Yes, John, thou art immortal, but at what a fearful cost! Man is oftener perverse than wise and good. He will profane thy gift. By thy means will madness, misfortune and crime come upon all men and all ages; and, by lending arms to the wicked, dost not thou share in their guilt?" "I awoke," said he, "in an agony of doubt. I hesitated for a moment, but I reflected"—let me beg emphatic heed to his reflection, which shows that our art derived its parentage from one of the noblest of the children of men, and might furnish the fittest motto for the free press of a free country—"I reflected that the gifts of God, though sometimes dangerous, were never evil, and that giving another instrument to reason and to the glorious liberty of man, was opening a wider field to intellect and virtue, both Divine."

Gutenberg lived to complete his invention, even to the casting of metallic types in moulds. The forms from which he printed his earliest books were set up, fastened, inked and worked in substantially the same way in which they still are, except where steam is made to do the press-work; and typography had attained before his death as high a standard of artistical perfectness and beauty, as it ever reaches in our own day, except in the most costly ornamental works. We have good ground for honest pride in our first printer. His age saw no man of keener intellect, purer life or more philanthropic spirit. A noble by birth he inherited an ample patrimony. He expended his whole estate upon his art, and, dying at the age of sixty-nine, he had nothing to bequeath to his sister but certain unsold copies of his books.

I cannot attempt here even a sketch of the history of printing in Europe; but you must permit me to refer to some of those illustrious families that have united to this profession such gifts of mind and culture as to ensure their celebrity for centuries to come. The Aldi, father, son and grandson, conducted at Venice, and afterward at Rome, the printing-house that bore their name from 1488 for one hundred and nine years, producing nine hundred and eight editions, most of them of voluminous classical authors. The term Aldine is, as you know, to this day a synonyme for accuracy and beauty, and the most that their successors have done is to equal them. They were all among the first scholars of their respective times, and were the authors of some of the choicest books they printed. The eldest of the three delivered at his own house lectures on classical literature, which were resorted to by numerous students, many of them from distant lands. The second, from devotion to his art, repeatedly refused professorships in the Italian universities. The third filled successively four professorial chairs in the department of belles-lettres.

Before the close of the fifteenth century, the first of the Stephani or Stephenses established himself as a printer in Paris; and in the space of one hundred and seventy five years, seven of the name together or successively conducted the most celebrated and prolific press in France. All seven were men of various and extensive learning, and two of them, Robert and Henry, take rank among the most distinguished scholars of any age. Robert Stephens, by collation of all accessible manuscripts and authorities, produced the Greek text of the New Testament, which almost to our own times has been universally received as the most accurate, and from which our English translation was made. Henry Stephens's Greek Thesaurus or Lexicon, an Herculean labor, still after the lapse of three centuries retains its place as the most stupendous, no less than the most valuable work of the kind ever wrought, and bears about the same relation to other similar works, which the great pyramid might bear to a clay hovel near its base.

Of the Elzevirs too there were seven, at Amsterdam, Leyden and Utrecht, and their pre-eminence in Northern Europe lasted for a century from 1595. Their editions of the classics are now a choice prize, whenever a copy comes into the market. They were all men of exquisite taste, varied and extensive learning, and distinguished standing and estimation throughout the republic of letters.

The greatest printing-house in the world—beyond comparison the greatest—is that of the Messrs. Didot in Paris, which, under five successive heads, has maintained its present comparative position for more than one hundred and twenty-five years. They have all been distinguished for erudition, pure taste and noble generosity. There is something heroic, almost sublime, in their enterprises. They seem attracted rather by the magnitude of a work, than by any prospect of immediate gain. Only one among their many gigantic undertakings of the last few years has been a complete edition of all extant writings and fragments in classical Greek, with Latin translations, in sixty-six volumes, grand octavo. They have been, it is believed, the most accurate of all printers, and at one time they offered, (and it remained unclaimed,) a handsome reward for every misprint discovered in any of their editions.

But it is time that we crossed the Atlantic, and took note of the art as it has existed on our own shores. The earliest printing presses in America were set up at Mexico and Lima. It is known that there was a press in Mexico as early as 1604 and there is extant a folio History of New Spain printed there in 1606. In 1638, Rev. Mr. Glover, a dissenting clergyman, of considerable wealth, and deeply interested in the settlement of New England, embarked for Boston, with a printing press and a complete printing apparatus, designed as a gift to Harvard College. He died on the voyage, and his press, under the auspices of President Dunster who married his widow, was managed by Stephen Daye, the first American printer north of the Gulf of Mexico,—the first, and one of the poorest; for, though not a bad pressman, he was an awkward and bungling compositor and proof-reader. In 1639, he printed "The Freeman's Oath" and an Almanac. In 1640 appeared the first British American book,—"The Bay Psalm Book" with "Spiritual Songs" appended to the Psalms. The compilers aimed solely at literal translation, and disclaimed all regard to smoothness and sweetness of rhythm; for, said they, "God's altar needs not our polishings." That the disclaimer was not out of place you may perceive by the following passage from one of the "Spiritual Songs."

"Jael the Kenite, Heber's wife,
'bove women blest shall be,
Above the women in the tent
a blessed one is she.
He water ask'd, she gave him milk:
in lordly dish she fetch'd
Him butter forth: unto the nail she forth her left hand stretch'd:
"Her right hand to the workman's maul and Sisera hammered:
She pierced & struck his temples through,
and then cut off his head.
He at her feet bow'd, fell, lay down,
he at her feet bow'd where He fell: whereas he bowed down
he fell destroyed there."

The first American printer who was otherwise eminent was Benjamin Franklin. The press exhibited in the procession to-day bought by the late John Melcher of a firm in Boston, is believed on the authority of the purchaser to be that at which Franklin worked when apprenticed to his brother. Beyond this, Franklin had no connection with printing in New Hampshire; and yet it seems highly probable that he may have witnessed here the operation of the press that preceded his. When in 1763 he came to this town on a leisurely tour of inspection as Postmaster-General, he can hardly have failed to look in at the only printing office in the Province. Many years ago I learned some of the details of his visit here from the late Nathaniel Adams, who loved to quote a prediction which he then heard from Franklin's own lips, namely, that the time would come when the mail would be conveyed in a week from Philadelphia to Portsmouth. The shortest route then required eighteen days, and this prophecy was regarded by those who heard it as a unique instance, in which the enthusiasm of the sage got the better of his calm discretion.

Daniel Fowle, the hero of this day, the first printer in New Hampshire, was born at Charlestown, Massachusetts, and commenced business in Boston, near the head of King, now State street, in 1740. From 1742 to 1750 he was in partnership with Gamaliel Rogers, and was with him joint publisher of "The Independent Advertiser." Their office was on Prison Lane, now Leverett street. On dissolving his connection with Rogers, he opened a small book shop and a printing office on Ann street, near the corner of Union. In 1754 he was arrested by order of the House of Representatives, on suspicion of having printed a pamphlet entitled, "The Monster of Monsters, by Tom Thumb, Esq.," which contained severe animadversions on some of the members. Their conduct in his examination shows that some of them at least deserved the worst that could be written about them. Their demeanor was worthy of the blackest days of the Star-Chamber. His bearing was frank and manly. One of the members said to him—"You do not know when you lie." His rejoinder was—"Begging your pardon, sir, I know when I lie, and what a lie is as well as yourself." After the rudest and most insolent treatment, he was taken to the common jail, and confined in the same cell with a notorious thief, and in the next cell to a murderer awaiting execution. On the third day he was taken to the jailor's house, and told that he might go. But he refused to go. He had been confined, uncondemned by the law, and he demanded that the authority which had imprisoned should release him. He remained with the jailor three days longer, when, learning that his wife had been made seriously ill by her anxiety on his account, he returned to his house. In vain attempting to obtain satisfaction or indemnity for his illegal detention, and disgusted with the provincial government of Massachusetts, he accepted the invitation of several respectable gentlemen of New Hampshire to remove to Portsmouth; and on October 7th, 1756, he issued the first number of the "New Hampshire Gazette," on a sheet which, laid open, measures seventeen inches by ten, being somewhat more than one-sixth the size of the present weekly issue. The printer's opening address is a master-piece of its kind,—plain, direct, honest, beautifully concise, full of the spirit of rational liberty, yet emphatically deprecating the abuse of a free press to the fomenting of schisms in church and state, the corruption of public morals and the defamation of private character. No one can inspect the successive volumes of the paper under Fowle's management, without conceiving the most favorable opinion of his ability and discretion, integrity and honor, public spirit and patriotism. He continued in business here for about thirty years, for a portion of the time having a less worthy nephew of his associated with him, but for the most part assisted chiefly by his negro Primus, an excellent pressman, though ignorant of letters, who survived his master, and reached the ripe age of ninety. John Melcher and George Jerry Osborne, the former but recently with us, succeeded Fowle as printers and editors. Their successors in the Gazette are most of them living, and all of them have been familiarly known by many who hear me. Several of them have borne, and others have equally merited, important trusts under our national, state and municipal administrations. This paper is believed to be the only newspaper in the country which has had a continuous existence for a century, without a change of name.

"The Portsmouth Journal," originally "The United States Oracle of the Day," is the next oldest of our living papers, though it was preceded by several that can hardly be said to have lived. Apart from its always able publishers, the Journal has enjoyed, at various times, the editorship, avowed or virtual, of some of our most eminent citizens. Daniel Webster, it is believed, commenced in its columns his career as a political writer, and by the gladiatorship of this less conspicuous arena prepared for those feats of arms which so often held the nation breathless. In the same paper, Levi Woodbury, when on the Bench, by a series of "Lay Sermons" so far invaded the province, then more zealously guarded than now, of the clerical profession, as to call out the pen of his own pastor in reply to his ethico-theological speculations. The late Nathaniel A. Haven, conspicuous equally for the graces of the accomplished scholar and the virtues of the Christian philanthropist, was for several years the proprietor and editor of this paper. Not the least remarkable among its contributors was a former apprentice,—now with few peers and no superior as a skilful, versatile and always urbane editor, in a neighboring city,—who was wont, for the sake of practice, to write political articles for the Journal, and answer them himself in the Gazette.

This town can claim the distinction of having issued the first religious newspaper in the country, and, I am inclined to think, in the world. The editor was none other than that divine of Protean reputation, whom at least as many sects could claim as there were cities that contended for the honor of Homer's birth,—Elias Smith. The paper has not proved so fickle as its founder; but, with its name very slightly modified, and its theological position unchanged, it is now printed in Newburyport as the organ of the Christian denomination.

I am also led to believe that the earliest religious magazine published in America was "The Piscataqua Evangelical Magazine," issued here in 1805, under the auspices of the Congregational clergy of this town and its vicinity, and maintaining, for the four or five years for which it was published, a very high reputation both for literary ability and theological scholarship.

Of persons eminent in letters, who have been among the large contributors to our public prints, and others whose literary lame, here nurtured, is among the grateful memories of this festival, I cannot undertake to give so much as the chief names; for, while discrimination might seem invidious, hunger for more substantial fare than I can offer, would disperse my audience long before I could complete the catalogue even of celebrities. Fondness for print is among the besetting sins of my profession; and during the last century, Langdon, Haven, Buckminster and Alden had as much connection with the press as any clergymen of their age. Among our physicians of the last century, Hall Jackson was, as a writer no less than as a pioneer practitioner, a distinguished reputation on both sides of the Atlantic.

Among those, who could claim to be remembered at a Portsmouth literary celebration, none can take precedence, in point of genius and versatile ability, of Jonathan Mitchell Sewall, whose stirring lyrics were sung in every camp and by every patriotic fireside during the war of the Revolution, and whose longer and graver poems, so issued as to justify the Hibernianism "privately published," had they been fairly given to the world, would never have been thrown back into oblivion. One of his couplets,—

"No pent-up Utica contracts your powers,
But the whole boundless continent is yours,—"

has passed, like so many of Shakespeare's verses, into familiar proverbial use, is supposed by many to be from Addison's Cato, and is quoted by hundreds who know not its parentage. His success as an advocate was great, and might have been pre-eminent, had he not preferred the wild wood-paths pervaded by the murmurs of Helicon to the straight walks and clipped hedges of Themis. In conversational tact, grace and power he had hardly a competitor, no superior.

Our town was also, for a time, the residence of the eccentric, gifted and profligate Joseph Bartlett, whose Poems and Aphorisms had no small celebrity in their day, and who is said to have had reference to his own character in his brief and pithy epigram, recited at the funeral of John Hale:—

"God takes the good,
Too good by far to stay,
And leaves the bad,
Too bad to take away."*

Portsmouth has been the birthplace, or the place of apprenticeship, of at least a score of editors now in the active management of newspapers in every section of the country, from Maine to Alabama, and from Boston to San Francisco,—also of several eminent publishers, and of a still larger number who occupy places of high trust in distinguished publishing houses.

At this moment we feel not a little proud of the laurels won by our native poets. There is Fields, the Mæcenas among our publishers, whose delicate generosity is owned at once by world-famous authors across the Atlantic and by many a schoolboy in the place of his birth, and whose verse, pure, sweet, chaste, mellifluous, seems but the transcript of a character which to know is to esteem and love. There is our good Dame Partington, whose pen is as utterly incapable of exhausting her brain-wealth of droll conceits and merry quips, as was her English namesake's broom of throwing back the rising flood-tide from her cottage floor. There is Laighton, whose Sybilline leaves we suffer to remain ungathered, but, were they blown to us from beyond the ocean, we should long ago have had the straylings impounded in gilt morocco, and they will yet give him fame equal to his modesty and commensurate with his worth. There is Aldrich, whose brilliant prose-poem just issued more than fulfils the fair promise of his juvenile verse, and is a wonderfully rich outcropping of a golden vein of creative fancy and picturesque delineation. There is also a troop of poetesses, whose modesty would be justly wounded were I to name them here,—the laureates of almost all our civic and religious festivals, the chroniclers of departed worth, the frequent angels of peace and consolation to the bereaved. Stars of pure and genial radiance in our provincial sky, some have been long on the meridian, with no token of decline; one is just culminating,—the cypher that designates its place is an humble letter among the last in the alphabet, destined to furnish a new verification of those sacred words, "The last shall become first."

But I must not forget that the anniversary is of the State, and not of our own city alone. Among the distinguished men of our craft whom New Hampshire can number, we have with us to-day two veteran editors, old as we reckon years, but with hearts as young as ever, with undimmed eye and steps that have not begun to falter,—one the founder and for more than half a century the editor of "The Keene Sentinel"; the other for nearly the same period the publisher and editor of "The Amherst Cabinet." Concord has among its chief names George Hough, its enterprising and skilful pioneer-printer; Isaac Hill, Senator and Governor, for many years by far the most influential man in New Hampshire; Jacob B. Moore and John Farmer, both justly distinguished for antiquarian lore and literary ability; and the historiographer of our capital, the learned antiquary and eloquent divine, Rev. Dr. Bouton, whose first degree was taken in the printing office. Exeter has furnished for our catalogue of worthies Ranlett and Norris, printers and publishers, whose press issued some of the best editions of their day; Sleeper, well known as long the popular editor of "The Mercantile Journal"; and the twin Peabodys, on whose very cradle genius, learning, taste, grace and piety shed their gifts with full hands, and now strew fresh flowers and evergreens over their early graves. Dover was long the home of Belknap, whose "History of New Hampshire" has its rank among our American classics, and whose erudition, prudence, fidelity and Christian worth gave him the first place among the divines in the metropolis of New England. From Manchester, where thirty years ago there was scarcely a hamlet, Judge Potter brings us to-day his ponderous and elegant octavo history of our first city, printed too by his own sons, the author once a Portsmouth editor, the sons, I believe, natives of our town.

There is yet one locality, which demands emphatic mention in connection with our craft. The little town of Walpole was the seat of the most brilliant editorship that has marked the history of the American press. In 1796, "The Farmer's Museum," then in its third year, passed into the hands of Joseph Dennie, who wrote for it his "Lay Preacher" and several other series of essays of kindred merit. Among his coadjutors were Royal Tyler, afterward Chief Justice of Vermont, beyond comparison the first among the humorous writers of America, whose wit has the keenness of Swift's without his bitterness, and the grotesque drollery of Sterne's without his coarseness; David Everett, the author of those lines, so simple yet so graceful, which may be the first declamation of our children's children for centuries to come,—

"You'd scarce expect one of my age
To speak in public on the stage;"

Isaac Story, cousin of the Judge, fully his equal in literary culture, and second only to Tyler in quaint humor and affluent wit; and Thomas Green Fessenden, whose "Terrible Tractoration," a satirical poem of unsurpassed flavor and pungency, still retained its popularity in my boyhood, and has now ceased to be read only because it scourged the follies beneath its lash out of the memory of man. The venerable Joseph T. Buckingham was an apprentice in the Museum office under Dennie's administration, and owes much of the singular grace, transparency and raciness of his style to his training in such a school.

But my hour has more than expired; and I must leave it for those who shall follow me at Jefferson Hall to supply my omissions, and to gather up the threads which in my rapid survey I have been compelled to drop.

All honor to our noble art! Brethren of the press, be it ours to shield its purity, to vindicate its freedom, to extend its queenly sway. Be its watchwords ever, Liberty, Truth, Philanthropy. It had its origin in the holiest of aims; be its mission the glory of God, the regeneration of man. Let the seal of its Christian baptism be held ever sacred; let its leaves be for the healing of the nations; and may every coming generation find increased ground for ascribing the thought that gave it birth to the inspiration of the Author of every good and perfect gift.

* The above anecdote is told of Bartlett in the Messrs. Duykinck's Cyclopedia of American Literature. On the still better authority of Hon. Abner Greenleaf, the utterance of these lines at John Hale's funeral, is ascribed to a personage—both wit and apt—familiarly known as "Charley Waters."

Morning Chronicle.

SATURDAY, OCTOBER 18, 1856.

☞A large number of Mormon emigrants have settled in Carson Valley from Salt Lake. An election there for local officers and members of the Utah Legislature had resulted in the triumph of the Mormon ticket. The Supreme Court of the Territory has decided that the organic act extends the common law over Utah, and the act being in the nature of a constitution, the common law therefore overrides all the statutes of the Mormon Legislature. This renders illegal, polygamy, and all the statutes made by order of Gov. Young.

☞One of the men arrested on board the Panchita in New York, Antoine Silva, is under indictment in Baltimore for the capital offence of having served as mate on the slave schooner C. F. A. Cole, which after a successful voyage, was found abandoned off the Chesapeake Breakwater. He has been sent to Baltimore for trial.

☞George Knight, who was arrested on a charge of murdering his wife in Poland, Me., by cutting her throat—after an examination which lasted two days, was fully committed to answer the charge before the next Criminal Term of Court.—The knife with which the deed was done, and also the shirt of the prisoner, covered with blood, were found.

DISTRESSING ACCIDENT.—On Tuesday afternoon, while the cars on the Fitchburg railroad were stopping at the brick-yard, in Cambridge, a lady named Blake, daughter of the engineer of the brick-yard, in attempting to get into the forward car, fell between the car and engine, in consequence of the train backing to attach a train from Lexington, the engine passed over her, cutting off both feet, and serverely injuring her head. She will not probably recover.

☞An elk, with large branching horns, harnessed to a buggy, and driven through the streets of St. Paul, Minnesota, a week or two since, created some excitement among the denizens of that place. He was well broken, and distanced the "fast horses" with ease.

ACCIDENT.—We learn that about noon, on Thursday, a steam boiler in a saw mill, in Haverhill, near the depot of the Boston and Maine railroad, exploded, by which one man is reported to have been killed and others injured.

☞Rev. Charles Shedd was dismissed from the Congregational church in Campton, on the 1st inst., his dismission to take effect on the 1st of November.

☞The Fremont men are increasing in many parts of Kentucky, and bid fair to become a popular party in the State.

☞Mahala B. Palmer has recovered a verdict of $1500 against the city of Bangor for injuries occasioned by defect in sidewalk.

☞Rev. J. M. Steele of Stratham, has received a unanimous call from the 3d Presbyterian church in Columbus, O., to become their pastor. The church is "composed of Congregationalists."

☞Mr. Lyman Marshall was ordained as an Evangelist in the 1st Congregational church in Manchester, on the 8th inst. Sermon by Rev. Dr. Cleaveland of Lowell, Mass. Mr. Marshall is laboring as a City Missionary in Manchester.

☞The Republicans of Maryland have completed their Electoral Ticket. The electors at large are Francis P. Blair and Wm. Pinkney Ewing.

☞Rev. G. B. Wilcox was installed pastor of the Lawrence Street Church, in Lawrence, Mass., on the 24th ult.

☞Rev. Edward Palmer, sixty-eight years of age, was installed on the 5d inst., as pastor of a Presbyterian church in Beaufort District, S. C. Sermon by his son, Rev. Dr. Palmer of Charleston.

☞There are in the United States about a quarter of a million of Jews and between eighty and ninety synagogues. New York city alone has 30,000 Jews and 20 synagogues.

Mr. E. F. Parker, after three years of solitary labor high up inside the dome of St. Paul's Cathedral, London, has at length completed, and in handsome manner, his repainting of the eighth dingy old picture originally done by Sir James Thornhill in the reign of Charles II.

THE STATE ELECTIONS.

PENNSYLVANIA.

NEW YORK, Oct 16, P. M.—The Democratic Committee announce that the returns as received by them, together with estimates for counties to come in, show a Democratic majority of 4000. The Democratic Committee have returns from all the counties in the State. They figure up 33,298 majority for the Democracy, and 29,221 for the opposition.

The editor of the Philadelphia Bulletin telegraphs at 3 1-2 P. M., on Thursday—"The city is full of forged returns, and the result is as much in doubt as it was yesterday."

9 P. M.—We have nothing, up to this hour, more definite than embraced in previous dispatches from Pennsylvania. Well informed politicians on both sides claim the State. Probably the actual result cannot be known for several days.

PHILADELPHIA, Oct. 16, P. M.—[Bulletin Office.] The returns are so utterly confused and unreliable, that it is impossible to decide how the election has resulted. The city is full of forged returns from different counties, and they are being extensively circulated for gambling purposes.—All that now can be said with confidence is, that the result in the whole State is very close, and it may require official returns to decide which party has been successful.

7 P. M.—The editor of the Pennsylvanian has returns from all the counties, and the Democrats have carried the State by over 3000, certain.

EASTON, Oct. 16.—A despatch from Wilkesbarre says that Wayne county gives 360 majority for the opposition. The Democratic Committee have it 150 Democratic.

A despatch from Wheeling says Washington county gives 900 majority for the opposition. The Democratic Committee have it only 100.

PENNSYLVANIA.—Philadelphia, 17th.—The official returns of votes in this city show 36,038 for Scott, Democrat, for Canal Commissioner, and 32,604 for Cochran.

The following official majorities; Philadelphia county 3434 dem.; Chester county 450 opp.; Northampton county 2320 dem.

The entire returns received this morning increase the Democratic majority in the State to 6348.

OHIO.

CINCINNATI, Oct. 16.—Thirteen Republican and five Democratic Congressmen are certainly elected. The 9th, 11th and 17th districts are still to hear from, but have probably gone Republican.

In Ohio, Campbell is certainly elected to Congress by 19 majority.

CINCINNATI, 16th.—The Gazette says the Republican majority in Ohio will be over 30,000. The Fillmore vote is less than 20,000.

INDIANA.

CLEVELAND, Oct. 16.—In the second Congressional district of Indiana Wilson is re-elected; in the 9th, Colfax; in the 10th, Brenton, and in the 11th, Pettit; all of whom are Republicans.

In 77 counties of Indiana, Willard, (Dem.) has a majority of about 5000.

The Republicans have elected Kilgore, Wilson, Colfax, Preston, and Pettit to Congress, while the Democrats have carried the other six districts.

The complexion of the State Legislature is doubtful, but probably there is a majority of Democrats.

Returns from Southern Indiana look unfavorable for the Republicans. The Democrats have gained two, and possibly more Congressmen.

CINCINNATI, Oct. 16.—In 43 counties of Indiana, Willard, Democratic candidate for Governor, is 2400 ahead.

Three Republican Congressmen are certainly elected.

The remaining districts are not heard from sufficient to decide.

PHILADELPHIA, Oct. 17.—The Democratic State ticket in Indiana is said to have 6000 majority. Messrs. Lockhart, English, Hughes, Foley and Davis, and perhaps also Lowry, are elected to Congress, and a majority of Democrats to the Legislature.

ELOPEMENT AND ARREST.—Some four or five weeks since a man named Moses W. Hawkes, who was a partner in the jewelry business in Chicago with —— Griswold, left that city in company with the wife, Mrs. Jane Louise Griswold, and two children of Mr. G., by his consent, and with the understanding that he (Hawkes) should conduct the woman and children safely to her father's residence in Connecticut. Instead of faithfully performing that mission, Hawkes and Mrs. G., passing as man and wife, took a trip through Canada and New York; and last week arrived at the Norfolk House, in Roxbury, Mass. Mr. G. learning of the whereabouts of his wife, took the necessary measures to have Hawkes arrested on a charge of adultery, and last evening both Hawkes and Mrs. G. were arrested and brought to the Second Station House in Boston, where the injured husband met them.

Upon Mr. G.'s entering the Station House, Hawkes had the audacity to extend his hand, saying, "how do you do, Mr. Griswold?" which salutation Griswold of course resented.

It is said that Mr. Griswold took Hawkes as his partner in business, without his furnishing a cent of capital, but the concern has recently failed or suspended payment. Mr. Griswold had sufficient confidence in the honor of Hawkes to entrust his wife and children to his (Hawkes') care.—Boston Journal.

Yesterday afternoon Hawkes and Mrs. Griswold were discharged from custody; but the unfortunate husband had his woes increased by being arrested on a civil suit to recover $25,000 owing to creditors in the city of New York. Griswold has not got a single penny, and his situation, to say the least, is rather a hard one.—Boston Times.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 16.—Arrival of the President.—The President returned to Washington this evening. He was enthusiastically received at the railroad station by a large concourse of the citizens of the District of Columbia, amid music and the firing of cannon. The Mayor of Washington delivered an address of welcome, to which the President responded in brief but eloquent terms.

The President, accompanied by his suite, and Commodore Paulding, Capt. Engle, and the Mayor of Washington, was escorted to the Executive Mansion by a torch-light procession."

BALTIMORE, Oct, 16.—The Southern mail, as late as due, is received. Great excitement has prevailed at Portsmouth, Va., occasioned by the raising of a Fremont pole and banner. The military were called out to preserve the peace, and the Mayor convened the Council, who passed an order to cut the pole down, which was forthwith done. The erection of the pole is said to have been done in burlesque.

TORONTO, Oct. 13. Warehouse Burnt.—The extensive warehouses of Nixon & Wales, in Hamilton, were burnt on Friday, together with a large amount of merchandize belonging to various parties. Loss $120,000.

A PIN KNOCKED OUT!—In all our calculations heretofore, of the chances for the Presidency, the entire South, giving 120 electorial votes, has been conceded to Buchanan. But the Fillmore victory in Baltimore, last week, knocks Maryland square out of the ring. Baltimore has been the strong hold of the "Democratic" party. And they have never been able to carry the State without it. Now, it gives an increased majority against that party, and takes away 8 votes of 120 which we have always conceded to Buchanan. With this loss, how he can possibly, even with Pennsylvania, get votes enough, to elect him, we do not see. Whatever else happens, there is next to no hope for Buchanan.—Ind. Dem.

During the great freshet, the residence of A. Gilman, near Deerfield river, in Sherburne Falls, Me., was undermined, and has since rested on props while the foundations were being relaid. Last Monday, however, while Mrs. Gilman and two children were in the house, it slipped from its support, and slid with a crash down the river, thirty feet. The inmates were rescued alive, but badly bruised.

THE SOUTH CAROLINA SETTLERS OF KANSAS.—Among the passengers on the David Tatum, when she sank in the Missouri, last Tuesday, were two companies of South Carolinians, returning from their labors in Kansas. These, we suppose, were some of the "actual settlers," enrolled in the Kansas militia by Gov. Geary, and appointed to guard the polls and preserve the purity of the ballot-box, and having voted on Monday, immediately departed.—Missouri Democrat, 13th.

What is the occasion of the bell ringing, Tom? "Well, it is occasioned by somebody, at the end of the rope."

HAYDEN'S IMPROVED VEGETABLE PURGATIVE PILLS.

NOTICES FROM THE PRESS.

From the Boston Traveller, Aug. 22, 1848.

DR. HAYDEN'S PILLS.—Mr. Slade, the agent for Dr. Wm. R. Hayden's Improved Vegetable Purgative Pills, in Rockingham Co., N. H., informs us that within six weeks past he has sold three thousand boxes of Dr. Hayden's Pills, mostly at retail. Many of them, he says, have been used for the bowel complaint, now so prevalent, with the most complete success, and in no case which has come to his knowledge have they failed to effect a speedy cure.

WOOD'S HAIR DYE.—This admirable article is rapidly improving the hair. No article of a similar kind, now before the public, enjoys a better reputation as a restorative and invigorating hair tonic. Its peculiar chemical qualities have a beneficial effect upon the growth and character of the hair, giving a silky and glossy texture to that which was formerly of a coarse and dry nature. It has, also, we understand, a tendency to preserve the youthful color of the hair, and destroying or counteracting the effects of age. With such recommendations in its favor, we hardly perceive how any lady or gentleman should be without so valuable an adjunct to their toilet. The article may be had of the Druggists throughout the country.—[Missouri Democrat.

HEALTH AND STRENGTH.

☞DR. S. O. RICHARDSON'S SHERRY WINE BITTERS is the best Medicine ever used for Summer Complaints. It has been more liberally patronized than any other ever established in this country. It is the same Richardson's Bitters which has rescued so many invalids to health throughout New England during the past thirty years.

N. B.—Beware of imitations called Sherry Wine Bitters. The genuine have a fac simile of my signature upon the outer envelope. For sale by Druggists everywhere, and at my office, No. 51 Hanover St., Boston. au8 6m

THE GREAT DISCOVERY.

Many years ago, Doctor Burleigh Smart of Kennebunk, Me., discovered that a simple article never before used as a medicine, was a never failing cure for coughs of every description, and an excellent blood purifier. By its use in his private practice, he acquired the reputation of being the best physician in New England, for all diseases of the lungs. After his death, Messrs. Shaw & Clark of, Biddeford, Me., obtained a Copy Right from Government, for its exclusive manufacture, and now have it carefully prepared strictly according to the original recipe. There is no case that it will not cure, unless the patient is past all human aid before commencing its use! It is called "Doctor Burleigh Smart's Cough Medicine," and is for sale by all apothecaries. au27 TuThs 6m.

"The Greatest Book of the Age!"

History United States,

From the earliest Period to the Present Time.

BY J. A. SPENCER, D. D.,

Member of the New York Historical Society, Membre de la Societe Orientale de France, author of "Egypt and the Holy Land," etc., etc

THIS National History, written by an accomplished American author, and copiously and beautifully embellished by American artists, (among whom are Leutze, Weir, Vanderlyn, Powell, Chapman, Chappell and Oertel,) commends itself by its sterling merit to the favorable consideration of the American public.

No pains or expense have been spared to render this work worthy of being in every respect hailed as a fit work for the American People.

Every Public Institution of our country, every Family—every citizen should possess such a National Work, that he may con over its instructive records, and kindle hispatriotism at its spirit stirring narrative; and point to its exhibition of genius and skill, with those feelings of fervent enthusiasm, which such a production of native talent cannot fail to awaken in the heart of every true American.

The work is now in course of publication in semi-monthly parts, price Twenty-five cents each, delivered at the Subscriber's residence or sent by mail postage free. Subscribers' names respectfully solicited, and all letters and inquiries promptly replied to by the Publishers.

The Committee, in arranging the programme for their third Course of Lectures, have determined to invite only lecturers of decided merit and, believing that in a course of popular lectures instruction should be blended with amusement, they have decided to introduce a NEW FEATURE, by connecting with the usual series upon miscellaneous topics, a short SCIENTIFIC COURSE; and have therefore secured the services of Messrs. Whittaker and Sprague, whose lectures are appropriately illustrated, and of the most entertaining character. It is believed that the course of lectures before this Association the coming season, will surpass in point of interest and variety, as it certainly will in regard to the expense incurred, any ever before given in this city.

LOCAL.

IN BOARD OF ALDERMEN, Oct. 16, it was ted that the subject of selling the Brick arket to the United States, be referred to e Committee on Public Buildings.

Voted, on the part of the Board of Alrmen, that they will sell the Market at a ir price.

Votes were also passed, authorizing the le at auction, of a Carpet bought for the esident's reception, — authorizing the ving of Pleasant street, in part,—and anting Arms to the Fremont Guards on e usual conditions.

NEW POST OFFICE BUILDING.—It will be rn that our Board of Aldermen have vo- to sell the old Brick Market, for a fair ice. The Common Council will concur, thout doubt—and the sovereign people ve already approved the plan. After , there is no place like the old Market o for the new building.

MECHANICS' LYCEUM.—The course opens Wednesday evening, next with readings d recitations by Mrs. Barrow, who is o well known here for her fine elocution- y powers, to need our notice. The lecrers who will appear in the course are nong the most popular in the country. e copy the following from the Boston e of Thursday last:—

Among the announcements of our Eastn Lyceums, I notice that the Mechanics' yceum of the city of old Portsmouth take e lead. We see that that Lyceum is soon be opened with readings and recitations Mrs. Barrow, of our city. No lady in country stands higher in the estimaon of the community, as a public reader d deliniator, than Mrs. Barrow, and the izens of that good city may expect a rich eat. With such an opening and such a t of lecturers as Huntington, King, Phils, Chapin, Thompson, and others, we nnot but think that the course must be ghly successful. We like the plan of casionally introducing lady lecturers at yceums—it works well wherever adopted.

☞ On our outside to-day will be found e Oration of Rev. Dr. Peabody, at the e Centennial Celebration in this city. In another column, we give also the lunteer toasts, &c., made at the Dinner to complete our report of that glorious tival. Copies of our Daily may be had the office—2 cts. each.

SMART.— Two Irishman, on Thursday ternoon, carried three tons of coal over o pairs of stairs, to the third story of r office, in baskets, in one hour and a arter—which is moving six thousand unds, say sixty feet, and elevating it enty feet, in seventy five minutes; or at e rate of eighty pounds per minute.— his we call quick work—and as Pat reed to have fifty cents per ton for the b, they made pretty good wages—sixty s. per hour, each.

THE COLDEST MORNING,—Ice formed last ednesday night for the first time this ason.—At sunrise the thermometer indi ted 29 degrees, or three degrees below e freezing point. We had no frost preous to that morning, nor had the mercury fore descended to so low as 50 degrees.

THE DEXTER ENTERPRISE.—The types netimes perform strange antics. In the at speech made by A. R. Hatch, Esq., st week, he is reported as saying—"No arring forces are now sent to the Westdies." The reader was left to infer that e progress of the press had terminated ibustering. But the orator had no such ea in his head. In illustrating the inence of the press in systematizing comrce, he said—"No cargoes of warming ns," &c.

☞ On account of the repairs now being ade on the Middle Street Church, there ll be no services in that house to-morw.

☞ It will be seen by an advertisement our auction column, that the Pleasant reet Church in this city, with all the fix res, are to be sold on the 28th inst.

THE FREMONT demonstration at Dover, d the Buchanan meeting at Exeter, both ne off on Friday: and were attended by egations from this city. The Exeter eting was attended by the Buchanans ards of Portsmouth, with about 40 skets. Both meetings, we understand, re largely attended.

FALSE COMPLAINT AGAINST A TEACHER.— ss Coombs, a school teacher in Southston, was brought before the Police urt on Wednesday, on the complaint of bert Carbrey, for assaulting his son.— ppeared that the boy used the most inting language to the teacher, for which was very judiciously chastised. The urt ordered the defendant to be dischargand the complainant should be allowed ocs.—Boston Transcript.

Centennial Celebration

OF THE

INTRODUCTION OF PRINTING

INTO NEW-HAMPSHIRE.

Portsmouth, Monday, Oct. 6, '56.

THE VOLUNTEER TOASTS, &C.

We have till now delayed publishing the remainder of our notes taken at the Dinner, in the expectation of being enabled to give the speeches of several gentlemen of whose remarks we did not attempt to make a synopsis at the time.

We give first, a neat and appropriate Song written for the occasion, by Mr. W. F. B. Jackson, of this city,—which he declined singing, on account of the lateness of the hour.

THE PRINTING PRESS.

AIR: Fine Old English Gentleman.

BY W. F. B. JACKSON.

I.

When Liberty her white wing drooped,
In this our Western world;
And stern Oppression's battle-smoke
Above our dwellings curled;—
Outspake the Press, and as its voice
Loud rolled from shore to shore,
The nation's heart throbbed warm with joy
And tyrants stood in awe
Of the great and glorious Printing Press,
The monarch of the world.

II.

But when at last, throughout the land
War's dreadful blast did cease,
And smiling Plenty clothed again
His bride, the angel Peace;
When glorious hymns again were sung,
Our fathers' God to bless—
A ransomed people prayed that He Would grant a Nation's Press;
O the glorious old Printing Press,
The Monarch of the world.

III.

Then by our fathers' noble heads,
By all their glorious worth;
By all the golden gifts which Heaven
Has showered upon the earth;
By all the holy memories
Which time can ne'er efface:
Preserve its purity intact,
Its name from all disgrace—
And God will bless the Printing Press,
The monarch of the world.

Mr. Israel Kimball, having been previously called upon to respond to a sentiment offered, declined to make a speech;—but by general request, sung the Marseilles Hymn, in good style and with the appropriate spirit.

VOLUNTEER TOASTS.

By Hon. John Prentiss of Keene, N. H.:

Joseph T. Buckingham—The poor struggling boy—the self-made man—the vigorous, talented editor, and accomplished Biographer of Printers and Editors.

By Maj. B. P. Cilley, of the Manchester Veterans:

The Printing Telegraph—A fit type of him who first held the lightning in his fist, and gave to the Art its highest ornament.

By Dr. Hubbard, of the Veterans:

The Printers of New Hampshire—Second to no body of men, for honesty, integrity and usefulness.

By John T. Gibbs, Esq., of the Dover Gazette:

The Art of Printing — An enterprise grand in conception and irresistible in execution—it has given the strength and maturity of age to a country yet in its youth.

By Col. Mark Noble, of Great Falls:

The Press.

Turn to the Press—its teeming sheets survey,
Big with the wonders of each passing day.

By B. F. Ayer, Esq., of the Veterans:

Franklin.

Great Franklin's quiet Memory climbs to Heaven,
Calming the lightning which he thence hath riven.

By Dr. Frank Fuller:

Daniel Fowle.

The name of Fowle bespeaks no FOUL servility;
His paper bore no STAMP but that of liberty.

By Frank W. Miller:

Liberty and Independence. — Success to the Craft which puts down Kingcraft and Priestcraft.

The following were among our notes, without the names of those who presented them:—

The Reverend Clergy.

Humanity's champions—servants of Heaven,
Pointing to God through the darkness and gloom;
Soothing with Faith the hearts that are riven,
Lighting the pateway that leads to the tomb.

The Printing Profession—Its insignia are more to be coveted, than orders of nobility.

The Day we Celebrate—

Upon the Present's page, this festive day
Shall PRINT bright records, as it ROLLS away.

The Printer's Devil—

Though numberless laurels the printer may gain,
With riches and honor to boot;
Oh! let him remember—we say it with pain!
The PRINTS of his youth's CLOVEN FOOT!

Franklin.

Within the CASE of History we find
Immortal TYPES of Franklin's peerless mind.

The Boston Journal and other papers having stated that to Dr. Frank Fuller was due the whole credit of the high character of the basis of the literary after-dinner feast—the poetical regular toasts, &c.,—that gentleman requests us to acknowledge his great obligations to Miss Harriet M'Ewen Kimball, of this city, for her valuable assistance in the matter,—and also his indebtedness in no small degree to Mr. Albert Laighton, for similar aid.

A GREAT NATIONAL WORK.

SPENCER'S HISTORY OF THE UNITED STATES.—In another column may be found the advertisement of a book with the above title, to which we take pleasure in renewedly calling the attention of our readers.—This truly national work is published in semi-monthly parts, at 25 cents each. The current parts, Nos. 13 and 14, are before us, containing a view of the Battle of Lexington and a portrait of Henry Clay. The execution of these plates is an honor to our native artists, and quite creditable to the enterprising publishers of the work.—The author, the Rev. Dr. J. A. Spencer, of New York, is a gentleman highly esteemed as an eminent and classical scholar, a profound thinker, and an able historical writer. He is well qualified to do justice to his theme. The book only needs to be examined to be appreciated. Its popular character should insure its author and publishers an extensive sale. — Boston Transcript, Sept. 4th.

SPENCER'S UNITED STATES.—We have received Nos. 14 and 15 of this great national work.—They contain an excellent treatise on the "wisdom and necessity of the Declaration of Independence." In the appendix to Chapter 19, are copies of several Revolutionary Documents, an original draft of the Declaration, and Judge Drayton's celebrated Address to Admiral Lord Howe and General Howe. Also, an extract from John Quincy Adams's Oration on the 4th of July, 1831. These numbers bring the history down to the entrance of the British fleet into the Chesapeake, to attack Philadelphia, August, 1777. The Illustrations of these numbers are a portrait of Henry Clay, and the Battle of New Orleans—two of the finest engravings we have ever seen. This work is an honor to the age.—Buffalo Republic, Sept. 29.

There is a wonderful combination of native talent of the first order in this truly National Work.—New York Times.

After a brief examination of the above work, we have no hesitation in expressing our agreement with the foregoing high encomiums from excellent authority. The execution of the book is splendid—the engravings are original, and done in the very highest style of art.

W. S. Weightman, 22 Bromfield street, Boston, is the general agent for New England States.

Mr. Thomas Weston, the travelling agent, is now in Portsmouth—stopping at Chas. W. Walker, Esq's, Market Street House,—where copies may be obtained by any citizens who may be omitted to be called upon.

See their advertisement in another column.

J. W. MOSES would call the attention of his friends, customers, and the Public in general to the fact, that he has in his store, at No. 8 Market street, a good assortment of Broadcloths, Pilot and Beaver Cloths, plain and fancy Doeskins and Cassimeres, Black and fancy Velvets, plain and figured Satins and Grenadin Vestings, &c., which he will make to order or sell either with or without cutting or making, at fair prices.

He has a large assortment of furnishing Goods, consisting of Shirts, Collars, Cravats, Suspenders, Handkerchiefs, Under-Shirts and Drawers, &c., &c.

All Garments made by him warranted to be as good as can be had in this city. The above are new Goods, having been selected with care from large Stocks in Boston, and just received. September 26. is3w

From the Boston Saturday Evening Gazette.

A PERFUMED BREATH.—What lady or gentleman would remain under the curse of a disagreeable breath, when using the "Balm of a Thousand Flowers" as a dentifrice would not only render it sweet, but leave the teeth white as alabaster? Many persons do not know their breath is bad, and the subject is so delicate, their friends will never mention it. Pour a single drop of the "Balm" on your tooth-brush and wash the teeth night and morning. A fifty cent bottle will last a year.

A BEAUTIFUL COMPLEXION may easily be acquired by using the "Balm of a Thousand Flowers." It will remove tan, pimples and freckles from the skin, leaving it of a soft and roseate hue. Wet a towel, pour on two or three drops, and wash the face night and morning

SHAVING MADE EASY.—Wet your shaving brush in either warm or cold water, pour on two or three drops of "Balm of a Thousand Flowers," rub the beard well and it will make a beautiful soft lather, much facilitating the operation of shaving. Price only 50 cents.

FREMONT,
THE MUSTANG CANDIDATE.

If Col. Fremont had as many friends as the Mustang Liniment, the opposition could not draw a corporal's guard. Mr. Fremont remarked in his dispatches to President Fillmore, while transporting horses and cattle over the plains of Mexico, "That if the Government would send him on a liberal supply of Mustang Liniment, it would save 25 per cent. of his losses." This is very important for all Farmers and Liverymen to know. The Mustang Liniment is a wonderful article for man or beast. It should always be used for Sores, Swellings, Stiff Joints, Burns, Bruises, Rheumatic Pains, &c., and for Galds, Sprains, Spavins, Ringbone, &c., upon horses.—BEWARE OF IMITATIONS. The Mustang is sold by all respectable dealers everywhere.

Great American and Foreign Office

For Securing Patents for Inventions.

Agency for business with US Patent Office, Washington

R. H. EDDY,
No. 76 State st. oppo. Kilby st, Boston.

IMPORTANT INFORMATION TO INVENTORS. The Subscriber (late Agent of the U. S. Patent Office, under the Act of 1837) determined to present advantages in applying for Patents superior to those offered inventors by others, has made arrangements whereby on applications prepared and conducted by him, THIRTY DOLLARS (instead of twenty, as paid back by others), will be remitted by him in case of failure to obtain a patent, and the withdrawal thereof by him within thirty days after the rejection.

This Agency is not only the largest in New England, but through it inventors have advantages for securing patents, or ascertaining the patentability of inventions, unsurpassed by, if not immeasurably superior to, any which can be offered them elsewhere. The testimonials below given prove that none is MORE SUCCESSFUL AT THE PATENT OFFICE than the subscriber; and as SUCCESS IS THE BEST PROOF OF ADVANTAGES AND ABILITY, he would add that he has abundant reason to believe, and can prove, that at no other office of the kind are the charges for professional services so moderate.—The immense practice of the subscriber during twenty years past, has enabled him to accumulate a vast collection of specifications and official decisions relative to patents. These, besides his extensive library of legal and mechanical works, and full accounts of patents granted in the United States and Europe, render him able, beyond question, to offer superior facilities for obtaining patents.

Caveats, Specifications, Assignments, and all Papers and Drawings necessary to the procural of patents in this and foreign countries prepared and advice rendered on legal and scientific matters respecting inventions, or infringement of patents. All necessity of a journey to Washington to procure a patent, and the usual great delay there, are here saved inventors.

Copies of claims of any patent furnished for one dollar. Assignments recorded at Washington.—Patents secured in Great Britian, France, and other foreign countries, through Agents of the highest respectability.
R. H. EDDY.
Solicitor of Patents.

Testimonials.

"During the time I occupied the office of Commissioner of Patents, R. H. Eddy, Esq., of Boston, did business at the Patent Office, as Solicitor of Patents. There were few, if any persons acting in that capacity, who had so much business before the Patent office; and there were none who conducted it with more skill, fidelity, and success. I regard Mr Eddy as one of the best informed and most skilful Patent Solicitors in the United States, and have no hesitation in assuring inventors that they cannot employ a person more competent and trustworthy, and more capable of putting their application in a form to secure for them an early and favorable consideration at the Patent Office.
EDMUND BURKE,
Late Commissioner of Patents."

From the present Commissioner.

AUGUST 17, 1855.—During the time I have held the Office of Commissioner of Patents, R. H. Eddy, Esq., of Boston, has been extensively engaged in the transaction of business with the office, as a Solicitor. He is thoroughly acquainted with the law, and the rules of practice of the Office. I regard him as one of the most capable and successful practitioners with whom I have had official intercourse.
CHAS. MASON,
Commissioner of Patents.

TREMONT MILLS.

Teas, Coffees, Chocolates, Cocoons, Spices, &c.

WHOLESALE,—AND ALSO IN SMALL PACKAGES.

E. E. DYER & CO.
(Sign of the Chinaman grinding coffee,)
141 Washington St., Boston,

SUPPLY the best, finest and purest articles, at lowest Cash prices. Their Stock consists of

Teas, Coffees, Chocolates,
Allspice, Pepper, Mustard, Ginger, Cayenne Pepper, Nutmegs, Cinnamon, Cloves, Cream Tartar; Taraxacum, or Prepared Dandelion Root, &c., &c.

Having every facility for manufacturing and preparing the several articles named, the public may rely upon having them pure and genuine, as they are put up carefully, and bear our name and label, "TREMONT MILLS, E. E. DYER & CO."

To give consumers some idea of our sales, we annex the following scale of prices, viz:

5 lb. Souchong Tea,	1.50	5 lb. Mocha Coffee,	1.00
5 lb. Oolong "	1.75	5 lb. " "	.90
5 lb. Y. Hyson "	2.25	5 lb. good "	1.00

☞ The Spices are put up in ¼ and ½ lb. tin cases, expressly for family use, and are warranted to be strictly a pure article, and only need a trial to establish them in public favor.

SPANISH COFFEE.—We would call the attention of customers and dealers to our Spanish Coffee, as an article which is highly esteemed, and gives the greatest satisfaction. It is prepared with particular care, and by a peculiar process in roasting, one pound of this coffee, it is believed, is equal to 1¼ lb. of any other.

DANDELION COFFEE.—This article is carefully prepared at our Mills, and put up in packages having our trade mark, and may be relied upon as the best and most approved mixture of dandelion and coffee.

TARAXACUM, or Prepared Dandelion Root.—This article is prepared and roasted at our Mills, is retailed by Family Grocers generally in city and country, and bearing our trade mark, "Chinaman grinding coffee," may be relied upon as the GENUINE ARTICLE. The proportion used is about one-half the quantity of coffee. The price is 20 cents per pound, and it is warranted to be the same as that which has been sold for fifty cents a pound by Druggists.

The medical properties of Dandelion are well-known, and held in high estimation by all who use it. This being a preparation of the root, with all its medicinal virtues retained, can be mixed with coffee or not, as best suits the taste, and will be found cheap and economical as a family beverage, one pound of which being nearly equal to two pounds of coffee. It is prescribed by many eminent physicians to invalids, children and aged persons, as a nutritious beverage, and as a remedy for Dyspepsia, Bilious affections, &c.

☞ Be careful to observe that all our Coffees have our trade mark, "Chinaman grinding coffee."

☞ To Grocers and Dealers a liberal discount is made, enabling them to supply their customers at the same low rate.

☞ TO CASH PURCHASERS.—Our object being to secure large sales at small profits, we offer inducements which cannot be afforded by those who do business on the credit system; and we confidently invite an examination of the quality of our stock and our prices, as compared with those of any other house.

Grand Exhibition of HORSES,
BY THE Boston Agricultural Association.

The First Exhibition of the Boston Agricultural Association
will be held at BOSTON, on
TUESDAY, WEDNESDAY, THURSDAY, FRIDAY AND SATURDAY,
October 21, 22, 23, 24 and 25.

PREMIUMS from Twenty-five to One Thousand Dollars, amounting, in the aggregate, to Eight Thousand Dollars, have been offered, open for competition to horses from all parts of the Union, as well as the Canadas.

A Committee composed of citizens of Boston and vicinity, has been appointed, to co-operate with the officers of the Society in perfecting the arrangements for the Exhibition. A large fund has been guaranteed, to meet expenses. This material aid, taken in connexion with the excellence of the location, (being the same grounds occupied last year by the U. S. Agricultural Society,) and the large amount of premiums offered, induces the expectation that this Exhibition will be of a superior character.

Seats for six thousand persons have been prepared, also a saloon, with female attendants, for the accommodation of Ladies.

Stalls for the accommodation of four hundred horses have been prepared upon the grounds.

Favorable arrangements with the various railroads, for the transportation of stock, are in progress, the terms of which will be given on application at the Office.

The following horses will be upon the ground, and have signified their intention to enter and contend for premiums offered for speed, viz: Hiram Drew, Ethan Allen, Flora Temple, Lancet, Tacony, Grey Eddy, Pocahontas, and others of well known reputation.

The Premium List, with the Regulations and Programme of the Exhibition, will be furnished on application to the Secretary at Boston.

Morning Chronicle.

SATURDAY, OCTOBER 25, 1856.

PENNSYLVANIA.

The vote on the State ticket in Pennsylvania promises to be so close that nothing less than the official vote can determine the result. The reports of majorities are also so conflicting, says the Boston Atlas of Saturday, that it is impossible to determine which is the correct one: We therefore omit our tables of majorities until reports can come to us in in a less conflicting manner. The New York Tribune of Friday makes the anti-Buchanan majority 1141, with six counties to hear from which gave 899 fusion majority last year. In its tables it makes the Buchanan majority 740 less than the official report in Philadelphia and Northampton, and the fusion majority 50 too large in Chester.

In regard to the outrageous colonization swindle in Philadelphia city, the Philadelphia Bulletion of Thursday says: "The fuller returns of the election in this city make the total vote over sixty-nine thousand. The official returns will probably swell it to seventy thousand, which is fifteen thousand more than the heavy vote of last May. The colonizing business was done to an enormous extent."

The New York Courier of the 18th says:

Judging from the latest details reported by telegraph, we incline to the opinion that the Union ticket for State officers has been successful by a small majority, but the official statement will be required to settle the question. A brief view of elections in this State for the last eight years will show that the present result indicates an opposition majority over the Democratic candidate in the Presidential contest of next month.

The State election in Pennsylvania, no doubt, had some local issues, and personal issues, connected therewith, though we do not know exactly what they were. But we have understood the main issue to be, squatter sovereignty and slavery extension on the one hand, and free speech, free schools, free Kansas on the other. The Doylston, Penn., Democrat so understands it, by the following item which is copied by the Pennsylvanian:

Have you heard the news? Great earthquake in Bucks! The Woolly Horse foundered on the Rocky Mountains, and the Niggers lost on the Prairies! Democratic blood worth ten cents a drop! Burlingame, Greeley, Wilmot, Reeder, Banks, and Abby Kelley floundering among the Niggers! The Border Ruffians about, and the Democrats and Old Line Whigs carrying the Flag and keeping step to the Music of the Union. The people of poor "bleeding Kansas" left to govern themselves and make their own laws! The foul slanders of the Abolition Intelligencer rebuked by the people! The Jackson Democracy broke loose! Bucks gives about 1000 majority!

The Boston Telegraph says:

Benjamin F. Butler, Esq., of Lowell, the most knowing and influential mab in the Buchanan ranks in Massachusetts, and one of the delegates to the Convention at Cincinnati, said on Wednesday, while speaking of the Pennsylvania election, that it would be found that twenty thousand members of the Order of United Americans, who had been reckoned, up to the day of election, as good Fillmore men, had voted the Buchanan State ticket.

This statement comes from good authority, and what is more to the purpose, it is intrinsically probable.

It is also said by many Fremont men and papers, with how much accuracy we do not know, that from 10 to 20,000 Friends or Quakers in Pennsylvania, will vote for Fremont in November, because, in so doing, they can vote directly against slavery extension,—though they never vote in State elections or on minor issues.

Horace Greeley says, Friday afternoon: "Pennsylvania has probably been thrown a little against us, by the Fillmore men."

SOMETHING RICH.—Our readers have seen or heard a report that all the fifteen Southern Governors were to meet in solemn conclave at Raleigh, N. C., on Monday, the 13th, to take into consideration the propriety of advocating a separation of the slave from the free States, in the event of Fremont's election.

The Baltimore Patriot of the 15th learns some of these Governors really met at the time and place appointed; but whether they agreed upon issuing a manifesto, or whether they merely exchanged salutation, and discussed a substantial dinner together, we have not yet been advised. The Richmond Whig predicts that no part of their proceedings will be published. We are sorry that our cotemporary imagines they will remain secret. We should think so: they are simply plotting rebellion and treason, a la South Carolina going to the death for sugar, in Gen. Jackson's day.

☞ The house of George W. Clark, in Hooksett, was entered by a burglar last Tuesday night, and about $100 in money taken.

REV. GEORGE STORRS.

This well-known Advent preacher, who is also the editor of the Bible Examiner,—considering that some of his Advent Brethren, though decidedly opposed to tyranny and oppression, yet may decline or neglect to vote, on some scruples of conscience,—offers the following advice, which is suitable for every christian freeman.

"SHALL WE VOTE?"—We answer—Yes, if you have common sense and common honesty. If you have neither, take care not to. If you are determined to vote simply to sustain "our party," you may know yourself to be deficient in sense and honesty. Can you pray "for all in authority," that they "may rule in the fear of God," and "be just men," and at the same time refuse to excercise a right which God has given you to vote for such men? But "Christ and his apostles did not vote." Very true: but they lived under a despotism where no one could vote. Every man having such right, is, in our judgment, just as much bound to use that right in the selection of rulers, as he is to pray for them when elected. But with party quarrels and strife a Christian man has nothing to do;—yet peaceably to deposit his vote, under the influence of principle, according to his honest judgment of the rights of freemen, is by no means making him a "meddler in politics," but is the discharge of a duty towards God and men, without which he mocks God in praying for those "in authority; because he had not done what he could to have "just men" for rulers. "But, Christ is coming to reign soon." Blessed news. We have deposited our vote for him and wish not to change it; but till his inauguration we are to be ruled by imperfect men. Let not our vote be wanting to elevate those who, in our judgment, will rule most in the fear of God. "But, I may mistake in the selection of rulers." Yes, and you may mistake in your prayers, or in searching the scriptures, as all have done at times; but that is no reason why we should not try to do better and do all we can.

We shall vote if the Lord will. If Jesus comes while we are depositing our vote, we shall rejoice because he is our first and only choice for a permanent Ruler and King. But till he does come, having the right to vote for human rulers we shall, do so with the same heavenly mind that we can pray for such rulers.

Yet, to all, we say, Beware that you do not become drunk with the political excitement of a mere partisan politician. Such a course becometh not a follower of Christ.

THE NORTH AMERICAN REVIEW for October, is one of the most readable numbers of that Periodical that we have seen for a long time. The article on Edgar Allen Poe, which was written by Mrs. E. Vale Smith, of Newburyport, Mass, is a good review, telling in simple, straight forward and truthful language the story of Poe's life, and the terrible lesson to be learned therefrom. We have seldom met with a better and more just criticism. She says:

"In perusing his most powerful tales the reader feels himself surrounded by hitherto unapprehended dangers; he grows suspicious of his best friends; all good angels appear turning to demons; God seems dead; and on closing the book the first impulse is to shake off the frightful incubus by rushing out into the glad sunshine, and freely inhaling the pure, fresh air of heaven, to assure himself that he is still amongst the living, and that nature has not been transformed, while he read, into something soul-sickening and horrible."

In a notice of the biography of Gov. William Plumer of Epping, N. H., who was a Presidential elector in 1820, when President Munroe was elected, as John Randolph said, with "the unanimity of indifference;" it gives the history of that single vote which was cast against Monroe. All the electors voted for him, except Gov. Plumer, who had been chosen without any consultation, by the Republican party, and very unexpectedly gave his vote for John Quincy Adams,—being the only instance in which an elector refused to comply with the wishes of his constituents. He justified his action by saying that "he thought Mr. Monroe's capacity by no means equal to the place. "We mistake," said he, "if we suppose that any but the ablest men are fit for the highest places. The government of weak men must always be disastrous. 'Woe to thee, O land, when thy king is a child.'"

☞ Dwight's Boston Journal of Music says that Mr. Geo. P. Reed, who has so long occupied a foremost position in the Music trade in that city, has retired from business; and Mr. Nathan Richardson united with the junior partner of G. P. Reed & Co., Mr. Russel, in buying out Mr. Reed's interest and "annexing" the same to his already extensive and flourishing establishment, the Musical Exchange. The union of these two forces must make a powerful establishment.

☞ The storm of Friday night was not violent here, but on Long Island Sound it was terrible. The steamer Connecticut, from New York for Norwich, was disabled, and threw over all her cargo,—but finally got into Huntington Bay. Some of the passengers and crew were hurt, but no lives lost.

The Fremont turn-out at Dover, Friday evening, we learn, was a great one. The city was illuminated, and the torch-light procession was both numerous and brilliant. The attendance and exercises were highly gratifying to those who took a part in them. During the day, Hon. Daniel M. Christie presided. He made a brief address, and was followed by Hon. Messrs. F. O. J. Smith of Portland, Anson Burlingame, John P. Hale, Moses Kimball, James Pike, Ichabod Goodwin, and other able speakers.

☞ At Exeter, on Friday, the Mass meeting of the Buchanan party was addressed by Messrs. John Van Buren, Fletcher Webster, John S. Wells, Charles Levi Woodbury, and others.

POLITICAL PRIESTS.—The following was inscribed on one of the banners displayed in the Democratic procession at Exeter:

"For priests political, near the day
Of empty pockets and stopping pay."

Rev. Joseph C. Lovejoy, and Rev. Mr. Wood, now of the Navy, may be sorry to hear this. They are well paid, and would look dark to see their pay stop.

DREADFUL.—The Wolfborough Pioneer states that on Thursday night, a Mrs. Tilton, of North Sandwich, drowned her little girl aged about one year, by putting her into a small stream of water, face down, and laying a rock upon her to keep her down. She then went to a neighbor's house, and told the family what she had done, and requested them to go and take her out, as it might disfigure her face by laying on the water. She is said to be deranged.

FATAL ACCIDENT.—The Wolfborough Pioneer states that as Mr. Stephen Roberts and wife, of Tamworth, N. H., were returning home, on Monday afternoon, from a short ride, some part of the harness gave way, letting the wagon come against the horse and frightening him. Mr. R., however, kept the horse in the road, till, going down a short hill where the road was rough, he stumbled and fell, breaking one hind leg, and throwing Mr. Roberts and wife out—breaking his bak, and injuring his wife so much that she expired in about 10 minutes.

☞ Mr. George Peabody, the great American-London banker is a bachelor.—He has a brother at the West, and two sisters in Georgetown, Mass. In person he is tall and well proportioned; his features regular and prepossessing. His attire is a simple, unostentatious suit of black.

☞ A brakeman on the freight train of the Boston & Maine railroad, on Friday, near Madbury, had both his feet cut off by the train passing over him. He lost his foothold and fell before it.

HAYDEN'S IMPROVED VEGETABLE PURGATIVE PILLS.

NOTICES FROM THE PRESS.

From the Boston Traveller, Aug. 22, 1848.

DR. HAYDEN'S PILLS.—Mr. Slade, the agent for Dr. Wm. E. Hayden's Improved Vegetable Purgative Pills, in Rockingham Co., N. H., informs us that within six weeks past he has sold three thousand boxes of Dr. Hayden's Pills, mostly at retail. Many of them, he says, have been used for the bowel complaint, now so prevalent, with the most complete success, and in no case which has come to his knowledge have they failed to effect a speedy cure.

WOOD'S HAIR DYE.—This admirable article is rapidly improving the hair. No article of a similar kind, now before the public, enjoys a better reputation as a restorative and invigorating hair tonic. Its peculiar chemical qualities have a beneficial effect upon the growth and character of the hair, giving a silky and glossy texture to that which was formerly of a coarse and dry nature. It has, also, we understand, a tendency to preserve the youthful color of the hair, and destroying or counteracting the effects of age. With such recommendations in its favor, we hardly perceive how any lady or gentleman should be without so valuable an adjunct to their toilet. The article may be had of the Druggists throughout the country.—[Missouri Democrat.

HEALTH AND STRENGTH.

☞ DR. S. O. RICHARDSON'S SHERRY WINE BITTERS is the best Medicine ever used for Summer Complaints. It has been more liberally patronized than any other ever established in this country. It is the same Richardson's Bitters which has restored so many invalids to health throughout New England during the past thirty years.

N. B.—Beware of imitations called Sherry Wine Bitters. The genuine have a fac simile of my signature upon the outer envelope. For sale by Druggists everywhere, and at my office, No. 51 Hanover St., Boston. aug8-6m

THE GREAT DISCOVERY.

Singer's Sewing Machines.

THESE celebrated machines are in practical and profitable use in all parts of the civilized world. In all the various trades, and in sewing every sort of fabric, either of cloth or leather, they have been fully tried and approved. Sewing Machines of other manufacturers often fail to work, but SINGER'S MACHINES

ALWAYS OPERATE PERFECTLY,

being strong, durable and complete in contrivance and workmanship. A perfect sewing machine kept employed affords a clear profit of $1000 a year; but an imperfect one is a cause of constant vexation and loss. The entire RELIABILITY of our machines is one great reason for their unparalleled popularity of a frail and delicate construction, are recommended by other manufacturers. Such machines are made to catch the eye, not to perform substantial work. The truth is, family sewing machines ought to be stronger than any other, because they go into less skilful hands than when sold to manufacturers, and are used for a greater variety of work. The machines which have proved best for all other purposes must be best for family use, and they are Singer's. The speed of our machines has lately been doubled. No other can compare with them in quantity of work.

MACHINES FOR FAMILY SEWING,

☞ New machines of the latest improved style will be exchanged on liberal terms for old sewing machines of our own make, or for operative machines of other manufacturers. Local agents wanted to sell our machines.

N B.—All persons desiring full information about sewing machines, can obtain it by applying for a copy of "I. M. Singer & Co.'s Gazette," a paper devoted entirely to the subject. It will be sent gratis. I M. SINGER & CO.

History United States,

From the earliest Period to the Present Time.

BY J. A. SPENCER, D. D.,

Member of the New York Historical Society, Membre de la Societe Orientale de France, author of "Egypt and the Holy Land," etc., etc

THIS National History, written by an accomplished American author, and copiously and beautifully embellished by American artists, (among whom are Leutze, Weir, Vanderlyn, Powell, Chapman, Chappell and Oertel,) commends itself by its sterling merit to the favorable consideration of the American public.

No pains or expense have been spared to render this work worthy of being in every respect hailed as a Book for the American People.

Every Public Institution of our country, every Family—every citizen should possess such a National Work, that he may con over its instructive records, and kindle hispatriotism at its spirit stirring narrative; and point to its exhibition of genius and skill, with those feelings of generous enthusiasm, which such a production of native talent cannot fail to awaken in the heart of every true American.

The work is now in course of publication in semi-monthly parts, price Twenty-five cents each, delivered at the Subscriber's residence or sent by mail postage free. Subscribers' names respectfully solicited, and all letters and inquiries promptly replied to by the Publishers

LOCAL.

THE POST OFFICE BUILDING.—In considering the location for the new United States Building, we wish to look at all sides of the matter. It has been suggested by a writer in our columns, that to accommodate the western tendency of our city's growth, the new Custom House, &c., should be located as high as Vaughan street. This idea might be worthy of some consideration, if it was certain that the South End is to remain forever in its present condition. But such is not the case—the natural advantages of that portion of the city, must ere long be improved. Already has the location of the new ship-yard on Pierce's Island, much bettered the appearance of things in that vicinity; and when a railroad track shall be laid to this island, and perhaps to New Castle,—which are by no means improbable events—the South End will again occupy its rightful position in the business community. And even as things are now, Market Square is the most central place in the city.

More than half our wharf acommodations, also, are below Daniel street—and this perhaps should be considered somewhat, in the location of the new Custom House.

As to the beauty or ornament of the thing, we don't think there is another spot in the city where the building would show to so good advantage—as there is certainly none which would be so much improved by it—as that now disgraced by the abominable old Brick Market.

We think our citizens would do better to subscribe and buy this property for Uncle Sam—of which, however, there is no need—than to have the building located elsewhere.

As to getting a title to the land adjoining, which is needed—those most interested in that matter, state there will be no difficulty.

☞In the "Printing Press" Song of Mr. Jackson, which we published on Saturday last, we regret the following errors occured: Second verse, third line, "clothed" should be clasped—eighth line, "grant" should be guard; third verse, first line, "heads" should be deeds.

LOSS OF SCHOONER FLYING CLOUD.—The schooner Flying Cloud, of Newburyport, was lost on the 15th inst., three miles from Boon Island. The water was observed upon the cabin floor, which was the first intimation the crew had of her sinking condition. It was found that there were some five feet of water in her hold, and as there was no hope of gaining upon the leak, the crew left in their boats; in ten minutes after, she sunk. It was supposed that she had started a butt. The Herald states that the Flying Cloud was a good vessel, three years old, and is insured in Newburyport, for $1700. She had but fifteen barrels of mackerel on board.

LATER FROM KANSAS.—A corresponden at Leavenworth, Oct. 1, writes:—

"A self-styled Vigilance Committee in Leavenworth still continues to warn Free State men to leave that city or suffer the consequences — driving men from their homes, and robbing them of their property. The murderers of Philips still remain there, unnoticed and unmolested by his excellency Gov. Geary. And when the citizens petition the Governor to organize and station a company of Free State men there, to preserve the peace and protect the residents in the enjoyment of their rights, as he has done in this city, he refuses absolutely to do any such thing; but advises them to make their appeal to the Mayor of that city, (who is one of the worst Border Ruffians in Kansas;) and on his requisition Gen. Smith has orders to send United States troops there to sustain the laws. His Excellency knows that the Border Ruffian Mayor to whom he refers the outraged citizens for protection, is one of the mob himself, and guilty of the most outrageous crimes; elected to his present position by the mob, at the point of the bayonet—and there is no hopes of his affording protection to Free State men."

BANGOR, October 14th.—The Unitarian Autumnal Convention is in session in this city. The opening religious services were held this evening, before a large audience. The discourse was delivered by Rev. Mr. Hill, of Waltham, Mass., after which the Convention was organized by the choice of Rev. Dr. Hall, of Providence, President; Rev. John Pierpont, and Francis M. Sabine of Bangor, Vice Presidents; Rev. Mr. Buck, of Brattleboro', and Rev. R. Parks, Secretaries.

On Monday morning the Montreal police seized three hundred loaves, the property of five different bakers, which were under weight, and distributed them to various charitable institutions. Some of the loaves were half a pound under weight!

EVANSVILLE, Ind., Oct. 16—3 P. M.—In 77 counties, Willard, Dem., has 5000 majority over Morton, Anti-Nebraska.—The Legislature is doubtful. The Democrats will probably have a majority in the House.

NEW YORK, Oct. 18.—The official returns of the Pennsylvania election come in slowly, and in a majority of cases are slightly favorable to the Democrats, increasing the majority which they claim for their ticket.

Accidents to Steamers.—The Hamburg steamer Borussia, which arrived here yesterday from Hamburg, sprung a leak when within 200 miles of this port. Some trifling damage was done to the mails and passengers' baggage, but the cargo is not injured.—A despatch from Norfolk states that the steamer Texas, from Aspinwall for this port, with 750 passengers, has put into that port, leaking badly and short of provisions.

Mass Meeting of the North Americans.—The Mass Meeting of the North Americans last evening at the Academy of Music, was an imposing demonstration. The building was crammed, notwithstanding the violent storm. Chauncey Schaffer presided, and speeches were made by Geo. Law, Thos. A Jenckes of R. I., Lieut. Gov. Ford of Ohio, and Butler G. Noble of Wis.

They all took the ground that the slavery issue overrides all others; that Americanism rests upon freedom, and that both must stand or fall together.

Correction. — Hon. L. H. Masson of Montreal, a member of the Provincial Parliament of Canada, publishes a card in the Herald, denying unequivocally the statements in the N. Y. News and Express, by a Mr. H. B. Means of Fort Covington, to the effect that he (Masson) had told Means that he was well acquainted with the father of John C. Fremont, and that the latter was born in Montreal, etc. Mr. Masson says he don't know Mr. Means;—never saw him, and that he never used any such language as that attributed to him by Mr. Means.

PHILADELPHIA, 18th.—The Republican and North American State Committee, together with a portion of the Fillmore State Committee, last night agreed unanimously upon a fusion ticket, based upon the proposition of the Union Committee, in their call for a Union State Convention to be held at Harrisburg on the 21st inst., viz.:

Twenty-six names in common, the twenty-seventh name to be different on the tickets voted for by the Fremont and Fillmore men respectively; the vote of electors, if chosen, to be cast pro rata according to the vote given for the 27th name respectively. It was also agreed that the Electoral ticket to be voted for by the Fremont men should be headed by the name of John C. Fremont, and that to be voted for by the Fillmore men by the name of Millard Fillmore. A portion of the Fillmore Committee refused to agree, and passed resolutions to that effect.

THANKSGIVING IN MAINE.

THURSDAY, NOV. 20.

The following is the Proclamation by Gov. Wells, for a day of Public Praise and Thanksgiving in Maine:

In accordance with a venerated usage, established in the first settlement of the country by our virtuous and pious ancestors, and subsequently continued by their descendants, I do, with the advice and consent of the Council, appoint Thursday, the twentieth day of November next, as a day of Thanksgiving and Praise; and recommend to the people of this State to assemble on that day in their usual places of public worship, and return their sincere and unfeigned thanks to Almighty God for innumerable favors and blessings which He has bestowed upon them, not only during the past year, but for the whole period of their existence.

Let us thank Him for His constant benevolence and loving kindness; for a bounteous harvest and rich increase of flocks and herds, making glad the hearts of the laborer and husbandman; that no fatal pestilence or wasting disease in any unusual degree has deprived us of our friends and relatives, but a pure and invigorating atmosphere has brought to us health and strength; that He has fostered the various pursuits of industry, and that the earth, the air and the sea have yielded to man the tribute which He has imposed upon them.

Let us thank Him that our national Constitution, the foundation of our free institutions, and the rich legacy of our fathers, has thus far been preserved to us; that the American people have been endowed with a practical ability, which has enabled them to found a great and powerful republic, holding a high rank among the nations of the earth; and that although at times our political fabric has experienced the rude and violent shocks of conflicting opinions, reason has never failed to resume its sway over folly and prejudice, and peace and quiet have uniformly followed the deepest excitement.

Let us praise the Lord, because He "is merciful and gracious, slow to anger, and plenteous in mercy," and because his goodness to us is immeasurable and boundless.

He is truly our Maker and Father, and we, the work of His hands, and his dependent children, are bound to yield to Him a ready and willing obedience, a warm and filial affection, that we may promote our own happiness and fulfill the purposes of our creation.

Let us praise Him for our redemption from sin, and that He has opened a way by which every creature may enjoy a happy and glorious immortality in an eternal world, where virtue and goodness will be protected, and wickedness deprived of its power.

And while we offer to Him the homage of grateful hearts for the abundance He has given to us, may we not be unmindful that every man is our brother, and has a claim upon our sympathies, and that we should be active to relieve the wants of the poor, and the sufferings of the afflicted.

"THINK OF ME."

The little faded Pansies
Were wet with morning dew,
When my gentle sister plucked them
In the valley where they grew.
'Tis a most romantic valley,—
But O, so far away,
I can only see its beauty
By the light of memory.

Yet I have strayed so often
In the days that are a-gone,
By the side of Cassewaga,
With the peerless "Dark-eyed Fawn,"
That the voice from these dear Pansies,
Pleading so tenderly,
I needed not to call me back—
I always "think of thee."

Yes, in the daylight of my life,
And in my dreams, I see
The garden where they blossomed,
Beside the almond tree,—
I hear the ripple of the stream
That glides so near the door,
And a sigh comes heavy from my heart,
For "the days that are no more."

In the back-ground of life's picture
Those golden days appear,
And lend a wealth of sunshine
To a landscape brown and sere;
For they whisper softly of a time
When love and hope were new,
And every blossom of the heart
Was wet with morning dew.

Ah, sacred be the memory
Of youth's dear land to me!
And sacred be each leaf and flower
And each o'erhanging tree!
But in the garner of my heart
I keep with tenderest care
The memory of those who sit
Beneath the "Home-roof" there. J.L.P.

MAN LOST UPON THE WHITE MOUNTAINS.—Mr. Benjamin Chandler, of Washington, Del., an old man seventy-five years of age, left his home the fourth of August last for the White Mountains. He was traced to the Glen House and from that place up Mount Washington, since which he has not been heard from. About the time when he might have been upon the mountain, a voice was heard, at eleven o'clock at night, at the Crawford House; and the sound apparently coming from Mount Webster, some of the guides proceeded with lanterns in search of it, but upon arriving upon the mountain it was lost. It is supposed that he may have fallen over a precipice or have lost the path. His son and friend have been in search of him the past week, and have given him up as lost. He was subject to mental aberration, but at the time he left home was supposed to be well in this respect.

A GREAT NATIONAL WORK.

SPENCER'S HISTORY OF THE UNITED STATES.—In another column may be found the advertisement of a book with the above title, to which we take pleasure in renewedly calling the attention of our readers.—This truly national work is published in semi-monthly parts, at 25 cents each. The current parts, Nos. 13 and 14, are before us, containing a view of the Battle of Lexington and a portrait of Henry Clay. The execution of these plates is an honor to our native artists, and quite creditable to the enterprising publishers of the work.—The author, the Rev. Dr. J. A. Spencer, of New York, is a gentleman highly esteemed as an eminent and classical scholar, a profound thinker, and an able historical writer. He is well qualified to do justice to his theme. The book only needs to be examined to be appreciated. Its popular character should insure its author and publishers an extensive sale. — Boston Transcript, Sept. 4th.

SPENCER'S UNITED STATES.—We have received Nos. 14 and 15 of this great national work.—They contain an excellent treatise on the "wisdom and necessity of the Declaration of Independence." In the appendix to Chapter 19, are copies of several Revolutionary Documents, an original draft of the Declaration, and Judge Drayton's celebrated Address to Admiral Lord Howe and General Howe. Also, an extract from John Quincy Adams's Oration on the 4th of July, 1831. These numbers bring the history down to the entrance of the British fleet into the Chesapeake, to attack Philadelphia, August, 1777. The Illustrations of these numbers are a portrait of Henry Clay, and the Battle of New Orleans—two of the finest engravings we have ever seen. This work is an honor to the age.—Buffalo Republic, Sept. 29.

There is a wonderful combination of native talent of the first order in this truly National Work.—New York Times.

After a brief examination of the above work, we have no hesitation in expressing our agreement with the foregoing high encomiums from excellent authority. The execution of the book is splendid—the engravings are original, and done in the very highest style of art.

W. S. Weightman, 22 Bromfield street, Boston, is the general agent for New England States.

Mr. Thomas Weston, the travelling agent, is now in Portsmouth—stopping at Chas. W. Walker, Esq's, Market Street House,—where copies may be obtained by any citizens who may be omitted to be called upon.

FIFTY YEARS IN THE PENITENTIARY.—William B. Smith, charged with killing his own son, has been convicted of manslaughter in the first degree by the Circuit Court of Tippah county, Miss., and sentenced to a term of fifty years in the State prison.—Smith is now over 70 years of age, and will, according to the "higher laws" of nature, be reprieved by death before the expiration of fifty years.

J. W. MOSES would call the attention of his friends, customers, and the Public in general to the fact, that he has in his store, at No. 8 Market street, a good assortment of Broadcloths, Pilot and Beaver Cloths, plain and fancy Doeskins and Cassimeres, Black and fancy Velvets, plain and figured Satins and Grenadin Vestings, &c., which he will make to order or sell either with or without cutting or making, at fair prices.

He has a large assortment of furnishing Goods, consisting of Shirts, Collars, Cravats, Suspenders, Handkerchiefs, Under-Shirts and Drawers, &c., &c.

All Garments made by him warranted to be as good as can be had in this city. The above are new Goods, having been selected with care from large Stocks in Boston, and just received. September 26. is3w

A PERFUMED BREATH.—What lady or gentleman would remain under the curse of a disagreeable breath, when using the "Balm of a Thousand Flowers" as a dentifrice would not only render it sweet, but leave the teeth white as alabaster? Many persons do not know their breath is bad, and the subject is so delicate, their friends will never mention it. Pour a single drop of the "Balm" on your tooth-brush and wash the teeth night and morning. A fifty cent bottle will last a year.

A BEAUTIFUL COMPLEXION may easily be acquired by using the "Balm of a Thousand Flowers." It will remove tan, pimples and freckles from the skin, leaving it of a soft and roseate hue. Wet a towel, pour on two or three drops, and wash the face night and morning

SHAVING MADE EASY.—Wet your shaving brush in either warm or cold water, pour on two or three drops of "Balm of a Thousand Flowers," run the beard well and it will make a beautiful soft lather, much facilitating the operation of shaving. Price only 50 cents.

FREMONT,
THE MUSTANG CANDIDATE.

If Col. Fremont had as many friends as the Mustang Liniment, the opposition could not draw a corporal's guard. Mr. Fremont remarked in his dispatches to President Fillmore, while transporting horses and cattle over the plains of Mexico, "That if the Government would send him on a liberal supply of Mustang Liniment, it would save 25 per cent. of his horses." This is very important for all Farmers and Liverymen to know. The Mustang Liniment is a wonderful article for man or beast. It should always be used for Sores, Swellings, Stiff Joints, Burns, Bruises, Rheumatic Pains, &c., and for Galds, Sprains, Spavins, Ringbone, &c., upon horses.—BEWARE OF IMITATIONS. The Mustang is sold by all respectable dealers everywhere.

Great American and Foreign Office

For Securing Patents for Inventions.

Agency for business with US Patent Office, Washington

R. H. EDDY,

No. 76 State st, oppo. Kilby st, Boston.

IMPORTANT INFORMATION TO INVENTORS. The Subscriber (late Agent of the U. S. Patent Office, under the Act of 1837) determined to present advantages in applying for Patents superior to those offered inventors by others, has made arrangements whereby on applications prepared and conducted by him, THIRTY DOLLARS (instead of twenty, as paid back by others,) will be remitted by him in case of failure to obtain a patent, and the withdrawal thereof by him within thirty days after the rejection.

This Agency is not only the largest in New England, but through it inventors have advantages for securing patents, or ascertaining the patentability of inventions, unsurpassed by, if not immeasurably superior to, any which can be offered them elsewhere. The testimonials below given prove that none is MORE SUCCESSFUL AT THE PATENT OFFICE than the subscriber; and as SUCCESS IS THE BEST PROOF OF ADVANTAGES AND ABILITY, he would add that he has abundant reason to believe, and can prove, that at no other office of the kind are the charges for professional services so moderate—The immense practice of the subscriber during twenty years past, has enabled him to accumulate a vast collection of specifications and official decisions relative to patents. These, besides his extensive library of legal and mechanical works, and full accounts of patents granted in the United States and Europe, render him able, beyond question, to offer superior facilities for obtaining patents.

Caveats, Specifications, Assignments, and all Papers and Drawings necessary to the procural of patents in this and foreign countries prepared and advice rendered on legal and scientific matters respecting inventions, or infringement of patents. All necessity of a journey to Washington to procure a patent, and the usual great delay there, are here saved inventors.

Copies of claims of any patent furnished for one dollar. Assignments recorded at Washington—Patents secured in Great Britian, France, and other foreign countries, through Agents of the highest respectability.

R. H. EDDY,
Solicitor of Patents.

Testimonials.

"During the time I occupied the office of Commissioner of Patents, R. H. Eddy, Esq., of Boston, did business at the Patent Office, as Solicitor of Patents. There were few, if any persons acting in that capacity, who had so much business before the Patent office; and there were none who conducted it with more skill, fidelity, and success. I regard Mr Eddy as one of the best informed and most skilful Patent Solicitors in the United States, and have no hesitation in assuring gentlemen that they cannot employ a person more competent and trustworthy, and more capable of putting their application in a form to secure for them an early and favorable consideration at the Patent Office.

EDMUND BURKE,
Late Commissioner of Patents."

From the present Commissioner.

AUGUST 17, 1855.—During the time I have held the Office of Commissioner of Patents, R. H. Eddy, Esq., of Boston, has been extensively engaged in the transaction of business with the office, as a Solicitor. He is thoroughly acquainted with the law, and the rules of practice of the Office. I regard him as one of the most capable and successful practitioners with whom I have had official intercourse.

TREMONT MILLS.

Teas, Coffees, Chocolates, Cocoas, Spices, &c.

WHOLESALE,—AND ALSO IN SMALL PACKAGES.

E. E. DYER & CO.

(Sign of the Chinaman grinding coffee.)

141 Washington St., Boston,

SUPPLY the best, finest and purest articles, at lowest cash prices. Their Stock consists of Teas, Coffees, Chocolates, Allspice, Pepper, Mustard, Ginger, Cayenne Pepper, Nutmegs, Cinnamon, Cloves, Cream Tartar; Taraxacum, or Prepared Dandelion Root, &c., &c.

Having every facility for manufacturing and preparing the several articles named, the public may rely upon having them pure and genuine, as they are put up carefully, and bear our name and label, "TREMONT MILLS, E. E. DYER & CO."

To give consumers some idea of our sales, we annex the following scale of prices, viz:

5 lb. Souchong Tea,	1.50	5 lb. Mocha Coffee,	1.00
5 lb. Oolong "	1.75	5 lb. Java "	1.00
5 lb. Y. Hyson "	2.25	5 lb. good "	1.00

☞ The Spices are put up in ¼ and ½ lb. tin cases, expressly for family use, and are warranted to be strictly a pure article, and only need a trial to establish them in public favor.

SPANISH COFFEE.—We would call the attention of customers and dealers to our Spanish Coffee, as an article which is highly esteemed, and gives the greatest satisfaction. It is prepared with particular care, and by a peculiar process in roasting, one pound of this coffee, it is believed, is equal to 1½ lb. of any other.

DANDELION COFFEE.—This article is carefully prepared at our Mills, and put up in packages having our trade mark, and may be relied upon as the best and most approved mixture of dandelion and coffee.

TARAXACUM, or Prepared Dandelion Root.—This article is prepared and roasted at our Mills, is retailed by Family Grocers generally in city and country, and bearing our trade mark, "Chinaman grinding coffee," may be relied upon as the GENUINE ARTICLE. The proportion used is about one-half the quantity of coffee. The price is 20 cents per pound, and it is warrented to be the same as that which has been sold for fifty cents a pound by Druggists.

The medical properties of Dandelion are well-known, and held in high estimation by all who use it. This being a preparation of the root, with all its medicinal virtues retained, can be mixed with coffee or not, as best suits the taste, and will be found cheap and economical as a family beverage, one pound of which being nearly equal to two pounds of coffee. It is prescribed by many eminent physicians to invalids, children and aged persons, as a nutritious beverage, and as a remedy for Dyspepsia, Bilious complaints, &c.

☞ Be careful to observe that all our Coffees have our trade mark, "Chinaman grinding coffee."

☞ To Grocers and Dealers a liberal discount is made, enabling them to supply their customers at the same low rate.

☞ TO CASH PURCHASERS—Our object being to secure large sales at small profits, we offer inducements which cannot be afforded by those who do business on the credit system; and we confidently invite an examination of the quality of our stock and our prices, as compared with those of any other house.

GRANITE STATE HORSE SHOW,

AT MANCHESTER.

We have been for a week endeavoring to find time and space for a column of notes we made while on a two-days' trip to Manchester to visit the Horse Show, &c., Sept. 30, Oct. 1st and 2d. But the Printing Celebration in Portsmouth, and a thousand other matters, have absolutely forbidden. We have now only a chance to acknowledge the unbounded hospitality of John B. Clarke, Esq., of the Manchester Mirror, the leading spirit in the Show; and to copy a part of his remarks, and a list of the premiums awarded, from his paper:

The number of horses entered for the Show was not so great as anticipated, though, in fact, the "points" of those that were entered, in the eyes of those whose opinions on such a subject are generally regarded, were far superior to those ever seen at a State Fair or a kindred show in New England, except the one at Springfield, and the one at Boston. The premiums were so large that many men having excellent horses, thought, "of course somebody else must take such a premium," and so they would not contend. Especially among the class of horses of about three minute gait, and from that to 3.10, a very large class in this State, the owners had heard so much about those that could go in the thirties, that they thought there was no chance for them, and they would not pay the entrance fee for nothing.

One thing hurt the Show, both in the number of horses, and the number of spectators, more than all other things put together. We mean the visit of President Pierce, and his great reception at Concord.

The number of horses entered for premiums, either County or State, was about 160, besides some six or eight notables out of the State, admitted free.

There were twelve classes of horses, and on each class except where speed was the only test, five Judges, all men of reputation, that could not be bribed, and a majority of them excellent judges of horses. There was not a single committee but what a quorum of it was composed of men that cannot be cheated many dollars in a horse. They looked a horse through and through anatomically, without regard to its owner.

We now give the entries and premiums in the order in which they were examined.

Stallions for General Utility, Four years old or under. Thirteen stud colts entered. First premium, $40, awarded to W. P. Balch, Jr., of Hancock, for his Morgan Chieftain, 3 years old, chesnut. Second premium, of $20, to F. H. Lyford, of Manchester, for his 3 year old Morgan "Clifton," chesnut. Under the head of two years old and under, first premium of $10, to James Walker, of Bedford, for his 1 year old colt "Pathfinder." Second premium of $5 to Henry White, of Wilmot, for his 2 year old "Black Hawk."

Stallions for General Utility, Five years old and upwards. Eleven stallions booked. "Flying Tiger," a chesnut, 7 year old Black Hawk, owned by Cyrus Dunn & Co., of Manchester, took the first premium of $100. Upon this the Judges agreed upon the first ballot, unanimously, without consultation. Second premium of $50, to Henry H. Smith, of New Market, for his Messenger and Morgan, 8 years old, "Emperor." "Young Green Mountain Morgan," 8 years old, dark chesnut, owned by Chase & Prouty, of Milford, took the third premium of $25. Chas. W. Barker, of Hillsborough, took the fourth premium of $15, for Chesnut Morgan, 5 years old. D. M. Taggart, of Goffstown, took the fifth of $10, for his chesnut Morgan, 13 years old.

Matched Carriage Horses. Seven spans were booked. Morrison & Fling, of Manchester, took the first premium of $40 for a pair of bay horses, one 6 and the other 7 years old. Hiram Bell, of Henniker, took the second premium of $20 for a pair of Black Hawks, 5 and 6 years old.

Saddle Horses. Only four horses booked, S. L. Fogg, of Manchester, took the first premium of $10 on his Gray Black Hawk, 6 years old. Frank W. Miller, of Portsmouth, took the second premium of $5 on his 6 year old chesnut mare "Jessie," three-quarters thorough bred.

Fastest Geldings and Mares. Nine horses booked. "Lady Swan," entered and driven by Henry H. Smith, of New Market, took the first premium of $75, making the time on the final trials of 2.44—2.45—2.46. A Black Hawk mare entered and driven by James Turner, of Manchester, took the second premium of $50, making the final trials in 2.53—2.56—2.57. "White Stockings," owned and driven by John S. Carr, of Goffstown, took the third premium of $25, making the final trials in 2.57—3.01—3.05. He was declared winner amid the shouts of the multitude, as he had trotted so many times, and in the previous trials had given the best of them a hard chase. James Buchanan, driven by James Turner, of Manchester, was declared winner of fourth purse of $15, making the three heats in 3.01—3.03—3.05. A horse owned by John Kinsley, of Peterborough, won the fifth prize of $10. The time was not furnished by the Judges.

Brood Mares.—Only five entries. Ephraim Pickering, of Newington, took the first premium of $40 for a mare 17 years old. Geo. W. Baker, of Bradford, took the second of $15. W. C. Richardson, of Goffstown, took the third of $5.

Family Horses.—Twenty-one horses entered, making a fine display, in various vehicles, some driven by ladies and others by the sterner sex. John W. Joy, of Manchester, took the first premium of $50. John S. Kidder, of Manchester, took the second premium of $20. S. W. Gale, of Exeter, the third premium of $10; and Morrison & Fling, the fourth premium of $5.

Colts.—Ten booked. First premium for two years old, of $10, to Harvey Hadley, of Peterborough. Second of $5 to G. C. Smith, of Auburn. One year old, first premium of $10 to J. W. Pierce, of Greenland. Second premium of $5 to Wm. R. French of Bedford.

Pacing Horses.—Only one booked. "Tecumseh," a bay gelding, owned and driven to a skeleton wagon by Joseph Marshall, Manchester. There is no pacer in the State that can compete with him. To make up the start, James Turner rode to saddle a Black Hawk gelding from Dover: "Tecumseh" won two straight heats in 2.55—2.52. He was then put in a sulky and driven alone by Turner, making a single mile in 2.34.

Fastest Stallions.—Five horses booked. The "Leighton Horse," owned and driven by John Wiggin, of Dover, won the first premium of $100, making the final trials in 2.43—2.51—2.49. "Flying Tiger," owned by Cyrus Dunn & Co., of Manchester, won the second prize of $60, making the final trials in 2.51½—2.56—2.56½.—"Granite Boy," owned by J. G. Eaton, of Manchester, won the third prize of $35, making the final trials in 2.52—3.00—2.58. The "Emperor," owned and driven by H. H. Smith, of New Market, won the fourth, $20, making the final trials in 2.65 1-2—3.01—2.59. The "Young Green Mountain Morgan," owned by Chase & Prouty, of Milford, won the fifth, $10, in 3.08—3.13—3.05.

Running Horses.—Two horses entered. "Fire Fly," a thorough bred, owned by Morrison & Fling, Manchester, won the first prize of $20, in 2.18—2.03. "Nelly Bly," owned by S. L. Fogg, Manchester, won the second, of $10, in 2.16 1-2—2.20. "Fire Fly" has never yet been beaten on mile heats, and is a match, we think, for "Lady Digby."

FOOT RACE.—Eight competitors, and an exciting race; time not given. B. . Beaman, of Manchester, won the first prize of $7, and F. S. Parker won the second of $3.

Three Mile Heats and Repeat.—Only two competitors were entered for the $100 purse, "Lady Swan" and "Flying Tiger," the former driven by Smith and the latter by Turner. The former won in 8.49 and 9.25. This closed the exhibition.

The "Young Morrill Horse" was here for show, from Vermont, but was not a competitor. He made an elegant appearance, and his mile in 2.46. The details of the trotting we do not propose to give. In all cases the horses were divided into classes, first according to speed, and some had to trot many miles before the contest was over. We have given only their final trials. Most of the fast horses were driven by James Turner, Henry H. Smith, and John Wiggin, and much credit is due to them for their good judgment, fairness and courtesy. Not a dispute occurred at the Judges' stand, and there was not a particle of disturbance on the grounds.

Too much credit cannot be given to R. D. Mooers, Chief Marshal, and his Assistants, for their promptness and efficiency. Men well acquainted with such exhibitions unite in testifying that they never knew a Fair so well directed, tracks kept so clear, and everything so "up to time."

The Show gave the greatest satisfaction among horsemen of all classes, except those whose horses did not take the premiums.

Morning Chronicle.

TUESDAY, OCTOBER 21, 1856.

PENNSYLVANIA.—The Philadelphia North American says:

The Democratic State Committee has intelligence upon which it claims that the Democratic party has carried the State ticket by at least five thousand majority, fifteen out of the twenty-five Congressmen, and a majority of seven in the Legislature on joint ballot, with three members in doubt.

The Boston Courier, speaking of Pennsylvania and Indiana, says:

We feel no exultation in this. While we wish Mr. Fremont to be defeated, we do not wish the Democratic party to be successful. But did the gentlemen who have been blowing Fremont trumpets and beating Fremont drums really believe that the great heart of the Northern people was bounding in unison with their candidate, a gentleman not much known to the mass of the voters in those great States by which the destiny of this country is mainly controlled? His name has been really no spell of popular power.

The result of this Republican agitation has been—what all anti-slavery agitation does in the long run—to strengthen the Democratic party. A sectional party will never take hold of the masses of the people. Men who have their bread to earn will not run the risk of disunion and civil war.—The Democratic party have got hold of the idea of nationality — whether rightly or wrongly it is of no use to inquire—and that is the idea which will prevail in a real struggle.

This language is remarkably similar to that of Mr. Cobb of Georgia, uttered here last winter. He began by saying he would not discuss the right and wrong of slavery—but went on to show that we were bound by a bargain to support it.

The extract also establishes our position, that the only issue of any public interest in the national election is,—shall slavery be extended and nationalized? or shall it be kept within bounds?

If the people of this country choose slavery, they can have it. Brooks stands ready with his cudgel to strike down the first unarmed and unwarned man who has spoken against oppression. Douglas is ready to concoct new measures to give power to slavery. Atchison, Stringfellow, Buford & Co. stand ready to rob and burn, to murder and ravish. Herbert is ready to shoot down the first waiter who dares to speak the truth to a drunken gentleman—and other men in Congress and out of it, are ready to say Amen.

Perhaps none of the names of Presidential candidates have any spell of popular power—but intelligent freemen will consider the principles and policy supposed to be represented by the names.

The New York Journal of Commerce says: "It is difficult to say which party in this city, the Buchanan men or the Fillmore men, received the returns from Pennsylvania with the greatest enthusiasm.—Universally they congratulated each other on the rout of the common enemy. The fact is, as a general thing, the Fillmore men desire, as the chief object, to see Fremont thoroughly whipped; and whichever candidate can do it in the best style, is their man. They have simply been mistaken in over-estimating the political strength of Mr. Fillmore, and for that reason have withheld their support from the only man who is at all competent to lead them to victory. In several instances, to our personal knowledge, they have already declared for Mr. Buchanan, or hold themselves in readiness to do so."

The New York Mirror, commenting on Pennsylvania, says:

Unless the Fillmore party go over to Buchanan, body, boots and breeches, the Republicans will sweep the State. The honest old Quakers will turn out about 70,000 strong, when the one great issue comes fairly and squarely before the people, and throw their weight in favor of Freedom and Fremont.

BOTTS ON DUELLING.—Hon. John M. Botts having received a challenge to mortal combat from R. A. Pryor, Esq. of Richmond, nobly replied as follows:

"Your life could not be the value of a pin's head to me, and I am sure I should derive no comfort from making your wife a widow or your children fatherless—therefore I have no desire to take it; while my own life is not only of value to me, but indispensable to the support and happiness of my family, and I hope to make it useful to my country—therefore, I am not disposed to place it at your disposal."

Three cheers for John M. Botts.

☞ Rev. Walter Harriman addressed a Buchanan meeting at Newport, on Saturday evening, Oct. 11th.

☞ Rev. P. S. Adams of Newport, N. H., addressed the Claremont Fremont Club on Thursday evening of last week. His text was—"Exhort one another—so much he more as ye see the day approaching."

NEW YORK, Oct. 20.—The Tribune's special correspondent writing from Lawrence, Oct. 17, says that 240 emigrants had been arrested near the Nebraska line by Col. Cook at the head of the dragoons. They were on their way to Lecompton. It is supposed they were arrested because found in a body. The story that a writ is issued for the arrest of Sheriff Jones is false.

Gov. Geary boards with Sheriff Jones. The special Court for the trial of the Free State prisoners, convened to-day. Not a pro-slavery man has yet been arrested in the territory, by order of Gov. Geary.

The people of the free States are now called upon to endorse such doings as these, by their votes. The question is, Will they do it? Will they vote to sanction such wrongs?

The Pennsylvanian (Mr. Buchanan's prime organ) tells its friends that the "tremendous struggle" necessary to give that State to Buchanan has only begun, and very earnestly warns them to beware of thinking otherwise.

Its editor doubtless understands that there is some latent feeling in Pennsylvania, in favor of freedom—and that this latent feeling is now likely to be aroused.

A POLITICO-RELIGIOUS ASSAULT.—Wm. H. Kingsbury, a Democrat of Jewish extraction, was before the Police Court of Boston, for pulling the nose and spitting in the face of J. W. Hobbs, a Fremont man, because the latter said the Democrats abused the clergy of the present day, and also persecuted the settlers in Kansas, in the same spirit in which Christ and his followers were persecuted 1800 years ago. Justice Russel considered the assault one of an aggravated nature, and held Kingsbury in $200 for trial at the Municipal Court.

☞ At Evansville, N. Y., a gentleman with a very fine, high-spirited four year old horse, had driven down to the station for the purpose of accustoming his horse to the locomotive whistle. As the train appeared, the engine screamed of course, as an engine only can scream, and at the first sound of the whistle, the horse fell down dead in his tracks—the victim of a mortal fright.

CALIFORNIA ROBBERIES.—The agent of the Pacific Express Company at Stockton, Cal., September 12th, says:—"I have just been shown a letter from Belvidere Flat, which states that a store had been broken open and robbed of its contents, including a large iron safe which contained between $7000 and $8000. A neighbor has put an extra chain and lock on a grizzly bear, which he has, lest the rogues take him next."

SONS OF TEMPERANCE.—The Massachusetts Grand Division Sons of Temperance held its annual session in Boston on Wednesday, Oct. 15th, at which time the following Officers were elected for the ensuing year:—Henry D. Cushing of Boston, G. W. P.; Fisher A. Kingsbury of Weymouth, G. W. A.; E. B. Dearborn, 46 Washington street, Boston, G. Scribe;—David S. Tarr of Boston, G. T.; Rev. Samuel Kelly of Charlestown, G. Chap.; E. H. Starbuck of Quincy, G. Con.; M. W. Stevens of Stoughton, G. Sent.; Joseph M. Newhall of Salem, P. G. W. P.

BEAR HUNT.—'Old Bruin' had taken up his quarters in a corn-field, owned by Mr. Samuel Knox, in Chatham, N. H., and had helped himself to the best he could find for a number of weeks. On Monday morning last about twenty of the farmers in that region, entered a piece of woods that had long been his retreat, and succeeded in routing him, and with the assistance of the ladies of the place, killed him. He measured six feet in length and 5 feet in girt. His hind foot was 11 inches long, and fat enough to eat. The fat cut 4 inches on the rump. He weighed 457 lbs.

☞ A serious accident occurred last week at a new block of stores being erected in Claremont, N. H., from which four workmen narrowly escaped with their lives.—They were upon a staging about thirty-five feet high, laying a brick wall, when a portion of the wall fell upon the staging, carrying it, the four men, bricks, mortar, hods, &c., to the ground. Mr. Henry Walker and Mr. Austin, masons, were dug out from the heap of rubbish, considerably bruised—the tenders escaped with but little injury. Neither of the four who fell with the staging, singular as it may seem, had any bones broken.

☞ As the passengers were being landed, Wednesday evening, Oct. 15th, from the Boston packet Modena, at Truro, a plank started from the small boat which was proceeding to the shore; she sank, and three persons were drowned, viz:—Amos Sellew, A. G. Wharf, and Mr. Shepherd, from Boston.

☞ An ear of Ohio White Corn, measuring 12 inches in length, 7 in circumference at the larger end, and 6 near the tip, and containing on actual count, 760 grains, was grown the present season on a farm near Brooklyn, L. I., and is merely a sample of the best of the ordinary yield, and not a single instance of extraordinary excellence.

GOOD PICKING.—Mr. Josiah F. Twiss, of Hollis, N. H., on the first day of October, picked and barrelled twenty barrels of apples, by hand; and on the seventh day of the same month, picked twenty-two barrels. Mr. T., says the Nashua Telegraph, challenges the state for a competitor. We hardly supposed there were so many apples on any one man's farm this year.

☞ So necessary is recreation, a philosopher well says, that if you should build schools without play-grounds, nobody would get beyond short-division, in a lifetime.

☞ The U. S. sloop-of-war Cyane, Robert G. Robb, Commander, arrived at Boston Friday, from St. Johns, N. F., 7th inst. Officers and crew all well.

VERY NICE. — The Superior Court in Suffolk county, Mass., recently quashed an indictment for an assault upon a female, on the ground that it did not appear by the indictment that it was a not female cat.

☞ Mr. Orlando Cross, foreman on repairs of the Railroad at Bethel, Me., while taking a gun from his hand-car on Friday, hit it against the tools, firing it off, the charge taking effect in the fleshy part of the arm. Amputation of the arm was necessary.

☞ A large school of blackfish were driven ashore on the beach at Truro, Cape Cod, last week. There were about 40 of these fish, worth at least $1000. They fall to nine persons.

NICE WAGONS,—In our advertising columns, will be found a business card of Mr. J. S. Robinson, carriage-maker, at Exeter. Those of our readers who visited either the Fair at Exeter, Manchester or Concord, will remember a very light and beautiful wagon, exhibited by him,—which far eclipsed everything of the kind at either show, and bore off two premiums—as, indeed, it would take the premium anywhere. Mr. Robinson makes all sorts of open carriages, for business or pleasure riding.

SNOW.—The White Mountain Banner says the first snow of the season fell at the White Mountains on Monday evening last. Mt. Lafayette, of the Franconia range is also covered.

HAYDEN'S IMPROVED VEGETABLE PURGATIVE PILLS.
NOTICES FROM THE PRESS.

From the Boston Traveller, Aug. 22, 1848.

DR. HAYDEN'S PILLS.—Mr. Slade, the agent for Dr. Wm. R. Hayden's Improved Vegetable Purgative Pills, in Rockingham Co., N. H., informs us that within six weeks past he has sold three thousand boxes of Dr. Hayden's Pills, mostly at retail. Many of them, he says, have been used for the bowel complaint, now so prevalent, with the most complete success, and in no case which has come to his knowledge have they failed to effect a speedy cure.

WOOD'S HAIR DYE.—This admirable article is rapidly improving the hair. No article of a similar kind, now before the public, enjoys a better reputation as a restorative and invigorating hair tonic. Its peculiar chemical qualities have a beneficial effect upon the growth and character of the hair, giving a silky and glossy texture to that which was formerly of a coarse and dry nature. It has, also, we understand, a tendency to preserve the youthful color of the hair, and destroying or counteracting the effects of age. With such recommendations in its favor, we hardly perceive how any lady or gentleman should be without so valuable an adjunct to their toilet. The article may be had of the Druggists throughout the country.—[Missouri Democrat.

HEALTH AND STRENGTH.

☞ DR. S. O. RICHARDSON'S SHERRY WINE BITTERS is the best Medicine ever used, for Summer Complaints. It has been more liberally patronized than any other ever established in this country. It is the same Richardson's Bitters which has restored so many invalids to health throughout New England during the past thirty years.

N. B.—Beware of imitations called Sherry Wine Bitters. The genuine have a fac simile of my signature upon the outer envelope. For sale by druggists everywhere, and at my office, No. 51 Hanover St., Boston. aus*6m

THE GREAT DISCOVERY.

Many years ago, Doctor Burleigh Smart, of Kennebunk, Me., discovered that a simple article never before used as a medicine, was a never failing cure for coughs of every description, and an excellent blood purifier. By its use in his private practice, he acquired the reputation of being the best physician in New England, for all diseases of the lungs. After his death, Messrs. Shaw & Clark of Biddeford, Me., obtained a Copy Right from Government, for its exclusive manufacture, and now have it carefully prepared strictly according to the original recipe. There is no cough that it will not cure, unless the patient is past all human aid before commencing its use! It is called "Doctor Burleigh Smart's Cough Medicine," and is for sale by all apothecaries. au27 TuThS& 6m.

☞ THE STRATHAM THIEVES.—The Exeter News Letter says of the arrest of "Dr." Stephen Drew & Company, in Stratham, last week,—that a great variety of articles was found in the house where the suspected persons were taken, and a large load of such as were supposed to have been stolen was carried to Exeter. Their value has been estimated at over $2,000. Since the first, two other men living in another house, have been arrested on suspicion of being connected with the former. They all have been lodged in jail, and their trial for commitment has been postponed, we understand, till Monday 27th instant.

"The Greatest Book of the Age!"

History United States,

From the earliest Period to the Present Time.

BY J. A. SPENCER, D. D.,

Member of the New York Historical Society, Membre de la Societe Orientale de France, author of "Egypt and the Holy Land," etc., etc

THIS National History, written by an accomplished American author, and copiously and beautifully embellished by American artists, (among whom are Leutze, Weir, Vanderlyn, Powell, Chapman, Chappell and Oertel,) commends itself by its sterling merit to the favorable consideration of the American public.

No pains or expense have been spared to render this work worthy of being in every respect hailed as a Book for the American People.

Every Public Institution of our country, every Family—every citizen should possess such a National Work, that he may con over its instructive records, and kindle his patriotism at its spirit stirring narrative; and point to its exhibition of genius and skill, with those feelings of fervent enthusiasm, which such a production of native talent cannot fail to awaken in the heart of every true American.

The work is now in course of publication in semi-monthly parts, price twenty-five cents each, delivered at the Subscriber's residence or sent by mail postage free. Subscribers' names respectfully solicited, and all letters and inquiries promptly replied to by the Publishers.

Rev. J. C. BODWELL, Framingham,	" 19
Rev. HORATIO STEBBINS, Portland,	" 26

The Committee, in arranging the programme for their third Course of Lectures, have determined to invite only lecturers of decided merit and, believing that in a course of popular lectures instruction should be blended with amusement, they have decided to introduce a NEW FEATURE, by connecting with the usual series upon miscellaneous topics, a short SCIENTIFIC COURSE; and have therefore secured the services of Messrs. Whittaker and Sprague, whose lectures are appropriately illustrated, and of the most entertaining character. It is believed that the course of lectures before this Association the coming season, will surpass in point of interest and variety, as it certainly will in regard to the expense incurred, any ever before given in this city.

Tickets $1.—To be had at the Bookstores.
Doors open at 7—commence at 7½ o'clock.

LOCAL.

FOOT RACE. — We hear of a foot race having come off in this city, on Monday afternoon. A young Englishman, whose name we do not know, ran the mile from the Plains to the Creek in five minutes and a half. The bet was $10 a side, that he could not do it in six minutes. He was stripped to the waist; and wore tights, with knee buckles, stockings and rubbers. That is doing the mile pretty quick, and he earned all he got. It is thought he could have made considerably better time.

☞ The schr. Eliza Ann, Capt. Clarkson, lying at Jones & Chesley's wharf, was broken open between Saturday P. M. and Monday morning, and several articles stolen, viz: one fowling piece, an Epitome of Navigation, and a new trunk containing clothing—in all of the value of 30 or 40 dollars.

SUSPICIOUS?—On Sunday evening, as two young men of this city, were returning from Dover, their horse shied from the entrance of the old lane or road leading to the ferry; and on examination, a couple of men were seen crouching under the trees, in a strange manner for honest men.

Previous to this, as a gentlemen with his wife, was driving into the city, coming from the same direction, a couple of fellows in a wagon passed them several times, and drove across their path as if about to stop them—but the gentleman drove swiftly off, and was not otherwise molested.

☞ A Kansas Aid effort is now in progress in this city by ladies of several religious societies, who will canvas their several fields, to solicit contributions for the sufferers in Kansas. Of course such a canvas as this will reach only a portion of the community. Any persons on whom they may not call, and who would like to aid our suffering friends there, may leave their benefactions at Mr. Joseph H. Foster's Bookstore—or with Hon. I. Goodwin, who will act as treasurer.

☞ There were a large number of guns fired in this city, Monday evening, by somebody—doubtless by the Democrats, to celebrate their victories in the late elections.

☞ The Democrats of this city are to hold a meeting in Jefferson Hall to-morrow (Wednesday) evening, to be addressed by Hon. B. F. Butler of Lowell; and are to form a torch-light procession.

LAUNCH.—We are informed that the fine ship "Charger" will be launched from the yard of Elbridge G. Pierce, Esq., on Peirce's Island, this afternoon about five o'clock.

THE MANCHESTER VETERANS.

This unrivalled military company, or rather battalion, whose visit to Portsmouth at our late Centennial Celebration, gave all beholders so much gratification—were highly pleased with their reception here, and since their return home, have expressed their satisfaction as follows:

A CARD.—At a meeting of the Amoskeag Veterans, holden at their Armory on Tuesday Evening, Oct. 7, 1856, upon their return from their excursion to Portsmouth, Messrs. Isaac W. Smith, Benj. F. Ayer and C. E. Potter, were chosen a Committee to report resolutions.

At an adjourned meeting, holden on Wednesday Evening the 15th inst., the Committee reported the following, which was unanimously adopted:

The Amoskeag Veterans being desirous to acknowledge publicly the hospitalities they enjoyed, and the attentions they received upon their late tour to Portsmouth, unanimously resolve that they hereby tender their hearty thanks—

1st.—To Hon. Richard Jenness, Mayor of Portsmouth; to Hon. Ichabod Goodwin, to E. N. Fuller, Esq. and to the citizens of Portsmouth generally, including particularly the printers, for their generous hospitality and courteous attention during their stay in Portsmouth.

2d.—To the Portsmouth City Guards, for their welcome reception upon the arrival of the Veterans in that city, and for courtesies extended to their fellow soldiers.

While this Battalion left their homes to participate in celebrating the One Hundredth Anniversary of the introduction of Printing into the State of New Hampshire, and to honor the "Art of Arts,"—one which exercises more influence upon the world than any and all other callings, and to recognize publicly its importance to the world and its utility to civilization, and to honor the men who honor this invaluable invention: the Amoskeag Veterans have incurred a debt of gratitude for the generous hospitalities and considerate attentions extended to them, which they will be proud to repay whenever an occasion shall occur, and which will ever be gratefully remembered. Attest, B. P. CILLEY, Clerk.

NEW YORK, Oct. 18.—From San Juan.—The steamer Texas, from Nicaragua, arrived here this evening. Her California news has been anticipated. She brings $157,000 in specie, and upwards of 700 passengers.

Capt. Peter Shepherd, aged 77 years, died at San Juan del Norte, Oct. 4. He was the oldest white resident of the place, and the original grantee of the famous Shepherd grant.

The Texas left in the port of San Juan, Oct. 6, the following English steamers:—Orion, line-of-war ship, 91 guns; Empereuse, frigate, 52; Arrogant, frigate, 44; Archer, sloop-of-war, 14; Intrepid, gunboat, 6: Pioneer, do., 6; Victor, do., 6. The English sloop-of-war Cossack, 20 guns, sailed on a cruise Oct. 4.

BALTIMORE, Oct. 19.—New Orleans papers of Monday last are received.

The steamship Perseverance, of the New Orleans and Galveston line, was burned at a Texan port on the 3d inst.

CHICAGO, Oct. 18.—The propeller Falcon was burned at her dock last night, together with 15,000 bushels of wheat. The Falcon was running in the Western Transportation Co.'s line, and was worth $30,000; no insurance.

FLORIDA ELECTION.—So far as returns have been received, the vote for Governor is as follows:

Walker, (American)	1,535
Perry, (Democrat)	1,476
American majority	59

In 1854, when the Democratic Governor was elected by 1039 majority, these counties gave a majority of 670 for the candidate of that party. There are thirteen counties still to be heard from, which gave a Democratic majority in 1854 of 369; in which, however, are Orange, Dade and and Monroe, all of which are expected to give large American majorities.—Boston Courier.

SOUTH CAROLINA.—The result of the election in the Charleston District of South Carolina is quite gratifying. Mr. Miles, the gentleman elected to Congress, and the candidate of the Americans, is more national than any of the candidates nominated. He represents the conservative feeling of Charleston, as opposed to Messrs. Gadsden, Rhett, etc.—Boston Courier.

BALTIMORE, Oct. 19th.—The steamship City of Savannah, from Savannah for Baltimore, sprung a leak in a severe storm on Tuesday last, off Cape Hatteras. The pumps became choked, and the crew were unable to clear them. The rising water soon extinguished the fires, and the vessel sunk on Thursday. The bark Sylph took off the officers and crew, who arrived here last night. The steamer was valued at $30,000; insured for $20,000. Her cargo was valued at $70,000, believed all insured. She belonged to the new steamship company between Savannah and Baltimore, and formerly sailed under the name of "Freeman Rawden."

KANSAS AND GOV. GEARY.—A Washington correspondent of the New Orleans Delta, says:

"Colonel Buford, who has recently returned from Kansas, gives a flattering account of Southern prospects there. He will proceed South, and address the people at all the State capitals on his route. He is satisfied that Southern emigrants will be protected—and, indeed, the character of the new Governor, Col. Geary, backed by a more stringent policy on the part of the Administration, is a sufficient guarantee of that."

THE PEACE IN EUROPE LIKELY TO BE SHORT.—The Liverpool Journal of Oct. 4 says in its "History of the Week":—

The late war does not appear to have given very general satisfaction; it was too brief for England, too long for France, too humiliating for Russia, and too revolutionary for Turkey. We would have liked another tussle, and would not have been greatly displeased to have another turn with the Muscovite; the Muscovite himself is eager to tell the world that he is still full of fight, and refuses to abate one jot of his pretensions to assist in regulating the affairs of Europe. The Porte denies that the allies did him any real service, and laments that the intercourse with the infidel disturbed the guarantee given by Heaven in favor of the perpetuity of the true believer. The reforms are delusions, and the pretensions of the principalities to union and independence an outrage on the hereditary rights of the Sultan. The "man of destiny," in the shadow of the Pyrenees, revolves in his own mind, like one of Homer's heroes, what may be considered the decrees of fate, but chooses not to be explicit as to his views or intentions. In this state of things it is apprehended that the peace of Europe cannot be permanent.—The circumstances all around give notice of discontent. Italy is ripe for revolt, and stands on tiptoe, endeavoring to see what France and England are going to do.—Will they do anything?

FREE SPEECH IN VIRGINIA.—Another new case has just occurred, which shows that even white men are slaves at the South.—The Rev. Charles Howard Malcolm, has been dismissed from the pastoral office of the Baptist Church in Wheeling, Va., upon the written charge brought against him: "in consequence of certain remarks in your report to the Board leading to the belief that you intend to teach abolition sentiments in connection with the pastorate of said Church," and for refusing "to promote the cause of Christ in harmony with Suthern institutions."

LULA AT HER HARP.

BY T. B. ALDRICH.

A mellow music haunts the night!
The tinkling of a harp-string fills
The air with shapes, and sends a troop
Of dreamy echoes through the hills!

The town, the moor, the sandy beach,
Seem wrapp'd in some sweet mystery;
I walk, as 'twere, in Fairy land,
And unseen Fairies walk with me!

'Tis only Lula at her harp—
And nothing cares the little maid
Whether she charm me, listening here,
Or yonder beetle in the shade!

—Boston Transcript.

FATAL RESULT.—S. W. Cutting, the gunner, whose hands were blown off, and who sustained severe bodily injury on the occasion of the salute fired on Boston Common in honor of Mr. Fillmore's nomination by the National Convention, died on Sunday morning. It is to be hoped, says the Boston Courier, that, in view of this event, a sum of money will at once be collected to place his widow and children beyond the reach of poverty.

The firing of salutes for nominations, is a very poor business. If we have such silly things at all, it is better to wait till somebody is elected.

From the Boston Saturday Evening Gazette.

A PERFUMED BREATH.—What lady or gentleman would remain under the curse of a disagreeable breath, when using the "Balm of a Thousand Flowers" as a dentifrice would not only render it sweet, but leave the teeth white as alabaster? Many persons do not know their breath is bad, and the subject is so delicate, their friends will never mention it. Pour a single drop of the "Balm" on your tooth-brush and wash the teeth night and morning. A fifty cent bottle will last a year.

A BEAUTIFUL COMPLEXION may easily be acquired by using the "Balm of a Thousand Flowers." It will remove tan, pimples and freckles from the skin, leaving it of a soft and roseate hue. Wet a towel, pour on two or three drops, and wash the face night and morning

SHAVING MADE EASY.—Wet your shaving brush in either warm or cold water, pour on two or three drops of "Balm of a Thousand Flowers," rub the beard well and it will make a beautiful soft lather, much facilitating the operation of shaving. Price only 50 cents.

FREMONT, THE MUSTANG CANDIDATE.

If Col. Fremont had as many friends as the Mustang Liniment, the opposition could not draw a corporal's guard. Mr. Fremont remarked in his dispatches to President Fillmore, while transporting horses and cattle over the plains of Mexico, "That if the Government would send him on a liberal supply of Mustang Liniment, it would save 25 per cent. of his losses." This is very important for all Farmers and Liverymen to know. The Mustang Liniment is a wonderful article for man or beast. It should always be used for Sores, Swellings, Stiff Joints, Burns, Bruises, Rheumatic Pains, &c., and for Galds, Sprains, Spavins, Ringbone, &c., upon horses.—BEWARE OF IMITATIONS. The Mustang is sold by all respectable dealers everywhere.

Singer's Sewing Machines.
THESE celebrated machines are in practical and profitable use in all parts of the civilized world. In all the various trades, and in sewing every sort of fabric, either of cloth or leather, they have been fully tried and approved. Sewing machines of other manufacturers often fail to work, but SINGER'S MACHINES being strong, durable and complete in contrivance and workmanship. A perfect sewing machine kept employed affords a clear profit of $1000 a year; but an imperfect one is a cause of constant vexation and loss. The entire RELIABILITY of our machines is one great reason for their unparalleled popularity.

ALWAYS OPERATE PERFECTLY,

MACHINES FOR FAMILY SEWING, of a frail and delicate construction, are recommended by other manufacturers. Such machines are made to catch the eye, not to perform substantial work. The truth is, family sewing machines ought to be stronger than any other, because they go into less skilful hands than when sold to manufacturers, and are used for a greater variety of work. The machines which have proved best for all other purposes must be best for family use, and they are Singer's. The speed of our machines has lately been doubled. No other can compare with them in quantity of work.

☞ New machines of the latest improved style will be exchanged on liberal terms for old sewing machines of our own make, or for operative machines of other manufacturers. Local agents wanted to sell our machines.

N. B.—All persons desiring full information about sewing machines, can obtain it by applying for a copy of "I. M. Singer & Co.'s Gazette," a paper devoted entirely to the subject. It will be sent gratis. I. M. SINGER & CO.

AYER'S Cathartic Pills,

(SUGAR COATED,)
ARE MADE TO
CLEANSE THE BLOOD AND CURE THE SICK
Invalids, Fathers, Mothers, Physicians, Philanthropists, read their Effects, and judge of their Virtues.
FOR THE CURE OF
Headache, Sick Headache, Foul Stomach,

PITTSBURGH, PA., May 1, 1855.

DR. J. C. AYER. Sir: I have been repeatedly cured of the worst headache any body can have by a dose or two of your Pills. It seems to arise from a foul stomach, which they cleanse at once. If they will cure others as they do me, the fact is worth knowing.
Yours with great respect, ED. W. PRERLE,
Clerk of Spencer Citizen.

Bilious Disorders and Liver Complaints.

DEPARTMENT OF THE INTERIOR,
WASHINGTON, D. C., 7 Feb., 1856.

SIR: I have used your Pills in my general and hospital practice ever since you made them, and cannot hesitate to say they are the best cathartic we employ. Their regulating action on the liver is quick and decided, consequently they are an admirable remedy for derangements of that organ. Indeed, I have seldom found a case of bilious disease so obstinate that it did not readily yield to them.
Fraternally yours, ALONZO ELLIS, M. D.,
Physician of the Marine Hospital.

Dysentery, Relax, and Worms.

POST OFFICE, HARTLAND, LIV. CO., MICH., Nov. 16, 1855.

DR. AYER: Your Pills are the perfection of medicine. They have done my wife more good than I can tell you. She had been sick and pining away for months. Went off to be doctored at great expense, but got no better. She then commenced taking your Pills, which soon cured her, by expelling large quantities of worms (dead) from her body. They afterwards cured her and our two children of bloody dysentery. One of our neighbors had it bad, and my wife cured him with some of your Pills, while others around us paid from five to twenty dollars doctors bills, and lost much time, without being cured entirely even then. Such a medicine as your sugar, which is actually good and honest, will be prized here.
GEO. J. GRIFFIN, Postmaster.

Indigestion and Impurity of the Blood.

From Rev. J. V. Himes, Pastor of Advent Church, Boston.

DR. AYER: I have used your Pills with extraordinary success in my family and among those I am called to visit in distress. To regulate the organs of digestion and purify the blood they are the very best remedy I have ever known, and I can confidently recommend them to my friends. Yours, J. V. HIMES.

WARSAW, WYOMING CO., N. Y., Oct. 24, 1855.

DEAR SIR: I am using your Cathartic Pills in my practice, and find them an excellent purgative to cleanse the system and purify the fountain of life—the blood.
JOHN G. MEACHAM, M. D.

Erysipelas, Scrofula, King's Evil, Tetter, Tumors, and Salt Rheum.

From a Forwarding Merchant of St. Louis, Feb. 4, 1856.

DR. AYER: Your Pills are the paragon of all that is great in medicine. They have cured my little daughter of ulcerous sores upon her hands and feet that had proved incurable for years. Her mother has been long grievously afflicted with blotches and pimples on her skin and in her hair. After our child was cured, she also tried your Pills, and they have cured her. ASA MORGRIDGE

Rheumatism, Neuralgia, and Gout.

From the Rev. Dr. Hawkes, of the Methodist Episc. Church.

PLEASANT HILL, SARANNAH, GA., Jan. 5, 1856.

HONORED SIR: I should be ungrateful for the relief your skill has brought me if I did not report my case to you. A cold settled in my limbs and brought on severe fits of neuralgic pains, which ended in chronic rheumatism. Notwithstanding I had the best of physicians, the disease grew worse and worse, until, by the advice of your excellent agent in Baltimore, Dr. Lackenbe, I tried your Pills. Their effects were slow, but sure. By persevering in the use of them I am now entirely well.
SIMEON CHANDLER, BATON ROUGE, LA., 5 Dec., 1855.

DR. AYER: I have been entirely cured by your Pills of Rheumatic Gout—a painful disease that had afflicted me for years. VINCENT SEIBOLD.

For Dropsy, Plethora, or kindred Complaints, requiring an active purge, they are an excellent remedy.

For Costiveness or Constipation, and as a Dinner Pill, they are agreeable and effectual.

Fits, Suppression, Paralysis, Inflammation, and even Deafness, and Partial Blindness, have been cured by the alterative action of these Pills.

Most of the pills in market contain Mercury, which, although a valuable remedy in skilful hands, is dangerous in a public pill, from the dreadful consequences that frequently follow its incautious use. These contain no mercury or mineral substance whatever.

AYER'S CHERRY PECTORAL

FOR THE RAPID CURE OF
and for the relief of consumptive patients in advanced stages of the disease.

We need not speak to the public of its virtues. Throughout every town, and almost every hamlet of the American States, its wonderful cures of pulmonary complaints have made it already known. Nay, few are the families in this civilized country on this continent without some personal experience of its effects; and fewer yet the communities any where which have not among them some living trophy of its victory over the subtle and dangerous diseases of the throat and lungs. While it is the most powerful antidote yet known to man for the formidable and dangerous diseases of the pulmonary organs, it is also the pleasantest and safest remedy that can be employed for infants and young persons. Parents should have it in store against the insidious enemy that steals upon them unprepared. We have abundant grounds to believe the CHERRY PECTORAL saves more lives by the consumptions it prevents than those it cures. Keep it by you, and cure your colds while they are curable, neglect them until no human skill can master the incurorable canker that, fastened on the vitals, eats your life away. All know the dreadful fatality of lung disorders, and as they know too the virtues of this remedy, we need not do more than to assure them it is still made the best in our power. We spare no cost, no care, no toil to produce it the most perfect possible, and thus afford those who rely on it the best agent which our skill can furnish for their cure.

Great American and Foreign Office

For Securing Patents for Inventions.

Agency for business with US Patent Office, Washington

R. H. EDDY,
No. 76 State st, oppo. Kilby st, Boston.

IMPORTANT INFORMATION TO INVENTORS. The Subscriber (late Agent of the U. S. Patent Office, under the Act of 1837) determined to present advantages in applying for Patents superior to those offered inventors by others, has made arrangements whereby on applications prepared and conducted by him, THIRTY DOLLARS (instead of twenty, as paid back by others), will be remitted by him in case of failure to obtain a patent, and the withdrawal thereof by him within thirty days after the rejection.

This Agency is not only the largest in New England, but through it inventors have advantages for securing patents, or ascertaining the patentability of inventions, unsurpassed by, if not immeasurably superior to, any which can be offered them elsewhere. The testimonials below given prove that none is MORE SUCCESSFUL AT THE PATENT OFFICE than the subscriber; and as SUCCESS IS THE BEST PROOF OF ADVANTAGES AND ABILITY, he would add that he has abundant reason to believe, and can prove, that at no other office of the kind are the charges for professional services so moderate. The immense practice of the subscriber during twenty years past, has enabled him to accumulate a vast collection of specifications and official decisions relative to patents. These, besides his extensive library of legal and mechanical works, and full accounts of patents granted in the United States and Europe, render him able, beyond question, to offer superior facilities for obtaining patents.

Caveats, Specifications, Assignments, and all Papers and Drawings necessary to the procural of patents in this and foreign countries prepared and advice rendered on legal and scientific matters respecting inventions, or infringement of patents. All necessity of a journey to Washington to procure a patent, and the usual great delay there, are here saved inventors.

Copies of claims of any patent furnished for one dollar. Assignments recorded at Washington. Patents secured in Great Britian, France, and other foreign countries, through Agents of the highest respectability. R. H. EDDY.
Solicitor of Patents.

Testimonials.

"During the time I occupied the office of Commissioner of Patents, R. H. Eddy, Esq., of Boston, did business at the Patent Office, as Solicitor of Patents. There never was a person acting in that capacity, who had so much business before the Patent office; and there were none who conducted it with more skill, fidelity, and success. I regard Mr Eddy as one of the best informed and most skillful Patent Solicitors in the United States, and have no hesitation in advising inventors that they cannot employ a person more competent and trustworthy, and more capable of putting their application in a form to secure for them an early and favorable consideration at the Patent Office.
EDMUND BURKE,
Late Commissioner of Patents."

From the present Commissioner.

AUGUST 17, 1855.—During the time I have held the office of Commissioner of Patents, R. H. Eddy, Esq., of Boston, has been extensively engaged in the transaction of business with the office, as a Solicitor. He is thoroughly acquainted with the law, and the rules of practice of the Office. I regard him as one of the most capable and successful practitioners with whom I have had official intercourse. CHAS. MAGNIN,
Commissioner of Patents.

TREMONT MILLS.

Teas, Coffees, Chocolates, Cocoas, Spices, &c.

WHOLESALE,—AND ALSO IN SMALL PACKAGES.

E. E. DYER & CO.
(Sign of the Chinaman grinding coffee,)
141 Washington St., Boston,

SUPPLY the best, finest and purest articles, at lowest Cash prices. Their Stock consists of:

Teas, Coffees, Chocolates, Allspice, Pepper, Mustard, Ginger, Cayenne Pepper, Nutmegs, Cinnamon, Cloves, Cream Tartar; Taraxacum, or Prepared Dandelion Root, &c., &c.

Having every facility for manufacturing and preparing the several articles named, the public may rely upon having them pure and genuine, as they are put up carefully, and bear our name and label, "TREMONT MILLS, E. E. DYER & CO."

To give consumers some idea of our sales, we annex the following scale of prices, viz:

5 lb. Souchong Tea,	1.50	5 lb. Mocha Coffee,	1.00
5 lb. Oolong "	1.75	5 lb. Java "	[illegible]
5 lb Y. Hyson "	2.25	5 lb. good "	1.00

☞ The Spices are put up in 1 and ½ lb. tin cases, expressly for family use, and are warranted to be strictly a pure article, and only need a trial to establish them in public favor.

SPANISH COFFEE.—We would call the attention of customers and dealers to our Spanish Coffee, as an article which is highly esteemed, and gives the greatest satisfaction. It is prepared with particular care, and by a peculiar process in roasting, one pound of this coffee, it is believed, is equal to 1¼ lb. of any other.

DANDELION COFFEE.—This article is carefully prepared at our Mills, and put up in packages having our trade mark, and may be relied upon as the best and most approved mixture of dandelion and coffee.

TARAXACUM, or Prepared Dandelion Root.—This article is prepared and roasted at our Mills, is retailed by Family Grocers generally in city and country, and bearing our trade mark, "Chinaman grinding coffee," may be relied upon as the GENUINE ARTICLE. The proportion used is about one half the quantity of coffee. The price is 20 cents per pound, and it is warranted to be the same as that which has been sold for fifty cents a pound by Druggists.

The medical properties of Dandelion are well-known, and held in high estimation by all who use it. This being a preparation of the root, with all its medicinal virtues retained, can be mixed with coffee or not, as best suits the taste, and will be found cheap and economical as a family beverage, one pound of which being nearly equal to two pounds of coffee. It is prescribed by many eminent physicians to invalids, children and aged persons, as a nutritious beverage, and as a remedy for Dyspepsia, Bilious affections &c.

☞ Be careful to observe that all our Coffees have our trade mark, "Chinaman grinding coffee."

☞ To Grocers and Dealers a liberal discount is made, enabling them to supply their customers at the same low rates.

☞ TO CASH PURCHASERS.—Our object being to secure large sales at small profits, we offer inducements which cannot be afforded by those who do business on the credit system; and we confidently invite an examination of the quality of our stock and our prices, as compared with those of any other house.

MAINE MATTERS.

The Portland Argus publishes the following letter from Neal Dow to the Albany Prohibitionist, as evidence that the Maine Law is to be re-enacted this winter, though the Republicans had said this question was not in issue. It is somewhat remarkable, however, that Mr. Dow does not say in his letter, that it will be re-enacted this winter,—but he does say in the last three lines, something about a question of expediency. We suppose the new legislature of Maine will not re-enact that law the coming winter—but rather bring out the question of license or prohibition, to be passed upon by the people at a State Election next year. No one as yet knows exactly what they will do—but this is probable. But here is the letter:

PORTLAND, Sept. 15, 1856.

AMASA MCCOY, ESQ.—Dear Sir:—Your letter of the 12th has just come to hand. I lose no time in answering your inquiry as to the position of the Rum party in Maine, as the result of our recent election. I am constantly receiving letters from all parts of the country, asking for information upon that point; and I find that the Temperance men everywhere have been looking anxiously for the word which Maine would speak for the cause on the 8th.

Maine has spoken the word, which has sent joy to the hearts of our friends, and spread dismay through the ranks of our enemies. The Rum party is annihilated in Maine; "defeated" does not express the fact; "annihilated" is the only word.

The present administration of the State came into power upon the pledge of favoring "a suitable prohibitory law." It declared that the MAINE LAW was unnecessarily harsh and severe in its penalties, and that its objects could be accomplished as well or better by a law with less stringent provisions.

By a very small majority, the people consented to try the experiment. The party was no sooner successful, than it proceeded to repeal the Maine Law, and re-enact the License Law, which had been repealed since 1846. These were the leading measures of the Legislature, the State administration, and the party. That was its only platform on State issues—"License for Grog-shops, and No Prohibition."

This administration presented itself before the people, and entreated them to support it and its policy. The answer is an empatic No. The majority against it is so tremendous, that the party can have no hope ever to rise again.

The Maine Law had entirely extinguished the open sale of intoxicating liquors throughout the State. Intemperance had nearly disappeared from amongst us; and the people saw but little and felt but little of the terrible results of that vice. But the new system, or rather the old system revived, has already, in less than six months, filled our cities, towns and villages with open rum-shops of every grade, and our streets, watch-houses, jails and almshouses with drunkards. The people are disgusted with the party in power, are mortified and pained at the disastrous result of the "experiment"—and they have hurled the authors of this great mischief from their high places, by a majority greater than any party ever had before in the State.

Our Legislature elect are almost unanimously Maine Law men; and the course to be pursued by us, is simply a question of expediency. Truly yours,

NEAL DOW.

The Maine Expositor, (which was the leading Anti-Maine law paper in Maine,) laughs at the fears of the Argus, in the following style:

We heard the echo of these Democrats and Whigs in a Straight, before we saw the letter; and are wholly disappointed in the purport of the letter. We supposed it to have contained a representation, that the issue of our late election was nothing but Maine Law, and total prohibition, and that the anti-Maine Law electors had suffered an irreparable repulse.

But, on looking the letter over, we see nothing in it that is not the legitimate exultation of Mr. Dow, and those who think with him. He speaks of the condition of the anti-Maine Law party of last year, and that it is now annihilated. As a party, honorably elevated to power to maintain a sentiment of opposition to the Maine Law, it has no longer an existence. It is annihilated. And how? By its own impotent, and odious substitution of a law for the Maine Law, such as is impossible of execution, and commands nobody's respect, and nobody's fear, or observance. They obliterated everything like a practical license system, and have thrown open the flood gates of intemperance by bad legislation, even wider than any judicious friend of a useful license system can any where approve. The anti-Maine Law party, through the debauched legislation of the Wells administration which it installed, is without any organization upon the platform of last year, and has become impotent for any result whatever of a positive character;—it is, literally, annihilated and defunct. It had not even enough of popular confidence and respect to make its own miserable policy of State administration an issue in the late election. It could not lift up its head, upon any measure of its own, high enough to be hit—so utterly impotent and despised had the Wells dynasty become in State concerns. Its satellites, swore lustily, that the Maine Law was their party's great issue. The electors snapped their thumbs at this cry, and would not listen to any such duplicity. It is true, as Mr. Dow says, the people refused to uphold the Wells party, although when it was the exponent of an honest anti-Maine Law platform, the people did rally to its support. When it ceased to be an anti-Maine Law party—became a party of an odious and impracticable law, disguised under the name of license, and became far more signally a pro-slavery party, the people have practically annihilated them as a party, regardless of its original anti-Maine Law merits and pretensions. There is no longer an anti-Maine Law party organization in the State. The Wells administration has in truth annihilated it—over-slaughed it—murdered it, to make room for the bloody code of Kansas, and the Buchanan platform for extending the inhuman system of negro slavery into free territory.

MRS. STOWE ON LIQUOR DRINKING.—From the latest English advices we see that Mrs. Stowe has been invited to attend a public meeting at Derby, and in her reply declining the same on account of the absence of her husband, she takes occasion to draw attention to the evil effects of liquor upon the laboring classes of Great Britain, and the advantagee which the Maine law has been to the United States. She thinks liquor the enemy of the laboring classes of that country—as it is everywhere.

PAYMENTS FOR SPIRITUOUS LIQUORS.—The Supreme Judicial Court of Massachusetts has declared, that a negotiable promissory note, part of the consideration of which is liquors unlawfully sold, is wholly void in the hands of the promissee.

WEENESDAY, OCTOBER 22, 1856.

EXTRACTS AND RETROSPECTS.

But the result in Pennsylvania now is no criterion for November.—Boston Eve. Telegraph.

That's precisely what we say. Instead of having but 5000 or 6000 plurality in November for Buchanan, we shall have 30,000!—Boston Times.

The Pennsylvanian (Mr. Buchanan's prime organ) tells its friends that the "tremendous struggle" necessary to give that State to Buchanan has only begun, and very earnestly warns them to beware of thinking otherwise.

The Portland Advertiser says:

In 1848, the Democrats elected their candidate for Canal Commissioner at the State election in October by a majority of 2,620 votes. Yet, in November, Taylor had a plurality of over 13,000 votes over Cass, while Van Buren received a vote of over 11,000—making a plurality of over 24,000 votes against Cass in November! There are many reasons why the difference in favor of the Republicans in November next should be even larger than this—especially since it is now rendered certain that the Fillmore leaders did all that treachery could do at the State election. * * * Why was James Buchanan taken up by the Cincinnati Convention? Simply because he was considered sure of carrying his own State.

That surely, however, was soon shaken, and now is not sure.

The Providence Journal says:

Those who supposed that Fremont would be elected by the October vote of Pennsylvania alone were mistaken. Those who supposed that the battle was to be fought in November, have the fight before them. Had the republican ticket prevailed last Tuesday in Philadelphia, the defeat of Mr. Buchanan would have been assured. Pennsylvania was absolutely essential to his success. It is probable even that consultations had been held with the view of withdrawing him, had Pennsylvania pronounced against him. This was apprehended by his friends. Indeed, it was supposed on all sides that Pennsylvania gave every indication of a Republican victory. The Democrats saw the necessity of preventing this, and they adopted, with the necessary modification to suit the different latitude, the policy that had been so successful in Kansas. * * * In Philadelphia the increased vote over the hotly contested vote at the municipal election, is a fraudulent vote. We think it will appear that the total vote given in Philadelphia exceeds that which has ever been given in New York. That such a vote is fraudulent in a great degree is a fact that admits of no question. Whether it can be repeated in November is not by any means so certain. There will certainly be obstacles in the way of it which did not exist at the October trial. * * *

This exceeds the vote of New York city by over 9,000. Four of the Return Judges have entered a protest against receiving the returns from the fifteenth, seventeenth and nineteenth wards. They were, however, overruled by the majority, who evidently liked the returns all the better for the frauds.

The Boston Times of the 21st says;

We omit our table of the Pennsylvania election to-day for want of room. The additional official and corrected returns, we may as well state, increase the Democratic majority to 6,263—and it is still going up!

We gave it higher than this, a week ago—and consider the fact that we get no new figures from any quarter for two or three days, as evidence that this majority has got to the top or very near it—perhaps above it.

The Boston Courier of the 21st says:

Whatever number of electoral votes Mr. Fillmore may carry, the contest is absolutely between him and Mr. Buchanan. Either the latter will be elected, or there will be no choice by the people. * * *

A union between the Republicans and North Americans in Pennsylvania is similar to one between Wilson and Burlingame in Massachusetts. It is merely the attraction of like to like.

The Portland Advertiser says:

The Buchanan forces were thoroughly organized and kept under the hands of leaders as adroit and utterly unscrupulous as any of those who occupied the attention of the Vigilance Committee of California. As the campaign progressed they levied tribute from the whole office holding corps of the country, and used this immense fund without regard to anything else but success. Voters were imported, till the shameless fact is before the world, that Philadelphia alone, not content with exceeding the more populous city of New York, has gained since May last 14,000 unaccountable votes! This single iniquity kept our State ticket from a handsome majority. Besides, thousands of Fillmore men were induced—if they needed any inducement—to cut the Union ticket and betray their chosen allies.

Now how stands the fight in that State for November? The Buchanites have done their utmost, for exposure will winnow their ranks daily. On the contrary, we have actually lost all that we are likely to lose. But sinking all other issues and aiming alone against the extension of Slavery, we draw thousands of Germans to our banner and the whole force of the Quakers, which is an immense one. We shall organize to the very hour of election, and spread the documents into every nook of the State. Thus our strength will increase as only does the strength of good men in a good cause, and give—as we sincerely believe—the electoral vote of the Keystone State to John C. Fremont by a noble majority of freemen.

Each party, there, would pay a large premium, if success could be assured in the November election. The Pennsylvanian is right in saying the "tremendous struggle" is only begun.

A dispatch dated Philadelphia 20th, to the New York Mirror, says:

The German organ of the Republicans this morning repudiates the fusion electoral ticket, formed under the management of Weed, Johnston, Cameron, and other Fremont wire-pullers, and published a call for a meeting signed by a number of leading Republicans, to express their indignation at the conduct of the wire-pullers.

The paper referred to above is probably the Philadelphia Frie Presse, which on the 18th declared that the Republican State Convention had become convicted of the absurdity of relying upon the integrity of the Fillmore men, and had broke off all connection with them, adding:

The nomination of a clean Fremont electoral ticket, void of all "co-operative" admixtures, void of all unclean elements, will command the suffrages of all those who voted the Democratic ticket on the 14th inst., merely because a fusion with the Fillmoreites was repugnant to their feelings. The November election will result differently from the October election—it will result in the triumph of the Fremont ticket.

WHIGS.—The Charlestown, Mass., Advertiser gives the following advice to the Whigs of that State, who are trying to believe or make others believe there is vitality in their "late" party.

Venerable, gay deceivers, remnants of the past, dioting upon reminiscences: there's no use in your trying to bring back the ancient order of things, when you were in your glory. Better let go the helpless wreck you are trying to keep above water, and jump aboard some one of the ships that are floating around you, and are able to carry sail. You will never get any salvage upon that old craft; her policy of insurance expired long ago, and you had better let her go down without any more whimpering.

SNOW AT THE SOUTH.—The summits of the Blue Ridge and the highlands in Virginia within the sight of the Alexandria and Orange Railroad were covered with snow last week. At Richmond, Va., early on Wednesday morning last, there was a sprinkling of snow. Considerable hail fell the night before. Passengers by the Bay route report a fall of snow at Weldon, N. C., also on Wednesday morning, at which time the tops of the houses were covered with snow at Charlottesville, Va.

The northern institution of snow seems to be travelling south. We have had fine moderate weather here, up to the 21st, and have not seen any snow.

HORSE KILLED AT THE AGRICULTURAL GROUNDS.—On Thursday last a valuable horse belonging to Mr. Ranstead, of Dorchester, was killed in the grounds of the Agricultural Society, at the South End, Boston, under the following circumstances: The animal was taken to the enclosure for exercise and practice, and while on the track a portion of the harness gave way, which frightened the horse so that he was unmanageable, and the driver narrowly escaped. The horse passed round the track twice, and while at the top of his speed fell and broke his neck. He was a valuable animal, the owner having refused several offers of a thousand dollars for him.

THE UNION'S OPINION OF FREMONT.—When Col. Fremont took his seat in the United States Senate, the Washington Union spoke of him as follows:

"His character is marked by so many traits of enterprise, sagacity and energy, that we are disposed to augur the best results from his participations in the civil concerns of his country. His own genius has raised him to the distinguished post which he occupies—a self-balanced character will maintain him in it."

A CLERGYMAN'S TEAM STOLEN.—The pastor of a Church near Boston has recently been robbed of his mare and buggy under the following circumstances: Being in Roxbury on Monday, early in the evening, he went into a periodical store to purchase some newspapers, leaving his team at the door. He was absent but a short time, during which his team was stolen, and up to noon yesterday had not been recovered. The mare was of a light bay color, and quite a gentle animal. She was weighed a few hours before she was stolen, and her weight was 950 lbs. The buggy was lined with blue cloth. The Roxbury and Boston police have been on the look-out for the property.

GOOD SPORTING.—Frank Prince and his brother, of Manchester, shot 11 grey squirrels, 1 partridge, and a coon weighing 23 pounds, at Amherst, Saturday afternoon.

☞ The Philadelphia Times says the Senate of that State will certainly have a Republican majority.

POLICE COURT, NEWBURYPORT. — On Tuesday, Mr. Samuel Smith, a common drunkard of eighteen years' standing, was brought up for a hearing. It seems, that for the past few years, Samuel has run the salt-bag express between Newburyport and Seabrook, conveying in his capacious sack, upon his brawny shoulders, small packages of health-destroying, life-consuming, delirium-tremens fluid, to the denizens of his benighted locality. On Saturday last, says the Herald, our reader in "weasels," loaded up, and took the air-line for New Hampshire. But being loaded too much by the head, and his anatomical structure pitching heavily, he threw off his ballast, and night fast approaching, he made for a harbor, and secured a berth in a potatoe patch, where he was subsequently found riding at anchor under nearly bare poles. He was taken in tow, and moored in the Vernon street Infirmary. Judge Marston, after holding a survey upon the wreck, deemed it advisable to send it to the dry dock at Ipswich, for six months, where, under the superintendence of Mr. Ira Worcester, the shattered structure may be rebuilt.

RUN DOWN.—The clock business of Connecticut, which has been driven so extensively for several years, has completely run down. These clocks have been sent to every part of the world, and among the largest markets for them were Great Britain and China. The great competition forced prices so low, that the largest portion of the manufacturers have failed.

We never could see any benefit to be derived from doing work at less than cost—exhausting capital, men and machinery, to make goods to sell for less money than it takes to manufacture them. Anybody who does not want an article enough to pay a fair price for it, shouldn't have it.

☞ One of the boilers in the steam saw mill of Mr. Clark, of Haverhill, Ms. exploded about noon on Thursday, with a tremendous report, entirely demolishing one side of the mill, and obstructing the railroad track along the side of the building. There were two men in the mill at the time of the explosion, one of whom is said to be dangerously injured. The rest of the workmen were at dinner, having left the building but a few moments before the explosion.

☞ John Otis, Esq., a prominent citizen of Hallowell, Me., and a well known politician of Kennebec county, died suddenly at that place on Friday, at 1 o'clock P. M. Mr. Otis was a prominent member of the legal profession in Maine, and a Representative to Congress during Gen. Taylor's administration.

HAYDEN'S IMPROVED VEGETABLE PURGATIVE PILLS.

NOTICES FROM THE PRESS.

From the Boston Traveller, Aug. 22, 1848.

DR. HAYDEN'S PILLS.—Mr. Slade, the agent for Dr. Wm. R. Hayden's Improved Vegetable Purgative Pills, in Rockingham Co., N. H., informs us that within six weeks past he has sold three thousand boxes of Dr. Hayden's Pills, mostly at retail. Many of them, he says, have been used for the bowel complaint, now so prevalent, with the most complete success, and in no case which has come to his knowledge have they failed to effect a speedy cure.

WOOD'S HAIR DYE.—This admirable article is rapidly improving the hair. No article of a similar kind, now before the public, enjoys a better reputation as a restorative and invigorating hair tonic. Its peculiar chemical qualities have a beneficial effect upon the growth and character of the hair, giving a silky and glossy texture to that which was formerly of a coarse and dry nature. It has, also, we understand, a tendency to preserve the youthful color of the hair, and destroying or counteracting the effects of age. With such recommendations in its favor, we hardly perceive how any lady or gentleman should be without so valuable an adjunct to their toilet. The article may be had of the Druggists throughout the country.—[Missouri Democrat.

HEALTH AND STRENGTH.

☞ DR. S. G. RICHARDSON'S SHERRY WINE BITTERS is the best Medicine ever used, for Summer Complaints. It has been more liberally patronized than any other ever established in this country. It is the same Richardson's Bitters which has restored so many invalids to health throughout New England during the past thirty years.

N. B.—Beware of imitations called Sherry Wine Bitters. The genuine have a fac simile of my signature upon the outer envelope. For sale by Druggists everywhere, and at my office, No. 51 Hanover St., Boston. au8 6m

THE GREAT DISCOVERY.

Many years ago, Doctor Burleigh Smart, of Kennebunk, Me., discovered that a simple article never before used as a medicine, was a never failing cure for coughs of every description, and an excellent blood purifier. By its use in his private practice, he acquired the reputation of being the best physician in New England, for all diseases of the lungs. After his death, Messrs. Shaw & Clark of Biddeford, Me., obtained a Copy Right from Government, for its exclusive manufacture, and now have it carefully prepared strictly according to the original recipe. There is no cough that it will not cure, unless the patient is past all human aid before commencing its use! It is called "Doctor Burleigh Smart's Cough Medicine," and is for sale by all apothecaries. au27 TuThS& 6m.

☞ Hon. Thomas E. Sawyer, of Dover, has been appointed Cashier of the Farmers' and Mechanics' Bank at Rochester, which was chartered at the late session of the Legislature, and goes into operation in a few weeks.

"I hope, my friend," said Sydney Smith, kindly, to a brilliant young man, who had freely exhibited his opinions to the company, on variety of subjects, "that you will know as much ten years hence, as you do now."

At a church conference on the expediency of securing the new street pavement of wooden blocks, Sydney Smith gave it as his opinion that the thing might be accomplished if the vestry would lay their heads together.

Rev. HORATIO STEBBINS, Portland,	" 26

The Committee, in arranging the programme for their third Course of Lectures, have determined to invite only lecturers of decided merit and, believing that in a course of popular lectures instruction should be blended with amusement, they have decided to introduce a NEW FEATURE, by connecting with the usual series upon miscellaneous topics, a short SCIENTIFIC COURSE; and have therefore secured the services of Messrs. Whittaker and Sprague, whose lectures are appropriately illustrated, and of the most entertaining character. It is believed that the course of lectures before this Association for the coming season, will surpass in point of interest and variety, as it certainly will in regard to the expense incurred, any ever before given in this city.

Tickets $1.—To be had at the Bookstores.

LOCAL.

☞ Several of the Boston papers, among them we think the Advertiser, have stated that the United States ship Vandalia arrived at Portsmouth in Virginia, had been paid off there, and is to be repaired there. The Vandalia, however, arrived in the old harbor of Piscataqua, otherwise called the Port of Portsmouth, in New Hampshire, and now lies not very far from the Navy Yard on this station,—geographically near Kittery in the State of Maine. Her crew were paid off here; and spent much of their money in our shops and stores.

If the ship is to be repaired, the work can be done here, as well as anywhere in this country, or on this earth.

THAT LAUNCH.—We announced, Tuesday morning, that we were informed (not by any connected with the yard, however,) the ship "Charger" was to be launched on Tuesday afternoon, from the yard on Peirce's Island. A visitor to the spot at the time we set, was informed by "somebody," that the Charger would be let loose this morning at a quarter before 7 o'clock.

☞ The Keystone Club and other Democrats of this city and vicinity, announce a torch-light Procession, and addresses at Jefferson Hall by Hon. B. F. Butler and others—this evening.

☞ The Mechanics' Lyceum will open this evening at the Temple, with Readings by Mrs. Barrow.

PIANO FORTES.—It will be noticed by our advertising columns, that our enterprising neighbors, J. S. Harvey & Son, have been appointed agents for the sale of the celebrated Pianos of Chickering & Sons. We believe this is the oldest and largest Piano Forte establishment in the world. It was established in 1823, by Jonas Chickering, and it now employs about 500 men, and turns out about fifty Pianos per week, and are still unable to supply all their orders, sometimes for months, so justly are their Pianos prized both in Europe and this country. The name of "Chickering" on a Piano Forte has always been a guarantee of its superior excellence.

STOVES.—On our outside, fourth page, will be seen (we guess) a new advertisement of about a column,—telling of a large stock and variety of Stoves, for sale by Frank Jones, at No. 61 Market Street. The advertisement is rather too illustrative for our inside columns. Mr. Jones has a tremendous pile of stoves and house-furnishing goods,—and means to let the people know it. By accident, one of his stoves is printed upside down, in the advertisement—but he will always be found 'right side up," ready for a trade.

MUSICAL.—We learn that a class of Singers in Exeter and vicinity, are preparing 'Mozart's (Brevis) Requiem Mass,' under the direction of Mr. Wm. F. Lawrence, of Epping, to be brought out early this season. The accompaniement is two pianos and eight or ten instruments. The instrumentation, which is now complete, is represented to be very beautiful. This is one of Mozart's classical compositions, in the operatic style,—abounding in Solo, Duo, Quartett, Fuge and Chorus. So entire a composition has seldom if ever been performed in this vicinity; and we wish it the success it merits, and doubt not its favorable reception.

CHICAGO, Oct. 20.—Kansas.—Advices from Nebraska City give further particulars of the recent arrest of emigrants. The party numbered 250, including women and children. Mr. Eldridge, the conductor, procured permission of Gov. Geary to enter the territory with the ordinary arms of emigrants, being assured that the intentions of the party were peaceful. On arriving at Plymouth, Kansas, on the 10th inst., they found Deputy Marshal Preston, with 700 troops acting as a posse, and six pieces of artillery drawn up to oppose their further progress. The Marshal ordered them to halt, and informed the whole party they were prisoners. All the boxes, trunks, and baggage were searched, and resulted in the finding of some kegs of powder, a keg of cartridges belonging to the night guard, ten Sharpe's rifles, two dozen revolvers, and a number of common rifles belonging to individuals. The troops then took possession of all the horses, wagons, baggage, farming utensils, and a large quantity of provisions, and ordered the whole party under a guard, with instructions to the troops to shoot any one who might attempt to escape. The emigrants were mostly from New York, Indiana, Ohio, Illinois, Wisconsin, and Iowa.

THE CONGRESSIONAL ELECTIONS.—The following is the result of the recent Congressional Elections, as reported in the N. Y. Tribune:

	Democrats.	Republicans.
Pennsylvania	10	15
Ohio	4	17
Indiana	6	5

CALIFORNIA.

SAN FRANCISCO, Sept. 20.—The Committee of Vigilance have, in a great degree, closed up their garrison; their arms have been scattered, and their military gurad entirely dispensed with. Still, as Governor Johnson refuses to withdraw his proclamation declaring the State in a position of insurrection, the Committee refuse to deliver up to the authorities the State arms, and will no doubt retain them until after the Fall election. The Committee have not disbanded, but are in a state of masterly inactivity, and will only come together when an alarm shall be sounded for self-preservation; when in less than an hour's time, 4,000 men under arms will be in the street ready for action. But there is little probability of their being again called out.

Politics is scarcely up to the 'fever heat' here. Buchanan and Fremont are the leaders. Fillmore has no acknowledged organ, and the question is rather a doubtful one, though we think it will be rather a close race between the two first named champions. Here the question is mainly North and South.

The above statement was from a correspondent of the N. Y. Journal of Commerce—of course not fanatical in the least.

FROM SALT LAKE AND THE PLAINS.—The National Intelligencer has interesting intelligence from Salt Lake and the Plains, by the way of Independence, Mo.

Young has of late been making some important prophecies—among others, that if Utah is not admitted into the Union, they would set up an independent government, and that the Lord would protect them in it. They have been emboldened to this by the news which was received there from the States respecting the Kansas difficulties, which, coming as it did very much exaggerated, led them to believe that a dissolution of the Union was at hand.

On the 4th of August an attempt was made by four noted members of the "Danite Band" to assasinate Mr. Joseph Troskolowski, a United States Deputy Surveyor. Mr. T. was quietly walking alone about dusk on the principal street of Salt Lake City, when one of the ruffians stepped up behind him and knocked him senseless with the butt of a loaded horsewhip; all four then stamped upon and kicked and beat him with their whips. Messrs. Hooper and Williams hearing a cry in the street, ran out to see what it was, and arrived barely in time to save Mr. T's life at the risk of their own, for the villains drew their knives upon them, but were prevented from using them by other persons who by this time had reached the spot. Mr. T's life was despaired of for several days, but he is now slowly recovering. No reason was assigned for this outrage, nor was there anything done by the authorities to arrest the offenders. On the contrary, they paraded the city the next day, threatening to serve the other United States officers who are at present there, in the same manner; and on the following Sunday the two councillors of Brigham Young rebuked the people for having exhibited sympathy for Mr. T. and declared that the "Danite" brethren were right in annihilating the "gentiles."

Brigham is fortifying himself, as he has nearly completed a stone wall twenty feet high around his house and harem.

A party of Cheyenne Indians recently attacked the mail train about ten miles from Fort Kearney, but the party made good their escape to the fort. Captain Stewart immediately despatched a company of dragoons to search for the Indians, whom they surprised in their camp, killing ten of the Indians and wounding many more. The Indians have recently perpetrated numerous murders of whites.

FROM HAVANA.—New York, Oct. 21.—Steamer Black Warrior arrived at midnight from Havana, with dates to the 19th.

It is reported in Havana that a Spanish brig of war has 6000 stand of arms on board, destined for the use of the Spanish faction against the Dominican Republic, to be taken down in a few days by an officer of the Spanish army, and that the annexation of the West end will be insisted on by the Spanish, as another gem to the crown of Spain.

Everything is prepared for the invasion of Mexico, as soon as the expected order to that effect arrive from Madrid.

The people of the island are much excited by the fear that the late Ministerial change in the mother country will produce the removal of Gen. Concha, who seems to be deservedly popular.

Yellow fever has entirely disappeared.

Heavy rains had fallen throughout the island, which are said to be prejudicial to the cane crop.

Business in sugar is active; stock estimated at 175,000 boxes. Exchange on New York 6 1-2 a 7 discount; American half and quarter dollars are not current.

DEATH OF A SEXTON OFFICIATING AT A FUNERAL.—On Wednesday last, Mr. John Hall, sexton and undertaker connected with Rev. Dr. Lunt's church in Quincy, died suddenly while driving a hearse to a funeral. He was 56 years of age, and it is supposed the cause of his death was an affection of the heart. As he was riding along it was noticed that his hat fell from his head to the ground, and that he appeared insensible of the fact; this circumstance caused some one to approach him, when he was found to be perfectly lifeless, though he sat erect and rigid, holding the reins with a firm grasp. We doubt if there is on record a similar case of death while in the performance of professional duty of this peculiar character.—Boston Transcript.

SUSPENSION OF THE BANK OF FRANCE.—Private advices have been received by the Persia, to the effect that the Bank of France has suspended specie payments.—This event has for some time been anticipated, in consequence of the heavy amount of bonds of the "Credit Mobilier" thrown on the market beyond the means of the holders to carry. The following is the language of an eminent Paris banking house to one of the largest banking houses in Boston connected with the continent of Europe:

"P. S.—Before closing our letter, we learn the suspension of specie payments by the Bank of France announced a few hours since. The effect was to create a rise of about 2 per cent. on our funds."

From the Boston Saturday Evening Gazette.

A PERFUMED BREATH.—What lady or gentleman would remain under the curse of a disagreeable breath, when using the "Balm of a Thousand Flowers" as a dentifrice would not only render it sweet, but leave the teeth white as alabaster? Many persons do not know their breath is bad, and the subject is so delicate, their friends will never mention it. Pour a single drop of the "Balm" on your tooth-brush and wash the teeth night and morning. A fifty cent bottle will last a year.

A BEAUTIFUL COMPLEXION may easily be acquired by using the "Balm of a Thousand Flowers." It will remove tan, pimples and freckles from the skin, leaving it of a soft and roseate hue. Wet a towel, pour on two or three drops, and wash the face night and morning

SHAVING MADE EASY.—Wet your shaving brush in either warm or cold water, pour on two or three drops of "Balm of a Thousand Flowers," run the beard well and it will make a beautiful soft lather, much facilitating the operation of shaving. Price only 50 cents.

FREMONT,
THE MUSTANG CANDIDATE.

If Col. Fremont had as many friends as the Mustang Liniment, the opposition could not draw a corporal's guard. Mr. Fremont remarked in his dispatches to President Fillmore, while transporting horses and cattle over the plains of Mexico, "That if the Government would send him on a liberal supply of Mustang Liniment, it would save 25 per cent. of his losses." This is very important for all Farmers and Liverymen to know. The Mustang Liniment is a wonderful article for man or beast. It should always be used for Sores, Swellings, Stiff Joints, Burns, Bruises, Rheumatic Pains, &c., and for Galds, Sprains, Spavins, Ringbone, &c., upon horses.—BEWARE OF IMITATIONS. The Mustang is sold by all respectable dealers everywhere.

"The Greatest Book of the Age!"

History United States,

From the earliest Period to the Present Time.

BY J. A. SPENCER, D. D.,
Member of the New York Historical Society, Membre de la Societe Orientale de France, author of "Egypt and the Holy Land," etc., etc

THIS National History, written by an accomplished American author, and copiously and beautifully embellished by American artists, (among whom are Leutze, Weir, Vanderlyn, Powell, Chapman, Chappell and Oertel,) commends itself by its sterling merit to the favorable consideration of the American public.

No pains or expense have been spared to render this work worthy of being in every respect hailed as a Book for the American People.

Every Public Institution of our country, every Family—every citizen should possess such a National Work, that he may con over its instructive records, and kindle hispatriotism at its spirit stirring narrative; and point to its exhibition of genius and skill, with those feelings of fleneroo4 enthusiasm, which such a production of native talent cannot fail to awaken in the heart of every true American.

The work is now in course of publication in semi-monthly parts, price Mwenty-five cents each, delivered at the Subscriber's residence or sent by mail postage free. Subscribers' names respectfully solicited, and all letters and inquiries promptly replied to by the Publishers.

Great American and Foreign Office
For Securing Patents for Inventions.

Agency for business with US Patent Office, Washington

R. H. EDDY,
No. 76 State st, opp. Kilby st, Boston.

IMPORTANT INFORMATION TO INVENTORS. The Subscriber (late Agent of the U. S. Patent Office, under the Act of 1837) determined to present advantages in applying for Patents superior to those offered inventors by others, has made arrangements whereby on applications prepared and conducted by him, THIRTY DOLLARS (instead of twenty, as paid back by others,) will be remitted by him in case of failure to obtain a patent, and the withdrawal throu h him within thirty days after the rejection.

This Agency is not only the largest in New England, but through it inventors have advantages for securing patents, or ascertaining the patentability of inventions, unsurpassed by, if not immeasurably superior to, any which can be offered them elsewhere. The testimonials below given prove that none is MORE SUCCESSFUL AT THE PATENT OFFICE than the subscriber; and as SUCCESS IS THE BEST PROOF OF ADVANTAGES AND ABILITY, he would add that he has abundant reason to believe, and can prove, that at no other office of the kind are the charges for professional services so moderate—The immense practice of the subscriber during twenty years past, has enabled him to accumulate a vast collection of specifications and official decisions relative to patents. These, besides his extensive library of legal and mechanical works, and full accounts of patents granted in the United States and Europe, render him able, beyond question, to offer superior facilities for obtaining patents.

Caveats, Specifications, Assignments, and all Papers and Drawings necessary to the procural of patents in this and foreign countries prepared and advice rendered on legal and scientific matters respecting inventions, or infringement of patents. All necessity of a journey so Washington to procure a patent, and the usual great delay there, are hore saved inventors.

Copies of claims of any patent furnished for one dollar. Assignments recorded at Washington—Patents secured in Great Britian, France, and other foreign countries, through Agents of the highest respectability. R. H. EDDY.
Solicitor of Patents.

Testimonials.

"During the time I occupied the office of Commissioner of Patents, R. H. Eddy, Esq., of Boston, did business at the Patent Office, as Solicitor of Patents. There were few, if any persons acting in that capacity, who had so much business before the Patent office; and there were none who conducted it with more skill, fidelity, and success. I regard Mr Eddy as one of the best informed and most skilful Patent Solicitors in the United States, and have no hesitation in assuring inventors that they cannot employ a person more competent and trustworthy, and more capable of putting their application in a form to secure for them an early and favorable consideration at the Patent Office.

EDMUND BURKE,
Late Commissioner of Patents."

from the present Commissioner.

AUGUST 17, 1855.—During the time I have held the Office of Commissioner of Patents, R. H. Eddy, Esq., of Boston, has been extensively engaged in the transaction of business with the office, as a Solicitor. He is thoroughly acquainted with the law, and the rules of practice of the Office. I regard him as one of the most capable and successful practitioners with whom I have had official intercourse.

PIONEER NEWSPAPERS.—The first attempt to establish a newspaper in North America, so far as can be ascertained, was made in Boston in 1690: a sheet of four quarto pages, one of which was blank.

In 1690, Gov. Fletcher, of New York, caused Wm. Bradford—who came to this country with William Penn—to re-print a London Gazette, containing an account of an engagement with the French.

But the first regular American newspaper was undoubtedly the "Boston News Letter," which was commenced on the 24th of April, 1704.

In December, 1719, was started the second Anglo-American newspaper—the Boston Gazette.

The third American newspaper was the "American Mercurie," which appeared in Philadelphia, on the 22d of December, 1719.

The fourth—the "New England Courant"—was established at Boston, August 17th, 1721, by James Franklin, elder brother to Ben, the immortal.

The fifth Anglo-American newspaper—the "New York Gazette"—appeared October 16, 1725.

STOVES! STOVES!!

Frank Jones' Improved.

THIS Cooking Stove, from the rapid sale which it has had since its first introduction into this market, has proved itself to be far superior to all other cooking stoves yet made, in point of durability, economy, perfection in cooking, and draft.

Those about purchasing, will find it for their interest to examine this, and they will be convinced that it is useless to look further.

Every Stove warranted to give perfect satisfaction, in every particular, or no sale.

The Improved Empire State.

This Stove has been so long in the market, and so extensively used, and has given such unparalleled satisfaction, that it hardly necessary to say anything further, than that we have a large invoice of all the different sizes, for wood or coal.

Also, Repairing Pieces, of every description, which we are enabled to sell at prices that shall satisfy all.

The White Mountain

has been the favorite stove with many, for several years,—it having given such universal satisfaction wherever used, that it is thought by those who use them to have no superior.

To those who are in search of the White Mountain, I would say that I have the heaviest stock, of all sizes, to be found in this market, from which to make their selections,—at prices that cannot fail to suit.

OUR STOCK OF

Parlor Stoves

comprises all the various kinds, among which may be found the Favorite, Villa, Star, &c.

Also, a large variety of Open Parlor GRATES, of all sizes, which cannot be surpassed for elegance or price.

Oven Parlor Stoves, some very beautiful patterns, for either wood or coal.

Also, Sheet Iron Stoves, of different sizes, with and without ovens.—Pyramid stoves for Halls or Stoves. Also, Shop and Box Stoves. Ovlinders of different patterns and sizes: in fact all kinds of Stoves, for all purposes, to suit every customer.

Cabooses.

We have many different sizes of this kind of stove for use aboard vessels, which we offer at the lowest prices.

Our Stock of Stoves comprises the largest assortment, of the best patterns, ever brought into this market, which I am determined to sell lower than can be bought at any other establishment in the State, wholesale and retail.

Give us a call.

Singer's Sewing Machines.

THESE celebrated machines are in practical and profitable use in all parts of the civilized world. In all the various trades, and in sewing every sort of fabric, either of cloth or leather, they have been fully tried and approved. Sewing machines of other manufacturers often fail to work, but SINGER'S MACHINES

ALWAYS OPERATE PERFECTLY,

being strong, durable and complete in contrivance and workmanship. A perfect sewing machine kept employed affords a clear profit of $1000 a year; but an imperfect one is a cause of constant vexation and loss. The entire RELIABILITY of our machines is one great reason for their unparalleled popularity.

MACHINES FOR FAMILY SEWING,

of a trail and delicate construction, are recommended by other manufacturers. Such machines are made to catch the eye, not to barform substantial work. The truth is, family sewing machines ought to be stronger than any other, because they go into less skilful hands than when sold to manufacturers, and are used for a greater variety of work. Those machines which have proved best for all other purposes must be best for family use, and they are Singer's. The speed of our machines has lately been doubled. No other can compare with them in quantity of work.

☞ New machines of the latest improved style will be exchanged on liberal terms for old sewing machines of our own make, or for operative machines of other manufacturers. Local agents wanted to sell our machines.

N. B.—All persons desiring full information about sewing machines, can obtain it by applying for a copy of "I. M. Singer & Co.'s Gazette," a paper devoted entirely to the subject. It will be sent gratis. I. M. SINGER & CO.

MURDER OF MRS. GEORGE KNIGHTS.

The examination of George Knights, of Portland, Me., charged with his wife's murder, resulted in his committal. The facts are fully reported in the Lewiston Evangelist. From that report is condensed the following;

Mrs. Knight lay on her side, with a pillow thrown over her head, as though to smother her, and with her throat cut from a few inches front of her left ear to the same distance behind the other ear. The windpipe and both carotids were severed. At twenty minutes before ten o'clock, on Monday night, Mr. Knight left with his team and shingles for Gray Corner. About four o'clock on Tuesday morning, Mr. K. called up a man who lived eight miles from Poland, and asked to warm himself, remarking that he was cold, and had been waiting there some hours. Thus in six hours he had only gone eight miles of his journey. At seven o'clock in the morning, he entered Gray village with his team and shingles, having been but three hours going the last six miles of his journey. As he was entering the village, the messengers who had been sent after him from the scene of the tragedy, overtook him, and informed him that they had had news to communicate to him—that his wife had committed suicide. He merely remarked that he could not believe it. Without intimating a desire immediately to return home, he proceeded on with his team, and sold his shingles; and it was only at the request of the messengers that he concluded to return home with one of them in the wagon, and leave the other to come back with the team. Sometime in the morning he reached home.

It was proved that on examining the bed, a razor was found near the foot of it. It was shut, bloodless, and on examination found to be dusty. The front parlor window was out, and rested on a chair and table, and one of the casings torn off. Spots of blood and distinct prints of bloody hands were found on the window sill, as though some person in his hurry to escape had stepped on a log under the window, and, slipping, had grasped the window to prevent his falling.

Wednesday, it was thought proper to arrest Mr. Knight. Fearing that he might make an attempt to escape, two young men were sent ahead of the officers, to a hill back of the house. While there they saw Knight come out of his house, pass around it, and go near a fence, then look around. They then saw him go across a field to the edge of the woods, stop by a clump of bushes, pass into the woods, and then return. He then crossed the field and went to a neighbor's. Here he was arrested. On Thursday morning, under the fence near where he was seen to go by the young men, a common butcher knife, all covered with blood, was found. While the examination was progressing, two distinct attempts were made by Mr. K., to bribe persons to swear that, between the hours of ten and twelve he was stopping at another place.

As yet mystery hung around the whereabouts of Mr. Knight between the hours of ten Monday evening, and four Tuesday morning. Search being instituted, the track of cart wheels was discovered on the road leading to Gray, near the place where the cross road turned off from the main, to go to his house. Here it appeared, that a team had been driven out of the main travelled track into a by-path. It also appeared that the oxen had been taken off the cart, and chained to the wheels. On examining his cart, marks of blood were found on the clevispin; and on examining the shingles, more marks of what seemed to be blood were discovered. On examining his undershirt a mark of blood was seen near the wrist, and also a torn place which appeared to have been done recently for the purpose of removing the stain.—Higher up on the sleeve another appearance of blood was detected.

For the Chronicle and Phenix.

SONG OF THE GOBLIN.

BY THOMAS P. MOSES.

Come, leave the fountain gushing wild,
And haste to me, each sire and child:
I am a STREAM whose magic dews
Will banish from each breast the blues;
Not e'en Castalia's fount, of old,
Held charms like mine, that must be told.
I woo mankind where'er they be,
And bid them swim in ecstacy.

I'm winning as a maiden fair,
Of laughing eyes and silken hair;
Whose charms might tempt an anchorite,
And lead his steps to fatal night.
There's honeyed dew upon my lip,
And vast the throngs that love to sip;
Proud monarchs all my powers confess,
And kneel to taste my sweet caress.

I'm an expounder of the LAW!
High courts from me deep wisdom draw;
And when I choose, can baffle all
By mystic writing on the wall;
The Juries this and that way veer,
For they interpret me with fear.
My logic's deep and dark as death,
I silence foes by e'en a breath!

I am a GIANT, fearing nought—
My power is at high places bought;
I crush the meagre powers of earth,
Who dare oppose my right of birth;
My minions well may guard my name,
Since I have force to give them fame—
Armies of boasting foemen die
At the mad glance of my fierce eye.

I'm midnight's foul ASSASSIN, too,
And pierce full many bosoms through;
My reeking poniard is my bride,
I press it eager to my side.
With muffled step I crouching steal,
To make sweet innocence my meal.
On carriage-covered floors I feast,
From North to South, from West to East.

I am a WHIRLPOOL, deep and dark,
Engulphing many a wayward bark;
At every convolution wild,
I swallow some unmindful child!
Aye, down in my unfathomed hell,
More wrecks are strewn than sermons tell.
The outlet of my fearful roar
Is hard on Infamy's black shore.

I am DESPAIR in scarlet robe,
No mercy where I use my probe;
When inward-stinging adders coil,
I profer not the healing oil.
My spectral gaze consumes the face
That sought no shelter from disgrace.
I mock and scout at prayers and tears,
When trembling folly quails with fears.

I am grim DEATH! with awful stride,
O'ertrampling youth, and strength, and pride;
I ride the pale steed, swift as time,
And seize my prey in every clime.
I personate e'en more than these—
My name floats ever on the breeze.
No Daniel, as in days of old,
Need come 't interpret what I've told.

THURSDAY, OCTOBER 23. 1856.

A DISCUSSION.

The Boston Courier of the 22d says:

At a Free Soil political gathering in Kingston, R. I., a few days since, upon the occasion of raising a Fremont pole, an intelligent gentleman from Charleston, S. C., who was visiting the place, intimated a desire to speak at the meeting. He was opposed to the Republican party, but an invitation was promptly extended to him, and after the dedication speech had been closed, he addressed the assembly in a calm, plain and candid manner, taking the Southern view of the great questions of the day. He said he had nothing to say against Fremont or in favor of other candidates, but spoke to promote good feeling between the North and the South. He contended that the North had no better right to say there shall be no more slave States than the South had to say there shall be no more free States. He admitted the outrages in Kansas, and threw the blame upon the population of the Missouri border counties, and said the great body of the people of the South would not sustain them. He was glad the time had come when this question would be sifted thoroughly. His remarks were listened to with close and respectful attention, and loudly applauded. Mr. James Walker then spoke in reply, and at the close three hearty cheers were given for Fremont, and three more for the gentleman from South Carolina. The meeting was more interesting and more instructive from having both sides presented.

We have no doubt it was so: and yet we would ask whether tar and feathers, bludgeons, or a halter, would not have been used on any one of the republicans, who should have offered any remarks at a political meeting in South Carolina?

The gentleman falls into errors which are very common, viz. confounding right with power, considering slavery equal with freedom as a matter of right, supposing that new States must be admitted, and above all, getting off the idea of non-intervention, without using the word.

Now there is surely no must in the matter: the Constitution provides only that new States may be admitted. And if it provided that they must be, the vote of Congress would be a mere farce.

If we must not intervene, or interfere with slavery in a territory about to become a State, neither must we say a word against the polygamy, priestcraft, and priestly rule of Brigham Young & Co. in Utah—but must admit the modern Sodom into the Union with all her peculiar institutions.

A comparison of slavery with freedom, is like a comparison between honesty and stealing, or between truth and perjury.

The thief and perjurer may say that the community has no more right to prohibit these vices, than it has to prohibit the opposite virtues.

But he probably means they have not the power to do so,—though he may now and then find himself mistaken.

The Constitution purports and professes to secure the blessings of liberty,—and does not purport to extend or sustain the blessings of slavery.

The coming in of a State, is in some respects, like the coming in of a candidate. If it gets votes enough to come in, it comes. If not, it stays out.

☞ Miss Delia Webster, who has several times been imprisoned in Kentucky for aiding the escape of slaves, interested some of the citizens of Newburyport on Saturday and Sunday evenings, with a partial rehearsal of her story. But she seems to have taken a leaf from the New York Lodger's mode of advertising stories, for just as she came to the critical point, she stopped and told them that it would take an hour and a half to finish, and if they wanted to hear further they must invite her to speak again in two weeks. They did, and she will speak at the time named.

GOV. WISE PREPARING FOR THE WORST.—Gov. Wise, in a letter replying to an invitation to speak in Maryland, furnishes the following painfully interesting account of his own position:

"These views, so suggestive, I would earnestly wish to present and to press; but, to speak plainly, sir, I am obliged to remain here at my post, for whilst I am hoping for the best, I am preparing for the worst. May God grant that the nation may be saved, by the election of that good and great national conservative, James Buchanan. The great argument for the success of Democracy is that it is, at least, a respite to the nation—the only surety even for a time, of peace."

A VETERAN GONE. — The Manchester Union states that Mr. Abner Hogg died at New Boston, N. H., last week, at the age of 97. He was a soldier of the Revolution—fought on Bunker Hill and several other fields of Revolutionary fame. He was a good man and a true patriot.

TROOPS FOR FLORIDA.—The Boston Post of the 22d informs us that two companies of the 4th regiment of United States Artillery, from Fort Independence, Boston, joined by three companies from the west, under command of Major Scott, were to embark that day, on board the fine ship Arkwright, Capt. Davis, for Charlotte's Harbor, Florida, to operate against the Indians. Dr. A. N. McLaren, surgeon U. S. army, goes out with this command to join General Harney, at headquarters, as medical director.

The Post remarks, "The government is making ample preparations to put an end to the tedious and costly war in Florida during the coming winter, which is the most favorable season for operations in the everglades. The troops intended for this service comprise nearly two and a half regiments, or about two thousand men, drafted from various ports on the seaboard and at the northwest."

The government, we would add, has been making ample preparations to drive out the Florida Indians, for twenty years or so, at a cost of from 40 to 50 millions of dollars,—and at a great sacrifice of life.

We obtained Florida to recover fugitive slaves to Georgia and Alabama, and to prevent more. We admitted her to the Union for the sake of two slave Senators; and up to this hour her voters are not so numerous as those of a county in most free states. She has cost $50,000—and is worth ——.

☞ John W. Forney, Esq., Chairman of the Democratic State Committee of Pennsylvania, says in an address since the election:

It is impossible for language to convey the profound gratitude we entertain for our gallant and eloquent friends from other States who have come hither to assist us in this great struggle.

But our duty is not fully discharged.

* * * * *

From this day till the 4th of November, 1856, let meetings be held in every school district and Township in the State.

Let us keep up the fire which now burns so brightly.

Let us not be deceived by the idea that the opposition will be divided.

Fused on the 14th of October, and confused by the tremendous and memorable rebuke they have received, for trying to deceive the people of the State, they will seek to shelter themselves by another combination in November.

He evidently thinks there is yet a question to be settled.

THE FRENCH FASHIONS.—One of the French journals says that the fashions this year in the gay capital are distinguished by three characteristics: 1st, the amount of paint; 2d, the extreme smallness of the bonnet; and 3d, the extreme largeness of the dress. The paint he tells us is laid on the face;—an English clown could not well lay it on thicker. The background is a French white, and this is touched up with little daubs of rose, black, blue, brown, and other colors, according to the various positions they have physiognomically to occupy. He states that out of compliment to these fair painters, a new serial is on the eve of publication, to be called, as a companion to a work that had a great success a few years back, Les Francaises paintes par elles memes. A correspondent of the Philadelphia North American quotes the above, and adds:

We are sorry to hear that the above is a scarcely exaggerated description of the toilette of a fashionable lady of the present moment. Enormous sums are paid to the femme de chambre who excels in the laying on the paint as naturally as possible, thus giving to the skin, faded by late hours and exposure to the heated and crowded atmosphere of public assemblies, the freshness of a youthful complexion.

A WORKER.—There is said to be living upon Bate's Island in Casco Bay, off the coast of Maine, a woman of the most wonderful powers of hardihood. The island contains about five acres, the largest portion of which she has put under cultivation, raising handsome crops of potatoes and other vegetables yearly. The land never was ploughed, but has been thoroughly hoed over by her. The remaining portion she devotes to raising hay of a very superior quality, every crop of which she has mowed and cured with her own hands. The early part of the day she devotes to fishing, going through the breakers in a fragile skiff, rowing single-handed where many a strong man would quail and hesitate. The results of her day's fishing she exchanges for money and groceries with dealers who visit the island from Portland.

FATAL CAMPHENE ACCIDENT.—Catherine Parker, a colored girl 22 years of age, was fatally burned Monday evening by the bursting of a fluid lamp in a house in the "Black Sea," North street, Boston. The clothes were nearly all burned off, and much of her person burned to a crisp.

DEATH OF JUDGE GOVE.—Hon. Charles F. Gove died at his residence, at Nashua, on Tuesday morning. His disease was consumption, which has incapacitated him for active business for several years. The last winter was spent in Florida, from which place he returned in June, in a very feeble condition. His age was 63.

Judge Gove was a native of Goffstown, and a graduate of Dartmouth of the Class of 1817. He read law with Josiah Forsaith, Esq., then of Goffstown, and commenced practice in Goffstown, which town he represented in the Legislature for the years 1830–34. He was President of the Senate in 1835; Solicitor for Hillsboro' County from 1834 to '37; Attorney General from 1837 to 1842; Circuit Judge of the Court of Common Pleas from 1842 to 1848.

He removed to Nashua in 1839, which has since been his residence. For several years succeeding 1848, he was Superintendent of the Nashua and Lowell Railroad.

Judge Gove (says the Manchester Mirror,) was one of the most able men in New Hampshire. He was a prominent member of the Order of Free Masons, and is to be buried by the Most Worshipful Grand Lodge of the State, this day at 2 o'clock P. M., according to the ceremonies of that institution.

PILLAR RAISED.—One of the mammoth granite pillars to the Merchants' Bank Building in State street, Boston, was raised and placed upon its foundation, Monday. It is a nice piece of chiseling, and a splendid block of granite.

Its mate has also since been raised to its position, adding greatly to the appearance of the front of the edifice, which is likely to be one of the finest architectural specimens in Boston. The peculiarly white and beautiful granite came from New Hampshire.

☞ Judge McCord, at Montreal, Canada, decides that lottery tickets being illegal are valueless, it is therefore no offence to steal them. Three men were on trial before him for conspiring to defraud another of a lottery ticket, but although the fact was proved, the judge released them on this principle.

A NEW VARIETY OF APPLES.—Capt. Moses French, of Salisbury, Mass., has some apples of a new kind, from a tree that was grafted with Baldwins and Russets, on which the fruit has mixed, forming a very perfect apple.

Wine, fresh from the press, is selling in Cincinnati at $1.15 per gallon, while a bottle of Newark cider, with tin foil round the cork, costs $2 in most of the large cities.

WOOD'S HAIR RESTORATIVE.

THE GREATEST DISCOVERY OF THE AGE.—It seldom occurs, that we notice, under any circumstances, patent medicines, or anything of the kind, for we have a prejudice against most of them. But candor compels us to call attention to Prof. Wood's Hair Restorative. We are too juvenile to require anything of the kind, but some instances of its use have come to our knowledge which almost assure us that it is a sovereign remedy against the hair becoming prematurely gray. It is not a "Hair Dye," but upon its application as directed, the effect is produced on the skin, which brings out the original, native colored hair, without stiffness, and gives it a glossy and natural appearance. We have seen persons who have used it, and they are much pleased with it.—[Missouri Republican.

HAYDEN'S IMPROVED VEGETABLE PURGATIVE PILLS.

NOTICES FROM THE PRESS.

From the Boston Traveller, Aug. 22, 1848.

DR. HAYDEN'S PILLS.—Mr. Slade, the agent for Dr. Wm. R. Hayden's Improved Vegetable Purgative Pills, in Rockingham Co., N. H., informs us that within six weeks past he has sold three thousand boxes of Dr. Hayden's Pills, mostly at retail. Many of them, he says, have been used for the bowel complaint, now so prevalent, with the most complete success, and in no case which has come to his knowledge have they failed to effect a speedy cure.

☞ DR. S. O. RICHARDSON'S SHERRY WINE BITTERS is the best Medicine ever used, for Summer Complaints. It has been more liberally patronized than any other ever established in this country. It is the same Richardson's Bitters which has restored so many invalids to health throughout New England during the past thirty years.

N. B.—Beware of imitations called Sherry Wine Bitters. The genuine have a fac simile of my signature upon the outer envelope. For sale by Druggists every where, and at my office, No. 51 Hanover St., Boston. au26m

THE GREAT DISCOVERY.

Many years ago, Doctor Burleigh Smart, of Kennebunk, Me., discovered that a simple article never before used as a medicine, was a never failing cure for coughs of every description, and an excellent blood purifier. By its use in his private practice, he acquired the reputation of being the best physician in New England, for all diseases of the lungs. After his death, Messrs. Shaw & Clark of Biddeford, Me., obtained a Copy Right from Government, for its exclusive manufacture, and now have it carefully prepared strictly according to the original recipe. There is no cough that it will not cure, unless the patient is past all human aid before commencing its use! It is called "Doctor Burleigh Smart's Cough Medicine," and is for sale by all apothecaries. au27 TuThS& 6m.

☞ We are permitted (says the Newport, R. I., News,) to make the following extract from a private letter, just received by a gentleman in Newport, from a friend of his in California:

"Politics run high with all three parties. I am, as you well know, a strong Fillmore man; but Fremont will run well in California. Should not be surprised if he carried the State by a large majority. The cry has gone forth for Fremont and the Railroad, which I am afraid will bear down all opposition. However, we shall have gained our point, that of flooring the Democratic or unterrified party. This is a correct state of things out this way; and I have as good a chance to know what is going on as any person in California.

Rev. J. C. BODWELL, Framingham, " 19
Rev. HORATIO STEBBINS, Portland, " 26

The Committee, in arranging the programme for their third Course of Lectures, have determined to invite only lecturers of decided merit and, believing that in a course of popular lectures instruction should be blended with amusement, they have decided to introduce a NEW FEATURE, by connecting with the usual series upon miscellaneous topics, a short SCIENTIFIC COURSE; and have therefore secured the services of Messrs. Whittaker and Sprague, whose lectures are appropriately illustrated, and of the most entertaining character. It is believed that the course of lectures before this Association the coming season, will surpass in point of interest and variety, as it certainly will in regard to the expense incurred, any ever before given in this city.

LOCAL.

SHIPBUILDING ON THE PISCATAQUA.—We are glad to notice that our shipbuilders are quite busy, and laying out extensive work for a large crew of mechanics of all sorts, during the winter. At the yard of Geo. Raynes & Son, besides the ship "Annie Sise," which is nearly completed, and will be launched in a few weeks—the keel of another ship of like dimensions (1000 tons) has just been laid.

At the yard of John Yeaton, on Badger's Island, another ship is nearly ready for launching.

Messrs. Tobey & Littlefield, on Noble's Island, are about laying the keel for a ship.

The Mechanics' Ship Building Company are also just about commencing another ship.

These are all we hear of—though probably Mr. Badger will soon be laying down a model at his yard—and Mr. Pierce will not let his yard on the Island be long unoccupied.

This branch of manufactures is of great value to any place, and we are glad to see so much activity manifested. Portsmouth owes very much to her shib-builders and merchants. Success to them.

☞ That ship "Charger," which we, for the second time, announced to launch on Wednesday morning, again did not go off. We now hear it said that she is to be discharged from her fastenings at 7 this (Thursday) morning—but we don't vouch for it. As this is the first launch from the new yard, considerable interest is felt to see it. The ways are long, and no doubt the sight will be worth going two or three times after.

ACCIDENT.—On Tuesday afternoon, a caulkers' staging outside the ship Charger, on the stocks at Pierce's Island, gave way—precipitating Messrs. Richard Walden and Benj. Bailey to the ground, a distance of nineteen feet. Mr. Bailey was not injured, but Mr. Walden was severely jammed and bruised,—and we are informed has been delirious ever since the accident.

☞ A valuable truck horse belonging to Messrs. Wendell & Call, lumber-dealers in this city, died or was killed on Sunday, on account of the parting of his back-bone. He had long been accustomed to drawing great loads, and was extremely "saddle-backed," as it is termed—that is, his back was deeply concave. The animal was a fine one, and always well cared for; and never abused, except as all draft horses are—by being loaded too heavily;—but if he had been relieved from his back-loads, and used in a four-wheeled vehicle, he would doubtless have lived to move a forest of timber yet.

☞ The Democratic party had a grand torch light procession in this city, on Wednesday evening. Delegations from Rye, Kittery, and other neighboring towns, were in attendance; and altogether made considerable of a show—with their two hundred torches or thereabouts, and several hundred men, bearing a number of banners. They marched for an hour or more, to the "music" of a drum and fife—passing through our principal streets—along which several dwellings were illuminated. All this, and more, in honor of the late elections.

A large transparency on the front of Jefson Hall, bore the inscription:

"The Constitution and the Union. A faithful adherence to the Common Bond."

A handsome circle between the two sentences, contained the legitimate thirty-one stars.

Any number of "great guns" were fired on this and the preceeding evenings, by the Democrats, in the city and vicinity.

A large number of fine rockets, and a few Roman candles, were fired on Market Square.

Hon. B. F. Butler addressed the assemblage on the Square, from the balcony of Jefferson Hall, between 9 and 10 o'clock. He was often applauded,—but we should think must have had rather rather a tough time in addressing so restless an audience.

There was din enough for two or three such occasions; and as we set this (at midnight) we hear "cheers" which plainly tell of the influence of "old rye" in the matter.

☞ The first entertainment of the Mechanics' Course, readings and recitations by Mrs. Barrow, was well attended, last evening. We don't remember ever to have heard her read better.

DELICIOUS — Those New York Oysters advertised by Allen Freeman. As much superior to your common bivalves, as are ———'s prospects over ———'s, in the coming election. Which do we mean?—why, the New Yorkers, to be sure. Try 'em.

KANSAS.—The Boston Traveller's correspondent (Lawrence, Oct. 6,) says that six votes were cast at the bogus election in Lawrence. Sheriff Jones and W. H. Harabon came from Lecompton to act as Judges, no person being found in Lawrence willing to act in that capacity.

The Reign of Terror still continues.

At the late bogus election in Kansas, besides electing Whitfield to Congress and members of the new Missouri Kansas Legislature, the pro-slavery settlers and Missourians voted for a Convention to organize Kansas as a Slave State. This, says the Missouri Republican, "settles the distracting question according to law."—Should the Presidential election go for either Buchanan or Fillmore, the Slave State thus formed would doubtless be admitted.

Judge Thompson, of the Supreme Court of Virginia, has instructed the grand jury to the effect that it is treason to speak in favor of Fremont in that State! This is the monstrous limit to which the propagandists of slavery have already reached. First in Kansas, now in Virginia, it is decided by the judicial authority that free speech is treason.

Slavery, like all other great wrongs, is aggressive. To preserve the slavery of the black man, it must enslave the white. To perpetrate deeds of darkness, it must crush out free action, and stifle free speech.

THE FIGURES.—Within a few days the Pennsylvanian has been compelled to revise its cyphering, and comes down to only "about 4000 majority." It is now evident that another revision of its figures will be necessary, much to the discomfort of its friends. The official returns from 37 counties have been published, including most of the Buchanan strongholds where the largest gains for that side were made; and in these counties the Buchanan majority is 10,562, considerably less than the Pennsylvanian had claimed. Most of the counties yet to be heard from officially, give Republican majorities.

It will be impossible to say precisely how the case stands until we have the official returns complete. The vote is close, and if the Buchanan party has a majority on Canal Commissioner (which is probable) it is very small, perhaps 1000 or 1200.—Boston Telegraph.

The Philadelphia Bulletin says that both branches of the Legislature of Pennsylvania are anti-Buchanan. The returns, however, are not yet sufficiently complete to render this certain.

PHILADELPHIA, Oct. 22.—Selfridge's woolen factory was burnt this morning.—Loss $80,000—insurance $40,000. 400 persons were employed in it.

The House of Bishops yesterday remitted the sentence of suspension against Bishop Onderdonk, pronounced 12 years ago. He resumes his ministerial functions next Sunday.

A SCENE AT A FUNERAL.—An exciting scene took place on Tuesday at a funeral in the Sixteenth Ward. A woman died suddenly on Saturday. Coroner Delavan held an inquest, and an undertaker was sent for to prepare the body for interment. When all was ready for the funeral, the undertaker demanded his pay for his services, and the money not being forthcoming, he turned the corpse out of the coffin, and stript the body of the shroud. This proceeding caused a great deal of excitement, particularly among the women. A rough pine coffin was subsequently procured at the expense of the city, and into this the body of the poor wretch was huddled, while her husband, helpless from drink, stood by.—Phil. Bulletin.

A negro called Alfred Morse, of Marcellus, New York, has been arrested for attempted outrage upon a German girl he met upon the road. He had entered several houses, saying he was an abolitionist, and inquiring of the women if there were men about,—evidently with wicked intentions.

A negro convict in the Clinton, N. Y., prison, who was made a pet by one of the officers, broke into said officer's house outside the picket fence, while he knew the officer was engaged in the prison, and committed the worst outrage upon his wife. When the crime became known to the convicts the next morning, they wanted to lynch the negro, who had to be protected from their violence.

SHIPBUILDING IN THOMASTON—The Rockland Democrat states that there are nine vessels built or building in Thomaston this season, eight of which are ships and one a bark, their total tonnage being 10,500 tons. These vessels are built of Southern oak and hard pine. The average number of men employed on each vessel is about sixty-five. The number of vessels built this year is only one less than last year, while the tonnage exceeds that of last year by about 1733 tons.

The Pennsylvania Legislature is in doubt. The Senate stands 18 Union to 15 Buchanan men. Last year the Democrats had a majority in the Senate.

In the House there will probably be a tie vote, 50 to 50.—N. Y. Eve. Post.

☞ The ladies of Epping, N. H., have raised $150 for the suffering Free State people in Kansas.

HEAVY RECEIPTS OF GRAIN—The receipts of grain at New York on Monday, per North River barges, canal boats and plugs, were the heaviest of any day this season, viz.:—181,500 bushels of wheat and 196,000 bushels of corn. These arrivals, however, were in consequence of a detention, a few days since, on the canal. There were also 29,000 barrels of flour.

From the Boston Saturday Evening Gazette.

A PERFUMED BREATH.—What lady or gentleman would remain under the curse of a disagreeable breath, when using the "Balm of a Thousand Flowers" as a dentifrice would not only render it sweet, but leave the teeth white as al abaster? Many persons do not know their breath is bad, and the subject is so delicate, their friends will never mention it. Pour a single drop of the "Balm" on your tooth-brush and wash the teeth night and morning. A fifty cent bottle will last a year.

A BEAUTIFUL COMPLEXION may easily be acquired by using the "Balm of a Thousand Flowers." It will remove tan, pimples and freckles from the skin, leaving it of a soft and roseate hue. Wet a towel, pour on two or three drops, and wash the face night and morning

SHAVING MADE EASY.—Wet your shaving brush in either warm or cold water, pour on two or three drops of "Balm of a Thousand Flowers," run the beard well and it will make a beautiful soft lather, much facilitating the operation of shaving. Price only 50 cents.

FREMONT,
THE MUSTANG CANDIDATE.

If Col. Fremont had as many friends as the Mustang Liniment, the opposition could not draw a corporal's guard. Mr. Fremont remarked in his dispatches to President Fillmore, while transporting horses and cattle over the plains of Mexico, "That if the Government would send him on a liberal supply of Mustang Liniment, it would save 25 per cent. of his losses." This is very important for all Farmers and Liverymen to know. The Mustang Liniment is a wonderful article for man or beast. It should always be used for Sores, Swellings, Stiff Joints, Burns, Bruises, Rheumatic Pains, &c., and for Galds, Sprains, Spavins, Ringbone, &c., upon horses.—BEWARE OF IMITATIONS. The Mustang is sold by all respectable dealers everywhere.

WISTAR'S BALSAM OF WILD CHERRY.

Proofs of the great superiority of Dr. Wistar's Balsam pour in from all parts of the country.

OXFORD, New Haven Co., Conn., Jan. 4.

DEAR SIR:—Having witnessed the effects of Wistar's Balsam of Wild Cherry, in the case of one of my neighbors, who has been for several years seriously afflicted with the phthisic, general pulmonary weakness, bleeding of the lungs, etc., I have been induced to ask you to send me some of the medicine. My neighbor, referred to above, lately had a violent attack of bleeding at the lungs, and distress in breathing. He tried a bottle of the Wild Cherry, which has produced a most salutary and favorable effect. At his instance, and several others laboring under like complaints, I have been induced to make this request. By attending to the above immediately, you will oblige the afflicted, and also

"The Greatest Book of the Age!"

History United States,

From the earliest Period to the Present Time.

BY J. A. SPENCER, D. D.,
Member of the New York Historical Society, Membre de la Societe Orientale de France, author of "Egypt and the Holy Land," etc., etc

THIS National History, written by an accomplished American author, and copiously and beautifully embellished by American artists, (among whom are Leutze, Weir, Vanderlyn, Powell, Chapman, Chappell and Oertel,) commends itself by its sterling merit to the favorable consideration of the American public.

No pains or expense have been spared to render this work worthy of being in every respect hailed as a Book for the American People.

Every Public Institution of our country, every Family—every citizen should possess such a National Work, that he may con over its instructive records, and kindle his patriotism at its spirit stirring narrative; and point to its exhibition of genius and skill, with those feelings of fervent enthusiasm, which such a production of native talent cannot fail to awaken in the heart of every true American.

The work is now in course of publication in semi-monthly parts, price Twenty-five cents each, delivered at the Subscriber's residence or sent by mail postage free. Subscribers' names respectfully solicited, and all letters and inquiries promptly replied to by the Publishers.

Great American and Foreign Office
For Securing Patents for Inventions.

Agency for business with US Patent Office, Washington

R. H. EDDY,

No. 76 State st, oppo. Kilby st, Boston.

IMPORTANT INFORMATION TO INVENTORS. The Subscriber (late Agent of the U. S. Patent Office, under the Act of 1837) determined to present advantages, in applying for Patents, superior to those offered inventors by others, has mape arrangements whereby on applications prepared and conducted by him, THIRTY DOLLARS (instead of twenty, as paid back by others,) will be remitted by him in case of failure to obtain a patent, and the withdrawal throu h him within thirty days after the rejection.

This Agency is not only the largest in New England, but through it inventors have advantages for securing patents, or ascertaining the patentability of inventions, unsurpassed by, if not immeasurably superior to, any which can be offered them elsewhere. The testimonials below given prove that none is MORE SUCCESSFUL AT THE PATENT OFFICE than the subscriber; and as SUCCESS IS THE BEST PROOF OF ADVANTAGES AND ABILITY, he would add that he has abundant reason to believe, and can prove, that at no other office of the kind are the charges for professional services so moderate—The immense practice of the subscriber during twenty years past, has enabled him to accumulate a vast collection of specifications and official decisions relative to patents. These, besides his extensive library of legal and mechanical works, and full accounts of patents granted in the United States and Europe, render him able, beyond question, to offer superior facilities for obtaining patents.

Caveats, Specifications, Assignments, and all Papers and Drawings necessary to the procurai of patents in this and foreign countries prepared and advice rendered on legal and scientific matters respecting inventions, or infringement of patents. All necessity of a journey so Washington to procure a patent, and the usual great delay there, are here saved inventors.

Copies of claims of any patent furnished for one dollar. Assignments recorded at Washington—Patents secured in Great Britian, France, and other foreign countries, through Agents of the highest respectability. R. H. EDDY.
Solicitor of Patents.

Testimonials.

"During the time I occupied the office of Commissioner of Patents, R. H. Eddy, Esq., of Boston, did business at the Patent office, as Solicitor of Patents. There were few, if any persons acting in that capacity, who had so much business before the Patent office; and there were none who conducted it with more skill, fidelity, and success. I regard Mr Eddy as one of the best informed and most skilful Patent Solicitors in the United States, and have no hesitation in assuring inventors that they cannot employ a person more competent and trustworthy, and more capable of putting their application in a form to secure for them an early and favorable consideration at the Patent Office.

EDMUND BURKE,
Late Commissioner of Patents."

From the present Commissioner.

August 17, 1855.—During the time I have held the Office of Commissioner of Patents, R. H. Eddy, Esq., of Boston, has been extensively engaged in the transaction of business with the office, as a Solicitor. He is thoroughly acquainted with the law, and the rules of practice of the Office. I regard him as one of the most capable and successful practitioners with whom I have had official intercourse. CHAS. MASON,
Commissioner of Patents.

A Big Team.—At Middletown, Ct., on Saturday, a noble hickory tree was drawn into the city by one hundred yoke of oxen. The tree was raised, and on the arrival of the Hon. Isaac Toucey, he was conveyed from the railroad depot to the place of meeting, in a wagon drawn by one hundred and fifteen yoke of oxen.

The great President Walker, of Nicaragua, has abolished liberty in that distinguished republic, probably much to the benefit of Pierre Soule, who has lately bought a plantation there for $50,000.—The legal manner of doing it was to abrogate the federal laws which bound the republic in common with other States of Central America. This revives an old slave code which had been abolished by the federal union.

Should Mr. Buchanan be our next President, (and we think there is no earthly doubt of it,) it is whispered in certain circles that Gen. Morris will fill the embassy formerly occupied by another of our distinguished authors, Washington Irving, as Minister to Spain. Should he do so, we think it more than likely that Aldrich will be Secretary of Legation.—Cleveland Plain Dealer.

AYER'S Cathartic Pills,

(SUGAR COATED,)

ARE HERE TO

CLEANSE THE BLOOD AND CURE THE SICK
Invalids, Fathers, Mothers, Physicians, Philanthropists, read their Effects, and judge of their Virtues.

FOR THE CURE OF

Headache, Sick Headache, Foul Stomach.

Pittsburg, Pa., May 1, 1856.

Dr. J. C. Ayer. Sir: I have been repeatedly cured of the worst headache any body can have by a dose or two of your Pills. It seems to arise from a foul stomach, which they cleanse at once. If they will cure others as they do me, the fact is worth knowing.

Yours with great respect, ED. W. PREBLE,
Clerk of Steamer Clarion.

Bilious Disorders and Liver Complaints.

Department of the Interior,
Washington, D. C., 7 Feb., 1856.

Sir: I have used your Pills in my general and hospital practice ever since you made them, and cannot hesitate to say they are the best cathartic we employ. Their regulating action on the liver is quick and decided, consequently they are an admirable remedy for derangements of that organ. Indeed, I have seldom found a case of bilious disease so obstinate that it did not readily yield to them.

Fraternally yours, ALONZO BALL, M. D.,
Physician of the Marine Hospital.

Dysentery, Relax, and Worms.

Post Office, Haryland, Liv. Co., Mich., Nov. 10, 1855.

Dr. Ayer: Your Pills are the perfection of medicine. They have done my wife more good than I can tell you. She had been sick and pining away for months. Went off to be doctored at great expense, but got no better. She then commenced taking your Pills, which soon cured her, by expelling large quantities of worms (dead) from her body. They afterwards cured her and our two children of bloody dysentery. One of our neighbors had it bad, and my wife cured him with two doses of your Pills, while others around us paid from five to twenty dollars doctors' bills, and lost much time, without being cured entirely even then. Such a medicine as yours, which is actually good and honest, will be prized here.

Geo. J. Griffin, Postmaster.

Indigestion and Impurity of the Blood.

From Rev. J. V. Himes, Pastor of Advent Church, Boston.

Dr. Ayer: I have used your Pills with extraordinary success in my family and among those I am called to visit in distress. To regulate the organs of digestion and purify the blood they are the very best remedy I have ever known, and I can confidently recommend them to my friends. Yours, J. V. HIMES.

Warsaw, Wyoming Co., N. Y., Oct. 24, 1855.

Dear Sir: I am using your Cathartic Pills in my practice, and find them an excellent purgative to cleanse the system and purify the fountains of the blood.

JOHN G. MEACHAM, M. D.

Erysipelas, Scrofula, King's Evil, Tetter, Tumors, and Salt Rheum.

From a Forwarding Merchant of St. Louis, Feb. 4, 1856.

Dr. Ayer: Your Pills are the paragon of all that is great in medicine. They have cured my little daughter of obstinate sores upon her hands and feet that had proved incurable for years. Her mother has been long grievously afflicted with blotches and pimples on her skin and in her hair. After our child was cured, she also tried your Pills, and they have cured her. ASA MORGRIDGE.

Rheumatism, Neuralgia, and Gout.

From the Rev. Dr. Hawkes, of the Methodist Episc. Church.

Pulaski House, Savannah, Ga., Jan. 6, 1856.

Honored Sir: I should be ungrateful for the relief your skill has brought me if I did not report my case to you. A cold settled in my limbs and brought on excruciating neuralgic pains, which ended in chronic rheumatism. Notwithstanding I had the best of physicians, the disease grew worse and worse, until, by the advice of your excellent agent in Baltimore, Dr. Mackenzie, I tried your Pills. Their effects were slow, but sure. By persevering in the use of them I am now entirely well.

Senate Chamber, Baton Rouge, La., 5 Dec., 1855.

Dr. Ayer: I have been entirely cured by your Pills of Rheumatic Gout—a painful disease that had afflicted me for years. VINCENT SLIDELL.

For Dropsy, Plethora, or kindred Complaints, requiring an active purge, they are an excellent remedy.

For Costiveness or Constipation, and as a Dinner Pill, they are agreeable and efficacious.

Fits, Suppression, Paralysis, Inflammation, and even Deafness, and Partial Blindness, have been cured by the alterative action of these Pills.

Most of the pills in market contain Mercury, which, although a valuable remedy in skilful hands, is dangerous in a public pill, from the dreadful consequences that frequently follow its incautious use. These contain no mercury or mineral substance whatever.

AYER'S CHERRY PECTORAL

FOR THE RAPID CURE OF

and for the relief of consumptive patients in advanced stages of the disease.

We need not speak to the public of its virtues. Throughout every town, and almost every hamlet of the American States, its wonderful cures of pulmonary complaints have made it already known. Nay, few are the families in any civilized country on this continent without some personal experience of its effects; and fewer yet the communities any where which have not among them some living trophy of its victory over the subtle and dangerous diseases of the throat and lungs. While it is the most powerful antidote yet known to man for the formidable and dangerous diseases of the pulmonary organs, it is also the pleasantest and safest remedy that can be employed for infants and young persons. Parents should have it in store against the insidious enemy that steals upon them unprepared. We have abundant grounds to believe the Cherry Pectoral saves more lives by the consumptions it prevents than those it cures. Keep it by you, and cure your colds while they are curable, nor neglect them until no human skill can master the inexorable canker that, fastened on the vitals, eats your life away. All know the dreadful fatality of lung disorders, and as they know too the virtues of this remedy, we need not do more than to assure them it is still made the best it can be. We spare no cost, no care, no toil to produce it the most perfect possible, and thus afford those who rely on it the best agent which our skill can furnish for their cure.

STOVES ! STOVES!!

Frank Jones' Improved.

THIS Cooking Stove, from the rapid sale which it has had since its first introduction into this market, has proved itself to be far superior to all other cooking stoves yet made, in point of durability, economy, perfection in cooking, and draft.

Those about purchasing, will find it for their interest to examine this, and they will be convinced that it is useless to look further.

Every Stove warranted to give perfect satisfaction, in every particular, or no sale.

The Improved Empire State.

This Stove has been so long in the market, and so extensively used, and has given such unparalleled satisfaction, that it hardly necessary to say anything further, than that we have a large invoice of all the different sizes, for wood or coal.

Also, Repairing Pieces, of every description, which we are enabled to sell at prices that shall satisfy all.

The White Mountain

has been the favorite stove with many, for several years,—it having given such universal satisfaction wherever used, that it is thought by those who use them to have no superior.

To those who are in search of the White Mountain, I would say that I have the heaviest stock, of all sizes, to be found in this market, from which to make their selections,—at prices that cannot fail to suit.

OUR STOCK OF

Parlor Stoves

comprises all the various kinds, among which may be found the Favorite, Villa, Star, &c.

Also, a large variety of Open Parlor GRATES, of all sizes, which cannot be surpassed for elegance or price.

Open Parlor Stoves, some very beautiful patterns, for either wood or coal.

Also, Sheet Iron Stoves, of different sizes, with and without ovens.—Pyramid stoves for Halls or Stores. Also, Shop and Box Stoves, Cylinders of different patterns and sizes; in fact all kinds of Stoves, for all purposes, to suit every customer.

Cabooses.

We have many different sizes of this kind of stove for use aboard vessels, which we offer at the lowest prices.

Our Stock of Stoves comprises the largest assortment, of the best patterns, ever brought into this market, which I am determined to sell lower than can be bought at any other establishment in the State, wholesale and retail.

Singer's Sewing Machines.

THESE celebrated machines are in practical and profitable use in all parts of the civilized world. In all the various trades, and in sewing every sort of fabric, either of cloth or leather, they have been fully tried and approved. Sewing machines of other manufacturers often fail to work, but SINGER'S MACHINES being strong, durable and complete in contrivance and workmanship. A perfect sewing machine kept employed affords a clear profit of $1000 a year; but an imperfect one is a cause of constant vexation and loss. The entire reliability of our machines is one great reason for their unparalleled popularity.

ALWAYS OPERATE PERFECTLY,

MACHINES FOR FAMILY SEWING, of a trifle and delicate construction, are recommended by other manufacturers. Such machines are made to catch the eye, not to perform substantial work. The truth is, family sewing machines ought to be stronger than any other, because they go into less skillful hands than when sold to manufacturers, and are used for a greater variety of work. The machines which have proved best for all other purposes must be best for family use, and they are Singer's. The speed of our machines has lately been doubled. No other can compare with them in quantity of work.

☞ New machines of the latest improved style will be exchanged on liberal terms for old sewing machines of our own make, or for operative machines of other manufacturers. Local agents wanted to sell our machines.

N B.—All persons desiring full information about sewing machines can obtain it by applying for a copy of "I. M. Singer & Co.'s Gazette," a paper devoted entirely to the subject. It will be sent gratis. I. M. SINGER & CO.

DYER'S HEALING EMBROCATION AND EXTERNAL & INTERNAL REMEDY

ALMOST miraculous are some of the cures effected by the use of this remarkable preparation. As a healing, pain destroying remedy

IT IS UNSURPASSED.

It is uniform in quality, convenient for application, neat and delicate in its nature, leaves no stain upon the dress or skin, and is unfailing in its curative properties and effects. It cures

RHEUMATISM,

Gats, Wounds, Scalds, Bruises, Burns, Lumbago, Dysentery, Cholera Morbus, Neuralgia, Tooth Ache, Headache, Pains in the Side, Back or Limbs, Sore Throat, Ague, Cramps, &c., &c.

Physicians prescribe and recommend it with the most perfect confidence; and by the use of it themselves thousands have been saved from an untimely death.

Beware of imitations, and purchase none but the genuine, with the name of "Dyer's Healing Embrocation, Providence, R I." blown in the glass, and the fac simile of the proprietor's signature upon the outside wrapper.

For sale in Portsmouth by J. H. Thacher, Wm. R. Preston and B. Hutchings, and by all respectable Druggists and dealers in medicine throughout the United States, at the following prices:—2 ounce bottle 12½c; 4 ounce bottle 25c; 8 ounce bottle 37½c.

ALLEGED FRAUDS. — The Philadelphia correspondent of the Evening Post says:

Some of the most startling and astounding frauds have just been developed that ever occurred in elections heretofore held. Mr. Mann, the candidate of the Republican and American parties for District Attorney, at our general election last Tuesday, has contested the election of his opponent, a Mr. Cassiday, and he makes charges, which he says in his petition or complaint to the Court of Common Pleas, he can sustain.

In the 4th, 5th and 17th wards it appears hundreds, if not thousands of illegal votes have been polled, and he is prepared to show, by the best evidence ever produced on a similar occasion, that he is elected to the office of District Attorney by a large majority. This step will also show that the Union State Ticket has a much larger vote than that allowed to it by the sham Democracy, and which no doubt has a majority in the city in place of being in a minority of 2,796! This will actually give the Union State Ticket a considerable majority in the State, notwithstanding the gross frauds committed upon it in Cambria, Schuylkill and other counties.

Our friends are cheered up throughout the State, and the best disposition prevails to give our opponents another rally in November, with the shout for Fremont and victory. Cassiday's election was claimed by a majority of 459 votes, yet he has been heard to say, that "the figures do not show it."

WHISKEY.—The fillibuster Gen. Walker has some of his men shot from time to time. On the 19th of September, one of them named Jennings Estelle was shot for assassinating a brother Lieutenant named Gordon. Estelle made a confession, in which he says,—

"I think there is a God in Heaven that will and can forgive, and He knows, and I know, that it was not I that killed Charles Gordon. It was whiskey and my crazy mind that did it. I say that I was not in my right mind when I did the deed, and God knows it. Forgive me, officers and soldiers, and I can die a happy man. I don't write this because I think I ought not to die, for I think my time has come, and that justice has been done me. Fellow-soldiers, remember what has brought me to this death—you all know it as well as I do. My humble prayer is that I may be forgiven. JENNINGS ESTELLE.

RAILROAD POLICE.—A recent experience in a railroad car impressed us with the conviction, that no persons who show any signs of excitement from drink, ought to be allowed to enter the common cars, which are partly occupied by females. They should be made to take their places in the smoking cars, where they can be properly taken care of, and if discovered in the common cars after starting, the train should be stoped until they can be transferred.

Another inconvenience, to which passengers are exposed on arriving at a station, proceeds from one portion attempting to get out, while others are trying to force their way in, at the same doors. Nothing could be easier than to remedy this by establishing the rule that passengers should enter by the rear of the car, and go out by the other door.—Salem Gazette.

George W. Johnson, one of the large sugar planters on the Mississippi, below New Orleans, who died recently, has left an estate valued at not less than $700,000. He has by his will manumitted all his slaves, 200 in number. They are all to be sent to Liberia in four years from his death, and each one is to be furnished with $50.

SCIENTIFIC EXPLORATION.—Several scientific gentlemen, among whom are Prof. Francis of Iowa, and Prof. N. E. Moore, late President of the Iowa State Lyceum of Natural History, have gone to South America to make a thorough exploration of the fauna, flora and geological character of the great Andes range. The expedition was projected in Iowa, and though no State aid is given, many of her public men give it their encouragement and support.—The results of their explorations in regions but little known as yet, will possess great interest for the scientific world, and valuable practical benefits may arise from their labors.

At Lenox, Mass., on Saturday evening, the democrats were firing a national salute in honor of the recent victory in Pennsylvania and Indiana. The gun was placed near the Housatonic Railroad, and through the carelessness of those who had its management, a charge was fired into one of the cars of the passenger train which had just reached there from Bridgeport. Two or three passengers were injured, but not seriously. The matter has been amicably settled.—Boston Post.

FRENCH SETTLEMENT IN VIRGINIA.—A party of French and German emigrants passed through Lynchburg on Monday, en route for Wythe County, Va., where they intend settling. The Richmond Dispatch says they are the pioneers of a colony to be founded in Southwest Virginia by capitalists of France, who have already made purchases of land in that region. They design sending 1500, of which number 300 will be over shortly.

Jeremiah Mathewson had his right hand blown off on Friday night at a Buchanan meeting in Chepachet, by the premature discharge of a gun. Amputation of the lower part of the arm was performed. A splinter of the ramrod discharged from the gun passed through the leg of a boy by the name of Palmer. He was also burned badly in the face. He is not expected to live.

"THIS ANIMAL," said an itinerant showman, "is the royal African hyena, measuring fourteen feet from the tip of his nose to the end of his tail, and the same length back again, making in all twenty-eight feet. He cries in the woods in the night season like a human being in distress, and then devours all that come to his assistance—a sad instance of the depravity of human nature."

MUCH ALIKE.—An elderly fat gentleman, in discussing a warm breakfast at an inn, called to the waiting boy—"Donald, bring me more bread—I eat a great deal of bread to my steak." Donald answered with much simplicity, "Aye, please your honor, and ye eat a great deal of steak to your bread."

Cassius M. Clay, in a speech at Chicago a few days since, declared, from his own observation, that white men can and do labor in the cotton fields, and that in Texas there is a German settlement, where they produce one-third more from an acre than the slaves do.

Morning Chronicle.

FRIDAY, OCTOBER 24. 1856.

☞ A Voter asks information—

1. Whether there can be more than two candidates brought before Congress for an election of President, in the event of no choice by the people?

2. Whether in any one State, a part of the electors for either of the candidates can be chosen? or, in other words, if one party elect one elector, must they of necessity elect all?

3. What is the duty of electors after they are chosen?

Answer, 1. The House must choose from the three highest candidates.

2. If, in any State, Pennsylvania for example, the Fremont and Fillmore men should elect their 26 electors and no more, and the Buchanan men should vote for 27, the full number,—then one of the Buchanan men, having the highest number on his own ticket, would be elected. And so, if there are three or ten tickets, it is no matter—the twenty-seven men who have the highest number of votes are chosen, whether they are on one ticket or 27,—whether they belong to one party or to three, or to none at all.

3. The duty of Electors is, to meet in their own State, and vote for two persons, one of whom at least, must not belong in that State.

They are not bound to cast their votes as a unit, but may vote for whom they please. Wm. Plumer, an elector of New Hampshire many years ago, voted for John Quincy Adams, when all his colleagues voted for James Monroe.

Good News.—Under this head the Boston Courier of the 23d says:

We quote the following cheering intelligence from the private letter of an influential gentleman of New York. Although not intended for publication, it will be seen that the part we quote is highly interesting to the public and highly proper to be known:

"I have been engaged all the past week in a tour through our —— counties. We intend to carry New York for Fillmore, and feel more and more confident of success."

He then says that the fact that Mr. Buchanan has no prospects in New York, enables them "to turn the tables upon the Fremont men and to recapture some of them who are not too far gone, by asking them why they will contribute to the success of Buchanan by throwing away their votes upon a sectional candidate who is beaten already. Some of them are recovering from their delusion, and I hope the same effect may be produced upon our brethren in New England."

To this piece of news we affix the remark, Very important, if true—but not very probable.

☞ Harper's New Monthly Magazine for November, contains, as its first article, an admirable account of the Massacre of St. Bartholomew, closing with the following spirited sentences:

Let us emblazon upon our banner the noble words,

"Toleration: Perfect Civil and Religious Toleration."

But toleration is not a slave. It is a spirit of light and of liberty. It has much to give; but it has just as much to demand. It bears the olive branch in one hand and the gleaming sword in the other. It says, "I grant to you perfect liberty of opinion and of expression, and I demand of you the same."

The American mind is now so roused that it will have this liberty. And if there are any institutions of religion or of civil law which cannot stand this scrutiny, they are doomed to die. The human mind will move with untrammeled sweep through the whole range of religious doctrines, and around the whole circumference, and into the very centre of political assumption.

If the Catholic bishop has a word to say, let him say it. If some one, rising in the spirit and power of Martin Luther, has a reply to make, let him make it.—Those who wish to listen to the one or the other, let them do so. Those who wish to close their ears, let them have their way.

Our country is one. Her liberty is national. Let us then grant Toleration and demand Toleration, here and everywhere throughout our wide domain; in Maine and in Georgia, amidst the forests of Aroostook and on the plains of Kansas.—Let us grant Toleration, perfect and untrammeled, to one and all—to all religions, to all politics, to all humanities—to the young fanatic in his sleepless dream, to the old fogy in his dreamless sleep.

The Monthly is sold by A Williams & Co., Boston, and by J. F. Shores, jr., in Portsmouth.

Labrador Fishermen.—The schooner Triumph, from Labrador, arrived at Newburyport, on Saturday. The Herald of that city, says:

"This is the last of a fleet of thirteen vessels which was fitted out at this port for Labrador. As a general thing they have all been successful. The number of men employed in the business is nearly two hundred, who have all returned in good health, and with a plethoric purse."

Gen. Stringfellow's Portrait.—The Daily Missourian, an administration and Buchanan paper, published at St. Louis, contains, Oct. 10, the following portrait of Stringfellow, who is a candidate for United States Senator from Missouri:

No doubt Gen. Stringfellow, who has carved his way to a deathless fame with his trusty sword, has fully proved his ability to fill the place of the illustrious Atchison. No more worthy successor to his honors could be named than the man who has figured with him in all the barbarie incursions into the Territory of Kansas during the year elapsed; who, without the slightest right of presence on that soil, has seen the warm blood of its inhabitants gushing forth under the steel of the invader: whose eyes have been familiar with skies crimsoned with the flames of burning habitations; whose ears have heard the crack of rifles, carrying death to the hearts of the unoffending; the booming of cannon, crumbling into ruins the costly edifices of bona fide citizens of the Territory, and the piteous wailings of helpless women and children, driven from their habitations and destitute of food and shelter, compelled to welcome the wide firmament as their roof tree and to trust for subsistence to the most hopeless of contingencies. In all these scenes, the bare rehearsal of which disposes one to an incredulity as to the existence of a nineteenth century, Gen. Stringfellow has borne a part. Scarcely a narrative of outrages upon life and property, which have so plentifully occurred during the Kansas anarchy, has reached the public, through the press or otherwise, without the special notification that Atchison and Stringfellow were on the spot, counselling, aiding and abetting the procedures. A noble title, truly, to a place in that great legislative assembly whose hall has echoed with the eloquence of Wirt and Webster, and Clay and Benton, and Wright and Calhoun.

Rum Aristocracy.—There is a growing disposition among the advocates of the rum interest to admit that for the common people, the masses, the ignobile vulgus, intoxicating drink is a very bad thing, and ought to be prohibited. But the "governing class," as the author of the new license law in Maine very undemocratically denominates the clique to which he belongs, spurn such restriction. They are able to take care of themselves. License a few men, therefore, in every community, to furnish the demijohns and decanters of the elite, the select circles; "while the rank and file of the democracy, the nobodies, those who only do the voting as they are bid, are to have the Maine Law put to them the worst kind." Thus the Westminster Review, in a very elaborate but illogical attempt to prove that alcohol is wholesome food, admits that, as a moral movement for the benefit of the lower classes, "it is difficult to speak of the temperance reform in terms too laudatory." Total abstinence is very well for the masses; "nevertheless," he continues, "we shall restrict ourselves to the question of the use of alcohol by moderate and sensible persons." The readers of this Review (the Westminster) are obviously not of the poorer classes.

Very few of them are likely to be among the intemperate; to them the tee-total arguments are impertinent. The writer seems to think with Senator Barnes that the "governing classes" of her majesty's subjects are proof against the seductive power of alcohol. Yet we have a very distinct recollection of certain sprigs of English nobility, who were arrested in the streets of New York, and also of Boston, for making night hideous with their drunken broils. We have also seen it intimated that some who belong to the "governing class" in her majesty's Canadian provinces would be greatly benefitted by a practical application of the abstinence principle.

But admitting that the English nobility are an exception to common laws of humanity—in our country we acknowledge no privileged class. We are for equal rights, and for laws bearing equally upon all.—Our people will not submit to an odious distinction, which the license system recently introduced into Maine makes, between the rich and the poor, the monopoly by which one man in three thousand shall reap the profits of a lucrative business, from which 2,999 are by law debarred.—Our legislators will find themselves in a sad mistake if they expect to close the grog-shops, which are kept by some of our most undesirable foreign population, while they grant the exclusive privilege of the traffic to a few respectable Yankees. The voice of the many will be heard in tones which will terrify their leaders: Down with the monopoly—give us equal rights and equal laws.—New Haven Examiner.

New York, Oct. 22.—Advices from Bermuda of the 8th inst., state that yellow fever has broken out at Ireland Island, for the first time; and in Paget, Pembroke and Southampton parishes twenty new cases have appeared in three days. Somerset and Warwick had been fearfully visited; their united population numbers 2600, and upwards of 500 had been attacked with the fever. The disease had not passed to the Eastward of Devonshire Parish.—The Parishes of Smith, Hamilton, and St. George, continued to enjoy uninterrupted good health.

Rev. L. Armsby, late of Chester, has taken charge of the Congregational church in Faribault, Minnesota.

The Rev. I. F. Holton has accepted the chair of Chemistry in Middlebury College, and has entered on his duties.

Rev. C. H. Richardson of Goffstown, has received a call from the First Congregational Church in Dover to become their pastor.

Gov. Wise on Maryland.—Gov. Wise of Virginia, has written a letter to a Maryland journal, to instruct that state in its duties at the next Presidential election, and the Baltimore Patriot says:

The people of Maryland certainly ought to feel under lasting obligations to their Democratic friends of Virginia for the extreme solicitude they exhibit to set us right on political matters, though this pertinacious interference is scarcely complimentary, inasmuch as it implies that we are not capable of thinking and acting for ourselves. As usual, Gov. Wise is dogmatic and peremptory. According to him, Maryland must choose either peace or war. "If she is not with us, she is against us!" he exclaims—"If she is not for slavery, she is for abolition." Or, in other words, though the Governor does not say so, yet he leaves us to infer as much—If Maryland does not cast her vote for James Buchanan, his southern adherents intend to chastise her—if they can.

Since this letter was written, Baltimore has spoken, and it now remains for Gov. Wise to complete those "preparations for the worst" in which he avows himself busily engaged. He may confidently set down Maryland for Fillmore, and whatever action he may be disposed to take in consequence of this fact, we trust we shall have no difficulty in surviving it.

Vermont.—A letter from Franklin Co., Vermont, to the Congregational Journal, says:

All minor and local considerations seem to be swallowed up and lost in the intense interest felt in our national political affairs. The recent State elections give a pretty fair specimen of the feelings of the Green Mountain Boys, in regard to the principles of our General Government. They hate and loathe slavery, and will array themselves at the election in November, in almost an undivided front against its extension. Whatever denials may be made in public prints, facts evince that some of the strongholds of the Democracy, and which, for the last 20 years, have given an unwavering support to the Democratic party, have this year, for State and County and Town Representatives, gone Republican by a handsome majority.

* * * * It is a fact worthy of notice, that in this part of the State, the Foreign and Catholic vote was all cast for the Democratic ticket; and it may be safely counted on for the National Democratic Nominees.

WOOD'S HAIR RESTORATIVE.

THE GREATEST DISCOVERY OF THE AGE.—It seldom occurs, that we notice, under any circumstances, patent medicines, or anything of the kind, for we have a prejudice against most of them. But candor compels us to call attention to Prof. Wood's Hair Restorative. We are too juvenile to require anything of the kind, but some instances of its use have come to our knowledge which almost assure us that it is a sovereign remedy against the hair becoming prematurely gray. It is not a "Hair Dye," but upon its application as directed, the effect is produced on the skin, which brings out the original, native colored hair, without stiffness, and gives it a glossy and natural appearance. We have seen persons who have used it, and they are much pleased with it.—[Missouri Republican.

HEALTH AND STRENGTH.

☞ Dr. S. O. RICHARDSON'S SHERRY WINE BITTERS is the best Medicine ever used, for Summer Complaints. It has been more liberally patronized than any other ever established in this country. It is the same Richardson's Bitters which has restored so many invalids to health throughout New England during the past thirty years.

N. B.—Beware of imitations called Sherry Wine Bitters. The genuine have a fac simile of my signature upon the outer envelope. For sale by Druggists everywhere, and at my office, No. 51 Hanover St., Boston. aus26m

THE GREAT DISCOVERY.

Many years ago, Doctor Burleigh Smart, of Kennebunk, Me., discovered that a simple article never before used as a medicine, was a never failing cure for coughs of every description, and an excellent blood purifier. By its use in his private practice, he acquired the reputation of being the best physician in New England, for all diseases of the lungs. After his death, Messrs. Shaw & Clark of Biddeford, Me., obtained a Copy Right from Government, for its exclusive manufacture, and now have it carefully prepared strictly according to the original recipe. There is no cough that it will not cure, unless the patient is past all human aid before commencing its use! It is called "Doctor Burleigh Smart's Cough Medicine," and is for sale by all apothecaries. au27 TuTh3m

Josiah Quincy, Jr, Boston, Feb. 5
Isaac F. Shepard, Esq. Boston, " 12
Rev. J. C. Bodwell, Framingham, " 19
Rev. Horatio Stebbins, Portland, " 26

The Committee, in arranging the programme for their third Course of Lectures, have determined to invite only lecturers of decided merit and, believing that in a course of popular lectures instruction should be blended with amusement, they have decided to introduce a New Feature, by connecting with the usual series upon miscellaneous topics, a short Scientific Course; and have therefore secured the services of Messrs. Whittaker and Sprague, whose lectures are appropriately illustrated, and of the most entertaining character. It is believed that the course of lectures before this Association the coming season, will surpass in point of interest and variety, as it certainly will in regard to the expense incurred, any ever before given in this city.

LOCAL.

POTATOES.—Mr. John Lamprey of North Hampton, has raised 1000 bushels of sound potatoes this year. Very few farmers in this region have done better—perhaps few have done so well. There has been some damage by rot—but there are more good ones than some persons have supposed. They have borne a very high price here for some weeks;—but we perceive them quoted in the Boston Chronicle's Price Current of the 22d, as follows, viz:—Common potatoes 45 to 50; peach bloom 50 to 55; Carter 70 to 75. We therefore alter our price current to agree,—45 to 75 cts.

☞ A member of the Democratic party informs us that there were nearly three hundred torches in their procession in this city, on Wednesday night—instead of the two we stated. Well, our authority was a corporal in the Buchanan Guards, and a marshal of the procession. A couple of Fremont boys told us that they could count but 138 or 140 torches in the procession.

QUERY.—One of the inscriptions on the balcony of Jefferson Hall, on the occasion of the Democratic torch-light procession in this city, Wednesday evening, was as follows:

"A faithful adherence to the common bond."

Now the great question is, does this mean to unite still closer the bonds which the slave-power would gladly tighten even about us white northerners; or does it exhort us as true Democrats, to remember those in bonds as bound with them. We ask for information.

☞ The Farm of Capt. J. W. Marden, on Laylayette Road, containing 60 acres, was sold to Joseph Holmes for $2525, on Thursday, Oct. 23, by H. F. Wendell, Esq., Actioneer.

NEW ORLEANS, Oct. 22.—From Nicaragua.—The Steamship Tennessee has arrived here, with later dates from Nicaragua.

Gen. Walker, finding the enemy advancing on Massaya, withdrew the small force there; when the enemy, 3,000 strong, occupied the place.

Gen. Walker, then left a small force at Granada, and advanced towards Massaya with 1,000 men, and meeting the enemy, on the 12th inst., near the city, repulsed them, driving them back to Massaya, where a battle was fought, lasting until midnight.

At daylight a courier arrived from Granada, stating that 1400 Guatemaleans and natives were besieging that place. Gen. Walker, on receiving this information, immediately marched to the relief of Granada, and arriving on the heights surrounding the city on the morn of the 13th, at 10 o'clock, and finding the city barricaded by the whole force of the enemy, he charged upon them, and drove them from their posts, capturing their commanders and all their field pieces, and routing them from the city with great slaughter. The total loss of the enemy was 1100. Gen. Walker's loss was 16 killed and 30 wounded.

Gen. Walker would immediately march on Massaya and Leon. His troops were in the highest spirits.

The citizens of Granada held the government buildings 22 hours against the force of the enemy, and were vigorously defending the place when Gen. Walker arrived.

Messrs. Lawless, Wheeler and Ferguson, American citizens, who have had no connection with Nicaraguan affairs, were murdered by the natives.

HARRISBURG, Oct. 22.—Pennsylvania Election.—All the counties are officially in but 10, and they are pretty accurately known. The total Democratic majority for Canal Commissioner is 2979; less than 3 votes in each township in the state. The Democratic majority in the Legislature is 3 votes on joint ballot.

Latest.—Official returns received from all the counties in the state, except Elk and McKean, show a Democratic majority of 2876.

McKean county gives a majority for the anti-Buchanan candidate, and the New York papers are informed that this as officially declared is 232. Elk county may give a small majority the other way, as the majority for the administration party in that county last year was 414.

The majority reported above is for Canal Commissioner. On the other hand it is now manifest that the official statement of the vote for State Senators will show a larger majority against the Buchanan party.

The same majorities for their Senatorial candidates, in the thirty-three districts, which are reported for their candidate for Canal Commissioner, would have given them eighteen or twonty of the thirty-three Senators, whereas they have secured only fifteen, the other eighteen districts having been carried by the "opposition." It is also nearly certain that the whole vote for members will show a majority against Buchanan. We infer this from such particulars of the vote as have come to hand.—Boston Tel.

CLEVELAND, Oct. 22.—Rev. Frederick Bauer, pastor of St. Mary's (Catholic) Church, was arrested yesterday, on a charge of whipping to death a Sunday school scholar, named Barbara Forman, because she attended the Ragged school.

FROM EUROPE—4 DAYS LATER.

PHILADELPHIA, Oct. 22.

The steamer City of Baltimore, from Liverpool 8th inst., arrived here this afternoon. Her dates are the same as brought by the North American, whose commercial report was telegraphed from Quebec.

By the City of Baltimore we have the following summary of news:

The London Post's correspondent in Paris, on the 7th says the Bourse rallied under the effect of the report of the Minister of Finance, of restored confidence, in reference to the exaggerated rumors circulated for several days.

The London Times says the effects of the measure adopted by the Bank of England is complete, and that all pressure, both at the Bank and discount market, had subsided, and foreign exchanges received a favorable impulse.

The rise in corn had checked the decline expected, as the crops exceed the average, and the foreign arrivals are ample.*

The Bank of France was again purchasing gold.

The final quotation of French Three per Cents showed an improvement of ¼ per cent.

The Bank of Vienna, it is said, has a stock of specie amounting to 87,000,000 of francs, including a considerable sum in United States dollars.

The Paris correspondent of the London Morning Chronicle says:—"It is rumored that the Bank has been again pressing for a suspension of cash payments, but the Emperor is firm in the negative.

CHINA.—From Hong Kong we have the following:—Of the rebels in Quangie we hear nothing. An extensive fire broke out on the 23d of July among the boats at Shameon suburb, which destroyed great numbers, and about 200 lives were lost.

From Shanghae we have dates to the 31st of July. The movements of the rebels still created much uneasiness, but large bodies of Tartar troops had lately been brought down from the north, and there was a report that the rebels had been defeated and obliged to retire towards Ching Kiang Foo. This requires confirmation.

The Dutch ship Banca, from Macao for Havana, with Coolies, put back to Macao in distress. While lying in port, the Coolies rebelled, and were fired upon by the crew, and driven below, whereupon they set fire to the ship, and out of 500 souls on board, only 150 escaped.

*A "suitable reward" is offered to any body who will tell us what this means.—[Ed. Chronicle.

ARRIVAL OF THE ARABIA.

HALIFAX, Oct. 23.

The Royal mail steamship Arabia, Capt. Stone, from Liverpool 11th inst., arrived at this port this forenoon.

Since the sailing of the Quebec and Philadelphia steamers, little has occurred worthy of note.

Cotton, Corn, and General Produce markets were steady, with a fair amount of business.

CHINESE VEGETABLES.—There are beginning to appear some febrile symptoms in regard to two vegetables recently imported from the Central flowering empire. One of these plants is the Sorgum Saccharatum or Chinese Sugar millet, which is found to grow so as to develope its saccharine juice if not to ripen its seed in our own Northern climate. Heaven send it may sweeten us before cane sugar grows much dearer.

The other plant is a sort of potato called the dioscorea Batatas, from which if there is anything in the enthusiasm of some of its friends, we may expect another morus multicaulis or shanghae excitement.

Wm. R. Prince, of Flushing, N. Y., has 35,000 plants of this esculent under cultivation, and entertains very sanguine views respecting its prospective importance in the United States. He asserts—

1st, That the Dioscorea Batatas of Decaisne is perfectly hardy during our severest winters. 2d, That it is more nutricious than other esculent we cultivate. 3d, That its culture is so easy and simple, and its product so great, that it can be afforded incomparably cheaper than any any other nutricious vegetable, it having produced in France at the rate of above 800 bushels per acre. 4th, That the combination of every useful property renders it the greatest vegetable boon ever granted by God to man, and that its introduction to our country is even more important than that of cotton, and that in twenty years our National statistics will report the value of the annual crop as greater than the cotton crop.

Such reliance is placed upon this root in the Chinese empire, that, according to Mr. Prince, one-half the population would perish from famine if suddenly deprived of it. According to the same authority, it will supersede every other potato, and in a measure be substituted for Indian corn and wheat. It is said to make good bread, and the roots propagate easily and rapidly. The "Revue Horticole" published under the direction of the French Institute, devotes twenty pages to this subject, concluding as follows—"This esculent has now been tested in every Department of France, even to its more northern limits—the shores of the Rhine—and it is to be deemed henceforth incorporated into the agriculture of France."—Boston Chronicle.

BALTIMORE, Oct. 22.—Schooner Kalos, from St. Martins for Philadelphia, went ashore Wednesday last, on Currituck Beach. The captain's child, and four of the crew were lost.

Three men and a woman travelling in an ox wagon, were burnt to death by a prairie fire near Buckheart Grove, Illinoss.

No ALCOHOL.—The Oxygenated Bitters claim the favorable attention of those whose principles forbid the use of alcoholic stimulants. This well known remedy for Dyspepsia and General Debility, is richly worth a fair trial.

From the Boston Saturday Evening Gazette.

A PERFUMED BREATH.—What lady or gentleman would remain under the curse of a disagreeable breath, when using the "Balm of a Thousand Flowers" as a dentifrice would not only render it sweet, but leave the teeth white as alabaster? Many persons do not know their breath is bad, and the subject is so delicate, their friends will never mention it. Pour a single drop of the "Balm" on your tooth-brush and wash the teeth night and morning. A fifty cent bottle will last a year.

A BEAUTIFUL COMPLEXION may easily be acquired by using the "Balm of a Thousand Flowers." It will remove tan, pimples and freckles from the skin, leaving it of a soft and roseate hue. Wet a towel, pour on two or three drops, and wash the face night and morning

SHAVING MADE EASY.—Wet your shaving brush in either warm or cold water, pour on two or three drops of "Balm of a Thousand Flowers," run the beard well and it will make a beautiful soft lather, much facilitating the operation of shaving. Price only 50 cents.

THE MUSTANG CANDIDATE.

If Col. Fremont had as many friends as the Mustang Liniment, the opposition could not draw a corporal's guard. Mr. Fremont remarked in his dispatches to President Fillmore, while transporting horses and cattle over the plains of Mexico, "That if the Government would send him on a liberal supply of Mustang Liniment, it would save 25 per cent. of his losses." This is very important for all Farmers and Liverymen to know. The Mustang Liniment is a wonderful article for man or beast. It should always be used for Sores, Swellings, Stiff Joints, Burns, Bruises, Rheumatic Pains, &c., and for Galds, Sprains, Spavins, Ringbone, &c., upon horses.—BEWARE OF IMITATIONS. The Mustang is sold by all respectable dealers everywhere.

HAYDEN'S IMPROVED VEGETABLE PURGATIVE PILLS.
NOTICES FROM THE PRESS.

From the Times, May 8, 1849.

The following is an extract from a a letter received from Daniel Lothrop & Co., principal druggists at Dover, N. H. We think people will soon be convinced of the remarkable virtue of Dr. Hayden's Pills, by such evidence as he is daily receiving:

Dover, N. H. May 5th, 1849.

DR. WM. B. HAYDEN: Sir,—Your Pills still continue to sell, and give extraordinary satisfaction, beyond all precedent. Send us twelve dozen boxes immediately, and oblige,

Very respectfully,
DANIEL LOTHROP & CO.

OXYGENATED BITTERS IN EUROPE.

From Rev. L. Doolittle, a highly respectable clergyman. PARIS, Nov. 1, 1851.

DEAR SIR:—About two years since I made use of a few bottles of your Oxygenated Bitters, for a stomach complaint, which was at that time relieved.

Since my stay in England and France, I have found my old enemy, irritability of the stomach, returning again. I have not found any prescription to afford me relief, and I made inquiries in London for your Oxygenated Bitters, but could not find any. I write now to beg you will do me the favor to send by the earliest steamer to Havre, half a dozen bottles, care of Livingston, Wells & Co., 8 Place de la Bourse, Paris.

An old friend of mine in England, Captain Jackson of the British Army, I found on my arrival, suffering from Asthma, manifestly the result of dyspepsia. Send an additional half dozen bottles, I should like to have the captain try the medicine.

I beg to observe, as I am not aware that my name is known to you, that I have been the resident clergyman for some twenty-three years, in Sherbrook and Lennoxville, Canada East, to which charge I hope to be able to return in the spring.

I remain, dear sir, your obedient servant,
L. DOOLITTLE.

"The Greatest Book of the Age!"
History United States,
From the earliest Period to the Present Time.
BY J. A. SPENCER, D. D.,
Member of the New York Historical Society, Membre de la Societe Orientale de France, author of "Egypt and the Holy Land," etc., etc

THIS National History, written by an accomplished American author, and copiously and beautifully embellished by American artists, (among whom are Leutze, Weir, Vanderlyn, Powell, Chapman, Chappell and Oertel,) commends itself by its sterling merit to the favorable consideration of the American public.

No pains or expense have been spared to render this work worthy of being in every respect hailed as a Book for the American People.

Every Public Institution of our country, every Family—every citizen should possess such a National Work, that he may con over its instructive records, and kindle hispatriotism at its spirit stirring narrative; and point to its exhibition of genius and skill, with those feelings of generous enthusiasm, which such a production of native talent cannot fail to awaken in the heart of every true American.

The work is now in course of publication in semi-monthly parts, price Mwenty-five cents each, delivered at the Subscriber's residence or sent by mail postage free. Subscribers' names respectfully solicited, and all letters and inquiries promptly replied to by the Publishers.

AYER'S
CHERRY PECTORAL,
FOR THE RAPID CURE OF
Colds, Coughs, and Hoarseness.

BRINKFIELD, MASS., 20th Dec., 1855.
DR. J. C. AYER: I do not hesitate to say the best remedy I have ever found for Coughs, Hoarseness, Influenza, and the concomitant symptoms of a Cold, is your CHERRY PECTORAL. Its constant use in my practice and my family for the last ten years has shown it to possess superior virtues for the treatment of these complaints. EBEN KNIGHT, M. D.

A. B. MORTLEY, Esq., of Utica, N. Y., writes: "I have used your PECTORAL myself and in my family ever since you invented it, and believe it the best medicine for its purpose ever put out. With a bad cold I should sooner pay twenty-five dollars for a bottle than do without it, or take any other remedy."

Croup, Whooping Cough, Influenza.

SPRINGFIELD, MASS., Feb. 7, 1856.
BROTHER AYER: I will cheerfully certify your PECTORAL is the best remedy we possess for the cure of Whooping Cough, Croup, and the chest diseases of children. We of your fraternity in the South appreciate your skill, and commend your medicine to our people.
HIRAM CONKLIN, M. D.

AMOS LEE, Esq., MONTEREY, IA., writes, 23 Jan., 1856. "I had a tedious Influenza, which confined me in doors six weeks; took many medicines without relief; finally tried your PECTORAL by the advice of our clergyman. The first dose relieved the soreness in my throat and lungs; less than one half the bottle made me completely well. Your medicines are the cheapest as well as the best we can buy, and we esteem you, Doctor, and your remedies, as the poor man's friend."

Asthma or Phthisic, and Bronchitis.

WEST MANCHESTER, PA., Feb. 4, 1856.
SIR: Your CHERRY PECTORAL is performing marvellous cures in this section. It has relieved several from alarming symptoms of consumption, and is now curing a man who has labored under an affection of the lungs for the last forty years. HENRY L. PARKS, Merchant.

A. A. RAMSEY, M.D., ALBION, MONROE CO., IOWA, writes, Sept. 6, 1855: "During my practice of many years I have found nothing equal to your CHERRY PECTORAL for giving ease and relief to consumptive patients, or curing such as are curable."

We might add volumes of evidence, but the most convincing proof of the virtues of this remedy is found in its effects upon trial.

Consumption.

Probably no one remedy has ever been known which cured so many and such dangerous cases as this. Some no human aid can reach; but even to those the CHERRY PECTORAL affords relief and comfort.

ASTOR HOUSE, NEW YORK CITY, March 5, 1856
DOCTOR AYER, LOWELL: I feel it a duty and a pleasure to inform you what your CHERRY PECTORAL has done for my wife. She had been five months laboring under the dangerous symptoms of Consumption, from which no aid we could procure gave her much relief. She was steadily failing, until Dr. Strong, of this city, where we have come for advice, recommended a trial of your medicine. We bless his kindness, as we do your skill, for she has recovered from that day. She is not yet as strong as she used to be, but is free from her cough, and calls herself well.
Yours with gratitude and regard,
ORLANDO SHELBY, OF SHELBYVILLE.

Consumptives, do not despair till you have tried AYER'S CHERRY PECTORAL. It is made by one of the best medical chemists in the world, and its cures all around us bespeak the high merits of its virtues.—Philadelphia Ledger.

Ayer's Cathartic Pills.

THE sciences of Chemistry and Medicine have been taxed their utmost to produce this best, most perfect purgative which is known to man. Innumerable proofs are shown that these PILLS have virtues which surpass in excellence the ordinary medicines, and that they win unprecedentedly upon the esteem of all men. They are safe and pleasant to take, but powerful to cure. Their penetrating properties stimulate the vital activities of the body, remove the obstructions of its organs, purify the blood, and expel disease. They purge out the foul humors which breed and grow distemper, stimulate sluggish or disordered organs into their natural action, and impart healthy tone with strength to the whole system. Not only do they cure the every-day complaints of every body, but also formidable and dangerous diseases that have baffled the best of human skill. While they produce powerful effects, they are at the same time, in diminished doses, the safest and best physic that can be employed for children. Being sugar-coated, they are pleasant to take; and being purely vegetable, are free from any risk of harm. Cures have been made which surpass belief were they not substantiated by men of such exalted position and character as to forbid the suspicion of untruth. Many eminent clergymen and physicians have lent their names to certify to the public the reliability of my remedies, while others have sent me the assurance of their conviction that my Preparations contribute immensely to the relief of my afflicted, suffering fellow-men.

The Agent below named is pleased to furnish gratis my American Almanac, containing directions for their use and certificates of their cures, of the following complaints:—

Costiveness, Bilious Complaints, Rheumatism, Dropsy Heartburn, Headache arising from a foul Stomach, Nausea, Indigestion, Morbid Inaction of the Bowels and Pain arising therefrom, Flatulency, Loss of Appetite, all Ulcerous and Cutaneous Diseases which require an evacuant Medicine, Scrofula or King's Evil. They also, by purifying the blood and stimulating the system, cure many complaints which it would not be supposed they could reach, such as Deafness, Partial Blindness, Neuralgia and Nervous Irritability, Derangements of the Liver and Kidneys, Gout, and other kindred complaints arising from a low state of the body or obstruction of its functions.

Do not be put off by unprincipled dealers with some other pill they make more profit on. Ask for AYER'S PILLS, and take nothing else. No other they can give you compares with this in its intrinsic value or curative powers. The sick want the best aid there is for them, and they should have it.

STOVES! STOVES!

Frank Jones' Improved.

THIS Cooking Stove, from the rapid sale which it has had since its first introduction into this market, has proved itself to be far superior to all other cooking stoves yet made, in point of durability, economy, perfection in cooking, and draft.

Those about purchasing, will find it for their interest to examine this, and they will be convinced that it is useless to look further.

Every Stove warranted to give perfect satisfaction, in every particular, or no sale.

The Improved Empire State.

This Stove has been so long in the market, and so extensively used, and has given such unparalleled satisfaction, that it hardly necessary to say anything further, than that we have a large invoice of all the different sizes, for wood or coal.

Also, Repairing Pieces, of every description, which we are enabled to sell at prices that shall satisfy all.

The White Mountain

has been the favorite stove with many, for several years,—it having given such universal satisfaction wherever used, that it is thought by those who use them to have no superior.

To those who are in search of the White Mountain, I would say that I have the heaviest stock, of all sizes, to be found in this market, from which to make their selections,—at prices that cannot fail to suit.

OUR STOCK OF
Parlor Stoves

comprises all the various kinds, among which may be found the Favorite, Villa, Star, &c.

Also, a large variety of Open Parlor GRATES, of all sizes, which cannot be surpassed for elegance or price.

Oven Parlor Stoves, some very beautiful patterns, for either wood or coal.

Also, Sheet Iron Stoves, of different sizes, with and without ovens.—Pyramid stoves for Halls or Stores. Also, Shop and Box Stoves, Cylinders of different patterns and sizes: in fact all kinds of Stoves, for all purposes, to suit every customer.

Cabooses.

We have many different sizes of this kind of stove for use aboard vessels, which we offer at the lowest prices.

Our Stock of Stoves comprises the largest assortment, of the best patterns, ever brought into this market, which I am determined to sell lower than can be bought at any other establishment in the State, wholesale and retail.

Give us a call.

Singer's Sewing Machines.

THESE celebrated machines are in practical and profitable use in all parts of the civilized world. In all the various trades, and in sewing every sort of fabric, either of cloth or leather, they have been fully tried and approved. Sewing machines of other manufacturers often fail to work, but SINGER'S MACHINES
ALWAYS OPERATE PERFECTLY,
being strong, durable and complete in contrivance and workmanship. A perfect sewing machine kept employed affords a clear profit of $1000 a year; but an imperfect one is a cause of constant vexation and loss. The entire RELIABILITY of our machines is one great reason for their unparalleled popularity.

MACHINES FOR FAMILY SEWING,
of a frail and delicate construction, are recommended by other manufacturers. Such machines are made to catch the eye, not to perform substantial work. The truth is, family sewing machines ought to be stronger than any other, because they go into less skilful hands than when sold to manufacturers, and are used for a greater variety of work. The machines which have proved best for all other purposes must be best for family use, and they are Singer's. The speed of our machines has lately been doubled. No other can compare with them in quantity of work.

☞ New machine of the latest improved style will be exchanged on liberal terms for old sewing machines of our own make, or for operative machines of other manufacturers. Local agents wanted to sell our machines.

N B.—All persons desiring full information about sewing machines can obtain it by applying for a copy of "I. M. Singer & Co.'s Gazette," a paper devoted entirely to the subject. It will be sent gratis. I. M. SINGER & CO.

ELOPEMENT IN PITTSBURG.—The circus of Spalding & Rogers, which has just left our city, has carried with it one of our fair daughters. A tumbler called Nourse, or Noyes, had during his stay, been making love to a Miss Mary E. Fehl, daughter of the highly respectable landlord of the well known hotel, United States. The father being much opposed to the alliance, kept a strict watch upon the movements of the damsel; but at the outbreak of the fire on Sunday afternoon she contrived, under the pretence of going to see the flames at Hardscrabble, to feed the flames of love at a different altar: and presenting herself at the house of one of our most worthy and distinguished ministers, was married to the gay "standard bearer" of the clownish association. The fair bride left town yesterday morning for her first appearance on the circus of life, upon a wedding tour over the wide world, to reap the wholesome fruits of "love and loyalty." She was about fifteen years of age.—Pittsburgh Post, Sept. 30.

DESTRUCTION OF AN OLD HISTORICAL LANDMARK.—The bright light which lit up the heavens so brilliantly on Friday night, denoted the burning, in Jeffersonville, of perhaps the only building of historical interest in this vicinity. It was the house in which General William Henry Harrison lived when he was the Governor of the North Western Territory. In the old frame tenement, with its brick basement and weather-stained front, and crumbling, time-eaten roof, resided, for several years, the great Indian conqueror, whose name, in connection with his victories and many virtues, became a household word throughout the Union. There he ruled that vast portion of our confederacy known as the States of Indiana, Illinois, Iowa, Wisconsin, and the territory of Minnesota.—Thence he issued his orders—there he received the legislators, and there dispensed that famous latch-string hospitality which, in 1840, became so celebrated.—Louisville Courier.

A GREAT NATIONAL WORK.

SPENCER'S HISTORY OF THE UNITED STATES.—In another column may be found the advertisement of a book with the above title, to which we take pleasure in renewedly calling the attention of our readers.—This truly national work is published in semi-monthly parts, at 25 cents each. The current parts, Nos. 13 and 14, are before us, containing a view of the Battle of Lexington and a portrait of Henry Clay. The execution of these plates is an honor to our native artists, and quite creditable to the enterprising publishers of the work.—The author, the Rev. Dr. J. A. Spencer, of New York, is a gentleman highly esteemed as an eminent and classical scholar, a profound thinker, and an able historical writer. He is well qualified to do justice to his theme. The book only needs to be examined to be appreciated. Its popular character should insure its author and publishers an extensive sale.—Boston Transcript, Sept. 4th.

SPENCER'S UNITED STATES.—We have received Nos. 14 and 15 of this great national work.—They contain an excellent treatise on the "wisdom and necessity of the Declaration of Independence." In the appendix to Chapter 19, are copies of several Revolutionary Documents, an original draft of the Declaration, and Judge Drayton's celebrated Address to Admiral Lord Howe and General Howe. Also, an extract from John Quincy Adams's Oration on the 4th of July, 1831. These numbers bring the history down to the entrance of the British fleet into the Chesapeake, to attack Philadelphia, August, 1777. The Illustrations of these numbers are a portrait of Henry Clay, and the Battle of New Orleans—two of the finest engravings we have ever seen. This work is an honor to the age.—Buffalo Republic, Sept. 29.

There is a wonderful combination of native talent of the first order in this truly National Work.—New York Times.

After a brief examination of the above work, we have no hesitation in expressing our agreement with the foregoing high encomiums from excellent authority. The execution of the book is splendid—the engravings are original, and done in the very highest style of art.

THE LAST OUTRAGE.

We are now (says the Boston Telegraph,) in possession of the facts in regard to the late capture of 250 emigrants, in Kansas, in violation of law, right, and Gov. Geary's own written pass, as stated by the prisoners themselves, over the names of the leaders and male members to the number of one hundred and forty-one. It was brought to Chicago by a special messenger, and was the basis of the telegraphic dispatch which turns out not to have been at all exaggerated.

Preston, who represented Gov. Geary on the occasion, is a Virginia lawyer, who took the office of Deputy Marshal expressly for the purpose of this arrest. He acted without any process of law whatever. It appears from the statement of the messenger that when the train was stopped, it was proceeding as it had proceeded through Iowa, without military organization, without military officers, the wagons scattered in a line of two miles in length over the prairie, and the men, in squads, some with, but nearly all without arms, walking by the side of the teams.

All the powder found was in one keg.—There was another keg partly filled with cartridges for the use of the night guard. The ten Sharpe's rifles and two dozen revolvers in a box were going through as freight, and were paid for as such. These, with the Hall's rifles belonging to the men, were all seized and packed in the U. S. wagons.

Here is the statement of the prisoners themselves.

STATEMENT OF THE PRISONERS.

Encampment on Pony Creek, K. T., Midnight, October 10, 1856. We, the undersigned, present to our fellow-citizens the following statement of facts, and ask their serious attention to the high-handed violation of Constitutional rights which they disclose.

We left Mount Pleasant, Iowa, on the 20th of September, and after a toilsome journey of some twenty-one days through Iowa and Nebraska, we reached the Kansas line this morning, October 10, 1856. When we had proceeded about three miles south of the line, and while pursuing our way in a peaceful and quiet manner, we were stopped by between 600 and 700 United States troops, with six pieces of artillery, under command of Col. Cooke, acting as a posse to United States Deputy Marshal Preston.

After enquiring who we were and to what place we were going, and being truthfully informed, they announced their intention to subject us to search, in obedience to instructions from Governor Geary. Col. Eldridge, as conductor of the train, presented the following letter of welcome from Governor Geary.

EXECUTIVE DEPARTMENT, }
Lecompton, K. T., Sept. 30, 1856. }

To all whom it may concern:

The bearer of this note, Robert Morrow, represents himself as the agent of certain peaceful and bona fide emigrants about entering this territory through Nebraska, under the escort of Col. Eldridge, assisted by Gen. Pomeroy and Col. Perry.

I welcome all such accessions to the population of this Territory, coming from whatever quarter, and I request all good citizens to afford shelter and protection to every person entering this Territory for peaceable and lawful purposes.

If the party under Colonel Eldredge come in this way, without threats or a hostile attitude, I hereby request all military officers in this Territory to give them a safe conduct and so permit them to pass without interruption.

JNO. W. GEARY.
Gov. of Kansas Territory.

This letter was sent by a special messenger to the train while at Nebraska. We protested against any detention or search as a violation of our constitutional rights, and of the spirit of Gov. Geary's letter. We admitted that we were thoroughly armed, and stated that Gov. Geary had been so informed by the bearer of the letter, and he had distinctly admitted our right to come armed into the Territory. The train was ordered to start, but was immediately forcibly stopped, neither our protest nor Gov. Geary's letter being respected. The wagons were then searched, and all arms found in them taken away. During the search trunks and valises were torn and broken open, the beds of families were thrown out in the rain and tramped in the mud—the ladies being treated with inexcusable rudeness.

After this was done they offered to escort us to Gov. Geary, on condition that the leaders pledged themselves to keep every man with the train. This, having neither right nor power to do, they refused; telling them that when they had taken from us all that they wanted, we would take care of ourselves. We were then informed that we were prisoners of war; our entire train, numbering some 250 men, women and children, being surrounded by United States troops and marched into camp, where we are to-night, under a strong military guard, who have orders to shoot down any man who attempts to leave.

Ed. Daniels, Wis., Richard Realt, N. Y.
S. W. Eldridge, K.T., S. C. Pomeroy, K.T.

To these are added 137 other names of members of various state companies. Supposing them to have been the adult men, there remain 109 who were probably women and children. That a company carrying with it many loads of household furniture and farming utensils, with one hundred women and children to one hundred and fifty fighting men, were any thing but bona fide emigrants, is too absurd to be believed by any one but an idiot. Here is a plain case; there is no getting round it.

It was no act of passion; no act of irresponsible ruffians. It was President Pierce's new Governor, Geary, acting deliberately. And what does he do? First he is informed that a body of emigrants, well armed and equipped both for self defense and actual settlement, proposes to enter the territory. He sends them a cordial, safe conduct.—They come forward with their baggage, wives and little ones. In the meantime he appoints a special Deputy Marshal with an armed posse of 600 or 700 men. They search and find every thing just as it had been represented to Geary, and, in perfidious violation of his own pass, MAKE THE WHOLE PARTY PRISONERS OF WAR!!!

This is doing up Atchison's work more thoroughly than he could do it himself.

As a crime, we can understand it; it is an utter disregard of the constitution, to favor slavery. But as a blunder, it is to us incomprehensible, unless Pres. Pierce and Gov. Geary wish to defeat Mr. Buchanan by driving off every free State from his support.

COALITION.—Hon. B. F. Hallet, in his speech at Faneuil Hall, on Friday night, acknowledged the coalition his party had made in Pennsylvania with the Know Nothing Fillmoreites, and confirmed Mr. Butler's statement on that point in these terms:

If my friend Col. Butler of Lowell, made the remark which I see attributed to him in the newspapers, that 14,000 Americans had gone for Buchanan in Pennsylvania, (upon which I perceive the newspapers in the opposition predicate the preposterous idea that 14,000 Fillmore men are going to vote for Fremont in November)—if Col. Butler made that remark, he must have meant that 14,000 Whigs who had been relied on for Fillmore had gone for Buchanan. That is true, and some good Americans, too.

That is what he meant, exactly,—that they had voted on the Buchanan State ticket—and that they may probably vote for him again in November:—But there's no knowing what they will do, exactly.

FULL RETURNS OF THE MAINE ELECTION.—Hamlin (Rep.) 69,472; Wells, (Dem.) 44,967; Patten, (Whig) 6,668.

Hamlin over Wells, 24,504; over Wells and Patten, 17,836.

In 1855 the vote stood as follows:—Morrill, 51,543; Wells, 48,322; Reed, 10,677. The total vote this year is 121,106 against 110,542 last year—an increase of 10,564.

Official vote of Vermont at the September election—

Whole number	45,983
Necessary for a choice	22,992
Fletcher, Rep.	34,052
Keyes, Dem.	11,661
Fillmore and scat.	270

Gov. Fletcher's majority twenty-two thousand one hundred and twenty-one!

Gov. Fletcher's message is a plain, unpretending, sensible and creditable document. It concludes with a very able review of the Kansas outrages, suggesting that these may demand imperatively the intervention of Vermont, through its Legislature, for the defense of its own sons against lawless outrages.

☞ Many papers have got down New Hampshire among the States which keep Thanksgiving on the 20th of November,—and seem to rejoice that the appointment in so many States is simultaneous. We prefer different days in different States; and hope if ours has not yet been appointed, (of which we have yet seen no evidence,) it may be yet the 27th or 13th, so that we may exchange visits with friends in Maine.

☞ Rev. James O'Reilly, a Roman Catholic clergyman of the diocese of Hartford, Conn., was in feeble health, and was recommended to bathe in the Sulphur lake near Tivoli, Italy. Being an excellent swimmer he ventured beyond the limits of safety, and overcome by the exhalation of the lake, perished. His body was found, but life was extinct.

☞ Mr. Albert Hancock, formerly an overseer at the Stark Corporation in Manchester, but latterly living in Lowell, died very suddenly in that city on Wednesday last. He complained of feeling unwell, and laid down. Soon after his wife found him in a fit. It is supposed that a blood vessel broke in his head. Mr. Hancock was about 35 years of age, and leaves a wife and one child.

The Court of Insolvency, established by the last Legislature at the expense of a constitutional provision, will prove a heavy bill of costs to the State. Under the old law, the insolvents paid all the expenses. Under this, the State pays them, but receives in return the fees of the insolvents, amounting, however, to no such sum as is paid out. The Boston Traveller estimates that the cost of the Courts to the State will be $50,000 annually. Another, added to several pre-existing good reasons, why the matter should be reformed back into sympathy with the constitution.—Springfield, Mass., Republican.

We know nothing of the above-named law of Massachusetts, except what is said of it in the above item. But we infer from the item itself that the law is just and merciful. It may not agree with the Constitution of Massachusetts. If so the remedy is plain: alter the Constitution to suit the law, and to promote the public good.

NEGRO INSURRECTION IN TEXAS.—An insurrection, bloody and deadly, was lately planned and discovered, in Colorado county, Texas.—The slaves were to rise, as the story runs, kill all the men, and all the old women, sparing the young ladies.

More than 200 negroes had violated the law, the penalty of which is death. But by a unanimous consent the law was withheld and their lives spared, with the exception of three of the ringleaders, who were, on the 5th, at 2 o'clock, P. M., hung, with the unanimous voice of the citizens of the county.

Without exception, every Mexican in the county was implicated. They were arrested and ordered to leave the country within five days, and never again return, under penalty of death.

And a resolution was passed by the unanimous votes of the county, forever forbidding any Mexican from coming within the limits of the county.

Peace, quiet and good order are again restored, and by the watchful care of our vigilance committee, a well organized patrol and good discipline among our planters, we are persuaded (say the committee,) that there will never again occur the necessity of a communication of the character like this.

The committee speak of danger as arising from the indulgence and leniency of the planters, and from the incendiary efforts of free Mexicans of the lower sort.

Is it not a blessed institution, which bears such fruits?—and ought it not to be made national?

ONE OR T'OTHER.—We notice that both the Democrats and Republicans build their columns or pyramids of States, with Pennsylvania as a base. It is pretty sure one of them will tumble down—for slavery and liberty can't rest on the same foundation.

NEW YORK, Oct. 23.—There were two failures in the produce line announced today, both with heavy liabilities.

WOOD'S HAIR RESTORATIVE.

THE GREATEST DISCOVERY OF THE AGE.—It seldom occurs, that we notice, under any circumstances, patent medicines, or anything of the kind, for we have a prejudice against most of them. But candor compels us to call attention to Prof. Wood's Hair Restorative. We are too juvenile to require anything of the kind, but some instances of its use have come to our knowledge which almost assure us that it is a sovereign remedy against the hair becoming prematurely gray. It is not a "Hair Dye," but upon its application as directed, the effect is produced on the skin, which brings out the original, native colored hair, without stiffness, and gives it a glossy and natural appearance. We have seen persons who have used it, and they are much pleased with it.—[Missouri Republican.

NOTICES FROM THE PRESS.

From the Times, May 8, 1849.

The following is an extract from a a letter received from Daniel Lothrop & Co., principal druggists at Dover, N. H. We think people will soon be convinced of the remarkable virtue of Dr. Hayden's Pills, by such evidence as he is daily receiving:

HEALTH AND STRENGTH.

☞ DR. S. O. RICHARDSON'S SHERRY WINE BITTERS is the best Medicine ever used, for Summer Complaints. It has been more liberally patronized than any other ever established in this country. It is the same Richardson's Bitters which has restored so many invalids to health throughout New England during the past thirty years.

THE GREAT DISCOVERY.

Many years ago, Doctor Burleigh Smart, of Kennebunk, Me., discovered that a simple article never before used as a medicine, was a never failing cure for coughs of every description, and an excellent blood purifier. By its use in his private practice, he acquired the reputation of being the best physician in New England, for all diseases of the lungs. After his death, Messrs. Shaw & Clark of Biddeford, Me., obtained a Copy Right from Government, for its exclusive manufacture, and now have it carefully prepared strictly according to the original recipe. There is no cough that it will not cure, unless the patient is past all human aid before commencing its use! It is called "Doctor Burleigh Smart's Cough Medicine," and is for sale by all apothecaries. au27 TuTsSS 6m.

☞ The Newburyport Herald, an "independent" paper, not suspected of inclining too favorably toward the "fanatics" or "black republicans,"—says in the issue of Friday, that, "in Massachusetts there can be no doubt of a majority of votes for Fremont, and for Gardner—or that the legislature will be of the same complexion, as will be most of the other officers," as last year.—Of course not, and those who talk otherwise must be the same fellows who were going to carry Vermont for Fillmore.

☞ The Portland Transcript says "a portion of the operatives in the Lewiston factories having struck for the eleven hour system, have been discharged. They say they will not work twelve hours a day, and we don't blame them. There are said to be no other factories in New England, besides those at Lewiston, where twelve hours of daily labor are exacted."

☞ At the Fair grounds in Portland, on Tuesday afternoon, there was a foot race, won by A. P. Maxfield, of Casco, who ran half a mile in 2 minutes and 25 seconds.

☞ A law among the Arabs permits a man to divorce any of his wives who do not make him good bread. If such a law were in force in this country, how many wives would leave their homes.

☞ One night last week some rascal entered the stable of Hon. K. Washburn, at North Livermore, Me., and stole a family horse worth $200.

☞The Pleasant Street Church is advertised to be sold at auction on Tuesday next. which will afford a rare opportunity to purchase an excellent building, a fine bell, a good though small organ, with other important fixtures.

The society, we learn, were almost unanimous in voting to give up their present house—and we do not hear that arrangements have been made to contiuue worship elsewhere.

The pastor, Rev. Mr. Fanton, was sometime since dismissed according to due form and agreement, and at his own request; and we presume will preach his farewell discourse to his people to-morrow.

☞The Middle street Church is being extensively repaired and improved—and owing to the non-completion of the inside arrangements, no services will be held there to-morrow. The pastor will divide services with the pastor of the North Church.

THE PRINTING CENTENNIAL CELEBRATION. We regret that we can supply no more copies of our report of the proceedings on this most interesting occasion. Though we printed a large number of extra papers containing it, the demand was more than we could supply. Mr. Fuller, of the Gazette, will shortly publish a pamphlet containing a full account of the festival.

☞It is rumored "in the street," that our new Post Office Building will probably be located where all the people wish it—on the site of the old Jefferson Market. We hear that there are no obstacles in the way of procuring titles, &c.; and that all the property needed can be bought at reasonable rates. $15,000 and $17,000 are named by outsiders as prices for the Market and lot; and $6000 for the other property needed.

☞ We see it stated that the opening lecture before the Boston Mercantile Library Association, the coming season, will be given on the 9th of November, by Hon. N. P. Banks; and the poem by Geo. Edward Rice, Esq., who has won much distinction as a lecturer and poet. Such an intellectual treat alone will be worth the price of the season tickets.

The opening lecture before the Association of this city, will be by Hon. Geo. Lunt; and the poem by B. P. Shillaber, Esq.,—an entertainment not a whit behind the other, for merit or attractiveness.

☞ Some fellow attempted to enter the house of Mr. Beal, on Islington street, a few nights ago. One of the family returning home late, found a back window open—the opening had knocked down a bird-cage, which doubtless frightened the scamp off.

☞ Mr. Lamprey this morning advertises his usual semi-annual entertainment, with his Class, which have just completed their summer term in dancing and waltzing. Besides the attractions of beautiful children in their gala costumes, with flowers, &c., opportunity is given for a social dance—which is always well improved.

A "FINE BIRD."—The figure head of the splendid new ship "Eagle Speed," just launched from the yard on Badger's Island, is an immense Eagle, considerably larger than life, and, as a whole, very natural in appearance. The bird is just rising, with wings extended about ten feet, and neck ruffled as if in anger or earnestness. He measures about eight feet from beak to tip of tail—and is a very appropriate and showy finish to the prow of the noble vessel.

This fine specimen of carving and gilding is from the establishment of Messrs. Gleason & Henderson, on Bow street, in this city—whom we would recommend to all in want of work in their line.

CHICAGO, Oct. 23.—Advices from Lawrence to the 14th inst., state that the emigrants arrested at Plymouth had been released, and that Gov. Geary had ordered them to disperse or leave the territory.—They retired to different settlements and claims. The arms found in their wagons were restored.

PORTRAIT CARDS.—Recent letters from London report that the new style of portrait visiting cards for some time in vogue in Germany, have come into use in England. On the card is engraved the portrait of the party to whom the pasteboard belongs, instead of the name.

For the Chronicle.

BRASS BAND IN PORTSMOUTH.

Why can't we have a Brass Band here, as well as in other places? is a question often asked, and we believe never satisfactorily answered. We see many towns and villages not near as large as our city, supporting one and sometimes two Bands; and here, when we want a little music to welcome the President or lead off a Procession, it is really mortifying to have to send to Great Falls or Dover. We want, and had ought to have, as good a Brass Band in our city as they have elsewhere; and we are confident this could easily be accomplished, if a movement were made in the right direction.

There are many of our young men who have talent for music, and who would be glad to become members of a Band; and there are instruments enough in the city that could be brought together,—and under the direction of a good leader, and with the little pecuniary assistance that our citizens would doubtless cheerfully give to start with, we could have a good Brass Band, and occasionally have our spirits enlivened by hearing, on fine evenings, "Good News from Home," the "Anvil Chorus," and almost any thing desired, by the Portsmouth Band. Who will start in the matter? H. C.

Remarks. — We should certainly be pleased to have a good Band permanently established in Portsmouth—and have no doubt there are enough who would contribute toward such a desideratum, sufficient to meet all expenses for a start.

The places in which, most easily and naturally, Bands are formed and sustained, —aside from the large cities—are those in which manufacturing or other in-doors employment is carried on generally.

There is sufficient talent among the young men in Portsmouth, to form a good band; or if other aid was desirable, there are several good players among the shoemakers in New Castle. The great trouble in such cases, is to get competent leaders—but there are one or two young men in the city who could render success in such an undertaking, certain.

HORRIBLE CRIME BY A CALHOLIC PRIEST.—Rev. Frederick Bauer, Pastor of St. Mary's (Catholic) Church in Cleveland, Ohio, was arrested on the 21st ult., on a charge of whipping to death a Sunday school scholar, named Barbara Forman, because she attended the Ragged School. The deposition of Flinda Hicks contains the following statement:

"I have been acquainted with the deceased, Barbara Forman; have been attending the same school with Barbara; during the last month Barbara has not attended school; we attended school at the Catholic church on the Flats, in the city of Cleveland. The teacher of the school whipped Barbara by laying her on a chair upon her belly, and beat her with a stick; he made her take hold of the rounds of the chair as he whipped her; he makes all the scholars take hold of the rounds of the chair when he whips them; he used a piece of cane having a crook on it; taking hold of the crook, he struck her about the shoulders and back, and struck her a few times lower down; cannot say how many times he struck her; did not see him strike her on the head; he took hold of her hair when he was whipping her; she screamed and hallooed very hard and loud while he was whipping her; his blows were real hard, and he made ugly faces while he was whipping her; she cried real hard until recess, when she went home with one of the other little girls. She tried very hard to get up when he was whipping her, but she could not get up, because he was sitting on her so that she could not get up; she was on her belly on the chair, holding on to the lower round of the chair, and the teacher had hold of her hair crushing her down into it. The teacher told Barbara she ought not to have gone to the Ragged School, and whipped her for going to the Ragged Sunday School; he called her up on the floor for going there, and whipped her for that. When Barbara went to her seat after the master whipped her, she could not sit up straight, because she got such a whipping on her back, and Barbara said it hurt her to sit up. School commences about 8 o'clock; we have to go to church first, and Barbara was whipped soon after school commenced. I am going on twelve years of age. Barbara has not been to school since she got her hard whipping at the school. The master used to whip all the scholars as he whipped Barbara, previous to her whipping, but he has not whipped them so since Barbara was whipped."

STEAMER HERO SUNK.—Providence, Oct. 23.—The steamboat Hero, for New York, with 100 passengers and a light freight, struck on a sunken rock off Nayatt, last evening. In attempting to run to the shore, she struck the Dolphin, and sunk in four feet of water. The passengers were taken off by the Perry, from Newport for Providence, this morning. The freight was saved uninjured. A steam pump has been taken down to free her from water.—At the last accounts she had not been moved.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 24th.—From Kansas. —The Union of this morning publishes a letter from Gov. Geary, announcing the restoration of peace in Kansas.

He says that for two weeks no outrages have been reported, and many notorious agitators belonging to all parties have left the territory. He also says he will shortly proceed with a small force in pursuit of a gang of thieves who are prowling about the southern part of the territory.

FROM MEXICO.—Advices from Mexico of the 8th, announce that another attempt at revolution had been made in the capital, but it was defeated by the government.

FREE STATE CONVENTION.—Topeka, K. T. Oct. 16.—A delegate free State Convention was held here to-day, at which it was decided not to hold an election for electors of President and Vice President on the 4th of November, on account of disturbance and distress prevailing throughout the State. A mass Convention is called, to be held at Big Springs, on the 28th inst., for the purpose of providing for the election of a delegate to Congress, the election of J. W. Whitfield being repudiated by the settlers, as based on the fraudulent laws of the bogus Legislature.

An emigrant train of nearly 300 persons arrived yesterday via Nebraska, under the direction of Col. Eldridge, all in fine condition and spirits. They were all arrested by the regular troops, and brought in prisoners, but discharged on arrival.

The Grand Jury are finding indictments against the Free State prisoners charged with murder, and the trials begin to-morrow.

W. F. Arny, from the National Kansas Committee, arrived yesterday to ascertain the condition of the settlers, and effect an arrangement with the State Central Committee for mutual cooperation.

HON. LEWIS D. CAMPBELL caned an Irishman, on election day, at Hamilton, with considerable fury, putting him in the way of being among the "sore headed" for some time. There are about twenty-five different stories concerning this affair. The Campbell version is that the son of the Emerald Isle was very drunk, and followed Campbell from place to place, abusing him in the most villainous terms—that Campbell left the polls to keep out of his way, but being still followed up, hunted, and "perplexed in the extreme," fell upon his persecutor and caned him. The "other side" is, in brief, that the Irishman had been hired, for the sum of $3, to vote for Campbell, and getting drunk on his unusual supply of cash, voted the "whole Democratic ticket," and then took occasion to tell Campbell about it, and taunt him until he provoked the vengeance of the Butler Poney, who was fined $50 for the satisfaction he had taken out of "Erin go Bragh."—Cincinnati Commercial.

LITTLE INVESTMENTS—LARGE PROFITS.—In this country there are but few ways of investing small sums with any chance of making large gains. Consequently, millions of people squander in idleness and dissipation, amounts which could be invested, if done with judgment, in speculations which are as legal and legitimate as any. The lotteries at the South enable parties who are aware of their existence to run little risks, by which sometimes large fortunes are gained, and by which every day, almost, thousands receive considerable additions to their capital. The lotteries managed by S. Swan, of Montgomery, Alabama, and S. Swan & Co, of Atlanta, Georgia, are very simple. They are made on the single number plan. A prize is drawn against each number that is drawn, till all the prizes are declared, and they are lucky whose number is taken from the wheel. "The Southern Military Academy Lottery," at Montgomery, Ala., is to be drawn on the 13th of November, and the "Fort Gaines Academy Lottery," at Atlanta, Geo., on the 28th of November, and he who sends to the above-named managers, ten dollars, or five, or two and a half, for a whole, half, or quarter ticket, will have a fair chance. The risk is very small, and if fortune crown the experiment, he is sure of his money, for the States are very careful with respect to these institutions, and have authorized gentlemen of high character only to manage them. It may be contended that it is illegal in some States to purchase lottery tickets. This is not so. All of the purchases being made of the managers directly, the transactions take place where the law sanctions the purchase, and any citizen may do as he pleases, as much so as if he were investing in one of the numerous Wall Street joint-stock schemes, which frequently are nothing but the most unfair and infamous lotteries, as many persons know to their cost.

From the Boston Saturday Evening Gazette.

A PERFUMED BREATH.—What lady or gentleman would remain under the curse of a disagreeable breath, when using the "Balm of a Thousand Flowers" as a dentifrice would not only render it sweet, but leave the teeth white as alabaster? Many persons do not know their breath is bad, and the subject is so delicate, their friends will never mention it. Pour a single drop of the "Balm" on your tooth-brush and wash the teeth night and morning. A fifty cent bottle will last a year.

A BEAUTIFUL COMPLEXION may easily be acquired by using the "Balm of a Thousand Flowers." It will remove tan, pimples and freckles from the skin, leaving it of a soft and roseate hue. Wet a towel, pour on two or three drops, and wash the face night and morning

SHAVING MADE EASY.—Wet your shaving brush in either warm or cold water, pour on two or three drops of "Balm of a Thousand Flowers," rub the beard well and it will make a beautiful soft lather, much facilitating the operation of shaving. Price only 50 cents.

FREMONT,
THE MUSTANG CANDIDATE.

If Col. Fremont had as many friends as the Mustang Liniment, the opposition could not draw a corporal's guard. Mr. Fremont remarked in his dispatches to President Fillmore, while transporting horses and cattle over the plains of Mexico, "That if the Government would send him on a liberal supply of Mustang Liniment, it would save 25 per cent. of his losses." This is very important for all Farmers and Liverymen to know. The Mustang Liniment is a wonderful article for man or beast. It should always be used for Sores, Swellings, Stiff Joints, Burns, Bruises, Rheumatic Pains, &c., and for Galds, Sprains, Spavins, Ringbone, &c., upon horses.—BEWARE OF IMITATIONS. The Mustang is sold by all respectable dealers everywhere.

"The Greatest Book of the Age!"

History United States,

From the earliest Period to the Present Time.

BY J. A. SPENCER, D. D.,
Member of the New York Historical Society, Membre de la Societe Orientale de France, author of "Egypt and the Holy Land," etc., etc

THIS National History, written by an accomplished American author, and copiously and beautifully embellished by American artists, (among whom are Leutze, Weir, Vanderlyn, Powell, Chapman, Chappell and Oertel,) commends itself by its sterling merit to the favorable consideration of the American public.

No pains or expense have been spared to render this work worthy of being in every respect hailed as a Book for the American People.

Every Public Institution of our country, every Family—every citizen should possess such a National Work, that he may con over its instructive records, and kindle his patriotism at its spirit stirring narrative; and point to its exhibition of genius and skill, with those feelings of fervent enthusiasm, which such a production of native talent cannot fail to awaken in the heart of every true American.

The work is now in course of publication in semi-monthly parts, price Mwenty-five cents each, delivered at the Subscriber's residence or sent by mail postage free. Subscribers' names respectfully solicited, and all letters and inquiries promptly replied to by the Publishers.

STOVES! STOVES!

Frank Jones' Improved.

THIS Cooking Stove, from the rapid sale which it has had since its first introduction into this market, has proved itself to be far superior to all other cooking stoves yet made, in point of durability, economy, perfection in cooking, and draft.

Those about purchasing, will find it for their interest to examine this, and they will be convinced that it is useless to look further.

Every Stove warranted to give perfect satisfaction, in every particular, or no sale.

The Improved Empire State.

This Stove has been so long in the market, and so extensively used, and has given such unparalleled satisfaction, that it hardly necessary to say anything further, than that we have a large invoice of all the different sizes, for wood or coal.

Also, Repairing Pieces, of every description, which we are enabled to sell at prices that shall satisfy all.

The White Mountain

has been the favorite stove with many, for several years,—it having given such universal satisfaction wherever used, that it is thought by those who use them to have no superior.

To those who are in search of the White Mountain, I would say that I have the heaviest stock, of all sizes, to be found in this market, from which to make their selections,—at prices that cannot fail to suit.

OUR STOCK OF

Parlor Stoves

comprises all the various kinds, among which may be found the Favorite, Villa, Star, &c.

Also, a large variety of Open Parlor GRATES, of all sizes, which cannot be surpassed for elegance or price.

Open Parlor Stoves, some very beautiful patterns, for either wood or coal.

Also, Sheet Iron Stoves, of different sizes, with and without ovens.—Pyramid stoves for Halls or Stoves. Also, Shop and Box Stoves. Cylinders of different patterns and sizes; in fact all kinds of Stoves, for all purposes, to suit every customer.

Cabooses.

We have many different sizes of this kind of stove for use aboard vessels, which we offer at the lowest prices.

Our Stock of Stoves comprises the largest assortment, of the best patterns, ever brought into this market, which I am determined to sell lower than can be bought at any other establishment in the State, wholesale and retail.

Give us a call.

Singer's Sewing Machines.

THESE celebrated machines are in practical and profitable use in all parts of the civilized world. In all the various trades, and in sewing every sort of fabric, either of cloth or leather, they have been fully tried and approved. Sewing machines of other manufacturers often fail to work, but SINGER'S MACHINES being strong, durable and complete in contrivance and workmanship. A perfect sewing machine kept employed affords a clear profit of $1000 a year; but an imperfect one is a cause of constant vexation and loss. The entire RELIABILITY of our machines is one great reason for their unparalleled popularity.

ALWAYS OPERATE PERFECTLY,

MACHINES FOR FAMILY SEWING, of a trail and delicate construction, are recommended by other manufacturers. Such machines are made to catch the eye, not to perform substantial work. The truth is, family sewing machines ought to be stronger than any other, because they go into less skilful hands than when sold to manufacturers, and are used for a greater variety of work. The machines which have proved best for all other purposes must be best for family use, and they are Singer's. The speed of our machines has lately been doubled. No other can compare with them in quantity of work.

☞ New machines of the latest improved style will be exchanged on liberal terms for old sewing machines of our own make, or for operative machines of other manufacturers. Local agents wanted to sell our machines.

N B.—All persons desiring full information about sewing machines, can obtain it by applying for a copy of "I. M. Singer & Co.'s Gazette," a paper devoted entirely to the subject. It will be sent gratis. I. M. SINGER & CO.

DYER'S HEALING EMBROCATION AND EXTERNAL AND INTERNAL REMEDY.

ALMOST miraculous are some of the cures effected by the use of this remarkable preparation. As a healing, pain destroying remedy, IT IS UNSURPASSED.

It is uniform in quality, convenient for application, neat and delicate in its nature, leaves no stain upon the dress or skin, and is unfailing in its curative properties and effects. It cures

RHEUMATISM,

Cuts, Wounds, Scalds, Bruises, Burns, Lumbago, Dysentery, Cholera Morbus, Neuralgia, Tooth Ache, Headache, Pains in the Side, Back or Limbs, Sore Throat, Ague, Cramps, &c., &c.

Physicians prescribe and recommend it with the most perfect confidence; and by the use of it themselves thousands have been saved from an untimely death.

Beware of imitations, and purchase none but the genuine, with the name of "Dyer's Healing Embrocation, Providence, R. I." blown in the glass, and the fac simile of the proprietor's signature upon the outside wrapper.

For sale in Portsmouth by J. H. Thacher, Wm. R. Preston and B. Hutchings, and by all respectable Druggists and dealers in medicine throughout the United States, at the following prices:—2 ounce bottle 12½c; 4 ounce bottle 25c; 8 ounce bottle 37½c.

A GREAT NATIONAL WORK.

SPENCER'S HISTORY OF THE UNITED STATES.—In another column may be found the advertisement of a book with the above title, to which we take pleasure in renewedly calling the attention of our readers.—This truly national work is published in semi-monthly parts, at 25 cents each. The current parts, Nos. 13 and 14, are before us, containing a view of the Battle of Lexington and a portrait of Henry Clay. The execution of these plates is an honor to our native artists, and quite creditable to the enterprising publishers of the work.—The author, the Rev. Dr. J. A. Spencer, of New York, is a gentleman highly esteemed as an eminent and classical scholar, a profound thinker, and an able historical writer. He is well qualified to do justice to his theme. The book only needs to be examined to be appreciated. Its popular character should insure its author and publishers an extensive sale. — Boston Transcript, Sept. 4th.

SPENCER'S UNITED STATES.—We have received Nos. 14 and 15 of this great national work.—They contain an excellent treatise on the "wisdom and necessity of the Declaration of Independence." In the appendix to Chapter 19, are copies of several Revolutionary Documents, an original draft of the Declaration, and Judge Drayton's celebrated Address to Admiral Lord Howe and General Howe. Also, an extract from John Quincy Adams's Oration on the 4th of July, 1831. These numbers bring the history down to the entrance of the British fleet into the Chesapeake, to attack Philadelphia, August, 1777. The Illustrations of these numbers are a portrait of Henry Clay, and the Battle of New Orleans—two of the finest engravings we have ever seen. This work is an honor to the age.—Buffalo Republic, Sept. 29.

There is a wonderful combination of native talent of the first order in this truly National Work.—New York Times.

After a brief examination of the above work, we have no hesitation in expressing our agreement with the foregoing high encomiums from excellent authority. The execution of the book is splendid—the engravings are original, and done in the very highest style of art.

Great American and Foreign Office
For Securing Patents for Inventions.
Agency for business with US Patent Office, Washington
R. H. EDDY,
No. 76 State st, oppo. Kilby st, Boston.
IMPORTANT INFORMATION TO INVENTORS. The Subscriber (late Agent of the U. S. Patent Office, under the Act of 1837) determined to present advantages in applying for Patents superior to those offered inventors by others, has made arrangements whereby on applications prepared and conducted by him, THIRTY DOLLARS (instead of twenty, as paid back by others,) will be remitted by him in case of failure to obtain a patent, and the withdrawal thereof by him within thirty days after the rejection.
This Agency is not only the largest in New England, but through it inventors have advantages for securing patents, or ascertaining the patentability of inventions, unsurpassed by, if not immeasurably superior to, any which can be offered them elsewhere. The testimonials below given prove that none is MORE SUCCESSFUL AT THE PATENT OFFICE than the subscriber; and as SUCCESS IS THE BEST PROOF OF ADVANTAGES AND ABILITY, he would add that he has abundant reason to believe, and can prove, that at no other office of the kind are the charges for professional services so moderate.—The immense practice of the subscriber during twenty years past, has enabled him to accumulate a vast collection of specifications and official decisions relative to patents. These, besides his extensive library of legal and mechanical works, and full accounts of patents granted in the United States and Europe, render him able, beyond question, to offer superior facilities for obtaining patents.
Caveats, Specifications, Assignments, and all Papers and Drawings necessary to the procural of patents in this and foreign countries prepared and advice rendered on legal and scientific matters respecting inventions, or infringement of patents. All necessity of a journey to Washington to procure a patent, and the usual great delay there, are here saved inventors.
Copies of claims of any patent furnished for one dollar. Assignments recorded at Washington.—Patents secured in Great Britian, France, and other foreign countries, through Agents of the highest respectability. R. H. EDDY.
Solicitor of Patents.
Testimonials.
"During the time I occupied the office of Commissioner of Patents, R. H. Eddy, Esq., of Boston, did business at the Patent Office, as Solicitor of Patents. There were few if any persons acting in that capacity, who had so much business before the Patent office; and there were none who conducted it with more skill, fidelity, and success. I regard Mr Eddy as one of the best informed and most skilful Patent Solicitors in the United States, and have no hesitation in assuring inventors that they cannot employ a person more competent and trustworthy, and more capable of putting their application in a form to secure for them an early and favorable consideration at the Patent Office.
EDMUND BURKE,
Late Commissioner of Patents."
From the present Commissioner.
AUGUST 17, 1855.—During the time I have held the Office of Commissioner of Patents, R. H. Eddy, Esq., of Boston, has been extensively engaged in the transaction of business with the office, as a Solicitor. He is thoroughly acquainted with the law, and the rules of practice of the Office. I regard him as one of the most capable and successful practitioners with whom I have had official intercourse. CHAS. MASON,
Commissioner of Patents.

THROWING AWAY VOTES.

Our condition of independence enables us, "with perfect impunity and great boldness," to handle many edge tools, which might cut the wrong way for a mere partizan,—and to give extracts from all sorts of papers without being afraid that Satan's Kingdom, or any other kingdom, will tumble down.

Some of the richest things we have seen lately, were in the Boston Courier of Saturday, Oct. 25; one of them is as follows:

Sentiments like these ought to have a powerful influence upon reasonable men in Massachusetts. And if these would now see the folly of throwing away their votes, in this state, upon either Buchanan or Fremont, there would be no difficulty of carrying it for Mr. Fillmore.

It is a pity to spoil a good joke by explaining it; nevertheless we will try to understand it. In plain English, then, Buchanan and Fremont, in the Courier's view, are no where—but Fillmore 's ahead. And if the people could only be made to see this, then Massachusetts would go for Fillmore.

But it is only fair, as we give the above conclusion of the Courier, to give the statements and sentiments whereon it is built. Those are contained in a letter from a distinguished gentleman formerly a member of Congress from Tennessee. He says:

"The political skies are brightening; although the Democracy seem determined to carry Tennessee for Buchanan, we are the more determined they shall not do it. * * * Tennessee is eminently conservative in her views and policy; she is no extremist; her citizens, like all who love justice and observe good faith, condemn the repeal of the Missouri Compromise; she regards it a great wrong,—an act which has, more than all other causes combined, given vitality to Abolitionism,—a party, which when Mr. Fillmore was in office, was fiscus officio, because it had nothing about which it could agitate. We feel this way, and talk this way to our people here, nor would we hesitate to declare our opinions to the friends of Mr. Fillmore, North.—But how is it with the friends of Mr. Buchanan? They speak with a forked tongue; while his friends, South, declare that the Kansas Nebraska bill carries slavery into the territory, those of them at the North declare that it is the best bill for freedom ever passed by Congress."

The Courier closes its editorial remarks thus:

The prospect, indeed, is manifestly improving. Crowds of those who have been deceived by the Republican leaders and have been led to believe that Mr. Fremont was to sweep the country, perceiving now that his cause is utterly hopeless, declare that they cannot hesitate to vote for Mr. Fillmore, when the choice is between him and Mr. Buchanan.

In the same Courier is a speech of J. T. Stevenson, in which he makes the statements plainer.

The electoral votes both of Pennsylvania and of Indiana are secure for Mr. Buchanan. Those two free States cast thirty-eight electoral votes. The whole number of such votes to be cast by free States is 176; the number required for an election is 149, and there are only 138 left, even on the extravagant hypothesis that every other free State was to vote for Mr. Buchanan. It is therefore demonstrated that no man can be elected against Mr. Buchanan without the votes of one or more slave States. Now there is not a living man who believes who ever dreamed, that Mr. Fremont could carry a single slave State.

This is a demonstration of that kind which begins by assuming what cannot yet be proved, viz. that Mr. Buchanan is sure of two States, in the first and largest of which his supporters now claim a majority of less than 2800 votes, in a total poll of more than 420,000. This seems to us, to be doing a large business on a small capital.

Another speaker, a Mr. Williams, says:

Gentlemen, let me tell you that the conservative heart of the Empire State is to day, as it has always been, bound up in Millard Fillmore. In New Jersey, Mr. Fremont does not now, and never has stood the ghost of a chance. That old state, which had rushed over to Mr. Buchanan for fear that this man, Fremont, would come into power, is now coming back to its own old position, and will give its vote for the favorite son of New York. Why, gentlemen, in one of your own New England states, Connecticut,—I say, from some knowledge of that state, from my intercourse with her people during the last four weeks,—Fremont stands no chance at all. The question there is between Mr. Buchanan and Mr. Fillmore; and every speech made there by the Fremont orators, portraying the wrongs and enormities, I had almost said the crimes, of the present Administration in regard to Kansas, is a speech made for Millard Fillmore.

Let me say to you, further, gentlemen, that, if I am not entirely mistaken in my judgment, Massachusetts herself is coming to herself.

The meaning of all this, if we understand it, is that nobody can now be chosen by the people, but that the election must go to the House; where Fillmore, in the speaker's and writer's opinion, would stand the best chance.

Perhaps so; we shall see.

LORD vs. FRAZER.—The Newburyport Herald reports a speech of Mr. Lord, at a late Democratic Meeting in Newburyport, in which he says of the people:

They are told that the issues before the country are the questions of freedom and slavery. Now we all know that these questions cannot arise.

Now wait a moment, Mr. Lord, and hear Col. Fraser. Col. Reah Frazer, one of the Pennsylvania stumpers for Mr. Buchanan, whom Col. Forney calls the "war horse of Pennsylvania Democracy," was serenaded at his own house, on the news of the recent Democratic victory, when he commenced his speech as follows:

"God and Liberty—The State is ours!—Yes, we have them, fellow Democrats; and not only that, we have got Kansas, too, to put our slaves in."

Last spring, Gov. Cobb who came all the way from Georgia to teach us how to vote in New Hampshire, began and finished his speech with slavery, and our obligations to sustain it.

Mr. Lord says further, in speaking of Kansas:

Nobody doubted that wrongs had been committed, and blame rests with both parties, but more with the Fremont men, because they manifest a wrong spirit. They go armed, and in a manner to provoke opposition. It is human nature to resist such acts, and it is just the conduct that provokes fight.

This is rich: Fremont men made the mischief in Kansas? did they? How did it happen then that the ballot boxes were guarded and filled by Missouri Border Ruffians, long before Fremont was nominated?

But we suppose by "Fremont men" he simply means the Free State men there. Be it so,—and then they "go armed"—do they. What a great offence! The Border Ruffians of Missouri and those of Washington, always go unarmed, we are to suppose, and are the most lambkike men in the world; they never provoke any body. Herbert and Butler, Atchison and Douglas, Stringfellow and Buford all go unarmed, do they?

It is perfectly right for them, we take it, to arm—but free state men, New England men, must not arm—certainly not to defend themselves and their friends from wild beasts or wilder men, lest somebody should be provoked and fight.

SAD CASE OF DROWNING.—The Claremont Advocate relates the following lamentable results of fright in a young man, at Acworth, N. H., a few days ago:—On the 11th inst., Miss Amy A. Dodge, aged 18 years, daughter of Mr. Asa Dodge, of Acworth, in company with a young man, son of Mr. Zenas Slader, was returning from a Lyceum in the neighborhood; and on returning home crossed over the bulk-head of Mr. Ephraim Cummings' peg factory, the machinery of which is carried by water. It seems that as they lingered a few moments upon the bulk-head, the deceased made a misstep and fell into the pond, where the water was about five feet deep, drawing young Slader with her. The young man got out, and probably in his fright ran for help, instead of endeavoring to rescue the lady, who was drowned. Her body was soon after recovered near where she fell in.

We know it is much easier to talk than to do—but we think any young man who is so much afraid of water or danger, should not take charge of young ladies in such exposed situations.

FOUND.—The chap who, about two weeks since, took a horse from the stable of Hanson & Co., Great Falls, to go to Dover, but did not return, turned up last week in New Bedford, Mass., where he hired another team, leaving Mr. Hanson's, and started again; but being gone longer than agreed upon, was pursued, overtaken, brought back and lodged in jail in New Bedford, whither Mr. Hanson has gone to get his team, and justice from the rogue.

☞ In Manchester, Thursday, John McCarty was wound around a shaft in Martin's Paper Mill, by a belt, in such a manner as to break his right leg about three inches above the knee, and his right arm about half way between the elbow and the shoulder.

☞ The Democrats of Newburyport are wide awake, and have discussions at their Keystone Club rooms, or speeches at the City Hall, almost every evening. Hon. John S. Wells, of Exeter, spoke there on Saturday evening.

☞ At a foot race for boys under fifteen years of age, in Portland on Friday, the best time made, for the half mile, was two minutes fifteen seconds.

PHILADELPHIA, Oct. 24.—State Election.—The following is the official vote of the State complete:—Scott (Dem.) for Canal Commisioner, 212,886; Cochran (Union) 210,112; a Democratic majority of 2774.

The State Senate stands—15 Democrats, 18 Opposition; the House 53 Democrats, 47 Opposition.

Well—this stands a little below where the vote stood in our advices published on Friday. On Saturday morning we had to increase the majority of the democratic party 1000,—and this morning we have to diminish it 1100.

It it sticks where it is now, it is quite plain that the leaders and cypherers of both parties, on the State of Pennsylvania, deceived themselves and their friends. The Pennsylvanian, Mr. Buchanan's principal paper in Philadelphia, looked for 25,000 to 40,000 majority—and the Republican or Fremont speakers and papers for 10,000 and upward, to an extravagant extent.

We make extracts here from eminent Buchanan papers:

We assure our friends abroad that we shall carry the State on the 14th by from 25,000 to 40,000 majority.—Pennsylvanian, 6th.

The Democrats are largely in the majority in Pennsylvania, over all parties and combinations. We shall be disappointed if the majority on the 15th is less than 20,000. It may reach 40,000.—Washington Union, 10th.

We are sure of Pennsylvania on Tuesday next, by 30,000.—Albany Argus, 11th.

Our friends in Pennsylvania are sanguine of 30,000 majority on the State ticket, and some go as high as 50,000.—Boston Post, 8th.

We have no republican papers before us that gave numbers, but they looked for victory.

Both were disappointed. 2700 or 2800 one way, on one candidate—and probably a majority the other way on Representatives to Congress and State Senators.—The Presidential contest in Pennsylvania, is yet to come. All whistling and blowing over it, are premature. Work and votes are wanted.

During a discussion one evening, at a sewing circle, upon the merits of herbs as cures for the ails that flesh is heir to, Old Roger was appealed to for his opinion as to the best cure for a felon. "My opinion is," said he, with emphasis, "that the most speedy and efficacious cure would be to hang the infernal rascal."—Sat. Eve. Gaz.

FATAL ACCIDENT.—Mr. Asa Nash of Gilsum, N. H., was killed on Tuesday last, by the premature falling of a tree. He was about 60 years of age.

WOOD'S HAIR RESTORATIVE.

THE GREATEST DISCOVERY OF THE AGE.—It seldom occurs, that we notice, under any circumstances, patent medicines, or anything of the kind, for we have a prejudice against most of them. But candor compels us to call attention to Prof. Wood's Hair Restorative. We are too juvenile to require anything of the kind, but some instances of its use have come to our knowledge which almost assure us that it is a sovereign remedy against the hair becoming prematurely gray. It is not a "Hair Dye," but upon its application as directed, the effect is produced on the skin, which brings out the original, native colored hair, without stiffness, and gives it a glossy and natural appearance. We have seen persons who have used it, and they are much pleased with it.—[Missouri Republican.

THE GREAT DISCOVERY.

Many years ago, Doctor Burleigh Smart of Kennebunk, Me., discovered that a simple article never before used as a medicine, was a never failing cure for coughs of every description, and an excellent blood purifier. By its use in his private practice, he acquired the reputation of being the best physician in New England, for all diseases of the lungs. After his death, Messrs. Shaw & Clark of Biddeford, Me., obtained a Copy Right from Government, for its exclusive manufacture, and now have it carefully prepared strictly according to the original recipe. There is no cough that it will not cure, unless the patient is past all help, when aid before commencing its use! It is called "Doctor Burleigh Smart's Cough Medicine," and is for sale by all apothecaries. au27 1yr&3 6m.

NEW YORK, 25th.—A despatch from the editor of the Philadelphia Bulletin states that the full votes in Pennsylvania for Congressmen, show a majority for the Opposition over the Buchanan candidates, of 1246.

Rev. J. C. HOWELL, Framingham,	" 19
Rev. HORATIO STEBBINS, Portland,	" 26

The Committee, in arranging the programme for their third Course of Lectures, have determined to invite only lecturers of decided merit and, believing that in a course of popular lectures instruction should be blended with amusement, they have decided to introduce a NEW FEATURE, by connecting with the usual series upon miscellaneous topics, a short SCIENTIFIC COURSE; and have therefore secured the services of Messrs. Whittaker and Sprague, whose lectures are appropriately illustrated, and of the most entertaining character. It is believed that the course of lectures before this Association the coming season, will surpass in point of interest and variety, as it certainly will in regard to the expense incurred, any ever before given in this city.

Tickets $1.—To be had at the Bookstores.

Doors open at 7—commence at 7½ o'clock.

CITY COUNCIL.

THURSDAY, EVE., Oct, 23.

In conformity with the Report of the Committee on the subject of selling the Brick Market to the United States,—a joint resolution was passed:

That the lot of land on which Jefferson Hall Market is situate, owned by the city, be and hereby is offered to the government of the United States, as a site for the new Custom House, Post Office, &c., for the sum of seventeen thousand dollars.

☞ The Fremont Boys of this city had a grand time on Saturday afternoon. Headed by the Fremont Light Guards, consisting of boys from twelve to sixteen years of age, in neat uniform, under command of Capt. John R. Holbrook, jr.,—they formed a procession, consisting in all, as it passed our office, of about one hundred and fifty. After marching about town to the "music" of two drums and a fife, they held a mass meeting above the Creek, in Frenchman's Lane—where addresses were made by several of "the boys," in favor of Fremont & Dayton.

FILLMORE IN NEW HAMPSHIRE.—Capt. Nathan Godfrey, on Friday run up a banner bearing the name of Fillmore, on a staff on his barn, in the rear of his residence on the corner of Vaughan and Elm streets. This is the only flag with that brand, in Portsmouth.

The Manchester Union Democrat states that there are six Fillmore & Donelson banners in that city.

☞ The Mechanic's Lyceum, on Tuesday evening, at the Temple, is to be addressed by Rev. Prof. Huntington, of Harvard College—one of the most popular and most practical of lecturers, whose addresses here, last winter, at the Lyceum, and to the Young Men's Christian Association, were so popular with all classes of hearers.

WOLVES IN CANADA—SHOCKING OCCURRENCE.—Canada papers state that the wolves are getting quite ravenous, and give accounts of the destruction of human life by these animals. Some ten days ago, in the northerly extremity of the Township of Mornington, two females went out in the evening in search of their cows, and not returning that night, search was made in the morning, when sad to relate their skeletons were only to be found, their flesh having been completely devoured by the wolves.

A man in that locality has been missing for the last ten days. No trace of him can be found whatever, and fears are entertained that he met the same lamentable fate as the unfortunate woman.

The wolves were never before known to be so numerous, or so ravenous as they are this season. It is regarded as unsafe to be alone on the public highways after dark. Almost everybody has been visited by them, and mischief done to a greater or less extent.

A farmer in North Easthope, had thirty sheep killed in one single night by them.—They drove them to the barn-yard, and killed them there. A few nights previous they killed twelve belonging to the same man.

Bears are also numerous and remarkably saucy.

MYSTERIOUS DISAPPEARANCE.—We find the following paragraph in the Chicago Tribune of the 21st. Mr. White was formerly a citizen of Watertown, Mass., and was a well known politician and anti-slavery man. He is the same gentleman whose suit in the Supreme Court, for an assault committed upon him in the Court House at the time of the trial of Burns, was decided in his favor a few weeks ago:

"Mysterious Disappearance.—William A. White, one of the principal citizens of Madison, Wis., a man of wealth and position, left home more than a week ago, to attend the State Fair at Milwaukee. Since then he has not been heard of. His Madison friends supposed he was in Chicago with his family, and his family thought him either at Milwaukee or at home; but up to this time his whereabouts has not been ascertained. Mr. White married a daughter of the late Justin Butterfield of this city, and is well known to large numbers of our people. It is feared that he has met foul play—a suspicion strengthened by the fact that he was known to often have large sums of money on his person."

CINCINNATI, Oct. 24.—Frauds.—The Indianapolis Journal of to-day says that in consequence of the discovery of stupendous frauds, the Republicans have determined to contest the State election. Official returns from four-fifths of the State show the Republican increase over the vote of 1854 to be, 12,000, and the Democrats 28,000. In the 9th and 11th districts the Democratic increased vote is 6000 in each district. This would indicate an increase in the population in two years, of over a quarter of a million.

HORSE RACING IN MAINE. — The State Fair in Portland closed on Saturday. It was very successful in all the departments except the horse-show—in which, as it appears to us from the reports in the Portland papers, there was not much "extra." A premium of $200 for "the best trotting horse raised in Maine," was only competed for by four horses, and was taken by a horse named "Readfield," from Lynn, Mass.,—his best mile being only done in 2:41; and the same horse took the premium of $200 for "the best trotter wherever owned,"—making only 2:48 for his mile. Either all the Maine horses were at the Boston horse-show, or they wouldn't come out to the Portland show—or else there are not so many swifters in Maine as we thought there were.

FEMALE EQUESTRIANISM is coming into general notice. The ladies are getting to be as "fast" as the men. At the Connecticut River Valley exhibition in Bradford, Vt., last week, eight ladies appeared to compete for the equestrian prizes; the highest of which, $15, was won by Miss Nellie Chase, of Keene, N. H., fourteen years old; who rode the old Green Mountain Morgan around the track without saddle, and was immensely applauded.—Before the start, Miss Kate Burbank, of Danville, Vt., was kicked on the leg by a white stallion, but she afterwards appeared on the field with her father, who made the horse kneel for her to mount, and she took the sixth prize, $10. Mrs. Oscar F. Barron, of Hartford, Conn., took a prize of $15, for the skill with which she drove a fine pair of bays.

At the Maine State Fair, at Portland, last week, twelve ladies—two of them married, and two others children of nine and twelve years,—competed for the equestrian premiums. Misses Louisa Norcross and Elmira Pullen, of Augusta, won the two $50 premiums.

The grounds were densely crowded, to witness the ladies' exhibition—during which they were escorted by gentlemen. An unruly horse rode by one of the marshals,—and evidently unfit for any such place,—kicked a lady directly in her face, mutilating her severely, and breaking the bridge of her nose. A young girl, apparently about twelve years old, while riding on the course, was thrown from her horse violently. When taken up her face was quite bloody, but she was not seriously hurt.

ANECDOTE OF THE LATE KING OF BAVARIA.—The ex-King Louis, of Bavaria, who recently attained his seventieth year, was, a few days ago waited on at his chateau at Ludwigshoehe, in the Palatinote, by a deputation from Strasbourg, in which place he was born, who paid their respects to him, on the occasion.—The King received them kindly, promised to visit their city, and related to them a curious circumstance:

At the time of his birth, in August 1786, his father, who was then only Prince des Deux Ponts, commanded the Alsace regiment in the service of France, which was in the garrison at Strasbourg. A few days after the birth of his child he was astonished to see that all his grenadiers had cut off their beards and moustaches. On inquiring why they had done so, one of the men stepped forward and said that they had determined to beg his acceptance of a velvet mattress for the newly born prince, and that they had stuffed it with their beards and moustaches.

"I have the mattress still," said the King, "and I will show it to you!" The mattress was produced, and the King added, "I do not think that there is in the world a bed which can be called more strictly military than that!"

Philanthropos, whose name we love to record, gave another evidence of his tender-heartedness the other day. Passing through the street, he saw a horse struggling along with a load more than he could well draw. He immediately with great compassion and about two hundred pounds additional weight, jumped upon the wagon, and seizing upon a rope attached to the vehicle, he pulled with all his might. The horse was unable to move the load, and the driver gave the good man a cut with his whip, and told him to get down, for his weight was the cause of the delay. Such an imputation upon Philanthropos!—Sat. Eve. Gaz.

EXPLOIT OF A RUNAWAY.—A few days ago a negro in a neighboring county of North Carolina took his master's horse and buggy and rode off. He traded the horse for an inferior one, no doubt received money in the bargain. On reaching the vicinity of South Mills, he discharged a pistol loaded with shot at the buggy, turning the horse loose, put blood (perhaps from a chicken) in the road, and then proceeded on foot, it is thought, in the direction of Baltimore. His owner had recently purchased him, paying the sum of $1200.

VALATIE, N. Y., 25th.—Ex-President Van Buren and his son Smith Van Buren, were thrown from their carriage yesterday, in consequence of the horses taking fright. The Ex-President had an arm broken. His son was but slightly injured.

From the Boston Saturday Evening Gazette.

A PERFUMED BREATH.—What lady or gentleman would remain under the curse of a disagreeable breath, when using the "Balm of a Thousand Flowers" as a dentifrice would not only render it sweet, but leave the teeth white as alabaster? Many persons do not know their breath is bad, and the subject is so delicate, their friends will never mention it. Pour a single drop of the "Balm" on your tooth-brush and wash the teeth night and morning. A fifty cent bottle will last a year.

A BEAUTIFUL COMPLEXION may easily be acquired by using the "Balm of a Thousand Flowers." It will remove tan, pimples and freckles from the skin, leaving it of a soft and roseate hue. Wet a towel, pour on two or three drops, and wash the face night and morning

SHAVING MADE EASY.—Wet your shaving brush in either warm or cold water, pour on two or three drops of "Balm of a Thousand Flowers," rub the beard well and it will make a beautiful soft lather, much facilitating the operation of shaving. Price only 50 cents.

FREMONT,
THE MUSTANG CANDIDATE.

If Col. Fremont had as many friends as the Mustang Liniment, the opposition could not draw a corporal's guard. Mr. Fremont remarked in his dispatches to President Fillmore, while transporting horses and cattle over the plains of Mexico, "That if the Government would send him on a liberal supply of Mustang Liniment, it would save 25 per cent. of his losses." This is very important for all Farmers and Liverymen to know. The Mustang Liniment is a wonderful article for man or beast. It should always be used for Sores, Swellings, Stiff Joints, Burns, Bruises, Rheumatic Pains, &c., and for Galds, Sprains, Spavins, Ringbone, &c., upon horses.—BEWARE OF IMITATIONS. The Mustang is sold by all respectable dealers everywhere.

"The Greatest Book of the Age!"

History United States,

From the earliest Period to the Present Time.

BY J. A. SPENCER, D. D.,

Member of the New York Historical Society, Membre de la Societe Orientale de France, author of "Egypt and the Holy Land," etc., etc

THIS National History, written by an accomplished American author, and copiously and beautifully embellished by American artists, (among whom are Leutze, Weir, Vanderlyn, Powell, Chapman, Chappell and Oertel,) commends itself by its sterling merit to the favorable consideration of the American public.

No pains or expense have been spared to render this work worthy of being in every respect hailed as a Book for the American People.

Every Public Institution of our country, every Family—every citizen should possess such a National Work, that he may con over its instructive records, and kindle hispatriotism at its spirit stirring narratives; and point to its exhibition of genius and skill, with those feelings of fleneroue enthusiasm, which such a production of native talent cannot fail to awaken in the heart of every true American.

The work is now in course of publication in semi-monthly parts, price Mwenty-five cents each, delivered at the Subscriber's residence or sent by mail postage free. Subscribers' names respectfully solicited, and all letters and inquiries promptly replied to by the Publishers.

STOVES! STOVES!

Frank Jones' Improved

THIS Cooking Stove, from the rapid sale which it has had since its first introduction into this market, has proved itself to be far superior to all other cooking stoves yet made, in point of durability, economy, perfection in cooking, and draft.

Those about purchasing, will find it for their interest to examine this, and they will be convinced that it is useless to look further.

Every Stove warranted to give perfect satisfaction, in every particular, or no sale.

The Improved Empire State

This Stove has been so long in the market, and so extensively used, and has given such unparalleled satisfaction, that it hardly necessary to say anything further, than that we have a large invoice of all the different sizes, for wood or coal.

Also, Repairing Pieces, of every description, which we are enabled to sell at prices that shall satisfy all.

The White Mountain

has been the favorite stove with many, for several years,—it having given such universal satisfaction wherever used, that it is thought by those who use them to have no superior.

To those who are in search of the White Mountain, I would say that I have the heaviest stock of all sizes, to be found in this market, from which to make their selections,—at prices that cannot fail to suit.

OUR STOCK OF

Parlor Stoves

comprises all the various kinds, among which may be found the Favorite, Villa, Star, &c.

Also, a large variety of Open Parlor GRATES, of all sizes, which cannot be surpassed for elegance or price.

Oven Parlor Stoves, some very beautiful patterns, for either wood or coal.

Also, Sheet Iron Stoves, of different sizes, with and without ovens.—Pyramid stoves for Halls or Stores. Also, Shop and Box Stores, Cylinders of different patterns and sizes; in fact all kinds of Stoves, for all purposes, to suit every customer.

Cabooses.

We have many different sizes of this kind of stove for use aboard vessels, which we offer at the lowest prices.

Our Stock of Stoves comprises the largest assortment of the best patterns, ever brought into this market, which I am determined to sell lower than can be bought at any other establishment in the State, wholesale and retail.

Give us a call.

Singer's Sewing Machines.

THESE celebrated machines are in practical and profitable use in all parts of the civilized world. In all the various trades, and in sewing every sort of fabric, either of cloth or leather, they have been fully tried and approved. Sewing machines of other manufacturers often fail to work, but SINGER'S MACHINES being strong, durable and complete in contrivance and workmanship. A perfect sewing machine kept employed affords a clear profit of $1000 a year; but an imperfect one is a cause of constant vexation and loss. The entire adaptability of our machines is one great reason for their unparalleled popularity.

ALWAYS OPERATE PERFECTLY,

MACHINES FOR FAMILY SEWING, of a trail and delicate construction, are recommended by other manufacturers. Such machines are made to catch the eye, not to perform substantial work. The truth is, family sewing machines ought to be stronger than any other, because they go into less skilful hands than when sold to manufacturers, and are used for a greater variety of work. The machines which have proved best for all other purposes must be best for family use, and they are Singer's. The speed of our machines has lately been doubled. No other can compare with them in quantity of work.

☞ New machines of the latest improved style will be exchanged on liberal terms for old sewing machines of our own make, or for operative machines of other manufacturers. Local agents wanted to sell our machines.

N. B.—All persons desiring full information about sewing machines can obtain it by applying for a copy of "I. M. Singer & Co.'s Gazette," a paper devoted entirely to the subject. It will be sent gratis. I. M. SINGER & CO.

WHISKEY & BORDER-RUFFIANISM.

Says Mr. Phillips, in his book, the "Conquest of Kansas":

"So important an element has whiskey been in the crusade of the slavery propaganda against Kansas, that the scarcity and stoppage of supplies of this article have had the most fatal effect on several important expeditions against the Territory. In this warfare it has, indeed, taken the precedence of other explosives. Of course, much of the deepest villany has been perpetrated by scoundrels of the lowest caste, many of whom had congregated on the border; but many men of a better class, or at least not so degraded, have, by a liberal distribution of whiskey, and a little palaver from some influential slaveholder, taken part in enterprises, which, in their better moments, they would condemn and deplore.—[p.64.]

Throughout the long series of excesses and outrages committed in the Territory by the law and order (!) party, the agency of the notorious Western stimulant is conspicuous. Whoever has been in the habit of reading the accounts by various witnesses of the troubles there, cannot have failed to remark that they unite in testifying to the close alliance between whiskey and Border-ruffianism. Of the first assailants of Lawrence, Phillips tells us that each squad brought their supply of whiskey. They hung about the settlement, menacing the inhabitants, until their liquor was exhausted, when their valor suddenly cooled, and they made haste to retreat.—But on other occasions they were better provided for. We have abundant testimony that in the fraudulent elections, the invading rabble were not only prepared for their violent proceedings by a plentiful use of stimulants, but kept in that state in which only they could be brought to trample down all law and right, by liquor served out free to all. It has seemed to many at the East a thing impossible—and this circumstance has been seized upon by those whose purpose it served to throw discredit upon the most authentic accounts—that any large bodies of people, brought up under our institutions and civilization, could ever be guilty of such atrocities as those of the Missourians in Kansas. But we have not only to allow for the counter influence of the vitiating slave system to which they have been subjected life-long, but also for the presence of an agency which we all know is capable of transforming decent specimens of humanity into brutes and demons. Collect within our incomparably better regulated communities a troop of the most ignorant and degraded, work up their lower passions to a pitch with coarse stimulants, place them in the hands of unscrupulous leaders who know them well, remove from them as far as possible the ordinary restraints and terrors of law, urge them on to the commission of some outrages to which their prejudices render them most propense—and will they hesitate? Has not the experiment been repeatedly tried in our midst, and as successfully carried out, according to the facilities for it, as by Atchison, Oliver, and Stringfellow, with their whisky drinking Missourian moss-troopers; and Buford and Titus, with their pot-valiant Southern vagabonds?

Again, Mr. Phillips, in speaking of the universal drunkenness of the Kansas invaders, says:

In fact that is one way the border-ruffians have of judging whether a man is "sound on the goose." A person who does not drink is voted an "abolitionist" at once, without further testimony; and the presence of liquor, especially good liquor and an abundance of it, is considered as a sure symptom, infallibly tending to "law and order."

This unintentional compliment to the sober and temperate habits of the Free State settlers is certainly not without value. Nor is this notion of a whiskey ordeal for suspected people discreditable to border-ruffian sagacity. In those by-gone days when Popish tyrants sent out "law and order men" to go to and fro in the land and purify it of heresy, it was the fashion for those ancient border-ruffians to demand of all doubtful subjects an off-hand prayer to the Virgin to prove their orthodoxy. Any paltering about their petitions was promptly cut short by pikes and halberds. The missionaries of Slavery-propagandism have as direct and easy a test for unbelievers as their prototypes had in their Ave Marias. A refusal to drink with the former is about as perilous as was an unreadiness to pray with the latter.

Furthermore, it seems that in the Kansas raids, a stock of "good liquor" is a tolerably reliable protection for those found harboring it. It will also guard property. Mr. Phillips relates that at the sack of Ossawatomie the plunderers made a zealous search for a printing press they had learned was in the place, and finally entered the house where it was hidden. Here they fell in with a quantity of brandy and wine, which threw them completely off the scent. They unanimously concluded that there could be no abolition press in a place which furnished such excellent cheer, and went away without further hunting for it.

TUESDAY, OCTOBER 28, 1856.

MRS. ROBINSON'S BOOK ON KANSAS.

We have just received from Crosby, Nichols & Co., Boston, via J. F. Shores, jr. of Portsmouth, a copy of Mrs. Sara T. L. Robinson's book on Kansas, a volume of 360 pages, full of stirring interest. The book is entitled, Kansas; its Interior and Exterior Life.

The writer is the wife of Mr. Robinson, the Free State Governor—and she wrote it while with her husband at Lecompton, where he was imprisoned.

The tone and spirit of the work may be inferred from the preface, which we copy entire.

This work, now offered to the public, has been written amid all the inconveniences of tent life. Its pages were penned during a three months' residence of the authoress in the United States Camp, at Lecompton, with her husband, one of the state prisoners.

If a bitterness against the "powers that be" betrays itself, let the continual clanking of sabres, and the deafening sound of heavy artillery in the daily drills of the soldiery, aids in crushing freemen in Kansas,—the outrages hourly committed upon peaceable and unarmed men,—the daily news of some friend made prisoner, or butchered with a malignity more than human,—the devastation of burning homes, by the connivance of the Governor, under the eye of the troops, and no power given them to save an oppressed people,—be placed in the balance against a severe judgment.

If the simple recital serves to strengthen in any the love of liberty, or to arouse in others a hatred to tyranny, then will its mission have been accomplished.

"God give us men! A time like this demands
Strong minds, great hearts, true faith, and ready hands;
Men whom the lust of office does not kill;
Men whom the spoils of office cannot buy;
Men who possess opinion and a will;
Men who have honor,—men who will not lie;
Men who can stand before a demagogue,
And damn his treacherous flatteries without winking!
Tall men, sun-crowned, who live above the fog
In public duty, and in private thinking;
For while the rabble, with their thumb-worn creeds,
Their large professions, and their little deeds,—
Mingle in selfish strife, lo! Freedom weeps,
Wrong rules the land, and waiting Justice sleeps!"

A clergyman from the North, settled at the South, writes to the Utica Herald that he has been reprimanded for taking the New York Tribune, although he does not meddle with slavery in the pulpit; he says he cannot tarry much longer in the land of bondage and bowie knives. He says, "I have preached here, in this slave city, nearly a year; have a splendid church edifice, large congregation, large salary, &c.; but I am heart-sick and home-sick. I have a more perfect hatred of slavery and all its influences. They are all wretched, degrading and damning."

A FOLLY OF THE TIMES.—The Plymouth County Agricultural Society, in Massachusetts, at its recent fair, awarded a premium of thirty six cents to a lady for making good bread, and thirty dollars to another for riding horseback. This inequality between bread and equestrianism is quite equal to that between "the half-penny worth of bread" and "the marvelous quantity of sack" in the tavern score of that redoubtable knight, Sir John Falstaff. But so we go. Whatever is of real value we esteem as not worthy of encouragement, while that which in reality, for all practical purposes in these days, is utterly useless, carries away the public applause; and whilst cents are doled out to the makers of bread, dollars are lavished upon female riders of horses.

Thus our friend Beard, of the Nashua Telegraph comes, down upon the ladies' horse back races. We don't think much of any woman who can't make good bread—but rather think that the girls who have spunk enough to race horses, generally learn to stir up the dough. However, that's no answer to Br. Beard's complaint which we think is unanswerable.

☞ The people of Connecticut a week or two since voted upon a Constitutional amendment to limit the term of judicial office to eight years. They now hold office during good behavior and until they reach the age of seventy. The vote was light and not of a party character, but the amendment was adopted by a majority of between twelve and thirteen hundred.

PERSONAL.—Hon. John M. Clayton, says the Dover (Del.) Reporter of the 21st inst., has been confined to his room in that town, for two or three weeks past. Of the particular nature of his complaint we have not been informed, but his physicians think it doubtful whether he will ever entirely recover. On Saturday last he joined the Presbyetrian church and took the sacrament in his apartment.

THE KEY.—Would'et know thyself, see what others do. Would'et thou understand others, look into thine own heart.—Schiller.

THE FRENCH WINE CROP.—Letters from France state that the accounts from all the vine districts respecting the result of the crop are very contradictory. In some parts of the Bordelais the produce will be indifferent, while in others, and particularly in the direction of Blaye, it will exceed by one third that of last year. Near Cannes the yield will be double the quantity expected, and the quality excellent.—In the Moconnias some districts have been completely ravaged, but in others the vintage promises well. In Burgundy and Champagne the result will be satisfactory.

DELIRIUM ON SHIPBOARD.—Josiah Standish, a passenger on board the Halifax brig "America," cut his throat with a razor on board that vessel on Monday last. He was under the effects of liquor at the time, and was quite insane. He was put in irons, and upon the arrival of the vessel at Boston, he was conveyed to the Hospital, where his wounds were dressed.

LIQUOR SEIZURE AT THE BOSTON HORSE SHOW.—On Friday noon, a posse of officers made a descent upon a liquor stand under a tent at the south part of the Boston Fair Grounds, and seized about twenty gallons of liquor of different kinds, belonging to Charles Sylvester.

CONVICTION OF LIQUOR SELLERS.—Before the Court of Common Pleas, in Essex County, Mass., on Monday, Edward Clayton, of Salem, Hiram Hill, of Andover, John Halrood, of Andover, and Lawrence Brown, of Salem, were all convicted of violation of the liquor law.

Queen Victoria was in Scotland at the latest dates, where Miss Nightingale the heroine of the Crimea, went to visit her. The Court Journal says:—"Her majesty paid the most marked attention to Miss Nightingale during her visit, and in the long conversation with which the young lady was honored, expressed, in the most gracious and feeling manner her appreciation of her services and self-denial. Miss Nightingale has greatly enjoyed the retirement and comforts of Her Majesty's Highland home."

BAD RESULT FROM PLAYING.—The Boston Journal says,—"A melancholy case of suffering, resulting from roughness in play, has come to our knowledge. Some six months ago, a bright, intelligent little fellow, some 14 years of age, son of a respectable mechanic in East Boston, was playing, after school, with a boy somewhat larger than himself, when the larger boy ran against him violently, and struck the toe of his boot against the ancle joint of the smaller boy. The wound was at first apparently a slight one, but soon it began to grow serious, and the little fellow was confined to his bed. There he has remained for six or seven months, suffering the most extreme agony; the bone of his leg above the knee having decayed, rendering it at least necessary to amputate it as the only possibility by which his life can be saved."

SENTENCES FOR INCENDIARIES. — Judge Sanger, of the Court of Common Pleas, in session at Lawrence, Mass., pronounced the following sentences:

Charles O. Jones, seventeen years of age, of Lawrence, was sentenced to the State Prison for his natural life—this being the statute punishment, and the Court having no discretion in the case.

Thomas Hickey, on a charge of arson, was sentenced to the State Prison for life.

The Richmond Enquirer is yet alive, and prophesying, too, at a tremendous rate since the Pennsylvania election. Here is a screech from it:

In less than four years a majority of the North will desire the extension of Southern slave labor into all regions fitted for it, and will advocate the Kansas Nebraska bill in letter and in spirit.

THE BEST THING in George S. Hilliard's Fillmore speech in Faneuil Hall:

"The moral strength of the (Republican) party is derived from the fact that it embodies the protest of the heart and moral sense of the people against the pro-slavery course of the Democratic party; and that protest is right in its essence."

Capt. W. B. B. Gerry, of Marblehead, an esteemed and well known shipmaster, died at Calcutta, Aug. 17. At the time of his death he was master of ship Noonday, of Boston.

FREMONT'S ROMANISM.—The Poughkeepsie (N. Y.) Examiner, makes this offer—

"We will pay, within an hour's notice, One Thousand Dollars for the record of that Roman Catholic Church of which it can be proved that John C. Fremont has ever been a member."

Every man in the world would be a republican, if he did not hope from fortune and favor more than from industry and desert.—Landon.

THE PENNSYLVANIA ELECTION. — The Philadelphia Evening Bulletin states that the full vote for Congressmen in Pennsylvania shows a majority for the opposition over the Buchanan candidates of 1246.—The full returns appear in the Bulletin, and the aggregate vote for Congressmen sums up: Union, 211,194; Democratic, 208,918; Union majority, 1246. Upon the State ticket the official majorities for the Democrats are severally, 2753, 3207, and 3725.

PHILADELPHIA, Oct. 24.—The entire vote of the State for Congressmen has been received, showing a small Democratic majority.

Not exactly definite—but we shall probably get the figures to-morrow.

MUNIFICENT DONATION.—Sylvester Lind, Esq., of Chicago, has given to the Trustees of the Presbyterian University about to be established at Forest Lake, some twenty-five miles north of that city, the munificent sum of one hundred thousand dollars. In consequence of this act, the Trustees have determined to call the institution Lind University. The only condition prescribed by Mr. Lind in making the grant is, that $40,000 shall be used for the benefit of the professorships, and the income of $60,000 shall be perpetually used in preparing young men for the ministry.

This man is said to be a foreigner, who arrived in Chicago only a few years ago, with barely two sovereigns in his pocket.

A SHREWD MISSIONARY.—The Rev. Dr. Hamlin, while pursuing his missionary labors with the Turkish Armenians, during their time of persecution and hardship, established a steam flour mill and bakery, which furnished the native converts with employment and with cheap bread, thus providing them with the staff of life for their physical needs, as well as the bread of life for their spiritual necessities. When the late war broke out; he contracted with the British Government, to supply the army with bread, and made $25,000 by the operation. With these profits he has been enabled to purchase several churches for the Armenians, provide them with preachers, and establish other enterprises in connection with his profession.

RECOVERY OF A STOLEN HORSE AND CHAISE.—The horse and chaise belonging to Dr. E. H. Clarke, of Boston, stolen in Somerset street last Saturday evening, have since been recovered in New Hampshire by police officer A. G. Chase, of the Fourth Station. The former, which was discovered in the town of Milford, had been sold for $100. The chaise was found in Brookline, and had been exchanged by the thief for a wagon.—Boston Herald.

The amendment limiting the term of Superior Court Judges to eight years has been adopted by the people of Connecticut by at least 1000 majority.

WOOD'S HAIR RESTORATIVE.

THE GREATEST DISCOVERY OF THE AGE.—It seldom occurs, that we notice, under any circumstances, patent medicines, or anything of the kind, for we have a prejudice against most of them. But candor compels us to call attention to Prof. Wood's Hair Restorative. We are too juvenile to require anything of the kind, but some instances of its use have come to our knowledge which almost assure us that it is a sovereign remedy against the hair becoming prematurely gray. It is not a "Hair Dye," but upon its application as directed, the effect is produced on the skin, which brings out the original, native colored hair, without stiffness, and gives it a glossy and natural appearance. We have seen persons who have used it, and they are much pleased with it.—[Missouri Republican.

NOTICES FROM THE PRESS.

From the Times, May 8, 1849.

The following is an extract from a letter received from Daniel Lothrop & Co., principal druggists at Dover, N. H. We think people will soon be convinced of the remarkable virtue of Dr. Hayden's Pills, by such evidence as he is daily receiving:

Dover, N. H. May 5th, 1849.

DR. WM. B. HAYDEN: Sir,—Your Pills still continue to sell, and give extraordinary satisfaction, beyond all precedent. Send us twelve dozen boxes immediately, and oblige,

Very respectfully,

HEALTH AND STRENGTH.

☞ DR. S. O. RICHARDSON'S SHERRY WINE BITTERS is the best Medicine ever used, for Summer Complaints. It has been more liberally patronized than any other ever established in this country. It is the same Richardson's Bitters which has restored so many invalids to health throughout New England during the past thirty years.

N. B.—Beware of imitations called Sherry Wine Bitters. The genuine have a fac simile of my signature upon the outer envelope. For sale by Druggists everywhere, and at my office, No. 51 Hanover St., Boston. an8*6m

THE GREAT DISCOVERY.

Many years ago, Doctor Burleigh Smart, of Kennebunk, Me., discovered that a simple article never before used as a medicine, was a never failing cure for coughs of every description, and an excellent blood purifier. By its use in his private practice, he acquired the reputation of being the best physician in New England, for all diseases of the lungs. After his death, Messrs. Shaw & Clark of Biddeford, Me., obtained a Copy Right from Government, for its exclusive manufacture, and now have it carefully prepared strictly according to the original recipe. There is no cough that it will not cure, unless the patient is past all human aid before commencing its use! It is called "Doctor Burleigh Smart's Cough Medicine," and is for sale by all apothecaries. au27 TuThS3m

Its Interior and Exterior Life.

BY MRS. SARA T. L. ROBINSON.

PRESENTING a history of the important events which have engaged the attention of the American people for the last 3 years, with interesting accounts of border life, scenes and incidents—by the talented Mrs Governor Robinson, who has, during most of the time embraced by her narrative, been a resident of the territory, and is thus enabled to relate with truthful accuracy the events which have contributed to bring the country to its present crisis.

Something New

"UNDER THE SUN."

THE subscriber begs leave to call the attention of the public to a new Parlor and Chamber

Heating Apparatus, called

NEARS' PATENT, FIRE-PLACE, AIR-HEATER, AND GRATE.

In this article we have a desideratum long wanted, being a

Fire-Place, Stove, and Grate combined, making a perfect AIR HEATER for Parlors, Offices, &c., whereby there is a saving of half the fuel, insuring perfect ventilation, a mild and even heat, free from gas—no dust in kindling fires—no moving of Stoves in Spring or Autumn, being a beautiful ornament to, and still taking up no space in the room.

It is adapted to the burning of Anthracite or Bituminous Coal, and must supersede every other Stove ever invented.

The subscriber has purchased the EXCLUSIVE right to Manufacture and Vend the same in the County of Rockingham, and now offers them to the Trade and at retail, on the most reasonable terms. G. N. CARLETON,

The Committee, in arranging the programme for their third Course of Lectures, have determined to invite only lecturers of decided merit and, believing that in a course of popular lectures instruction should be blended with amusement, they have decided to introduce a NEW FEATURE, by connecting with the usual series upon miscellaneous topics, a short SCIENTIFIC COURSE; and have therefore secured the services of Messrs. Whittaker and Sprague, whose lectures are appropriately illustrated, and of the most entertaining character. It is believed that the course of lectures before this Association the coming season, will surpass in point of interest and variety, as it certainly will in regard to the expense incurred, any ever before given in this city.

MECHANICS' LYCEUM.—Prof. Huntington is advertised to deliver the first lecture of this course, this (Tuesday) evening. The Boston Post says of this lecture, which was recently given in that city:

Prof. Huntington exhibited much familiarity with all branches of mechanism, as well as the sciences of physic, surgery and chemistry, and by his brilliant illustrations enchained the attention of his audience to the close of his address. He denounced the drones of all professions, including lawyers, doctors and preachers, and eulogized with much power and effect the ingenious and industrious mechanic.—Perseverance, he advocated, was indispensable to success in business of every description. Dr. Franklin commenced his career by cutting candlewick in his father's chandlery, and ended by drawing, harmless, fire from the clouds.

EQUINE SUICIDE.—The old White Horse, who used to convey the mails to and from the Post Office and Eastern Depot at mail time, and to amuse himself by sawing wood meanwhile, will saw no more. He has lately been employed in the fields near the Creek Bridge; and on Sunday his employer turned him out to graze and rest.—The old fellow thought a roll would be refreshing; so he tried a roll;—but unluckily rolled over a pointed rock or ledge in the bank, and crushed his side. In his pain he made desperate but ineffectual efforts to rise or roll over, but in the efforts only beat his head, killing him in a few minutes.

☞ A number of nights since, one of our suburban residents was awakened, as were the inhabitants of Ancient Rome, by the cackling of geese, and on going out to his barn, found two men who had driven his entire flock of geese inside the door, and were preparing to decapitate them.

In answer to his question, "What do you want here?" one of them asked another: "What in —— do you want here?" At the same time his companion presented a pistol to the gentleman's breast and snapped. The pistol did not go, although the cap did, as did also the gent, who fell as he reached his door.

The rogues took fright and fled, leaving their booty. ‡

☞ We are pleased to hear of the favor with which the great national work,—('Spencer's History of the United States,') is received in this city;—and have no doubt the energetic and gentlemanly agent, Mr. Thomas Weston, will meet still further encouragement in this vicinity. He may be found at C. W. Walker's, Market St. House. See advertisement in another column.

☞ By our advertising columns, it will be seen that the celebrated Chinese Jugglers, who have been well received wherever they have been, are to perform at the Temple on Wednesday and Thursday evenings. They played in Boston two months to large audiences. Their programme fully describes their performance.

☞ A large sale of Furniture, with a horse, salt marsh, &c., is to be made at the Sagamore House, Frost's Point, (Capt. Tom. Clark's) to-day, commencing at 10 o'clock—by Geo. W. Towle, Esq., auctioneer. A rare opportunity to buy good furniture and other articles.

☞ H. F. Wendell, Esq., is to sell the Pleasant Street Church, by auction, at noon to-day, with all the fixtures. A rare chance for investment.

☞ There is to be a "grand Republican rally, for liberty and the Union,—and Hon. Henry Wilson will address the People of Portsmouth and vicinity at Jefferson Hall, or in Market Square should the weather be favorable, on Thursday evening, Oct. 30.

'Previous to the address the Republicans will have a grand Torchlight Procession in honor of Fremont & Dayton, and the triumphs of Freedom in Iowa, Maine, Vermont, Ohio, and Pennsylania."

☞ Hon. Henry Wilson, the Natick Cobbler, will address the Fremont Mass Meeting in this city, on Thursday evening.

☞ On Friday next, at 1 P. M., there is to be a Republican Mass Meeting in Hampton, when the citizens of that town and vicinity will be addressed on the stirring topics of the day, by Messrs. Pike, Goodwin, Tuck and Clark, at the old Congregational Meeting House. All are invited to attend.

☞ On Friday evening, Oct. 31, public addresses will be made at Seabrook, by Messrs. Pike, Swift and others.

☞ We have seen, and eaten a Pear of the second crop, raised this year, by Mr. Wm. Cole, of Eliot.—It was ripe and sound, but rather tough and not very juicy.

PHILADELPHIA, Oct. 25.—A camphene lamp exploded last night in the house of Mr. Richard Moore, in consequence of which Mr. Moore, his wife and their five children were so shockingly burnt, by their clothes taking fire, that three of the children have since died, and the two others are not expected to live. Mr. and Mrs. Moore may possibly recover.

MILWAUKIE, Oct. 25.—Lake Disasters.—The propeller Toledo is reported to have been wrecked near Port Washington, and all hands lost. The propeller Alleghany is ashore at this place. Fears are entertained for other steamers that went out in the storm with which we have been visited.

BUFFALO, Oct. 25.—Arrest of a Post Office Official.—Dr. E. F. Fellows, clerk of the Post Office, was arrested this morning on complaint of Major Dickle, Postmaster, who charges him with robbing letters passing through his hands.

NOMINATIONS.—Lancaster, Pa., Oct. 25.—The American Executive Committee of Lancaster county met to-day. The attendance was large. The Union electoral ticket, headed Millard Fillmore, adopted by the Union Convention at Harrisburg, was ratified with the greatest enthusiasm. The Union sentiment among the Fillmore men of Lancaster county is very strong.

FIRE IN LOWELL.—Sunday forenoon, at Lowell, two men, named Garberry and Humphrey, with a friend, took a walk across the Merrimack river to an old building, used as a dry house for Whipple's Powder Works.

The two named went in, and the third party shortly after was about to follow, when he saw the others sitting down together, but had hardly glanced at them, when an explosion took place, and in a moment the building was in a blaze.

There was considerable waste powder in the building, and it is supposed that one of them had lit a pipe, and carelessly threw down the lighted match. The third party had difficulty in escaping, from the suffocating smoke which at once arose, and in a few minutes the building was consumed.

The bodies of the two were afterwards found. One leaves behind a large family, and the other is believed to have been a married man.

DISGRACEFUL ROW ON THE CARS.—A fight occurred in the baggage car of the six o'clock, up train, on the Boston and Lowell railroad, last night, in which an Irishman (we have not heard his name) was severely beaten by three or four drunken fellows, whose names will probably appear on the Police Court records in a few days. They were returning from the horse race, crazy with rum, and got into a political altercation with the Irishman, which they decided by pounding him so severely that he was unable to move when the cars arrived at the Depot. Dr. Dalton was called, and pronounced the injuries to be of a very serious character. A fatal issue is feared.—Lowell Courier, 24th.

A MISTAKE.—The person arrested in Baltimore last week by the U. S. Marshal, on the authority of a telegraphic despatch from Boston, on the steamer Joseph Whitney, charged with having shot the captain of a vessel, had an examination and was discharged. He was not Andrew Jackson Clayton, as supposed, but an honest "typo" coming south in search of employment.—Herald.

Mrs. Purdy, residing at Spencer, Tioga county, New York, is now 105 years old; is in good health, and apparently has as strong hold upon life as she had many years since. Her husband was killed in the revolution, and she was left a widow at the age of twenty-two years; she never married again, and now, at this great age, her mind is clear, and she relates scenes and anecdotes of the revolution with all the ardor of youth.

SLIGHT O' HAND.—A man named Hamilton, visited a fair in Carondelet, Mo., and to keep his money (some $700) safe, he put it in his boot. His boot feeling uncomfortable, he took it off, and, turning around to put it on again, found that the money had been adroitly abstracted.

GOOD PAY.—Marshal Pelissier, duke of Malakoff, now receives yearly as Marshal $8000, as Senator $6000, as Duke $20,000, as Governor of Algiers $12,000; total $46,000. All this must greatly interest the poor taxpayers as they behold his diamond-studded epaulettes.

A SAD CASE OF INSANITY.—Mr. John G. Ricker, formerly a "City Missionary" in Boston, but who subsequently proceeded to Kansas, was brought before a Judge of the Police Court on Saturday by his friends, as a raving maniac. It appears that Mr. Ricker had settled upon a claim in Kansas territory, which he has improved by the erection of buildings, &c. During the late troubles there, his buildings were burned, and he was driven from his claim, which so affected him that he became insane. The Court, after receiving evidence of his unsound state of mind, passed an order for his reception at the Lunatic Hospital at South Boston, and he was conveyed to that institution.—Traveller.

A PERFUMED BREATH.—What lady or gentleman would remain under the curse of a disagreeable breath, when using the "Balm of a Thousand Flowers" as a dentifrice would not only render it sweet, but leave the teeth white as alabaster? Many persons do not know their breath is bad, and the subject is so delicate, their friends will never mention it. Pour a single drop of the "Balm" on your tooth-brush and wash the teeth night and morning. A fifty cent bottle will last a year.

A BEAUTIFUL COMPLEXION may easily be acquired by using the "Balm of a Thousand Flowers." It will remove tan, pimples and freckles from the skin, leaving it of a soft and roseate hue. Wet a towel, pour on two or three drops, and wash the face night and morning

SHAVING MADE EASY.—Wet your shaving brush in either warm or cold water, pour on two or three drops of "Balm of a Thousand Flowers," rub the beard well and it will make a beautiful soft lather, much facilitating the operation of shaving. Price only 50 cents.

FREMONT,
THE MUSTANG CANDIDATE.

If Col. Fremont had as many friends as the Mustang Liniment, the opposition could not draw a corporal's guard. Mr. Fremont remarked in his dispatches to President Fillmore, while transporting horses and cattle over the plains of Mexico, "That if the Government would send him on a liberal supply of Mustang Liniment, it would save 25 per cent. of his losses." This is very important for all Farmers and Liverymen to know. The Mustang Liniment is a wonderful article for man or beast. It should always be used for Sores, Swellings, Stiff Joints, Burns, Bruises, Rheumatic Pains, &c., and for Galds, Sprains, Spavins, Ringbone, &c., upon horses.—BEWARE OF IMITATIONS. The Mustang is sold by all respectable dealers everywhere.

"The Greatest Book of the Age!"

History United States,

From the earliest Period to the Present Time.

BY J. A. SPENCER, D. D.,
Member of the New York Historical Society, Membre de la Societe Orientale de France, author of "Egypt and the Holy Land," etc., etc

THIS National History, written by an accomplished American author, and copiously and beautifully embellished by American artists, (among whom are Leutze, Weir, Vanderlyn, Powell, Chapman, Chappell and Oertel,) commends itself by its sterling merit to the favorable consideration of the American public.

No pains or expense have been spared to render this work worthy of being in every respect hailed as a Book for the American People.

Every Public Institution of our country, every Family—every citizen should possess such a National Work, that he may con over its instructive records, and kindle hispatriotism at its spirit stirring narrative; and point to its exhibition of genius and skill, with those feelings of generous enthusiasm, which such a production of native talent cannot fail to awaken in the heart of every true American.

The work is now in course of publication in semi-monthly parts, price Twenty-five cents each, delivered at the Subscriber's residence or sent by mail postage free. Subscribers' names respectfully solicited, and all letters and inquiries promptly replied to by the Publishers.

AYER'S Cathartic Pills,

(SUGAR COATED,)

ARE MADE TO

CLEANSE THE BLOOD AND CURE THE SICK

Invalids, Fathers, Mothers, Physicians, Philanthropists, read their Effects, and judge of their Virtues.

FOR THE CURE OF

Headache, Sick Headache, Foul Stomach,

PROVIDENCE, PA. May 1, 1856.

DR. J. C. AYER. Sir: I have been repeatedly cured of the worst headache any body can have by a dose or two of your Pills. It seems to arise from a foul stomach, which they cleanse at once. If they will cure others as they do me, the fact is worth knowing.

Yours with great respect, ED. W. PREELE, Clerk of Steamer Clarion.

Bilious Disorders and Liver Complaints.

DEPARTMENT OF THE INTERIOR, WASHINGTON, D. C., 7 Feb., 1856.

SIR: I have used your Pills in my general and hospital practice ever since you made them, and cannot hesitate to say they are the best cathartic we employ. Their regulating action on the liver is quick and decided, consequently they are an admirable remedy for derangements of that organ. Indeed, I have seldom found a case of bilious disease so obstinate that it did not readily yield to them.

Fraternally yours, ALONZO BALL, M. D., Physician of the Marine Hospital.

Dysentery, Relax, and Worms.

POST OFFICE, HAMILAND, LIV. CO., MICH., Nov. 14, 1855.

DR. AYER: Your Pills are the perfection of medicine. They have done my wife more good than I can tell you. She had been sick and pining away for months. Went off to be doctored at great expense, but got no better. She then commenced taking your Pills, which soon cured her, by expelling large quantities of worms (dead) from her body. They afterwards cured her and our two children of bloody dysentery. One of our neighbors had it bad, and my wife cured him with two doses of your Pills, while others around us paid from five to twenty dollars doctors' bills, and lost much time, without being cured entirely even then. Such a medicine as yours, which is actually good and honest, will be prized here.

GEO. J. GRIFFIN, Postmaster.

Indigestion and Impurity of the Blood.

From Rev. J. V. Himes, Pastor of Advent Church, Boston.

DR. AYER: I have used your Pills with extraordinary success in my family and among those I am called to visit in distress. To regulate the organs of digestion and purify the blood they are the very best medicine I have ever known, and I can confidently recommend them to my friends. Yours, J. V. HIMES.

WARSAW, WYOMING CO., N. Y., Oct. 24, 1856.

DEAR SIR: I am using your Cathartic Pills in my practice, and find them an excellent purgative to cleanse the system and purify the fountains of the blood.

JOHN G. MEACHAM, M. D.

Erysipelas, Scrofula, King's Evil, Tetter, Tumors, and Salt Rheum.

From a Forwarding Merchant of S. Louis, Feb. 4, 1856.

DR. AYER: Your Pills are the paragon of all that is great in medicine. They have cured my little daughter of obstinate sores upon her hands and feet that had proved incurable for years. Her mother has been long grievously afflicted with blotches and pimples on her skin and in her hair. After our child was cured, she also tried your Pills, and they have cured her. ASA MORGUINDE.

Rheumatism, Neuralgia, and Gout.

From the Rev. Dr. Hawley, of the Methodist Episc. Church.

PULASKI HOTEL, SAVANNAH, GA., Jan. 6, 1856.

HONORED SIR: I should be ungrateful for the relief your skill has brought me if I did not report my case to you. A cold settled in my limbs and brought on excruciating neuralgic pains, which ended in chronic rheumatism. Notwithstanding I had the best of physicians, the disease grew worse and worse, until, by the advice of your excellent agent in Baltimore, Dr. Mackenzie, I tried your Pills. Their effects were slow, but sure. By persevering in the use of them I am now entirely well.

SENATE CHAMBER, BATON ROUGE, LA., 3 Dec., 1855.

DR. AYER: I have been entirely cured by your Pills of Rheumatic Gout—a painful disease that had afflicted me for years. VINCENT STUBBLE.

For Dropsy, Plethora, or kindred Complaints, requiring an active purge, they are an excellent remedy.

For Costiveness or Constipation, and as a Dinner Pill, they are agreeable and effectual.

Fits, Suppression, Paralysis, Inflammation, and even Deafness, and Partial Blindness, have been cured by the alterative action of these Pills.

Most of the pills in market contain Mercury, which, although a valuable remedy in skilful hands, is dangerous in a public pill, from the dreadful consequences that frequently follow its incautious use. These contain no mercury or mineral substance whatever.

AYER'S CHERRY PECTORAL

FOR THE RAPID CURE OF

and for the relief of consumptive patients in advanced stages of the disease.

We need not speak to the public of its virtues. Throughout every town, and almost every hamlet of the American States, its wonderful cures of pulmonary complaints have made it already known. Nay, few are the families in any civilized country on this continent without some personal experience of its effects; and fewer yet the hearts in any where which have not among them some living trophy of its victory over the subtle and deadly dangerous diseases of the throat and lungs. While it is the most powerful antidote yet known to man for the formidable and dangerous diseases of the pulmonary organs, it is also the pleasantest and safest remedy that can be employed for infants and young persons. Parents should have it in store against the insidious enemy that steals upon them unprepared. We have abundant grounds to believe the CHERRY PECTORAL saves more lives by the consumptions it prevents than those it cures. Keep it by you, and cure your colds while they are curable, nor neglect them until no human skill can master the inexorable canker that, fastened on the vitals, eats your life away. All know the dreadful fatality of lung disorders, and they know too the virtues of this remedy, we need not do more than to assure them it is still made the best it can be. We spare no cost, no care, no toil to produce it the most perfect possible, and this afford those who rely on it the best agent which our skill can furnish for their cure.

STOVES! STOVES!

Frank Jones' Improved.

THIS Cooking Stove, from the rapid sale which it has had since its first introduction into this market, has proved itself to be far superior to all other cooking stoves yet made, in point of durability, economy, perfection in cooking, and draft.

Those about purchasing, will find it for their interest to examine this, and they will be convinced that it is useless to look further.

Every Stove warranted to give perfect satisfaction, in every particular, or no sale.

The Improved Empire State.

This Stove has been so long in the market, and so extensively used, and has given such unparalleled satisfaction, that it hardly necessary to say anything further, than that we have a large invoice of all the different sizes, for wood or coal.

Also, Repairing Pieces, of every description, which we are enabled to sell at prices that shall satisfy all.

The White Mountain

has been the favorite stove with many, for several years,—it having given such universal satisfaction wherever used, that it is thought by those who use them to have no superior.

To those who are in search of the White Mountain, I would say that I have the heaviest stock of all sizes, to be found in this market, from which to make their selections—at prices that cannot fail to suit.

OUR STOCK OF

Parlor Stoves

comprises all the various kinds among which may be found the Favorite, Villa, Star, &c.

Also, a large variety of Open Parlor GRATES, of all sizes, which cannot be surpassed for elegance or price.

Oven Parlor Stoves, some very beautiful patterns, for either wood or coal.

Also, Sheet Iron Stoves, of different sizes, with and without ovens.—Pyramid stoves for Halls or Stores. Also, Shop and Box Stoves, Cylinders of different patterns and sizes; in fact all kinds of Stoves, for all purposes, to suit every customer.

Cabooses.

We have many different sizes of this kind of stove for use aboard vessels, which we offer at the lowest prices.

Our Stock of Stoves comprises the largest assortment, of the best patterns, ever brought into this market, which I am determined to sell lower than can be bought at any other establishment in the State, wholesale and retail.

Give us a call.

Singer's Sewing Machines.

THESE celebrated machines are in practical and profitable use in all parts of the civilized world. In all the various trades, and in sewing every sort of fabric, either of cloth or leather, they have been fully tried and approved. Sewing machines of other manufacturers often fail to work, but SINGER'S MACHINES

ALWAYS OPERATE PERFECTLY,

being strong, durable and complete in contrivance and workmanship. A perfect sewing machine kept employed affords a clear profit of $1000 a year; but an imperfect one is a cause of constant vexation and loss. The entire RELIABILITY of our machines is one great reason for their unparalleled popularity.

MACHINES FOR FAMILY SEWING,

of a trail and delicate construction, are recommended by other manufacturers. Such machines are made to catch the eye, not to perform substantial work. The truth is, family sewing machines ought to be stronger than any other, because they go into less skillful hands than when sold to manufacturers, and are used for a greater variety of work. The machines which have proved best for all other purposes must be best for family use, and they are Singer's. The speed of our machines has lately been doubled. No other can compare with them in quantity of work.

☞ New machines of the latest improved style will be exchanged on liberal terms for old sewing machines of our own make, or for operative machines of other manufacturers. Local agents wanted to sell our machines.

N B.—All persons desiring full information about sewing machines, can obtain it by applying for a copy of "I. M. Singer & Co.'s Gazette," a paper devoted entirely to the subject. It will be sent gratis. I. M. SINGER & CO.

BUCHANAN AND FREMONT.—For many years we have deemed it true policy to utter no word of personal disrespect to any of the great men proposed for the presidency. We are therefore pleased with the following extract from the Newburyport Herald.

This is really a great crisis to the country. It is not so because there is danger of electing a bad man, or a weak man. Mr. Buchanan is a tried statesman and an able man; and though they talk of the Ostend circular, yet everybody knows that there is not the first element of the daring adventurous fillibuster in his nature. If he is in fault at all, it is for timidity more than rashness. And whatever his low-lived opponents may say in ridicule, the whole world knows—and it will acknowledge it, whether he succeeds or is defeated—that Col. Fremont is a man of uncommon abilities and of surpassing nobleness and loveliness of character. Take our list of great names, and among the brightest he would be no dim light. Half the men who have reached the presidency would not begin to come up to his standard of intellectual strength, literary acquirements, solidity of character, pure patriotism, or lofty spirit. Low indeed must be the speaker upon either side, that allows himself—as many of them do—in personal abuse of the nominees. This is not a crisis either because there is immediate danger of foreign and domestic wars springing from it. Men may perish and parties dissolve; but the national union will not die in a day. This election, however, as turning upon the vital point of local and state authority, may affect the spirit of coming time, more widely diffusing freedom over the whole land, or tending to a centralization of power in Washington, that in the end may breed anarchy in society and death to liberty. This is the real issue; it is the only point, and no man who votes understandingly upon principle, will lose sight of it.

Exactly the question—whether Slavery shall rule—at Washington by bludgeons, in the territories by bogus votes and hired bayonets, and in the States by wicked decisions of venal judges.

AN EMBARRASSING PREDICAMENT.—A gentleman from a distant State came to Boston a week or two since, to be married.—Desiring to have his nuptials celebrated in the Park Street Church, and understanding that the Rev. Mr. Stone, of that church, resided in Brookline, he proceeded to that town, and unfortunately called upon Rev. Dr. Stone, of the Episcopal Church in that place, and made an arrangement with him to solemnize the marriage services in the church on the next Sabbath, half an hour before the regular services commenced, Punctual to the hour, the gentleman took his station in the broad aisle of the Park Street Church, waiting the appearance of the minister. The party stood in the aisle until near the time for the commencement of the services, when the attention of the sexton was attracted to the circumstance.

Upon being informed of the interesting nature of their visit to the church, the sexton waited upon Mr. Stone in his study, who was of course much surprised, having no knowledge of the parties, but who at once proceeded to relieve their embarrassment by solemnizing the marriage service. In the meantime, the Rev. Dr. Stone, of Brookline, was waiting in full canonicals in his church, momentarily expecting the parties who had engaged his services, and concluded finally that he had been humbugged.—Boston Journal.

Lawyers generally know too much of law to have a very clear perception of justice, just as divines are often too deeply read in theology to appreciate the full grandeur and the proper tendencies of religion. Losing the abstract in the concrete, the comprehensive in the technical, the principal in its accessories, both are in the predicament of the rustic, who could not see London for the houses.—Exch.

WOMEN AND COMETS.—An early writer says, "Comets, doubtless, answer some wise and good purpose in the creation; so do women. Comets are incomprehensible, beautiful, and eccentric; so are women.—Comets shine with peculiar splendor, but at night appear most brilliant; so do women. Comets confound the most learned when they attempt to learn their nature; so do women. Comets equally excite the admiration of the philosopher and of the clod of the valley; so do women. Comets and women, therefore, are closely analogous; but the nature of both being inscrutable, all that remains for us to do is, to view with admiration the one, and, almost to adoration, love the other." It was probably under such hallucination that the following confession of returning consciousness was perpetrated:—

"When Eve brought wo to all mankind,
Her Adam called her wo-man!
And when he found she wooed so kind,
He then pronounced her woo-man.
But now, with smiles and artful wiles,
Their husbands' pockets trimmin',
The women are so full of whims,
The people call them whim-men."

I COULD NOT HELP IT—NO, NOT I.

A plague upon the men, I say!
They 'll never leave poor girls alone!
E'er teasing, teasing, night and day,
Till they have won us for their own.
And yet, that women love the men,
'Tis surely folly to deny;
For nine will answer, out of ten,
I cannot help it—no not I.

I told "friend" James, the other day,
I never would become a bride;
But sure he took a certain day
To tell me truly that—I lied.
First with a kiss he stopped my breath,
And softly said, "Sweet creature, why?"
And though he squeezed me most to death,
I could not help it,—no, not I.

Well, what d' ye think, at last, I said?—
I can't forget it, I declare:
"I tell you plain, I'll never wed,
So tease no more, sir,—if you dare!"
But oh! he kissed me then, so sweet,
And looked so charming in my eye,
I vowed at church the youth to meet;
I could not help it—no, not I.

WEDNESDAY, OCTOBER 29, 1856.

THE QUAKER MISSION.

The Dayton, Ohio, Journal has obtained the following statement of Jer. A. Hadley, the superintendent of the Quaker Missionary establishment of Kansas. It is the statement made by Mr. Hadley to the yearly meeting of the Society of Friends, now in session at Richmond, and is the first authentic account of the breaking up of the Shawnee Mission which has yet been published. It is a plain narrative, characteristic of the Friends, who always inculcate the doctrine of peace, and who ever practise the doctrine they profess, being consistent non-resistants. The pretence which has been so often set up by some venal presses and speakers, that the Border Ruffians only acted in self defence while robbing and murdering the Free State people, is a dead failure in the case of the outrage upon the Shawnee Mission, as indeed in most other cases.

The shameful wrong done at the peaceful mission station of the Society of Friends in Kansas, should do much toward opening the eyes of the blindest honest men who can be found in the land.

JEREMIAH A. HADLEY'S STATEMENT.

"Jeremiah A. Hadley, late Superintendent of Friends' Shawnee School Mission, K. T., left that place on the 22d of the eighth month, with his family and the teachers of the Institution under his charge, in consequence of a disturbance in the Territory. On the evening of the 20th of the eighth month (August,) a band of eighteen mounted men made their appearance on the Mission farm, taking down the fences, and trespassing otherwise. They rode to the barn, and after taking such provender as they needed, took Friends' horses, five in number—being all there were on the farm. The Superintendent went out and asked them to leave one of the horses to send to Westport, six miles distant, to procure a physician for his wife, who was then lying sick in the house. The captain of the band, who was named Brady—had resided some years in Missouri, but more recently in Kansas—gave utterance to abusive language, presented his gun, cocked it, threatened to shoot the Superintendent, and said, "this is only the beginning of what you may look for unless you leave the place." The Superintendent then returned to the house. Brady then informed the hired man who was present that if the Superintendent came out again he would shoot him.

After satisfying their desires, Brady and his company left for Westport with all the horses.

It would appear that the Indians had a knowledge, or at least an expectation that some depredations would be committed on the school premises, inasmuch as many of them came and took away their children on the day of the robbery. The fathers of these children said that they had their fears that depredations might be committed at the school, and the safety of their children thereby endangered.

In consequence of this behavior, and the threats made to burn the Mission houses, and commit outrages upon the inmates, the family became alarmed, and the Superintendent believed that the only course to insure their safety, was to remove them from the Territory with as little delay as possible, which he did, leaving the premises in the care of John Denny and wife, who had been in the employ of the Society for some time.

The amount of produce at the time the Superintendent left was—460 bushels of wheat, 1000 bus. of oats in the barn, some 15 tons of hay in the stack, 90 acres of corn, 50 cattle, together with all the household furniture."

Thus far Mr. Hadley's statement. To this the Dayton Journal adds the following:

From some of the Friends at Richmond, who had reliable information of the facts, we learn that when the marauders entered the Mission premises, they found the horses harnessed for work, and they set to work with their knives, cutting the harness to pieces, and thus stripping it from the animals, scattered it around the barn yard.

After proceeding a few miles with the horses, one of them was found to be unfit for hard service, and it was proposed to the Ruffian who was leading it, to take it back to the Mission. But he, instead of doing so, seized his knife and ripped open the bowels of the poor animal, and killed it on the spot.

A meeting of the Ruffians and their associates was held at Westport, Mo., at which resolutions were passed to the effect, that unless the Friends would agree voluntarily to leave the territory, the Mission houses would be burned, and the women taken to the ruffian camp, and employed as cooks and drudges. What other fate might await them it is scarcely necessary to specify.

Some days after the departure of Mr. Hadley, the leading ruffians began to be uneasy about the effect which would be produced at the North by the outrage upon the Shawnee Mission. Atchison issued a circular to the ruffian hordes, in which it was stated that policy required that the Friends should not be further molested, and that they should be encouraged to return, with the assurance of protection. A copy of this circular was left with Mr. Denny, who remained at the Mission, and he forwarded it to the Clerk of the Indiana yearly meeting.

The Friends, as we learned, were determined to resume their Missionary operations in Kansas.—Whether they will be again subjected to abuse and outrage, the future must determine.

PHILADELPHIA, Oct. 24.—The entire vote of the State for Congressmen has been received, showing a small Democratic majority.

Not exactly definite—but we shall probably get the figures to-morrow.

So we said in the Chronicle of Tuesday morning, the words of course being written the previous day or evening. But we looked in vain for the figures in the Post and Times of Tuesday. They did not come. The despatch is evidently a mistake. But the Philadelphia Evening Bulletin of the 25th states that the full vote for Congressmen in Pennsylvania shows a majority for the opposition over the Buchanan candidates, of 1246. The full returns appear in the Bulletin, and the aggregate vote for Congressmen sums up:—Union, 211,194; Democratic, 209,948; Union majority, 1246.

This, not having been contradicted, may be set down as the actual and official statement of the Congressional vote. So that on the only National Issue, in which the local interests could have no share, the American Republican Union Party have the majority in Pennsylvania.

The arrangement of districts elected many of their opponents,—but on the slavery question a small majority are republican or anti-slavery.

IS THERE ANY CHEATING?—The Charlestown Advertiser says, there is a great rush of foreign born residents at this time, at the City Treasurer's office, in that city, to pay their taxes. They all come around with naturalization papers, but having no tax bills, they are referred directly to the Assessors to obtain that very necessary paper; to enable them, when paid, to have their names entered upon the list of voters. During the past week not far from a hundred have presented themselves at the Treasurer's office, many of them very fresh-looking importations. One who went there for this purpose, with naturalization papers all filled out complete, by his own admission, had only been in the country since September last. Now it is a very serious question, how and where did this man get the papers? That he obtained them through fraud in some quarter, or by false representation, is certain—but having them, nothing can prevent his voting; and this foreigner of a few months residence among us, will carry a ballot to the polls, which he cannot read, and have the same weight and influence as an American.

COL. TITUS.—We recently copied a statement from the St. Louis Republican, to the effect that Gov. Geary had effected a reconciliation between Col. Walker (Free State) and the noted Col. Titus, commander of a gang of cut-throat Missourians and other ruffians. The account of their reconciliation was quite pathetic. Col. Titus has written a letter to the Republicans denying the "soft impeachment." He says:

I did meet Walker in the "Executive Chamber," and through courtesy to Governor Geary, when introduced, spoke to him. I am wounded and disabled, and could not have struck the dastard down, if I had been so inclined: but I ask if this is any excuse for a correspondent to place me on an equality with such a man. Our party is composed of honorable men, and are unwilling to be placed on a level with thieves, assassins and robbers. We are not in the habit of "mingling manly tears" with tears from the eyelids of thieves. Honorable men are not in the habit of "pledging eternal friendship" to robbers and murderers—to men who have been reared in the sinks of iniquity, and in the moral cesspools of abolitionism.

Our readers may remember that we pronounced the story quite improbable, at the time. It was doubtless written by some ingenious border ruffian, with a special eye to the Free States, some of which were to vote about that time. The St. Louis Republican favors the border ruffians' doings, and is the organ of those gentry.—Titus, however, does not profess any peace, as Gov. Geary does, in his soft soap official, just published in the Washington Union.—There can be no peace there under the present order of things, except the peace of slavery ascendency. Titus's letter shows this.

ARREST OF AN ESCAPED CONVICT.—Wm. Sullivan was arrested in Charlestown, last Friday night, for being drunk, and when taken to the station house he was recognized as one of three convicts who escaped from the House of Correction at Lawrence in July last. He was sent back to Lawrence on Saturday.

NEW YORK, Oct. 27.—John Beck, dry goods dealer, Broadway, suspended payment to-day—liabilities from $750,000 to $800,000.

MELANCHOLY SHIPWRECK AND LOSS OF LIFE.—Barque Maria, of Boston, has been before mentioned in our columns, picked up (abandoned) and towed into Charleston, S. C. Capt. Lincoln has arrived in Boston, and states that he left Norfolk, Oct. 9th, for Boston, and on the 14th experienced a Northeast gale, during which shifted cargo of corn and sprung aleak.—The pumps becoming choked and the vessel unmanageable, on the 17th an effort was made to anchor her, which was unsuccessful on account of the chains being mixed together. At the same time saw a vessel to windward, made a signal of distress, but they paid no attention. In this extreme, Capt. Lincoln, his wife, mate and crew took to the boats. When among the breakers, the long boat capsized, and Mrs. Lincoln, the mate, Mr. Lading of Baltimore, Wm. Halliday, seaman, of Providence, and the steward, Wm. Stevens, of Norfolk, were drowned. The survivors landed about 30 miles north of Cape Hatteras Light. When the vessel was abandoned, she was near the breakers, with every appearance of striking; but in a very short time the wind shifted, and took her off shore.

The body of Mrs. Lincoln was washed ashore two days after, and her husband immediately started for the north with it.

Mrs. Lincoln was a South Boston lady, and left that place only six weeks since, after watching several weeks by the bed of her dying mother. She was much esteemed by a large circle of acquaintances. Her body was brought to the residence of her brother, Reuben C. Mayo, Esq., in Boston, on Saturday afternoon, the friends knowing nothing of her death until the arrival of the corpse.

SALE OF A RAILROAD.—The Ogdensburg Railroad was sold at auction at Malone, New York, on Tuesday last, for the sum of $3,000,000, to second mortgage trustees, who already had possession of the property. The sale, it is understood, was subject to all the rights of the first mortgage. As we understand the case, the stockholders are "counted out" by this transaction.

THE TUCKERMAN CASE.—Chief Justice Nelson, of the Superior Court, Boston, has overruled the law points raised by the counsel of Wm. S. Tuckerman, and has remanded the case to the Municipal Court for trial.

Mr. Henry Koontz, an engineer of the tonnage train between Frederick and the Monocacy Station, Md., was instantly killed on Tuesday afternoon by the explosion of the boiler of his engine.

WOOD'S HAIR RESTORATIVE.

THE GREATEST DISCOVERY OF THE AGE.—It seldom occurs, that we notice, under any circumstances, patent medicines, or anything of the kind, for we have a prejudice against most of them. But candor compels us to call attention to Prof. Wood's Hair Restorative. We are too juvenile to require anything of the kind, but some instances of its use have come to our knowledge which almost assure us that it is a sovereign remedy against the hair becoming prematurely gray. It is not a "Hair Dye," but upon its application as directed, the effect is produced on the skin, which brings out the original, native colored hair, without stiffness, and gives it a glossy and natural appearance. We have seen persons who have used it, and they are much pleased with it.—[Missouri Republican.

THE GREAT DISCOVERY.

Many years ago, Doctor Burleigh Smart of Kennebunk, Me., discovered that a simple article never before used as a medicine, was a never failing cure for coughs of every description, and an excellent blood purifier. By its use in his private practice, he acquired the reputation of being the best physician in New England, for all diseases of the lungs. After his death, Messrs. Shaw & Clark of Biddeford, Me., obtained a Copy Right from Government, for its exclusive manufacture, and now have it carefully prepared strictly according to the original recipe. There is no cough that it will not cure, unless the patient is past all human aid before commencing its use! It is called "Doctor Burleigh Smart's Cough Medicine," and is for sale by all apothecaries. au27 TuT&h5 6m.

NEW YORK, Oct. 28.—The Washington correspondent of the Herald says: "A letter was received here from Com. Stockton, by a gentleman in this city, stating that he would publish a letter to-morrow, giving in his adhesion to Col. Fremont, and that New Jersey would cast her vote for him." A letter was also received from Broom, of Pennsylvania, a leading Fillmore man, stating that he should vote for Fremont.

LOCAL.

FIRST CHRISTIAN SOCIETY.

A large audience was present at the Pleasant Street Church on Sunday last, to hear Rev. Mr. Fanton's farewell discourse. His text was from John, 21, 22:

"Jesus saith unto him, if I will that he tarry till I come, what is that to thee? follow thou me."

After his sermon, which was an earnest exhortation to independent, individual christian effort and life, he briefly addressed his audience on the subject of closing his connexion with the Society. His remarks were evidently from the heart, and did not fail to find response in the feelings of many.

He stated that the two years spent with them had been the most pleasant of his ministerial experience—and that he could have none but the most kindly and grateful remembrances of the Society and our citizens generally, wherever his lot might be cast in future.

He stated that he had never felt called upon to endeavor so much to excite the religious feelings of his hearers, as to elevate and improve their standard of moral and christian duty—in which he was aware that he had not met the views of all.

As to the advisability of leaving the Church,—which had been decided by the Society, and with which he had no connexion—he should express no opinion; but would urge upon the Society, their duty of maintaining stated public worship in some place,—for which he was sure they possess ample numbers and means.

Mr. Fanton's connexion with the Church and Society, as pastor, closed with the last Sabbath, according to due form and agreement, and at his own request.

The Sabbath School connected with this Society, it was voted to continue as usual—and Mr. Lord's beautiful Chapel, on Hanover street, having been engaged by them, the School will in future meet there, at the close of church service in the forenoon.

No permanent arrangements have as yet been made to continue regular church services on the Sabbath; but Rev. Mr. Fanton will preach at Hanover Street Chapel, next Sunday, at the usual hours—doubtless to most of his wonted hearers.

Whatever may be the future lot of Mr. Fanton, we deem it a fitting occasion to say a word of his course of action since he has been among us—during which time we have had frequent occasion to meet him, in various relations. As a preacher, he has been faithful and devoted—proclaiming fearlessly from his pulpit, "the faith which is in him," and his "reasons" therefor. As a guardian of the public morals, he was ever ready to strike a blow, in his desk or elsewhere, for freedom, temperance and truth. As a pastor, he has cared well for the interests of his flock; and we doubt not is to-day as universally popular with them as it is possible for man to be. If he is to locate elsewhere, he will leave many warm friends behind.

THE PLEASANT STREET CHURCH AUCTION. On Tuesday, Oct. 28, the Pleasant Street Church in this city, with all the fixtures, were sold at auction by H. F. Wendell, Esq.

The House and land, with the pews and pulpit, were bid off by Mr. Thos. H. Odion, for $2375.

The Bell was purchased by Mr. Michael McCarthy, for 23 cents per pound. It weighs eight hundred and forty pounds. Mr. McCarthy is a prominent member of the Catholic Church in this city, for whose use this bell is doubtless intended.

The Organ was purchased by a Mr. Griffin, also a Catholic, for $110,—and it is said that this little instrument, which was originally made for use in a dwelling house, will hereafter lead the chants of the Romish service.

The sale of this property is no evidence of any decline in the Society. They have for the last two years raised more money than at any previous time; and would doubtless have gone on as heretofore, without trouble. But the house needed considerable repairs, and many attendants there wished to have a large outlay made to refit and improve the building,—and it was not deemed advisable to assess themselves too heavily, in view of the increasing unpopularity of the location. Hence the sale.—What will be the operations of the Society in the future, remains to be seen; but we have no doubt this move will prove to their advantage.

☞ The famous Chinese Artists and Jugglers give their first entertainment in this city, at the Temple to-night. They have an attractive bill of performances, and are, without doubt, amply prepared to bring out all they promise—by the aid of —somebody with whom we have no special acquaintance.

☞ On Friday evening, Oct. 31, public addresses will be made at Seabrook, by Messrs. Pike, Swift and others.

THE NEW POST OFFICE BUILDING—Where shall it be?—We published, a day or two since, the vote of our City Council, that they would sell the old Jefferson Market lot, for the site of the new Custom House, Post Office, &c., for $17,000. This vote was taken in accordance with the report of a joint committee, appointed from both Boards.

We also stated, from general report, that $6000 was asked for the first store in Exchange Buildings, occupied by Mr. B. Carter, jr.,—making $23,000 in all, for the land on which to locate the new building.

We do not learn that any decisive action has been taken in the matter—but it is said that Uncle Sam, or his committee of location here, consider the prices above named too large. Of course this is no business of ours to settle—it is with the owners of the property, and the committee, consisting of our Collector and Post Master—who are amply competent to take charge of the matter.

They have given evidence of their desire to at once consult the will of our people, and further the interest of the Government—and we have no doubt will decide the matter justly.

But there can be no question as to the popularity of this Market lot. If our citizens were called upon, we have no doubt nine-tenths of them would vote for it. As to the price, the city had better give the lot, than to have the Post Office located anywhere else; and, on the other hand, the locating committee would do better to pay double the worth of the lot, than to "cast their lines" in any other place.—If "posterity has not done much for us," it is well to look ahead a little.

DEMOCRATIC MEETINGS.—A. Hughes, Esq., of Nashua, formerly an old line whig, will address the Keystone Club of this city at Jefferson Hall, this evening, at 7 1-2 o'clock.

There will also be a Democratic meeting in this city on Friday evening. Hon. B. F. Hallett has been invited to address the Democracy.

Hon. John S. Wells is expected to address the Democrats of Portsmouth on Monday evening next, at the Temple,

Hon. Abner Greenleaf addressed the Keystone Club of this city on Tuesday evening. A gentleman who heard his address, pronounces it sound, forcible, and decidedly old hunkerish in its tone.

☞ There is to be a "grand Republican rally, for liberty and the Union,—and Hon. Henry Wilson will address the People of Portsmouth and vicinity at Jefferson Hall, or in Market Square should the weather be favorable, on Thursday evening, Oct. 30.

'Previous to the address the Republicans will have a grand Torchlight Procession in honor of Fremont & Dayton, and the triumphs of Freedom in Iowa, Maine, Vermont, Ohio, and Pennsylania."

☞ Hon. James Pike is to speak on Saturday evening next, at the Temple, instead of in Jefferson Hall, as advertised.—Ladies and gentlemen are invited to attend and listen to our Representative from this district,—on the great question before the country.

☞ On Friday next, at 1 P. M., there is to be a Republican Mass Meeting in Hampton, when the citizens of that town and vicinity will be addressed on the stirring topics of the day, by Messrs. Pike, Goodwin, Tuck and Clark, at the old Congregational Meeting House. All are invited to attend.

On Saturday afternoon, Nov. 1, the people of Seabrook will be addressed by Charles L. Woodbury, Charles W. March and Wm. H. Hackett, Esqs., of this city, at the South Meeting House.

There will be a mass meeting of the Democracy at Epping on Thursday afternoon. A half price train will be run on the Concord Railroad from this city.

☞ Mr. Lamprey's Entertainment, by his class in Dancing and Waltzing, comes off this evening, at Congress Hall. After their exhibition — the "old folks" will have a grand chance to show how much of agility they yet retain.

☞ The first Lecture of the Course at the Mechanics' Lyceum, in the Temple, was delivered on Tuesday evening, by Rev. Prof. Huntington,—on What constitutes the True Mechanic.

The lecture was on the education and perfection of the Hand, the Head, and the Heart; the completion of Christian Civilization; the elevation of intelligent and humanizing labor. It was philanthropic and philosophical; political and religious—but not in the slightest degree partizan or sectarian: and it was favorably received by a very intelligent audience.

PHILADELPHIA, Oct. 27.—A meeting was announced for to-night at the National Hall to advocate the Union Electoral Ticket, to be addressed by Messrs. Millward, Reed, and other leading Americans, in behalf of a fusion to defeat Buchanan.—The hall was crowded before the hour fixed, by a party of rowdies, who created a riot, attacking the speakers and dragging them from the stand. They fled for their lives.

TELEGRAPHIC BLUNDER CORRECTED.—Chicago, Oct. 27.—The despatch from this city, on the 23d inst., in regard to the release of the Kansas emigrants arrested at Plymouth, by a telegraphic blunder is made to say that the arms found in the wagons of the emigrants were restored, whereas they were retained by the authorities.

STORM ON LAKE MICHIGAN.—Chicago, Oct. 27.—There has been a tremendous gale blowing on Lake Michigan the last two days.

Advices received last night confirm the report of the total loss of the propeller Toledo, off Fort Washington, on Friday night. Forty lives were lost, and three were saved. The cargo and merchandise for Milwaukie were a total loss.

The schooner Bohemia was wrecked at the same place and at the same time.

The Bohemia belonged to the Oswego Linen Co. Her cargo was railroad iron. No lives were lost.

The schooner Gen. Taylor, with a cargo of 11,000 bushels of wheat, was lost four miles North of this city on the same night. The crew were saved.—The vessel was insured in the Buffalo Mutual Co., and the cargo here.

The schooner Yonker, with a cargo of lumber, went to pieces the same night. Crew saved.

The bark Zadock Pratt is ashore 12 miles from Milwaukie, with a cargo of coal and stoves.

The propellor Alleghany City, with a cargo of Flour and Wheat, foundered against a pier, in Milwaukie. Insured in Buffalo.

☞ On Tuesday evening last, a barn in Exeter, belonging to a Mr. Hall, which contained a small quantity of hay, was totally destroyed by fire. Loss but small, and probably no insurance.

From the Boston Saturday Evening Gazette.

A PERFUMED BREATH.—What lady or gentleman would remain under the curse of a disagreeable breath, when using the "Balm of a Thousand Flowers" as a dentifrice would not only render it sweet, but leave the teeth white as alabaster? Many persons do not know their breath is bad, and the subject is so delicate, their friends will never mention it. Pour a single drop of the "Balm" on your tooth-brush and wash the teeth night and morning. A fifty cent bottle will last a year.

A BEAUTIFUL COMPLEXION may easily be acquired by using the "Balm of a Thousand Flowers." It will remove tan, pimples and freckles from the skin, leaving it of a soft and roseate hue. Wet a towel, pour on two or three drops, and wash the face night and morning

SHAVING MADE EASY.—Wet your shaving brush in either warm or cold water, pour on two or three drops of "Balm of a Thousand Flowers," rub the beard well and it will make a beautiful soft lather, much facilitating the operation of shaving. Price only 50 cents.

FREMONT.
THE MUSTANG CANDIDATE.

If Col. Fremont had as many friends as the Mustang Liniment, the opposition could not draw a corporal's guard. Mr. Fremont remarked in his dispatches to President Fillmore, while transporting horses and cattle over the plains of Mexico, "That if the Government would send him on a liberal supply of Mustang Liniment, it would save 25 per cent. of his losses." This is very important for all Farmers and Liverymen to know. The Mustang Liniment is a wonderful article for man or beast. It should always be used for Sores, Swellings, Stiff Joints, Burns, Bruises, Rheumatic Pains, &c., and for Galds, Sprains, Spavins, Ringbone, &c., upon horses.—BEWARE OF IMITATIONS. The Mustang is sold by all respectable dealers everywhere.

"The Greatest Book of the Age!"

History United States,

From the earliest Period to the Present Time.

BY J. A. SPENCER, D. D.,
Member of the New York Historical Society, Membre de la Societe Orientale de France, author of "Egypt and the Holy Land," etc., etc

THIS National History, written by an accomplished American author, and copiously and beautifully embellished by American artists, (among whom are Leutze, Weir, Vanderlyn, Powell, Chapman, Chappell and Oertel,) commends itself by its sterling merit to the favorable consideration of the American public.

No pains or expense have been spared to render this work worthy of being in every respect hailed as a Book for the American People.

Every Public Institution of our country, every Family—every citizen should possess such a National Work, that he may con over its instructive records, and kindle hispatriotism at its spirit stirring narrative; and point to its exhibition of genius and skill, with those feelings of generous enthusiasm, which such a production of native talent cannot fail to awaken in the heart of every true American.

The work is now in course of publication in semi-monthly parts, price Mwenty-five cents each, delivered at the Subscriber's residence or sent by mail postage free. Subscribers' names respectfully solicited, and all letters and inquiries promptly replied to by the Publishers.

AYER'S Cathartic Pills,

(SUGAR COATED,)

ASK MARK TO

CLEANSE THE BLOOD AND CURE THE SICK

Invalids, Fathers, Mothers, Physicians, Philanthropists, read their Effects, and judge of their Virtues.

FOR THE CURE OF

Headache, Sick Headache, Foul Stomach.

PITTSBURG, PA., May 1, 1855.

DR. J. C. AYER. Sir: I have been repeatedly cured of the worst headache any body can have by a dose or two of your Pills. It seems to arise from a foul stomach, which they cleanse at once. If they will cure others as they do me, the fact is worth knowing.

Yours with great respect, ED. W. PREBLE, Clerk of Steamer Clarion.

Bilious Disorders and Liver Complaints.

DEPARTMENT OF THE INTERIOR, WASHINGTON, D. C., 7 Feb., 1856.

SIR: I have used your Pills in my general and hospital practice ever since you made them, and cannot hesitate to say they are the best cathartic we employ. Their regulating action on the liver is quick and decided, consequently they are an admirable remedy for derangements of that organ. Indeed, I have seldom found a case of bilious disease so obstinate that it did not readily yield to them.

Fraternally yours, ALONZO BALL, M. D., Physician of the Marine Hospital.

Dysentery, Relax, and Worms.

POST OFFICE, HARTLAND, LIV. CO., MICH., Nov. 16, 1855.

DR. AYER: Your Pills are the perfection of medicine. They have done my wife more good than I can tell you. She had been sick and pining away for months. Went off to be doctored at great expense, but got no better. She then commenced taking your Pills, which soon cured her, by expelling large quantities of worms (dead) from her body. They afterwards cured her and our two children of bloody dysentery. One of our neighbors had it bad, and my wife cured him with two doses of your Pills, while others around us paid from five to twenty dollars doctors' bills, and lost much time, without being cured entirely even then. Such a medicine as yours, which is actually good and honest, will be prized here.

GEO. J. GRIFFIN, Postmaster.

Indigestion and Impurity of the Blood.

From Rev. J. V. Himes, Pastor of Advent Church, Boston.

DR. AYER: I have used your Pills with extraordinary success in my family and among those I am called to visit in distress. To regulate the organs of digestion and purify the blood they are the very best remedy I have ever known, and I can confidently recommend them to my friends. Yours, J. V. HIMES.

WARSAW, WYOMING CO., N. Y., Oct. 24, 1855.

DEAR SIR: I am using your Cathartic Pills in my practice, and find them an excellent purgative to cleanse the system and purify the fountains of the blood.

JOHN G. MEACHAM, M. D.

Erysipelas, Scrofula, King's Evil, Tetter, Tumors, and Salt Rheum.

From a Forwarding Merchant of St. Louis, Feb. 4, 1856.

DR. AYER: Your Pills are the paragon of all that is great in medicine. They have cured my little daughter of ulcerous sores upon her hands and feet that had proved incurable for years. Her mother has been long grievously afflicted with blotches and pimples on her skin and in her hair. After our child was cured, she also tried your Pills, and they have cured her. ASA MORGRIDGE

Rheumatism, Neuralgia, and Gout.

From the Rev. Dr. Hawkes, of the Methodist Episc. Church.

PULASKI HOUSE, SAVANNAH, GA., Jan. 6, 1856.

HONORED SIR: I should be ungrateful for the relief your skill has brought me if I did not report my case to you. A cold settled in my limbs and brought on excruciating neuralgic pains, which ended in chronic rheumatism. Notwithstanding I had the best of physicians, the disease grew worse and worse, until, by the advice of your excellent agent in Baltimore, Dr. Mackenzie, I tried your Pills. Their effects were slow, but sure. By persevering in the use of them I am now entirely well.

SENATE CHAMBER, BATON ROUGE, LA., 5 Dec., 1855.

DR. AYER: I have been entirely cured by your Pills of Rheumatic Gout—a painful disease that had afflicted me for years. VINCENT SLIDELL.

For Dropsy, Plethora, or kindred Complaints, requiring an active purge, they are an excellent remedy.

For Costiveness or Constipation, and as a Dinner Pill, they are agreeable and effectual.

Fits, Suppression, Paralysis, Inflammation, and even Deafness, and Partial Blindness, have been cured by the alterative action of these Pills.

Most of the pills in market contain Mercury, which, although a valuable remedy in skilful hands, is dangerous in a public pill, from the dreadful consequences that frequently follow its incautious use. These contain no mercury or mineral substance whatever.

AYER'S CHERRY PECTORAL

FOR THE RAPID CURE OF

COUGHS, COLDS, HOARSENESS, INFLUENZA, BRONCHITIS, WHOOPING COUGH, CROUP, ASTHMA, IN incipient CONSUMPTION, and for the relief of consumptive patients in advanced stages of the disease.

We need not speak to the public of its virtues. Throughout every town, and almost every hamlet of the American States, its wonderful cures of pulmonary complaints have made it already known. Say, few are the families in any civilized country on this continent which some personal experience of its efficacy, and fewer yet the communities any where which have not among them some living trophy of its victory over the subtile and dangerous diseases of the throat and lungs. While it is the most powerful antidote yet known to man for the formidable and dangerous diseases of the pulmonary organs, it is also the pleasantest and safest remedy that can be employed for infants and young persons. Parents should have it in store against the insidious enemy that steals upon them unprepared. We have abundant grounds to believe the CHERRY PECTORAL saves more lives by the consumptions it prevents than those it cures. Keep it by you, and cure your colds while they are curable, nor neglect them until no human skill can master the incurable canker that fastened on the vitals, eats your life away. All know the dreadful fatality of lung disorders, and as they know too the virtues of this remedy, we need not do more than to assure them it is still made the best it can be. We spare no cost, no care, no toil to produce it the most perfect possible, and thus afford those who rely on it the best agent which our skill can furnish for their cure.

STOVES! STOVES!

Frank Jones' Improved.

THIS Cooking Stove, from the rapid sale which it has had since its first introduction into this market, has proved itself to be far superior to all other cooking stoves yet made, in point of durability, economy, perfection in cooking, and draft.

Those about purchasing, will find it for their interest to examine this, and they will be convinced that it is useless to look further.

Every Stove warranted to give perfect satisfaction, in every particular, or no sale.

The Improved Empire State.

This Stove has been so long in the market, and so extensively used, and has given such unparalleled satisfaction, that it hardly necessary to say anything further, than that we have a large invoice of all the different sizes, for wood or coal.

Also, Repairing Pieces, of every description, which we are enabled to sell at prices that shall satisfy all.

The White Mountain

has been the favorite stove with many, for several years,—it having given such universal satisfaction wherever used, that it is thought by those who use them to have no superior.

To those who are in search of the White Mountain, I would say that I have the heaviest stock, of all sizes, to be found in this market, from which to make their selections—at prices that cannot fail to suit.

OUR STOCK OF

Parlor Stoves

comprises all the various kinds among which may be found the Favorite, Villa, Star, &c.

Also, a large variety of Open Parlor GRATES, of all sizes, which cannot be surpassed for elegance or price.

Oven Parlor Stoves, some very beautiful patterns, for either wood or coal.

Also, Sheet Iron Stoves, of different sizes, with and without ovens.—Pyramid stoves for Halls or Stores. Also, Shop and Box Stoves, Cylinders of different patterns and sizes; in fact all kinds of Stoves, for all purposes, to suit every customer.

Cabooses.

We have many different sizes of this kind of stove for use aboard vessels, which we offer at the low est prices.

Our Stock of stoves comprises the largest assortment of the best patterns, ever brought into this market, which I am determined to sell lower than can be bought at any other establishment in the State, wholesale and retail.

Singer's Sewing Machines.

THESE celebrated machines are in practical and profitable use in all parts of the civilized world. In all the various trades, and in sewing every sort of fabric, either of cloth or leather, they have been fully tried and approved. Sewing machines of other manufacturers often fail to work, but SINGER'S MACHINES

ALWAYS OPERATE PERFECTLY,

being strong, durable and complete in contrivance and workmanship. A perfect sewing machine kept employed affords a clear profit of $1000 a year; but an imperfect one is a cause of constant vexation and loss. The entire reliability of our machines is one great reason for their unparalleled popularity.

MACHINES FOR FAMILY SEWING,

of a trail and delicate construction, are recommended by other manufacturers. Such machines are made to catch the eye, not to berform substantial work. The truth is, family sewing machines ought to be stronger than any other, because they go into the hands of females, when sold to manufacturers, and are used for a greater variety of work. The machines which have proved best for all other purposes must be best for family use, and they are Singer's. The speed of our machines has lately been doubled. No other can compare with them in quantity of work.

New machines of the latest improved style will be exchanged on liberal terms for old sewing machines of our own make, or for operative machines of other manufacturers. Local agents wanted to sell our machines.

N. B.—All persons desiring full information about sewing machines can obtain it by applying for a copy of "I. M. Singer & Co.'s Gazette," a paper devoted entirely to the subject. It will be sent gratis. I. M. SINGER & CO.

DYER'S HEALING EMBROCATION AN EXTERNAL AND INTERNAL REMEDY

ALMOST miraculous are some of the cures effected by the use of this remarkable preparation. As a healing, pain destroying remedy

IT IS UNSURPASSED.

It is uniform in quality, convenient for application, neat and delicate in its nature, leaves no stain upon the dress or skin, and is unfailing in its curative properties and effects. It cures

RHEUMATISM,

Cuts, Wounds, Scalds, Bruises, Burns, Lumbago, Dysentery, Chronic Horses, Neuralgia, Tooth Ache, Headache, Pains in the Side, Back or Limbs, Sore Throat, Ague, Cramps, &c., &c.

Physicians prescribe and recommend it with the most perfect confidence; and by the use of it themselves thousands have been saved from an untimely death.

Beware of imitations, and purchase none but the genuine, with the name of "Dyer's Healing Embrocation, Providence, R. I." blown in the glass, and the fac simile of the proprietor's signature upon the outside wrapper.

For sale in Portsmouth by J. H. Thacher, Wm. R. Preston and B. Hutchings, and by all respectable Druggists and dealers in medicine throughout the United States, at the following prices:—2 ounce bottle 12½; 4 ounce bottle 25c; 8 ounce bottle 37½c.

AMOSKEAG DUCK AND BAG MILL.—At the late session of our State Legislature, an act of incorporation for the above was obtained, for a capital of $100,000. Immediate work on it commenced, and the result is a brick building 160 by 60 feet, three stories high, with a basement. It is situated at the foot of the canal, at the Weirs, in Manchester, and when completed, the Mirror says, will be the prettiest small mill in the city. The machinery is now being put in, and the mill will be ready to start up next week. They are putting in sixty looms, and will make 2000 bags each day. Nobody estimates that it will pay less than twelve per cent on its capital stock.

So they go at Manchester, extending manufacturing operations north and south, increasing their population several thousands each year, while most other spindle cities are at a stand still, or retrograding.

A GOOD EXAMPLE FOR OTHER COLLEGES. Provision has been made the present year for awarding to the two pupils at Cambridge whom the corporation shall judge to have acquired the greatest skill in Mathematics, at the commencement in 1857, a first prize of three hundred dollars, and a second prize of two hundred dollars.

The Manchester Mirror thinks this is the way to make students. Show them that there is an immediate object to gain. At Dartmouth the Mirror continues old fogyism grows more old fogyish. Once the good students were rewarded with "parts" assigned, but of late years the poor and good scholars stand on the same footing at Commencement, the "parts" being drawn by lot. A young man that leads his class in every department, that has toiled night and day for the position, graduates, oftentimes, without a show of being honored. The most accomplished and popular professor ever connected with the College, Hon. Chas. B. Haddock, labored in vain to establish the principle, "Honor to whom honor is due &c." without effect, and gave up his position.

ANOTHER ANECDOTE OF THE QUEEN.—The London correspondent of the British Advertiser tells the following anecdote of the Queen: A rather remarkable picture is now being exhibited in Piccadilly, the production, I believe of a Mr Bartlett, curiously enough, a Quaker. It is a representation of the visit of the Queen and royal family to the wounded Crimean soldiers at the Brompton hospital. It is said that this picture was taken at a rather curious moment. The Queen was standing, with tears in her eyes, talking to a poor fellow who had got sadly shattered in battle.—Prince Albert stood impassive and unmoved. The royal mistress, who is a woman, was mortified by his vacant and unfeeling look, and petulantly said to him, her voice still quivering with sympathy, "Do say something to the man, and not stand staring in that way."

We learn from the Henderson, Iowa, Democrat, that on the 8th of September last, Edward Doulin and Matthew Wilson discovered a beautiful lake, five and one half miles in circumference, in Siley county, township 14. On Saturday, Oct, 4, a large number of persons collected together and gave the lake the name of "Lake Washington."

CRIMINAL CARELESSNESS.—The Coroner's jury in the case of Allen Frazer, who was drowned by falling overboard from steamboat Menemon Sanford, in Boston harbor, Sept. 19,—have found evidence that Frazer was then suffering from illness; that he lay for awhile on the guards of the boat abaft the wheel house, and at length arose, and walked towards a part of the vessel which was not properly secured by a rope or any other barrier, and fell overboard, while the steamer, under full head, was passing about opposite Bird Island, in Boston Harbor; that the deceased was seen in the water and heard to cry out for aid several times after; that an alarm was instantly raised, and the captain and pilot were immediately informed by three several persons of the fact, that a man had fallen overboard; that, for some reason not apparent to the jury, but little attention was paid by such officers to the intelligence given them, beyond the checking the speed of the boat for the space of about three minutes; that no one connected with the boat made any effort to rescue the deceased from his perilous situation, though the water was calm and the night not dark.

In consideration of these facts, the jurors find that the officers of the Menemon Sanford, on the occasion referred to, were culpable in not giving sufficient heed to the information that a man had fallen overboard, and grossly neglectful of their duty in not having made the attempt, however futile it might have seemed to them, to rescue a fellow-being from an impending death.

The boat and her owners are liable to a fine of not less than $500 or more than $5000,—And the captain ought never to command another boat again.

A NEW HAMPSHIRE DEMOCRAT CORNERED. In one of the towns in Southern New Hampshire there lives a bigoted Democrat, who the whole summer long has utterly refused to read any Republican documents. His wife, a true friend of Fremont and Jessie, is determined, however, that he shall vote understandingly, and is now zealously engaged in "giving him Jessie" —reading aloud Fremont documents to him every night, after he has gone to bed. This is a great improvement on the Caudle lectures.—Boston Journal.

Morning Chronicle.

FRIDAY, OCTOBER 31, 1856.

AN ENGLISH TRAVELLER'S TESTIMONY.

Mr. Thomas H. Gladstone, an intelligent English traveller, publishes a letter in the London Times Oct. 11, in which he describes his own visit to Kansas, and what he heard and saw there.

He says: It was a fearful night which followed the attack on Lawrence. I was in Kansas city, and shall never forget the appearance of the lawless mob that poured into the place inflamed with drink, glutted with the indulgence of the vilest passions, displaying with loud boasts the "plunder" they had taken from the inhabitants, and thirsting for the opportunity to repeat the sack of Lawrence in some other offending place. * * * *

A number of these men became my companions for the night, as I went up by one of the Missouri steamboats to Leavenworth city, which, as the centre of operations, I desired to make my head-quarters while investigating the condition of affairs in the territory. The other fellow-passengers were for the most part of a like order. * *

A general rush to the bar ensued. Already maddened with whiskey, each would treat his fellow in arms:

"Step up here, you sir. A heap finer this stuff than that ere rot gut ashore. Here you sir, don't be askeard. One of our boys, I reckon. All right on the goose, eh? No high falutin airs here, you know. Keep that for them Yankee blue-bellies down East. If there's any of that sort here I reckon they'd better make off mighty quick, and that's a fact, while I'se on board, unless they want to make a quicker road out than they came in. Yes, sir, this ere tool of mine (handling a pistol), it isn't the first time it has seen a blue-belly. If there's any of that sort aboard, I say they'd better take off, that's sartin. We ain't agoin' to stand them comin' here, we ain't. Isn't their own place down East big enough for them, I should like to know? We ain't agoin' to stand their comin' and dictatin' to us with their d—d nigger-worshipping, we ain't. I reckon we'll make the place hot enough for them soon, that's a fact. Here, boys, drink. Step up this way old hoss, and liquor."

And thus the midnight talk went on—talk which I neither care to remember nor to repeat, and in which I am compelled to omit the fearful expletives of blasphemy which interrupted, not every sentence merely, but every word or two of the dialogue. * * * *

A single incident must suffice as an illustration. Before I had left my berth many minutes, I was attracted by the blustering talk of one of my fellow-travellers—"one of the most respectable merchants in Weston," as I was informed, but one who, as was evident, did not deny himself in the rum-punch, gin-sling, brandy-cocktail, and other compounds issued at the bar.

This respectable merchant was surrounded, as he stood in the cabin of the boat, by a circle, which I joined. Out of a side pocket protruded the head of a pistol; in his hand he brandished another, loaded, as he told us, and ready for action. With threatening aspect and attitude, he vented himself, amid many oaths, of the following language, addressed to us all:

"'I am bound to bring down some one before I'm done; I tell you, by G— I am. I'll teach these infernal nigger-stealing freesoilers a lesson right pearly, that's a fact. If there's a dog-gauned abolitionist aboard, I should like to see him, that I hould. I'm the man that can put a chunk of lead into his woolly head right off, that's what I'll do.' Then looking around at each of us, 'I reckon I can raise the top off the head of ere a one of you with this here tool. Speak the word, and, by G—, I'm your man. That's so. I should like to see the first freesoiler that opens his mouth; that I should. I'd send him to hell pretty quick, afore he know'd what he was about; that's what I'd do. I'm a mighty ce-urious customer, I am.'"

And so thought, probably, one of his hearers, for he said to the curious customer, "Come old hoss, won't you have some breakfast?" The old horse was not to be so easily diverted, however.

"Breakfast! think I'd be after breakfast when I've got my duty before me? Exercise is the thing for me—not eating. I tell you I'm bound to bring down some one afore I'm done—that I am. I've got to fight for the liberties of my country, and rid the place of those cowardly blue-bellied Yankees—that's what I've got to do. I should like to know what they've to do in this here place, with their snarling, sneaking ways. I tell you there's not a man amongst them as knows how to fight. I should like to see the first one as will open his mouth here,—that's what I should like to see. I tell you I'm a ce-urious customer—my dog knows that, pointing to a large dog which seemed prepared to stand by its master for better or worse.—Then, I should like to see the man that would touch that ere dog of mine. I'd lay him dead in a moment, that I would. Just see me."

None of us felt inclined to touch the dog, and the respectable merchant returned to his politics and patriotism.

"No Northern nigger-stealers here. I'll fix 'em up mighty smart, I will. I ain't here for nothing, and that you'll see, just about as soon as anything. I only want to see the first freesoiler here. I'll drop the first one of you that opens his mouth for abolition cusses; I be dog-gauned if I don't."

And thus this valiant patriot went on for about a half hour, ringing the changes on these few forms of expression, and giving every one an opportunity to accept his challenge and take the consequences. * * *

Among all the scenes of violence I witnessed the offending parties were invariably on the pro-slavery side. The free State men appeared to me to be intimidated and overawed, in consequence, not merely of the determination and defiant boldness of their opponents, but still more through the sanction given to these acts by the Federal government.

THE FOREIGN NEWS.—The news which relates to unhappy Spain, her poor government and distracted Queen, are very full of detail in the English papers. The Espartero constitutional government having been stricken down, Gen. O'Donnell, the representative of absolutism, succeeded.—Politically (says the Boston Courier) the position of the new administration was one of the most unstable equilibrium—a pyramid poised on its apex—a government resting upon the single point of Court patronage, with no support from popular opinion, and without the slightest collateral strength derived from the talents, the character, or the popularity of its component members. O'Donnell has been driven out by Narvaez, who is no friend of liberty, but he is a man of independent will, and will not be the slave of the Queen's minions.

The British and French appear to have enough on their hands without meddling with the affairs of King Bomba of Naples. He stands upon his rights as a sovereign, as well as a tyrant, and the blessed alliance will do nothing for freedom or for the suffering Neapolitans at present.

In France there is industrial trouble.—People are hungry in the provinces, prices of provisions are high, and the price of labor is low. A letter from Paris of the latest date says:

In many of the provinces, where high prices are not, as in Paris, compensated by wages, distress prevails to a fearful extent, and as usual, secret societies are hard at work, availing themselves of the sufferings of the workmen to instil into their minds those pernicious doctrines the success of which would be the signal for a civil war. In Paris there is a good deal of uneasiness, unquestionably; but romantic and very exaggerated accounts of it have been published. At no time have wages been so high. Carpenters earn their 7 francs a day, while this time last year their wages were only 6 francs; and in all trades the increase has been in proportion. Now the price of provisions is very high no doubt, but it has not increased in the same ratio as the wages of laborers. Nevertheless, though no symptoms of serious disturbances are observable, the police are taking their precautions, and the fauborgs of St. Antoine and St. Marceau are patrolled throughout the night by strong bodies of gendarmerie. The reactionary party here—for there are many who consider the Emperor's government as rather too indulgent towards the lower classes—would not be sorry to see an emeute, under the conviction that the rioters would receive a lesson that would not tempt them again to renew the game they played with so much success under Louis Phillippe.

☞ Mariamne, or the Queen's Fate: a Tale of the Days of Herod:—is a Historical Romance of intense interest to the lovers of such reading; and is contained in an elegant volume of about 300 pages, published by Dayton & Brodick, New York,—and just received by A. Williams & Co., Boston, and J. H. Foster, Portsmouth. It contains a beautifully engraved frontispiece, a portrait of Mariamne, Queen of Judea.

MELANCHOLY OCCURRENCE.—The Gardiner Transcript records the death of Thomas M. Quinman, assistant Postmaster of that city. He was crossing the bridge on Friday evening, when the draw was raised to admit the passage of a vessel, and not noticing this fact, he walked off, and was drowned. His age was 22 years, and his parents reside at Bowdoinham.

SOUTH AMERICA. — Accounts from the River of Platte, by the way of England, state that Buenos Ayres and Montevideo were in the same state of confusion and misery which all former accounts have represented them to be in. Trade was dull in both states, and political affairs were in the usual jumble.

☞ The Prisoner's Friend for October, 1856, contains an interesting variety of articles—and an engraving of Col. Fremont's Pardon of Don Pico. The work is worthy of patronage, and the cause it advocates is worthy of aid.—Chas. Spear, editor and publisher, Boston,

MR. FILLMORE IN LOUISIANA.—The Boston Courier contains the following extract of a letter from a prominent merchant in New Orleans, dated Oct. 18, 1856.

I am glad you think so well of Mr. Fillmore's prospects, and hope Maryland will not falter. I think Louisiana is perfectly safe for him. We will give a tremendous majority for him in this city. It is a rare thing to see a Buchanan man about here now-a-days. I consider the thing about certain now that Millard Fillmore will be our next President. Don't be afraid of Louisiana. We are all Fillmore men here. We keep the ball rolling, and shall continue to do so until the day after election.

☞ Uncle Toby stands corrected. The Boston Post of Tuesday did say, among its "all sorts of paragraphs":—

The telegraph has fibbed with regard to the Congress vote of Pennsylvania,—inasmuch as it is stated that the Philadelphia Bulletin found, from the complete returns, a majority for the opposition on the Congress vote. It now appears that the Bulletin makes the majority for the democrats 1818.

We looked for it in vain, under the head of Pennsylvania, and every other place fit for an item so portentous.

NEW YORK.—The New York Tribune, which has not been over sanguine in this campaign, considers the question by referring to its advices from all parts of the State, and concludes thus:

Such is the tenor of our advices. They may be mistaken, but they are certainly not intended to deceive. Nothing but a complete "fusion" of the Buchanan and Fillmore vote can reduce the majority of Fremont in this state below fifty thousand.

☞ We have just received from the publishers, Robinson & Richardson, Boston, No. 1, vol. 3, of the Student & Schoolmate, a Monthly Reader for schools. Rev. A. R. Pope, of Somerville, is just engaged as assistant editor. It is an excellent book.

☞ At Manchester, on Monday, the topmast of the Old Whig flag-pole, now used by the Fremonters, worn with age or weary of its position, fell to the ground with a tremendous crash, breaking into three pieces, one of them flying upon the backs of a span of horses—doing no damage. But it scared a good many, says the Mirror.

DYSPEPSIA CURED.

From Joseph Hoxie, Esq., New York City.

NEW YORK, July 31

GENTLEMEN.—Having suffered many years from repeated attacks of dyspepsia in its worst form, and almost exhausted my hopes of being able to obtain any permanent relief, I was induced to have recourse to the Oxygenated Bitters, prepared by Dr. George B. Green, for which you are agents. It gives me great pleasure to say, that its effect upon me has been highly beneficial, eradicating the disease, and restoring me to good health: and I sincerely hope that all who may be suffering from that dreadful disease, will be induced to give the medicine a trial, fully believing they will not be disappointed in the result. JOSEPH HOXIE, 76 Wall St.

Such testimony as the above is entitled to the confidence of dyspeptics, and proves the efficacy of the Oxygenated Bitters. Mr. Hoxie is well known as a highly respectable citizen.

WOOD'S HAIR RESTORATIVE.

THE GREATEST DISCOVERY OF THE AGE.—It seldom occurs, that we notice, under any circumstances, patent medicines, or any thing of the kind, for we have a prejudice against most of them. But candor compels us to call attention to Prof. Wood's Hair Restorative. We are too juvenile to require anything of the kind, but some instances of its use have come to our knowledge which almost assure us that it is a sovereign remedy against the hair becoming prematurely gray. It is not a "Hair Dye," but upon its application as directed, the effect is produced on the skin, which brings out the original, native colored hair, without stiffness, and gives it a glossy and natural appearance. We have seen persons who have used it, and they are much pleased with it.—[Missouri Republican.

THE GREAT DISCOVERY.

Many years ago, Doctor Burleigh Smart, of Kennebunk, Me., discovered that a simple article used before sold as a medicine, was a never failing cure for coughs of every description, and an excellent blood purifier. By its use in his private practice, he acquired the reputation of being the best physician in New England, for all diseases of the lungs. After his death, Messrs. Shaw & Clark of Biddeford, Me., obtained a Copy Right from Government, for its exclusive manufacture, and now have it carefully prepared strictly according to the original recipe. There is no cough that it will not cure, unless the patient is past all human aid before commencing its use! It is called "Doctor Burleigh Smart's Cough Medicine," and is for sale by all apothecaries. au27 TuTh&S 6m.

HAYDEN'S IMPROVED VEGETABLE PURGATIVE PILLS.

NOTICES FROM THE PRESS.

From the Boston Times, June 28, 1848.

Dr. Wm. R. Hayden is doing an immense business with his "Improved Vegetable Purgative Pills." The sale in this city alone, for the last two months has exceeded five thousand boxes. They are not only the cheapest pill in the United States, but are the best. We understand the doctor is about to make a tour through the Eastern States, for the purpose of establishing agents, and we would advise all dealers in medicine to secure an agency.

LECTURES.

A NEW FEATURE!

Scientific and Miscellaneous!

THE 3d Course of Popular Lectures before this Association will commence on Thursday Evening, Nov. 13, 1856,

AT THE TEMPLE,

and continue every Thursday evening till closed.

On the Opening Night

Hon. GEO. LUNT, of Boston, will deliver the Address; and

BENJ. P. SHILLABER will read his new Poem, "The Street."

The following gentlemen have been engaged and will appear in the order announced:

SCIENTIFIC LECTURERS.

Prof WM. J WHITTAKER, of Philadelphia, the most eloquent and popular lecturer upon scientific subjects in this country, will deliver two ILLUSTRATED lectures on the "Fine Arts," Nov. 20 & 27

A. W. SPRAGUE, a highly popular Western lecturer, will appear in one of his brilliant lectures on the "Marvels of Electricity," with attractive experiments, Dec. 4

Lecturers on Miscellaneous Subjects.

ISAAC F. SHEPARD, Esq, Boston, " 12
Rev. J. C. BODWELL, Framingham, " 19
Rev. HORATIO STEBBINS, Portland, " 26

The Committee, in arranging the programme for their third Course of Lectures, have determined to invite only lecturers of decided merit and, believing that in a course of popular lectures instruction should be blended with amusement, they have decided to introduce a NEW FEATURE, by connecting with the usual series upon miscellaneous topics, a short SCIENTIFIC COURSE; and have therefore secured the services of Messrs. Whittaker and Sprague, as lectures are appropriately illustrated, and of the most entertaining character. It is believed that the course of lectures before this Association the coming season, will surpass in point of interest and variety, as it certainly will in regard to the expense incurred, any ever before given in this city.

Tickets $1.—To be had at the Bookstores.

FREMONT TURN-OUT.

The Fremont Torch-light Procession in this city on Thursday evening, was the most extensive and brilliant display of the sort, or in fact of any sort, ever seen in Portsmouth.

About twelve hundred torches were carried, and the procession, we judged, must have contained five thousand—including a cavalcade of about fifty horses. It is very easy, however, to over-estimate numbers, and we may have done it.

Two good bands of music, from Great Falls and Concord, were in attendance.

Sixteen cars came on the Concord Railroad, loaded with delegations, which took place in the procession. Good delegations were also present from our neighboring towns, Rye, New Castle, Kittery, &c.

Many houses and stores along the route of the procession were brilliantly illuminated; and a large number of rockets and other fire-works, let off in various places. After the march—Hon. Henry. Wilson addressed a very large crowd, in Market Square, for an hour or more—in his usual eloquent and stirring manner. The Fremont leaders about here, were entirely satisfied with their demonstration,—and after it, feel surer than ever of carrying the old Granite State by from 5000 to 10,000 majority. We shall see on Tuesday.

MR. LAMPREY'S ENTERTAINMENT, with his Class in Dancing and Waltzing, on Wednesday evening, was very successful. Congress Hall,—which has been recently furnished with gas, so that it is no longer difficult to distinguish your own partner—was well lined with spectators, in good season; and about 8 o'clock the class of boys and girls—the boys with white pants and dark jackets, and the girls neatly dressed in white, each with a large wreath in her hand—marched in, and had considerable of a dance, all to themselves. Their performances generally were creditable to themselves and their teacher—their dancing correct in step and change, and the waltzing of several very fine. Misses Wendell and Jackson danced the Highland Fling, in costume, in tip-top style; and Misses Adams and Loud went through with the difficult and rapid changes of the Hornpipe with much precision, and to the delight of all.

The Music was good—Messrs. Lamprey, Haines, and Parsons, of this city, and Messrs. Knight and Dyer, of Newburyport.

After the youngsters had gone through with their programme, the parents and others present, took the floor—but after enjoying half-a-dozen dances, or so, were suddenly brought to a stop—or rather they couldn't stop any longer, as the cry of "fire" was sounded, caused by the burning of the great barn on Islington road. This closed the dancing, and released the musicians in reasonable season—though not at all to the minds of some of the dancers, who never know when they have danced enough.

The whole affair passed off pleasantly and satisfactorily—and we once more congratulate Mr. Lamprey on his success among us.

PHONETIC SHORT-HAND WRITING.—Mr. J. Brown, teacher and professor of Phonography, announces that he proposes opening Classes in Portsmouth, for instruction in this new and popular system of Shorthand; and from his long experience and success as Teacher in the Metropolis of Great Britain and elsewhere, is doubtless able to give entire satisfaction to all who may extend to him their patronage. In a course of eight lessons in Phonetic Shorthand and Verbatim Reporting, (each of one hour,) a perfect knowledge of the art may be acquired, or at least so thorough an insight may be gained, as to render the perfect acquaintance of the science comparatively easy.

Mr. Brown comes well recommended, as a teacher and a gentleman; and we cordially commend him to all who desire an insight into the most complicated and yet simple science of phonetic shorthand—which has amply proved itself worthy the study of all.

SPENCER'S UNITED STATES.—No. 17 of his great national work, is just issued, and will shortly be delivered to subscribers. The illustration for this number is a splendid steel plate engraving of the Death of Capt. Lawrence—"Don't give up the ship." The agent, Mr. Thos. Weston, informs us he is meeting good success here; and requests us to acknowledge his especial obligations to Commodore Newton, Capt. Pickering, and other officers at the Navy Yard, for courtesies extended, in the matter of introducing his books. Mr. Weston may be found at C. W. Walker's, Market St. House.

☞ The Chinese Jugglers perform this evening, at the Temple. Their sleight of hand performances are truly remarkable, and much astonish any beholder who has not been accustomed to a trained hand and eye, and even those who have.

☞ There will be a Democratic meeting in this city this (Friday) evening. Hon. B. F. Hallett has been invited to address the Democracy.

On Saturday afternoon, Nov. 1, the people of Seabrook will be addressed by Charles L. Woodbury, Charles W. March and Wm. H. Hackett, Esqs., of this city, at the South Meeting House.

Hon. John S. Wells is expected to address the Democrats of Portsmouth on Monday evening next, at the Temple,

☞ To-day, Friday, at 1 P. M., there is to be a Republican Mass Meeting in Hampton, when the citizens of that town and vicinity will be addressed on the stirring topics of the day, by Messrs. Pike, Goodwin, Tuck and Clark, at the old Congregational Meeting House. All are invited to attend.

POLITICAL.—This, Friday evening, public addresses will be made at Seabrook, by Messrs. Pike, Swift and others.

☞ Hon. James Pike is to speak on Saturday evening next, at the Temple, instead of in Jefferson Hall, as advertised.—Ladies and gentlemen are invited to attend and listen to our Representative from this district,—on the great question before the country.

☞ Gov. Gardner, of Massachusetts, has appointed Thursday, the 27th of November, as a day of Thanksgiving.

☞ The Governor of Delaware has appointed Thursday the 6th of November, to be observed as a day of Thanksgiving in that State.

☞ Among the births published in the California papers, we observe this:—"In San Francisco, Sept. 19th, Mrs. Julia Dean Hayne, of a son."

☞ Ship Sea Dog, built at Bath, Me., last spring, 570 tons, a large carrier, well found and ready for sea, was sold for $25,000 last week, to parties in Newburyport.

It is stated that by a late arrival of two vessels from Leghorn, all the passengers who came, fifty-nine in number, were organ grinders.

BALTIMORE, Oct. 29.—New Orleans papers of Thursday last are to hand. They contain the details of the Nicaragua news, but there is very little to add to the report already telegraphed.

Nicaragua.—Capt. Williams, of Gen. Walker's army, who came as a passenger in the Tennessee, gives a detailed account of the battles fought at Massaya and Granada. His report agrees with that telegraphed.

Gen. Walker was preparing to march in person to attack the enemy. The howitzers and Minie rifles sent from New York were recieved previous to the recent battles.

Minister Wheeler was dangerously ill, having been attacked with a fit of apoplexy.

CHARLESTON, Oct. 28.—From Havana.—The steamship Isabel, with Havana and Key West dates to the 25th inst., arrived yesterday. A royal order has been published at Havana, that United States gold hereafter will only be received for landing permits at such value as the officers may deem correct. Sugars had slightly advanced. It was feared the late rains would retard the crops. Freights were dull.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 29.—The last official despatches received from England make no mention of a new Minister to this government, and an impression prevails that none will be sent until the inauguration of the new President.

HARTFORD, Oct. 29.—N. P. Banks is speaking to the largest Fremont meeting ever held in this city.

From the Boston Saturday Evening Gazette.

A PERFUMED BREATH.—What lady or gentleman would remain under the curse of a disagreeable breath, when using the "Balm of a Thousand Flowers" as a dentifrice would not only render it sweet, but leave the teeth white as alabaster? Many persons do not know their breath is bad, and the subject is so delicate, their friends will never mention it. Pour a single drop of the "Balm" on your tooth-brush and wash the teeth night and morning. A fifty cent bottle will last a year.

A BEAUTIFUL COMPLEXION may easily be acquired by using the "Balm of a Thousan. Flowers." It will remove tan, pimples and freckles from the skin, leaving it of a soft and roseate hue. Wet a towel, pour on two or three drops, and wash the face night and morning

SHAVING MADE EASY.—Wet your shaving brush in either warm or cold water, pour on two or three drops of "Balm of a Thousand Flowers," run the beard well and it will make a beautiful soft lather, much facilitating the operation of shaving. Price only 50 cents.

FREMONT,
THE MUSTANG CANDIDATE.

If Col. Fremont had as many friends as the Mustang Liniment, the opposition could not draw a corporal's guard. Mr. Fremont remarked in his dispatches to President Fillmore, while transporting horses and cattle over the plains of Mexico, "That if the Government would send him on a liberal supply of Mustang Liniment, it would save 25 per cent. of his losses." This is very important for all Farmers and Liverymen to know. The Mustang Liniment is a wonderful article for man or beast. It should always be used for Sores, Swellings, Stiff Joints, Burns, Bruises, Rheumatic Pains, &c., and for Galds, Sprains, Spavins, Ringbone, &c., upon horses.—BEWARE OF IMITATIONS. The Mustang is sold by all respectable dealers everywhere.
